ANOTHER DAY ON 'CHANGE.

War Rumor Knocks Prices Down.

New York, February 4th, 1904.
EDITOR REFLECTOR:

Another chapter has been written in the history of the pit, one that will be felt by some as long as they travel in this mundane sphere.

This is a great country, and to be an American is getting to be at a high premium, a real, genuine luxury.

Today was spectacular on the 'change.' The rumor of war between Russia and Japan was promulgated about 2:20 p. m., and chaos and confusion followed.

Everything was seemingly calm and serene, when in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, there was a trifle of a breath, when old men and young men tumbled over each other to see the "ticker" about the war. And when it was announced that there was war, down went the thermometer, drop, drop, as fast as a Texas cyclone. No one even present on the cotton exchange could possibly tell it as it was. Prices dropped nearly a cent as fast as the "ticker" could work. To those on the "top side" it was fun and profit, but woe to the hindmost man, for he was under the nether mill stone. Another game of 'millions made and lost in a day.'

I cannot believe there is a seriousness of war—but it has had the effect, war or no war. It is generally conceded that if there is no real war the price of cotton will go much higher. And if there is war it will go so high as to be incalculable at this time. It is a great scientific school to the thinking man, and I for one am enjoying the session to a very high degree.

The cotton ginners' report will be read out on the exchange on Tuesday, 9th, at 12 o'clock, noon, and there are divers speculations as to what it will be, some widely differing from others. I am gathering from all the sources in my reach, and I stand by a crop of less than 9,750,000 bales, and may be less than 9,500,000. If so, what the result will be can only be realized by the coming events.

But 26 cent cotton will be seen before the first of September.

New York is now the centre of gravity, and the eyes of the world are upon America from every standpoint. A New York paper quoting from a Russian paper, says, "Uncle Sam wants not only Japan, but Russia." There may be a great deal of truth in this.

At any rate, it is all right coming from the other fellow. Uncle Sam is not refusing anything now a days, and the "Monroe doctrine" is a most convenient thing to have in Uncle Sam's family. It will fit any occasion for his good. If it is too long it can be cut off, and if too short it can be stretched. At any rate I have not heard of any effort upon Uncle Sam's part to reject good property and bargains.

It is bitter cold, too cold, but the same number of people are to be seen every day on the streets.
ISAAC A. SUGG.

Ladies Organize.

A meeting was held in the Presbyterian church, Sunday afternoon, to organize the ladies in the interest of the temperance movement in the town. The meeting was presided over by Rev. J. A. Hornaday, and he, Rev. W. E. Powell and ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis made addresses. Nearly all the ladies present joined the movement and organization was had by electing the following officers:

President, Mrs. F. G. Hartman, Vice Presidents, Mrs. H. C.
Hooker, and Mrs. C. D. Rountree.
Secretary, Mrs. G. E. Harris.

HOW IT IS IN WILSON.

Good Result of the Dispensary.

Wilson, N. C. Feb 6, 1904.
EDITOR REFLECTOR:

As the dispensary election will come off in your live and progressive town on the 2nd prox., it may be of interest to your readers to know something of the effects of the dispensary in Wilson, although it has been in operation only thirty days. To gather some facts concerning it, I made a circuit of the stores and business houses this morning, the result of which is in part as follows:

Mayor Herring, one of its most strenuous opponents, says the indications are that it will be a great success; that his criminal docket is 50 percent smaller than in January of last year, and crime seems to be on the decrease.

The police force say arrests are few, none for drunkenness, and a change for the better is very noticeable.

Mr. Farmer, the gentlemanly superintendent, says everything is working splendidly; he has had no trouble of any kind except an accidental fire, and the place is as quiet and orderly as any business house in town.

The merchants and business men, particularly the grocers, say the good effects are apparent in every direction.

I found two pessimists, but every one else enthusiastic and many who voted against the dispensary upon witnessing its good effects have reversed their judgment.

There are two other dispensaries in the county, one of which has been in operation over two years and is an object lesson and educator. The fact that our county commissioners have refused and have the backbone to refuse to grant license to sell liquor any where, is evidence of the growing sentiment of the sovereigns to relieve the public of the liquor curse as near as possible.

It needs only to be firm, to be honest with the people, with a sensible, polite and straight superintendent, to make a dispensary all that is claimed for it.

T. C. DAVIS.

Attention Odd Fellows.

Grand Warden Plato Collins, of Kinston, will visit Covenant Lodge on Tuesday night, 9th. All members are requested to be present. D. D. OVERTON, Sec.

Farmers' Institute.

The farmers' institute held here today was well attended, farmers being in attendance from all portions of the county. Professors Kilgore, Massey and Butler from the state agricultural department, were present and made interesting addresses. They gave information on different subjects of benefit to the farmers.

