SUITS -- FOR -- WORKINGMEN

If there is a class of men that this store strives hard to please with good dependable clothing, it's the mechanic and Workingman.

We have suits made especially for workingmen—made from stout, serviceable mixtures that will not soil easily—and

Put Together to Stay.

Seams sewed with the best of silk and put on with the strongest linen thread.

Our workingmen's suits are cut to be roomy and easy—and still retain an appearance of style and gentility.

Workingmen who have given these suits one trial, are ever afterwards our steady patrons. Moderate.

WINTERVILLE SWEEP BY FIRE.

Block of Stores Burned—Estimated Loss of $12,000 With $3,000 Insurance.

The business portion of the town of Winterville, located on the Atlantic Coast Line, 5 miles South of Greenville, was destroyed by fire this morning.

The fire was discovered about 2 o'clock in the drug store of Dr. B. T. Cox, situated about midway the block on the West side of Railroad street, and had made such headway that it could not be checked. The block was composed of frame buildings that made fuel upon which the flames fed rapidly. The fire spread both ways from the starting point and did not stop until the entire block of stores had been swept away.

Almost the entire population of the town, including the pupils of the school, turned out in the snow and cold and heroically battled with the fire monster, and but for this work the destruction doubtless would have been greater. When the fire reached the store of Harrington, Barber & Co., on the corner, it was only by good work that the large factory of the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co., across the street was saved. The glass fronts in the brick store and postoffice on East side of Railroad street, were broken out by the heat from the fire.

In all nine buildings were burned, and besides the brick building there is now but one other store left in the town.

Those burned out and the losses are as follows:

Dr. B. T. Cox, building $600, stock $1,000, soda fountain $500; no insurance.

Mrs. Sarah Taylor, millinery stock $400; no insurance.

C. D. Hooks, vacant store $600; no insurance.

Joseph Cox building $200; no insurance.

Winterville Mfg. Co's. supply store, stock $1,000; no insurance.

G. A. Kittrell & Co., stock $500, no insurance.

Tucker Bros. building $750; insurance $300.

Guy Taylor, stock $900; no insurance.

H. L. Johnson, stock $1,600; no insurance.

Harrington, Barber & Co., stock $4,500; insurance $2,000.

J. S. Barber, building $1,600; insurance $700.

J. B. Cooper, building $800, insurance $300.

Winterville Lodge A. F. & A. M., loss $50; no insurance.

Winterville Council J. O. U. A. M., loss $100; no insurance.

Will Weatherington; no insurance.

J. M. Blow, personal property, $25; no insurance.

A. D. Johnson, personal property, $25; no insurance.

A. G. Cox Mfg. Co., building slightly, damaged.

This makes a total loss, roughly estimated of $12,000 to $14,000, with only about $3,000 insurance. We understand that practically all of this insurance is carried in companies represented by H. A. White.

THE REFLECTOR sympathizes with Winterville in this disaster. But the town is composed of people of such enterprise and determination that we feel sure they will set to work at once rebuilding, and that Winterville will come out of the ashes better than before.

Speculated in Cotton.

The most interesting gossip on the wharf today concerned two of the most prominent citizens of Mecklenburg—residents of Davidson, to be exact—who decided a few weeks ago to take a plunge in the cotton market. A well known physician and a staid college professor came to the conclusion that money was to be made by speculation in cotton, but they could not get the consent of their minds to invest in futures. So instead of putting up margins, they bought outright, 50 bales of cotton, when the staple was selling around 13 cents.

When the price reached 15 cents, the physician argued that it was time to sell, for could they not

The educator carried his point for the time being, but when spot cotton reached 16 cents, the doctor sold his share and pocketed his profit, something in the neighborhood of $350. The professor held on to his share, expecting to double the profit of his partner, but today he acknowledged that he was cured of all desire to speculate in cotton. —Charlotte Chronicle.

In Honor of Mrs. J. Bryan Grimes.

A delightful afternoon was spent yesterday at the home of Mrs. Alfred Williams on Fayetteville street, who entertained at progressive six handed euchre in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Bryan Grimes, the bride having been formerly Miss Elizabeth Forrest Laughinghouse, of Pitt county.

