TO AMEND TOWN CHARTER.

A Bill to be Entitled an Act to Amend Chapter 115 Private Laws of 1899, Being an Act to Amend and Consolidate the Charter of the Town of Greenville.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That chapter 288, of the private laws of 1901, amending section 10, chapter 115, of the private laws of 1899, be amended so as to empower the board of aldermen to consolidate the office of tax collector, tax list taker and the clerk of the board, and to elect one person to fill said places and to fix the compensation therefor, so as to make said section 10, chapter 115, private laws of 1899 read as follows: Section 10. That the board shall also proceed to elect from outside their number, a mayor, a tax collector and a treasurer, each of whom shall be a qualified elector in said town, and shall serve one year from the first day of July in the year in which said election occurs, or until his successor is qualified, unless he is sooner removed by the board for cause of which the board shall be the judges. And that said board may consolidate the said office of tax collector, tax list taker and clerk of the board, and to impose upon such person chosen to such position the duties of keeping the records of said board, listing all taxable property for taxation, and collecting all taxes and other dues coming to said town from any and all sources, and to prescribe such other duties as the board may deem proper, and fix the compensation of such person chosen for the discharge of said duties."

Section 2. That sub-section 16, section 7, chapter 15, private laws of 1899, be amended by adding at the end of sub-section 16, and after the word "condition" the following words, to-wit: "and to protect the same."

Section 3. That section 22, chapter 115, private laws of 1899; be amended by striking out in the ninth, tenth and eleventh lines of said section, the following words: "Which tax shall not be less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars for one year, or half these amounts for six months," and insert in lieu thereof the following words: "Which tax shall not be less than one thousand dollars for one year, or half that amount for six months; and that all persons or corporations so licensed are hereby required to close their place of business at sunset of each and every day, and not open the same until sunrise of the following day; and that any person or corporation so licensed who shall sell any spirituous, vinous or malt liquor between said hours of sunset and sunrise shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court, and in addition thereto shall forfeit his license so granted."

Section 4. That section 33, chapter 115, private laws of 1899, be amended by adding at the end of said section the following words, to-wit: "Provided that no general or special law regarding elections in cities and towns in this state shall be applicable to the election of aldermen in said town of Greenville, but that all such elections shall be held and conducted under and in accordance with the provisions of said charter. Provided further, that all general and special elections called in said town for any purpose shall also be held and conducted in accordance with provisions of said chapter 115, private laws of 1899, amending and consolidating the charter of said town."

Section 5. That this act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

FIRE IN WASHINGTON.

One of the School Buildings Destroyed.

Washington, N. C., Feb. 7.—Between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the McNair public school building. The flames had made such headway that they could not be checked and the building and contents were destroyed. It was a two-story frame structure and was one of the buildings used by the town for the graded school and also contained the school library. The loss on building, furniture and library is estimated at $9,500 with $2,700 insurance.

The house near the school building owned by Capt. David Hill and occupied by Rev. Merrett Owen, was damaged to the extent of $500. Mr. Owen saved some of his furniture.

Several other buildings caught fire but were put out without serious damage.

The trustees of the graded school met this morning and decided to double the grades in the academy building until a new building can be erected. There will be $25,000 expended in new buildings for the graded schools.

THE LEGISLATURE.

MONDAY.

A very quiet day was passed with only a few bills introduced.

Senator Mason offered a bill to punish barratry. This prohibits lawyers from going about busying themselves in working up law suits for the sake of fees.

Senator Fleming by request introduced a bill to amend the charter of the town of Greenville.

The house also had a day of but little interest. More bills were introduced than in the senate, but they were all chiefly of a local nature.

Representative Winborne offered a bill placing a tax of $1 each on dogs.

Did Not Advertise.

The story is told of an old bachelor who bought a pair of socks and found attached to one a paper with these words: "I am a young lady of twenty and would like to correspond with a bachelor with a view to matrimony." The rascal and address were given. The bachelor wrote and in a few days got this report: "Mamma was married twenty years ago. Evidently the merchant whom you bought those socks of did not advertise, or he would have sold them long ago. My mother handed me your letter and said possibly I might suit. I am eighteen."