Fire in Baltimore.

Information came today that a great fire is raging in the heart of the wholesale business section of Baltimore, the report being that so far eight blocks have been destroyed. The fire started Sunday and is not yet under control.
Telegraph wires were burned down so that communication with the city is practically cut off. The loss is estimated about $100,000-000.

Owing to the fire in Baltimore burning down telegraph wires through communication was interrupted today and market reports were delayed and irregular.

T. H. Bateman has moved his tin shop to one of the buildings

MONDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 8, 1904.

THE DISPENSARY OR THE OPEN BAR ROOMS WHICH?

The practical questions now before the people of Greenville and on which they must pass on the 2nd day of March, briefly and succinctly stated are these:

Shall intoxicating liquors be sold both by the measure and by the drink at a dozen or more places in town?

Shall it be sold to the minor as well as to the man?

Shall it be sold to the man who is drunk as well as to the man who is sober?

Shall it be sold at night as well as by day?

Shall it be sold Sunday as well as Monday?

Or

Shall it be sold at one place only and that in a sealed package not to be drunk on the premises?

Shall it be sold only in the day and never in the night?

Shall it be sold only to men and never to minors?

Shall it be sold only to sober men and never to the intoxicated?

Shall it be sold only on the week days and never on Sunday?

One is the way of the open bar room. The other is the way of the dispensary.

Which will ye choose, ye men of Greenville? Those who believe in selling it by the measure and by the drink, at various and sundry places, to drunken men and to minors, by night as well as by day, on Sunday as well as Monday will vote against the dispensary.

Those who believe in limiting the sale to one place, to sealed packages, to sober men only and never to drunkards, to men of full age and never to minors, to the day time and never in the night, to the week days and never on the Sabbath will vote for the dispensary.

Just how a man who is not engaged in selling liquor and who wishes his fellow man well can prefer the ways of the open bar room to the ways of the dispensary is beyond our comprehension. And why do we say so?

There are some things that every candid unprejudiced mind must admit. For instance: He must admit that drunkenness is an evil. That the bar rooms encourages and promotes drunkenness. That drinking intoxicating liquors is a habit that grows upon its victim. That bar rooms tempt men who are afflicted with this habit. That social treating often leads to drunkenness. That the bar room furnishes a convenient loafing place for the idle, the thriftless and the lawless and that is bad for the community. That the bar room lures the young away from the restraints of home and tempts them to enter its gilded portals and that is bad for the home. That within these portals the conversation is profane and low and vulgar and that is bad for the young. In short every thoughtful man must know that every influenced exerted upon the community by the bar room is bad. We say every thoughtful man knows this. He is obliged to know it. He can't shut his eyes to it. He sees it every day.

He knows that the open bar room is the very worst possible disposition that can be made of the liquor question. With this absolute knowledge, with these facts, staring him in the face, we repeat we can not see how he should prefer the open bar room to the dispensary.

We do not claim that the dispensary is a complete remedy for the evils of the whiskey traffic but we do claim that it is a vast improvement on the open bar room. It breaks up social treating. It gives the purchaser his sealed package and says go. It will not permit the drunkard nor the minor to enter. It furnishes no loafing place for any one. It closes its doors at sun down and opens them no more till sun up. It observes the Sabbath and will not for love or money violate it. It greatly reduces drunkenness and lawfulness. Wherever it has been fairly tried it has grown in favor as compared with the bar room. Let us establish it and give it a fair trial in Greenville.

Russia and Japan are moving their fleets and it now seems that the peril of war is immediately at hand. Russia has vast resources of her own. Japan thinks she will get help from outside. Russia is afraid of internal revolution the moment she stretches her military arms abroad. Japan is finely equipped and thoroughly drilled, and would have to be shot to pieces before it would cease giving trouble to its enemy in war. The last message of peace has been sent by the Russians to the Japanese government, which was unsatisfactory, and no doubt war will be declared in a few days.

The republican state executive committee met in Greensboro last week, and among other things discussed by the leaders was the question of establishing a high class morning newspaper at some city in this state. That is the same old talk that has cropped out at every meeting for years, but the "high class" venture has never yet shown itself.

Senator Hanna, of Ohio, who has been ill at the Arlington in Washington, D. C., ever since his return to that city, has typhoid fever and his friends seem to be greatly alarmed over his condition.

Greensboro came near losing another college building by fire, the other day. Fire broke out in Greensboro Female College, but by timely discovery it was put out before any great damage was done.

The republican state executive committee selected Greensboro as the place of holding their state convention, and adopted resolution, endorsing Roosevelt.

Russia and Japan have been talking war so much that they may actually have to scrap a little in order to reserve their self respect.

The provision for a loan of $4,600,000 for the St. Louis exposition passed the senate a few days ago.