Thirty ladies engaged in the fascinating game of the afternoon, five tables being used. The first prize, a handsome book, "Loves Old Sweet Song," was won by Mrs. Grimes Cowper, who presented it to the guest of honor, who was also presented with a handsome bouquet of white carnations and ferns by the hostess. The consolation was won by Miss Jennie Pescud, this being a Japanese carved ivory candle-stick. The score was kept by Mrs. Palmer Jerman and Mrs. Mary Grimes Smith.

The residence was handsomely decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being pink and white, carried out in potted plants, white carnations and pink candles. The tally cards were heartshaped, ornamented with Christy heads. Dainty refreshments were served, many of these being in heart shaped effects.

The social event was greatly enjoyed by all the guests who were delighted to meet the charming bride and welcome her as a resident of the capital city. —Raleigh News and Observer.

THE MONEY VIEW OF THE DISPENSARY AGAIN.

We resume again the money view of the dispensary. The sale of liquor has long been regarded a fit subject for government control and taxation. It is true we have had as little of either in Greenville as possible. The law which is enacted to control the sale is set at defiance and the bar rooms run about as they please. They sell to drunkards, to minors and on Sunday, when the law says they shall do neither. As to taxation, the saloons do not bear their full share of its burdens although their business creates the need of taxes. Under the town charter there is a maximum limit to taxes on the bar room and on property. The town government taxes property for town purposes to its highest limit, but not so as to bar rooms. When they come to tax them they put the tax very little above the lowest limit. The highest-limit under the charter for property is sixty six and two thirds cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property. This is the amount the town government levies on the property. They go to the highest limit. The maximum limit on bar rooms is $500. The government levies just half this amount. They levied $150 for town purposes and $100 for schools, making $250 for all purposes. When they levy the tax on property they go as high as the law will allow them. When they levy the tax on bar rooms they do not go as high as the law will allow them—they stop half way. Why this is we do not know. We showed in a former issue from the record how the bar rooms pay their purchase tax to the state and now we show how they pay their license tax to the town.

We now ask the conservative, thoughtful tax payer of the town this question, which they must answer at the ballot box on the 2nd day of March. If the sale of liquor is a proper subject for government control and taxation, then is it not wise to put it under that sort of control that it will do the least harm and pay the largest amount of tax. Will a dispensary do this?

Can any sane man believe that the sale of liquor at one place, and only from sun up to sun down and never on Sunday and never to drunkards or to minors, will do as much harm as the sale of it at eleven places day and night. Sunday and Monday and to minors and to drunkards? We know that for one reason or another men will advocate the bar room and oppose the dispensary. We know they will go so far as to argue that eleven bar rooms are no worse than one dispensary, and we also know that men sometime argue things they do not believe. Our question—can any sane man believe it? But, however men may differ as to that, there cannot be any difference of opinion on the question of taxation.

At present the town gets from the eleven bar rooms for a whole year but $2,750 on their business. Can it be doubted that if we had a dispensary the town would get many, many times that amount? We think regulated dispensary cannot be less we successfully showed in a former issue of this paper that the town's part from the proceeds of a well than $15,000 per year. Then we ask the thoughtful tax payer how can he hesitate to vote for a dispensary? How can he hesitate to vote to lighten his burden of taxation? How can he hesitate to vote for a system that will lessen the evils of whiskey traffic and at the same time raise a large sum of money each year to improve the streets and make other needed improvement without taxing the property.

Let us establish a dispensary and give it a fair trial. If it is not a vast improvement on what we now have both as to lessening the evils of the sale of liquor and as a revenue raiser we can abolish it. Let us try it.

It is an old saying that "money is the root of all evil." We have long been of the opinion that idleness is the root of most evil, but after careful consideration and observation we have about reached the conclusion that ignorance instead of idleness is the greater cause of evil. By ignorance of the laws of nature, one fails to see the beauty in nature; and hence, has no admiration for the things that would further his progress. Although ignorance hinders progress in all lines of industry it does the farmer more harm than any one else. Most people think the man who farms has no need of any knowledge, of education rather beyond that afforded in the public schools; but don't anybody with good sound sense know that an education makes a man more fit for any thing he may want to do? Trained minds are what are needed for farming as well as everything else.