Aim High.

If you would do large things, you must have large ambitions. Aim high—even though you do not reach the place you aim at, you will go higher than if you were satisfied with a steady job at a small salary. Many men who have found that they were comparatively easy to attain and have steadily enlarged their aims to keep pace with their growing self confidence and capacity, thus attaining to heights that they did not believe within their reach at the start. Be it understood, however, large ambitious men more than to have large wishes. To succeed one must have desires sufficiently strong to work away steadily and persistently to make the dream come true.

PERSONALS AND SOCIAL.

W. B. James left this morning for Atlanta.

R. D. Cherry went to Rocky Mount today.

Mrs. Asa Parham left this morning for Louisburg.

Ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis left Monday evening for Raleigh.

Joshua Manning went to Winterville Monday evening.

Miss Hattie James, of Everetts, who has been visiting Miss Delphia Abrams, returned home this morning.

AYDEN ITEMS.

AYDEN, N. C., Feb. 7th 1905.

M. M. Newell, Swift Creek, spent the day here Friday.

A. P. Murray went to Greenville Saturday.

E. G. Murray, who has been on a visit to relatives here, has returned to his home in Granville county.

Joe McLawhorn is a constant visitor to Greenville.

A. D. Johnson, F. B. Tucker and G. A. Kittrell, of Winterville, were all here Saturday.

Owing to inclemency of the weather the meeting of the board of supervisors of public roads last Saturday was a failure.

Mrs. John A. Cox, of Louisburg, W. Va., and Miss Eva Bready, of Adamstown, Md., are visiting their sister, Mrs. C. A. Fair, in this place.

Quail on toast, rabbit fry and nice cream milk are some of the delicacies to be enjoyed at any time. This snow in some respects in this particular, has proven a blessing in disguise. We have been fasting and as we love good things as well as pretty ones, for once at least the snow has proven our friend.

Harvey Cox came over from Winterville Sunday evening.

W. F. Hart went to Kinston Thursday and returned Friday.

A large crowd from here attended the commissioners meeting at Greenville yesterday.

A dispensary at this place is being agitated.

On account of the snow the pupils of the 5th and 6th grades were excused from attendance at the graded school yesterday.

Snow or no snow the tax collector is around knocking at the doors.

Last Sunday it was reported a very popular young couple had slipped out in the country and were married. Later development only proved a myth and some folks are not quite so sad as they might have been.

Why is the printer more of an expert than the lawyer? Because he can hold his case down better and is a surer type of the profession.

Peter McLawhorn came up from New Bern Sunday morning and went back last night.

G. E. Jackson while on his way to Ayden last Saturday unfortunately fell down and sprained his ankle right badly. We hope he may be all right in a day or so. Mr. Jackson is an excellent gentleman and one of our best farmers.

Cold in Manchuria Intense.

St. Peter-burg, Feb 6, 2:25 a. m. According to General Kuro-patkin's latest reports, which indicate the wounding of a third Russian general, the operations at Sandiapi and the fighting at Shakhe have been momentarily suspended. The Russians successfully repulsed the latest attack of the Japanese eastward with heavy losses. The cold is still intense, there being 24 degrees of frost. There are indications that the Japanese are preparing to break the inactivity on their own account as soon as the weather moderates.

SALARIES FOR SOLICITORS.

The Louisburg Times thinks it would be unwise for the legislature to put the solicitors of the state on a salary. It says:

"Human nature is the same the world over, and it would be perfectly natural for solicitors, if they were being paid a salary, to overlook a good many offences; not corruptly, but it would be much easier for the lawyers to convince them that the 'ends of justice would be met,' by allowing such and such a case to go by default."

