=Progress.=

Progress is the law of life. When things animate cease to grow to betterment, decay begins. The store which stands still is dead. The good store of yesterday is commonplace today and out-of-date tomorrow. Eternal effort is the price of progress. To do better today the thing done well yesterday, to serve better today the public which we served well yesterday, is the day-by-day labor of this store.

Expect for Coming Season the Newest Things.

New Spring Goods

ARRIVING DAILY.

There is one thing that we do not claim in our business to do and that is to sell goods cheaper than they can be bought—neither do we want to create the impression that our store is full of shop worn, out of style goods nor by filling our store with show bills and sign boards will we try to impress false ideas in your mind that we are going out of business, but we do wish it understood that we are receiving daily shipments of the newest things in and kindred materials so desirable with the women folk of Greenville and Pitt county, and we do hope that you will at least favor us with a visit to see these many new things.

Puley & Bowen,

THE HOME OF WOMEN'S FASHIONS.

THE LEGISLATURE

FRIDAY.

The senate passed another day handling only local bills. Among them were two bills introduced by Senator Fleming, one regarding the courts of Pitt county, and one to provide for a permanent light and water commission for the town of Greenville.

The senate also discussed the committee report on the bill to reduce passenger fares on railroads and it was made a special order for next Thursday.

In the house also there were no new bills of general importance introduced. The bill restricting peremptory challenges of jurors in criminal cases to twelve on the part of the defendant and four on the part of the state passed the house by a vote of 76 to 27.

Lay Down and Drowned.

Goldboro, N. C. Feb. 17.—Sam Casey of this county had a rather peculiar loss yesterday. He was working a horse which had a tendency to lie down when he passed through a pool of water. He hauling logs from the woods and had occasion to pass through a small pond. When going through the deepest part of the water the horse stopped and began to wallow in the water.

Before the animal could be extricated from the harness it was drowned. The man hitched up a team of oxen to the wagon. One of the steers was not well broken and became sulen. It also lay down in the water and was drowned. Mr. Casey gave up in disgust and left the load of logs in the woods.—Raleigh Post

He Is Right.

John Wanamaker gives the following sensible advice on advertising: "There is only one way to advertise, and that is to hammer your name, your location, your business, so constantly, so persistently, so thoroughly, into the people's heads that if they walked in their sleep they would constantly turn their faces toward your store. The newspaper is your best friend in spite of your criticism. It helps to build up the community that supports you. When the day comes that the newspapers are dead, the people are near the edge of the grave with no one to write their epitaph."

Evangelist Wm. Black Coming

For more than a year several of the ministers and laymen in the different churches in Greenville have talked earnestly about inviting Rev. Wm. Black to visit Greenville again. About six months ago an invitation was extended him and now our turn has come. He promises to be here on Saturday Feb. 25th, to begin the work Sunday morning the 26th. Let us fix the date, the last Sunday in this month, the fourth Sunday.

We have waited long to secure him. He will remain but a short time, eight days. Therefore, let all who expect to hear him make their plans accordingly.

The nearest telegraph office is closed, and it is impossible to ascertain whether the report is true or not.—Raleigh News and Observer

Killed By a Bomb

Moscow, Feb. 18.—4:20 a. m.—Within the walls of the far-famed Kremlin palace and almost underneath the historical tower from which Ivan the Terrible watched his enemies falling beneath the axe on the famous Red Square, and within a stone's throw of the great bell of Moscow, Grand Duke Sergius, uncle and brother-in-law of Emperor Nicholas and chief of the reactionaries, met a terrible death shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The deed was committed by a single terrorist, who threw beneath the carriage of the Grand Duke a bomb charged with the same high power explosive which wrought Minister Von Plehve's death. The missile was packed with rails and fragments of iron and its explosion tore the imperial victim's body to ghastly fragments, which strewed the snow for yards around. Every window in the great, lofty facade of the Palace of Justice was shattered, and bits of iron were imbedded deeply in the walls of the Arsenal, a hundred yards away.

The assassin belongs to the noted "fighting group" of the socialist revolutionary party which has removed other prominent officials and long since passed sentence of death upon Grand Duke Sergius. The Grand Duke knew that he stood in the shadow of death. He was the recipient of repeated warnings, and elaborate precautions were taken to insure his safety.

No use of losing sleep over that big diamond. None of us can own it.

The ground hog has made enough reputation this time to last for several years.

If the bad roads of this winter do not make everybody in favor of good roads, nothing else will.

Every time the weather gets favorable enough to brag on it turns worse, so the subject has to be approached with caution.

The Durham Herald observes that "there are some cheap men in the legislature who are not aware of the fact." But they cost the state just as much as the other kind.

We notice that when the anti jug law for the state was up in the house there were several counties excepted, Pitt being among them. If that law passes with Pitt county left out we expect somebody will have to tell how come.