Don't let cotton and war news overshadow your interest in the dispensary election. The battle here at home—morality against the saloon—is of more importance locally.

The ice dealers of the state had appointed a meeting at Raleigh, but they have found cold chunks a plenty around home for the last few days without going to the capitol city.

From the big type in the newspapers one has to look carefully to see whether he is going to get on to a display advertisement or war news.

The reading world is once more up against jawbone breakers trying to pronounce the names in the war news.

If little Japan does whip big Russia, wonder if it will embolden Columbia to try to larrup Uncle Samuel.

One boy is worth more than all the bar rooms. Will you do your part in trying to save the boy?

As between cotton and war news, the former holds the biggest place in the eye of the public.

The records for the last few years have shown the coldest weather about this time in February.

THE MYSTERIOUS PATIENT

(Original.)

I had just tumbled into bed after a hard day's work among my patients when there was a sharp ring at the telephone. I kept the instrument within reach of my pillow and seized the receiver.

"Doctor, my nurse is killing me. If you don't—"

There was a click, and after that silence. I had been shut off. I rang and called "Hello!" and "Central!" at last getting a reply from "Central," of whom I asked with whom I had been in communication; but the girl at the office couldn't tell me.

I was too much discomposed to lie in bed with the thought of one of my patients being murdered by a nurse whom I had recommended (I recommend all the nurses employed in my cases), so I got up, lighted the gas and waited, hoping for another call. The voice was more like that of a woman than a man, but what woman I could not tell. I have a large practice and so many patients that it would be considerable of an effort to go over the list with a view to studying probabilities. I gradually subsided to the opinion that there had been some mistake in the call and endeavored to dismiss the matter from my mind. After an hour's waiting I turned in again and finally fell asleep.

I awoke before daylight and lay thinking over the matter of my strange telephone message. At that hour, when one is rested after a night's sleep and all is yet quiet, the brain is clearer than at any other time. I reviewed all my patients, but not one of them was likely to have cause to be dissatisfied with her nurse. Patients sometimes turn against their nurses for some reason, usually because the nurse chooses to become domineering. I was forced to the opinion that this was one of those cases and resolved in my mind of visits that day to keep my eyes open with this in view.

I breakfasted and started earlier than usual, proposing to spend additional time in discovering who had called me. Nevertheless, though I was extremely watchful, I failed to detect the slightest discord between any of my patients and the nurse in charge.

During the night the telephone bell rang. I put the receiver to my ear, and a voice was saying, "Doctor, doctor, doctor!" pitifully. "Well," I said, whereupon the voice continued, "My nurse is killing me!" There was a click and no more words, nor did I succeed in getting the voice again.

I made up my mind the next day to interview every woman patient of mine without her nurse being present. Wherever I called I sent the nurse out of the room and asked the patient if she was satisfied with her attendant. All of them answered in the affirmative except one or two, who, though they were not especially pleased with their attendants, were not disposed to change them. None of them intimated that her nurse was ill treating or killing her. I went home feeling very much discouraged with my investigation. The next day, of twelve nurses I had asked to leave the room while I interviewed the patient they attended, seven asked to be relieved of their duties. As every doctor needs good nurses, I was very much troubled. I asked them all to remain at their posts till I could explain my action, and I then went to a detective office, related the circumstance and asked if they had a man who would ferret out the case. One of their number was assigned the duty, and I dismissed the matter from my mind.

I was not called up again by the mysterious patient, but I learned afterward that the detective left instructions with the central office whenever I was called to call him first. If the call was not unusual I was then called. Two days after my visit to the detective office I received a note that if the next night I should go to a house occupied by a gentleman whose family physician I had once been I would receive an explanation of my singular calls. Before going to bed I went to the house in question, where I met the detective. He took me upstairs to a bedroom and there left me, and I heard him carry something into a room adjoining. This done, he came in through a door which he left open, putting a finger on his lips to insure silence.