Practically the same argument can be used in favor of salaries instead of fees. The solicitor being compensated in fees naturally, as he has the right to do, wants the income of his office to be as large as possible. The hope of making the fee often brings trivial matters into court that would never get there if the solicitor was working for a fixed salary instead of fees. A large number of minor offences could and would be disposed of by magistrates and much costs saved the counties if the solicitors were paid salaries, to say nothing of the cases that ought never to be tried at all.

TO AMEND TOWN CHARTER.

Senator J. L. Fleming sends THE REFLECTOR a copy of the bill amending and consolidating the charter of the town of Greenville, and it is published elsewhere in this issue. The bill was introduced in the senate Monday, but will not be put upon its passage until time is given for any one to be heard who may wish to oppose it.

THE REFLECTOR thinks the amendments suggested are timely and should be passed. Some may argue that as there are now no barrooms in Greenville the placing of a license tax of $1,000 a year on them is needless, but that is not the correct view. While it is not probable that the town will ever return to open saloons, there is a possibility of an election being held on the question every two years, and in the event the saloons should win the charter fixes the license tax without leaving it to the discretion of the aldermen.

The change that consolidates the office of tax collector, list taker and clerk will effect a saving to the town.

SOUND CONCLUSION

The Charlotte Observer takes a position on the question of carrying concealed weapons that we believe is thoroughly sound. That paper says:

"It were better to make more certain the punishment of the man who used the weapon against his fellow than to continue to legislate against the mere act of carrying the weapon. If the law against concealed weapons could be rigidly enforced, the theory upon which it was enacted would probably be borne out. As it is, only good citizens will refrain from breaking the law, no matter how severe the penalty, and little if any good is accomplished. The peaceful citizen is, if anything, more at the mercy of the thug than before because the former is seldom armed, while the latter is nearly always prepared for trouble. Another thing is that no law can be successfully enforced unless public sentiment is behind it, and many people believe it is an invasion of the right of a citizen to say he shall not go armed if he wants to."

The bill to reduce passenger fares on railroads to 2½ cents a mile will bring on one of the hardest fights of any matter before the present legislature. The railroads are uniting against it, but it looks to us like a uniform rate of 2½ cents and abolishing second class fares would put money in their pockets in the long run.

The Missouri legislature continues in a deadlock on the election of a senator. Such as this could be avoided if senators were elected by a direct vote of the people.

Looks like the weather in January and thus far in February would convince the legislators that April is the best time to meet. But it don't.

The fellow who advised the farmers to hold their cotton is getting ready to say "I told you so."

Col. Sugg is the most jubilant of the cotton bulls. He says it was just bound to come.

No tears are being shed over the advance in cotton.

No Moore Stomach Troubles

All Stomach trouble is removed by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It gives the stomach perfect rest by digesting what you eat without the stomach's aid. The food builds up the body, the rest restores the stomach to health. You don't have to diet yourself when taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. J. D. Erskine, of Allenville, Mich., says, "I suffered Heartburn and Stomach trouble for some time. My sister-in-law has had the same trouble and was not able to eat for six weeks. She lived entirely on warm water. After taking two bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she was entirely cured. She now eats heartily and is in good health. I am glad to say Kodol gave me instant relief." Sold at Wooten's Drug Store.

The Rod is Barred

The question of whipping unruly school children came up again in New York city the other day. It bobs up about once a year.

There were plenty of men teachers who believed that physical force should play a part in education. In fact, eighty-three of each 100 men principals voted that way.

They have had much to bear. They have come in contact with scores of unruly young savages—graduates of the streets—who, it is to them, needed to be licked if their juvenile boots in order to make them realize that there is such a thing as authority.

But the women teachers would have none of it. They, too, have met the unruly—the lads with defiant eyes and sneering lips and in-born hatred for anything that smacked of correction and a curtailment of liberty.

And yet these teachers have advanced the schools and helped them to grow and progress for thirty four years without the aid of the rod; have subdued unlikely specimens by the arts that only women teachers know; have taken rugged and unpromising material and turned out strong men, and all without violence.