The people of New Bern must have grown tired of the city owning light and water plants. They held a mass meeting and adopted an amendment to the city charter authorizing the aldermen to sell both the light and water plants to private individuals.

The president has given out the assurance that he desires to promote good feeling between himself and the people of the South. Let him bear out this assurance by his future acts, and avoid a repetition of the Booker Washington and Crum incidents, and much will be forgiven.

Several members of the Democratic state executive committee have written a letter to chairman Simmons asking him to call a meeting of the state committee in Raleigh on the 21st, to consult about the Ward bill that is now before the legislature. Chairman Simmons favors the bill, but some members of the committee are opposed to it and are leaving nothing undone that they think will accomplish its defeat.

The legislature could do the state a valuable service by passing a general law that would give the boards of county commissioners and boards of education power to attend to minor local matters instead of having to take them before the legislature. A session of the legislature costs the state too much for its time to be consumed over these purely local matters. If the legislature had only general matters to look after and met only once in five years it would be a great saving to the state.

The most dangerous bill that has been introduced this session is that of Mr. Webb of Buncombe to provide for an issue of a half million dollars of bonds to enlarge the insane asylums and strengthen the hands of the State colleges. A larger appropriation should be made to the asylums, but that can be done within bounds. To fasten a debt on future generations merely to enable the State colleges to out shine the others is so outrageous a proposition that we cannot believe our law makers will consider it for a moment.—Charity and Children.

Will Springtime Ever Come?

A correspondent of The Post, evidently oppressed with the weight of winter, writes to ask as if springtime will ever come again. The question is a reasonable one. The answer must be in the affirmative, because spring has succeeded winter ever since the world began. At the same time, even though nature never slipped a cog before, we can well imagine that the time has come when things might go awry.

It seems a lifetime since the sun was in the summer solstice. There was a season once, as we now most dimly recall, when the air was warm and balmy, when the flowers bloomed, and when the perspiration deluged our superheated brows. We remember, long ago, that luscious watermelons grew and ice-cold canteloupes brought comfort to our sultry mornings. There was a time, so it is said, when strawberries were vended through the streets and when the blazing sun parched all the earth. This was so long ago that children then have since become adults. It is a period which taxes the memory of the oldest inhabitant as he shivers beside the fire. For weeks and months—or years—the sun has been without a particle of warmth. The air has been as cold as the north pole. The ground is hid beneath the hammocks of accumulated ice and snow. The wind howls bleakly, the clouds obscure the sky, and winter reigns supreme. There is, alas, no hope nor help for us.

Perhaps, when springtime finally arrives, we will sigh for the nipping and the eager air of these drear winter months. Perhaps in summer time we will yearn for just one breath of the wind that comes out of the northwest. It may be so. At present, however, we would rather be stricken by the sun than frozen stiff.—Washington Post.

No Moore Stomach Troubles

All Stomach trouble is removed by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It gives the stomach perfect rest by digesting what you eat without the stomach's aid. The food builds up the body, the rest restores the stomach to health. You don't have to diet yourself when taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. J. D. Erskine, of Allenville, Mich., says, "I suffered Heartburn and Stomach trouble for some time. My sister-in-law has had the same trouble and was not able to eat for six weeks. She lived entirely on warm water. After taking two bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she was entirely cured. She now eats heartily and is in good health. I am glad to say Kodol gave me instant relief." Sold at Wooten's Drug Store.

Veniremen in Capital Cases.

It is a great pity that for the past several years a murder trial can't come off in North Carolina without the county where the case is to be tried is thoroughly canvassed by shrewd men for the purpose of moulding sentiment in favor of the defendant and fixing jurors and witnesses to be "monkeyed with on trial." The country is in a dangerous condition when such schemes are permitted to go on without being exposed. Let us all hope that Davidson county will not be thus disgraced in the future.—Lexington Dispatch.

The above is one of the strongest arguments that could be made in favor of a bill now pending in the legislature providing for the summoning of a venire from some other county for the trial of a capital case. This law should be so framed that the judge can order the jurors to be summoned from any county in the same section of the state. This law has been in force in Virginia for some time, and perhaps in other states, and has been found to work well and to save expense to the state. There can be no working up of sentiment for or against the defendant as now can be done where the case is moved to a certain county months before the trial is held. This is one of the most important bills that has been introduced in this legislature and we hope the members of that body will recognize its importance.—Wilmington Messenger.

Give the children Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea this month. It makes them grow and gives them rosy cheeks. There is no medicine in the word so good for the children. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets.—Wooten's Drug Store.

A New View of the Steel Range Business.

The steel range men are "working" the people of Surry and will sell stoves at two prices to many of our people. But we are glad of it. Not many of us do things until we are forced to. Many a poor wife will get her meals in the future with comfort and ease on a $70 range that would have cost her maybe $25 at her local merchant's store, but if some sharp agent had not come along and sold her the stove, she would never have owned it. At present it may work a hardship on the family to pay for the costly cook stove, but it will add comfort and pleasure to the home for years to come.—Mt. Airy News.