We sat for a time without speaking. I heard nothing in the other room except a grating as of something against metal. Suddenly there was a click. It was the raising of a telephone receiver, and a cracked voice said, "I want Dr. Scarborough." Since I am the doctor referred to I was somewhat astonished. The call for Dr. Scarborough was repeated (it occurred to me that "Central" was asking for the number) till at last I heard a ring and then: "Doctor, doctor, my nurse is killing me! If you don't take her away I shall die!" This in part was repeated several times. Then there was a click. The detective went into the adjoining room and called on me to follow.

There, hopping about, was a huge parrot, the only occupant of the room. "This parrot," said the detective, "occupied the adjoining room to this one when a patient of yours was here delirious and convinced that her nurse was trying to kill her. The bird repeatedly heard you rung up on the telephone and listened for weeks to the patient calling on you to save her from her nurse. It was not much trouble for me to locate this phone and, once located, make the discovery. The parrot is placed here every night, let out of her cage and permitted to roam about the room. She has only to take up the receiver to get 'Central' and invariably hangs it up again, shutting off the circuit."

After that the parrot was kept away from the telephone.

Section 7. That the mayor shall cause a copy of this order to be published in one or more newspapers published in the town.

This February 1st 1904.

HARRY W. WREDBEE,
Mayor of Greenville.

When You Have a Cold,

The first action when you have a cold should be to relieve the lungs. This is best accomplished by the free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This Remedy liquefies the tough mucus and causes its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, produces a free expectoration, and opens the secretions. A complete cure soon follows. This remedy will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment and it leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, R. L. Davis & Bro. Farmville.

Escaped an Awful Feat

Mr. H. Haggins of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had Consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by Wooten's Drug Store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Notice of Dissolution.

Notice is hereby given that on the 16th day of January, 1904, the firm of H. C. Edwards and Charles Cobb, doing business under the style of Pitt County Buggy Co., was dissolved by mutual consent. All persons indebted to the firm either by note or account are requested to come forward and settle with him as early as possible.

This 18th day of Jan. 1904.

H. C. EDWARDS,
CHARLES COBB.

Having sold my good will and interest in Pitt County Buggy Co. to H. C. Edwards, I wish to thank all my friends for their patronage in the past and ask that they continue the same to Mr. H. C. Edwards, who will at all times endeavor to please them with good work.

Perfect Confidence.

When there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. F. Ba-ford, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville; R. L. Davis & Bro., Farmville.

RELIEF IN ONE MINUTE.

One Minute Cough Cure gives relief in one minute, because it kills the microbe which tickles the mucous membrane, causing the cough and at the same time clears the phlegm, draws out the inflammation and heals and soothes the affected parts. One Minute Cough Cure strengthens the lungs, wards off pneumonia and is a harmless and never failing cure in all curable cases of Coughs, Colds and croup. One Minute Cough Cure is pleasant to take, harmless and good alike for young and old. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

AN EARLY RISER.

A strong, healthy, active constitution depends largely on the condition of the liver. The famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers not only cleanse the system but they strengthen the action of the liver and rebuild the tissues supporting that organ. Little Early Risers are easy to act, they never gripe and yet they are absolutely certain to produce results that are satisfactory in all cases. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, Unequalled for Constipation.

Mr. A. R. Kane, a prominent druggist of Baxter Springs, Kansas, says: Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are, in my judgement, the most superior preparation of anything in use today for constipation. They are sure in action and with no tendency to nauseate or gripe. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, R. L. Davis & Bro. Farmville.

Dorothy Dodd SHOES.

The "Dorothy Dodd" Shoe has that something in beauty and style that means individuality.

It possesses "style" in the highest degree; it gives distinction to the foot. In the diversity of kinds there are styles for every person from the exquisite evening slipper to the sturdy winter street boot; they all have a light, airy gracefulness peculiarly their own, which is sure to appeal to a woman's eye. "DOROTHY DODD" SHOES FIT; They Fit Perfectly.

Shoes should always fit closely under and about the instep so as to make it impossible for the foot to slip forward and crowd the toes, while the ball and toes should have plenty of room thus giving free play to the foot.

This is exactly what "Dorothy Dodd" shoes do.
Our new Spring Styles in oxfords and sandals will be here very shortly.