They asked that the lash be kept out of the schools, and it is to be kept out.

Yes, the temptation to flog is strong at times. Every teacher has found some pupils who seem to resist argument, kindness, affection—and to need force.

Well, let the parents do the job, if it must be done. That is the New York method, and it works out.—Atlanta Journal.

Tonic to The System.

For liver troubles and constipation there is nothing better than DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. They do not weaken the stomach. Their action upon the system is mild, pleasant and harmless. Bob Moore, of Lafayette, Ind., says, "No use talking, DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work. All other pills I have used gripe and make me sick in the stomach and never cured me. DeWitt's Little Early Risers proved to be the long sought relief. They are simply perfect." Persons traveling find Little Early Risers the reliable remedy to carry with them. Sold at Wooten's Drug Store.

Happiness Dwells in Hope

No matter how bleak and lonesome the day,
Some hearts are cheeful and gay!

No matter how bright the sunshine and glad,
Some hearts are grieving and sad!

No matter how lonesome this life is to some,
Some happiness is sure to come!

No matter how dreary the clouds are, and gray,
Some time they will pass away!

No matter how often the heart dreams a dream,
Sweet hope is never dead!

No matter how hopeless the day is, and long,
Happiness is in a song!

Saved From Terrible Death

The family of Mrs. M. L. Bobbitt of Bartegou, Tenn., saw her dying and were powerless to save her. The most skillful physicians and every remedy used, failed, while consumption was slowly but surely taking her life. In this terrible hour Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption turned despair into joy. The first bottle brought immediate relief and its continued use completely cured her. It's the most certain cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed Bottles 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Should Enlist Favor.

The proposition before the Legislature to erect a monument on the battlefield, to Henry A. Wyatt, of North Carolina, the first Confederate soldier killed in the Civil war, should enlist the favorable attention of the members of that body. Wyatt was but a boy. There are men living in Charlotte today who saw him shot down as he advanced across an open to set fire to a house behind which a body of Federals were massed, and from which position they were able to command the Confederate position. The story of Wyatt's bravery and of his death is familiar to all North Carolinians, but not to the outside world. By all means, Wyatt should have a monument.—Charlotte Chronicle.

A Very Close Call

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by J. L. Wooten. Price 50c.

Ninety Sixth Birthday.

Mr. John Coletrane, of Lewisville township, celebrated his ninety-sixth birthday recently. About one hundred of his neighbors and friends participated in the celebration, which proved to be a most enjoyable event. Mr. Coletrane has four children living. They are Filmore Coletrane, aged 53, Mrs. Mary E. Crater, aged 60; W. H. Coletrane, aged 65, and Mrs. Emeline Spough, aged 70 years. He makes his home with the latter. From present indications "Uncle Johnny" bids fair to reach the century mark.—Winston Sentinel.

Speedy Relief

A salve that heals without a scar is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. No remedy effects such speedy relief. It draws out inflammation, soothes, cools and heals all cuts, burns and bruises. A sure cure for Piles and skin diseases. DeWitt's is the only genuine Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of counterfeits, they are dangerous. Sold at Wooten's Drug Store.

THE MASS OF THE STARS.

To determine the masses of the stars, situated as they are far off in space, it is generally necessary to know their distance, and this has been determined for only a few stars. In a paper submitted at the Cambridge meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science Dr. H. N. Russell of the Cambridge observatory called attention to the fact that the masses of the stars could be found by Kapteyn's formula in terms of the star's magnitude and proper motion. Proceeding on this basis, he found that the average mass of fifty-five binary systems was about three times that of the sun and that many groups of stars were of the same mass, despite the fact that they varied greatly in their brightness and proper motion. The binary stars seemed to be of the same order of mass, though their brightness, motion and spectra varied.—Harper's Weekly.

A Wild Man of the Woods.

In the woods of St. Pierre, near Mairy, in Lorraine, lives a man named Antoine Hedin, who for thirty years has not slept in a bed, eaten bread or cooked meat or worn a pair of boots. Hedin is fifty-five years of age and was born in the village of Mairy, near Briey, in 1849. In summer he sleeps in a ditch, in winter under a tree in the heart of the woods. He makes fires now and then, which he lights with flint and steel. He lives on roots, herbs and grass, which he gathers, and, no matter how inclement the weather may be, he never seeks any other shelter than the foot of a tree or a thicket of brushwood. He is a small, weird looking figure and looks barely thirty. Nobody has ever known him to be ill. He is abnormally strong and very swift of foot and has been seen to run a hare down in the woods and kill it with a stick.

German Army Discipline.

Discipline is severe in the German army, and the treatment of privates is some times unjustifiable. At Dessau a sergeant who had been drinking to excess insulted two young women who were escorted by a couple of men in the ranks. The privates protested to the minor officer, who drew his sword and attacked them, in his drunkenness wounding one of the girls. In the affray which followed the sergeant was disarmed and felled to the floor. All three were put on trial. The sergeant was sentenced to prison for five months, while the unfortunate privates were condemned to five years behind the bar at hard labor, were dismissed from the service and were deprived of their civil rights. Service as a private in an army so regulated cannot be a cause of pride in time of peace.

An Irish Fire Hero.

Sir James A. Power, mayor of Waterford, Ireland, was the hero of a fire in Waterford about two years ago. An entire square of buildings was completely consumed. Two men were overcome in one of the upper stories of one of the burned buildings. Sir James rushed to the rescue, but, owing to the rapid spread of the flames, was forced to abandon the stairways and carry his men to the windows. By tying bed-clothes together he succeeded in lowering his men safely to the street, but to save himself he was compelled to jump. It was a thirty foot leap, and he was carried unconscious to a hospital, where he remained six weeks. Shortly afterward he was elected mayor of his city, and one of his first official acts was to organize an efficient fire brigade.

Africa's Inland Waters.

In 1859 some distance southeast of Lake Nyassa, in central Africa, Livingstone discovered Lake Shirwa, a body of water about thirty miles long and fifteen miles wide, which has now entirely disappeared with the exception of a few ponds. Lake Nyami, discovered by Livingstone at the same time, has also disappeared. The cause of the change appears to be a gradual drying up of bodies of water in central Africa. As marking the results of a single half century the changes named show a rapidity of mutation in those inland waters not equaled elsewhere in the contemporary geographer's survey, though the shrinking of Salt Lake in Utah is also very remarkable.

Tolstoi and His Sons.

Tolstoi the Great divided his real estate between his five sons before setting out on his reforming mission. In this way he protected it from confiscation in the event of exile. A mine has been found on the estate of Leo which makes him the richest member of the family. None of the brothers resembles the old count. In Paris they follow the lead of grand dukes. One of them served as an officer in the war. They all like to belong to the heavy swell class.—London Truth.

CONDENSED STORIES.

Legal Formality as Observed in the Kentucky Mountains.

John G. Carlisle tells of a case that many years ago he was called upon to try before a justice of the peace in the mountains of Kentucky.

This justice of the peace was also a blacksmith. He came into court from his smithy and, retaining his leather apron, mounted the bench with all possible solemnity of manner. The worthy man was very officious in his manner, trying hard to imitate the legal dignitaries he had seen in the surrounding districts. It was plainly to be seen, says Mr. Carlisle, that the good man had determined that in the presence of a "city" lawyer from Louisville it behooved him, the justice, to assume a judicial air that would be doubly impressive. The case under trial was that in which suit was brought for the payment of feed furnished certain horses. Mr. Carlisle represented the defendant, and the defense made was that the bill had been paid. When argument had been had, the justice delivered himself of the following:

"THE COURT RESERVES ITS OPINION."

"The court is very familiar with this case. The court has listened to what the witnesses have got to say and the talk of the lawyers. The court will not decide this case just now. It reserves its opinion. The case goes under advisement for three days, and the court will then decide the case in favor of the plaintiff."—Collier's Weekly.

How Tom Marshall Saved $20.

The famous Thomas F. Marshall of Kentucky was trying a case before Judge Bush, a noted jurist of that commonwealth, and became guilty of contempt of court, says the Chicago Record-Herald. The judge promptly fined Mr. Marshall $10, which the orator as promptly paid.

Continuing his speech, Marshall again became guilty of contempt and was fined $20. He had not that much money about him, but had to pay at once, else go to jail. Marshall coolly looked over the audience with the complacency that was peculiarly his and then addressed the judge.

"May it please the court," he said, "in looking over this assemblage of my fellow citizens I see no one whom I would so readily ask for a favor as your honor. Would the court kindly lend me $20 wherewith to pay this fine? I have not so much currency with me, and I am much disinclined to go to jail."

The judge turned to the clerk of the court and in his old man's voice that was changing to "childish treble" piped out:

"Mr. Clerk, scratch out that fine against Mr. Marshall! This commonwealth is better able to lose $20 than I am."

Poets' Opinions About Each Other.

A good story about Browning and Tennyson is to be found in the interesting diary of the Right Hon. Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff. Says Harper's Weekly:

Browning referred readily to the charge of obscurity in his poetry. "He once told me," says Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff, "after repeating a story Wordsworth had told him illustrating his own strange want of humor and wit, that Wordsworth, after all, was unjust to himself, for that on hearing of Browning's engagement to Miss Barrett he had said, 'Well, I suppose they understand each other, although nobody understands them!'"

Tennyson's opinion of Browning (and, incidentally, himself) is shown in his remark that "Browning is devoted to music and knows a great deal about it. But there is no music in his verse. I know nothing about music and don't care for it in the least, but my verse is full of music."

In reading Milton's "Lycidas" aloud, says Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff, Tennyson would stop at the line, "And, oh, ye dolphins, wait the hapless youth," with the comment that this was "the only bad line Milton ever wrote."

Poetic.

He wrote a sonnet on her ear. A rondeau on her smile. A triquet on her lips. A ballade on her eyelids. He wrote a rondeau on her eyes. A lyric on her throat— Her father put a footnote on The margin of his coat.—Chicago Record-Herald.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

An Interesting Experiment With a Common Clay Pipe.

Take a soap bubble pipe, pulverize a small piece of coal so that it is very fine and fill two-thirds of the bowl of the pipe with it. Then on top of this coal dust place some damp clay, pressing it down firmly.

See that the clay becomes thoroughly dry before you begin your experiment. Now bury the bowl of your pipe in hot coals, leaving the stem extending over the edge.

After waiting a few moments you may place the lighted end of a taper to the end of the stem, and a flame will immediately begin burning, for there will now be a flow of gas through the pipe, and you will have a flame at the end of the stem as long as the coal continues to distill gas.

Be sure to place a vessel of some kind under the mouth of the stem, as tar frequently flows through the stem as well as gas.

When the gas ceases to come, break the bowl of the pipe, and you will find that coke has been formed.

Quaker, How is Thee?

The boys and girls form a ring, and one asks his neighbor on the right:

"Quaker, Quaker, how is thee?" "Very well, I thank thee."

"How's thy neighbor next to thee?"

"I don't know, but I'll go see."

This question is accompanied by a rapid movement of the right hand.

The second boy or girl in the ring inquires in the same manner of the third player, and so all around.

When the whole circle has done this then the same question is asked all around, but this time the movement is made with the left hand.

After that there is a movement of both hands, then the left foot, after that the right foot, then both feet, and last of all comes a combination of all these movements at once.

Pictures Drawn in Fire.

Dissolve saltpeter in cold water till the liquid is completely saturated with it. This can be seen by the fact that bits of the saltpeter will at last refuse to dissolve. Dip a fine brush or pointed stick into the solution and draw the outline of an animal or any other desired figure on a piece of thin paper. Use paper that has no printing on it.

Let the paper dry thoroughly. The picture will be invisible then or almost so. Now hold it flat, light a match, blow it out and touch a part of the drawing with the glowing end.

The saltpeter will catch fire at once, and the tiny flame will burn all along the lines of the drawing, leaving the paper intact.

To Guess Any Number Thought Of.

This is done by multiplying the last number by 2. Ask some one to think of an even number. Tell him to triple it, halve the product, triple the half, then tell you how many times 9 goes into it, and you will tell the original number.

Suppose 8 be the number. Triple this, making 24. Halve this, making 12. Again tripling this gives 36, into which 9 goes four times. This four times multiplied by 2 gives 8, the number originally thought of.

Wise Chicky.

Chicky was caught in a sudden shower; She ran, ran, ran for half an hour. She jumped across puddles by skips and by hops. For she hoped in that way to get home between drops.

August—Sardonyx, conjugal bliss. September—Sapphire, wisdom. October—Opal, hope. November—Topaz, friend and lover. December—Turquoise, success.

Voiceless Animals.

Whales and serpents are voiceless. So also are the porcupine, the armadillo and the giraffe.

Quite Likely.

"Good intentions, you know, never die," said the man who was fond of quoting things in his own way. "Indeed?" replied the other. "Probably that would explain why they're so seldom carried out."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder. If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each. Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. Mrs. J. W. COOLEBAUGH, Milo Center, N. Y. Kodol Digests What You Eat. Bottles only $1.00. Size holding 2 1/2 times the trial size, which sells for 50 cents. Prepared by E. O. DAWITT & CO., CHICAGO For Sale By JNO. L. WOOTEN, W. J. THIGPEN.

The Meeting at The Methodist Church

The services held in the Methodist church Monday were exceedingly interesting and helpful to those who attended them. On account of the condition of the streets and sidewalks only a few persons were present at the morning service, and at night the congregation was not large. But at each service the congregation was sufficiently large to secure the presence and blessing of the Lord.

At the morning service Dr. Comann selected his text from the epistle of James 5:16. "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

At night his text was selected from Paul's epistle to the Ephesians, 4:30. "And grieve not the Holy Spirit of God whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption."

As indicated in the texts selected for these services the two discourses were addressed to Christians who were listened to with marked attention by all present.

Services each day at 11 a. m. and 7:15 p. m. People who love God, and desire the salvation of the unsaved, regardless of denominational lines, are cordially invited to attend these services, and in every way possible, and as far as possible, in leading souls to Christ. The unsaved of the town are also invited to attend the services, and give an honest hearing to the thought-provoking messages of this gifted servant of God.

Opium and China. William Edgar Gill, who has traveled much in China, thinks that the great peculiarity of the Chinaman is that he lives in a fictitious environment. To him the world is one of unrealities. He worships demons. Enormous sums of money are paid by the Chinese to locate the devil. Coal mines are not worked because it is held to be wicked to disturb the demon who lives in the bowels of the earth. "Shall we drive shafts into his back?" the Chinaman asks. One misfortune is the common use of opium. "Vast sections of the land are devoted to the growth of the poppy. On the steamboats, on the canals, in the great business houses, everywhere, men lie down and smoke opium. It is a national mania, everywhere acknowledged to be bad."

Individuality In Gifts. The personality of the giver expressed in the wrappings about the Christmas gift adds value to the simplest offering. After all, it is the spirit of the giver rather than the gift itself which gives the greatest pleasure. The favorite ribbon, the slip of mistletoe, the color of the tissue paper covering the card which bears the Christmas greeting, all express love and well-wishing.

A Watterson Story. Colonel Henry Watterson recently told a story of an old negro down south who was informed that if he was bitten by a snake and drank a quart of whisky the snake would die and he would go unscathed. "Dar's only one trouble 'bout dat cure," the old man said; "I knows whar dere's plenty snakes, but whar's I gwine ter git de whisky?"