Tonic to The System.

For liver troubles and constipation there is nothing better than DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. They do not weaken the stomach. Their action upon the system is mild, pleasant and harmless. Bob Moore, of Lafayette, Ind., says, "No use talking, DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work. Altogether pills I have used gripe and make me sick in the stomach and never cured me DeWitt's Little Early Risers proved to be the long sought relief. They are simply perfect." Persons traveling find Little Early Risers the reliable remedy to carry with them. Sold at Wooten's Drug Store.

We do not believe Webster's Weekly misses the mark the eighth of an inch in saying—"But with all its vileness we doubt that the whiskey traffic is doing as much harm to the youth of the State as the cigarette evil," and if this statement be true it is amazing that in the great clamor for protection from the whiskey curse, good men are as dumb as the oysters about the cigarette traffic which seems to have our State by the throat. Our trouble is the whiskey man is on the outside and the cigarette man is on the inside of the church. But their sin is about the same.—Charity and Children

Heroic Work of the Crew at Cape Look Out

Washington, Feb. 11.—Information is received at the life-saving bureau, that after a desperate twenty-eight hour battle, Thursday and Friday, the Cape Look, N. C., life-saving crew conquered a heavy sea piling over the shoals and succeeding in taking ashore from the standard four-masted schooner, Sarah Derossee, her captain and five of her crew. One man was washed overboard Wednesday and drowned.

In all the fashionable centres of the country throughout this zero weather may be seen fine horses shorn, "clipped" to the skin, shivering and wretched in the intense cold while their drivers have extra warm underclothing, heavy overcoats with fur mufflers and fur gloves. Is this the twentieth century and have we a Christian civilization?—Durham Sun.

Speedy Relief

A salve that heals without a scar is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. No remedy effects such speedy relief. It draws out inflammation, soothes, cools and heals all cuts, burns and bruises. A sure cure for Piles and skin diseases. DeWitt's is the only genuine Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of counterfeits, they are dangerous. Sold at Wooten's Drug Store.

We have nothing to say against a reformatory but are inclined to think that the insane should have received first consideration.—Durham Herald.

PURIFYING OZONE.

A Powerful Disinfectant Made by Nature From Air and Water.

All down through the ages when nothing was known of the microbic cause of putrefaction and when street cleaners, even house cleaners, were almost unheard of, and streets and houses and men were as dirty as they are now in parts of Russia or China, sickness and death, although frequent, were not so frequent as they would have been without Nature's watchful care over her ignorant children.

Although man knew nothing about it, there was a powerful disinfectant being constantly manufactured in the world's laboratory out of air and water, and this substance burned up the refuse which man did not know enough to destroy. This purifier, which the chemists discovered, is ozone. It is made up of oxygen atoms in a modified combination and is sometimes called active oxygen because of its strong oxidizing power. It is produced during thunderstorms by the action of the electrical discharges and is also formed during the rapid evaporation of water. Sea air, therefore, contains it in small amount, and also air in the neighborhood of salt works, where a large amount of water is constantly being evaporated in order to get the salt. It is produced artificially by passing an electric spark through oxygen or, better, by the action of a high tension current of electricity without sparking. It is also made in decomposing water by electricity. A mixture of ozone and oxygen appears at the positive pole.

Ozone has a peculiar odor (whence its name, from a Greek word meaning to smell), which any one may have noticed who has been near where a lightning bolt struck. It can also be smelled sometimes during a snowstorm. It is disinfectant by reason of its active power of oxidizing many substances, especially when they are moist, and so destroying their offensive and poisonous character. It is especially efficacious in destroying the noxious emanations from putrefying substances and thus acting as a deodorizer.

When breathed, even in small quantities, ozone is irritating to the mucous membranes, and it is believed by some physicians that many of the respiratory troubles and the influenza that prevail in damp winter weather are owing to a weakening of the resistant powers of the mucous membranes through the respired oxygen.—Youth's Companion.

Humbling an Artist.

Talking of the conceit that a little success is apt to engender in young artists, Sir Philip Burne-Jones once said: "My father used to tell of a young English nobleman who took to painting. He did passable work, got innumerable commissions from millionaire tradesmen and became in a small way a lion. He insisted on driving my father to his studio one day to see his work. 'Here are my two latest things,' he said on their arrival. 'They are entirely different in subject and in treatment, but I'm sure you'll like them both. One is a portrait of my uncle, copied from an old fashioned photograph. The other is a painting of my grandmother doing some needlework. My father looked carefully at both paintings for a moment, then he said, 'Which one did you say was your uncle?'"

Making Shot.

Watts, the inventor of leaden shot, once fell into a drunken sleep and dreamed that it was raining molten lead, which in falling took the shape of millions of peas. When he awoke he determined to try the effect of dropping molten lead from a considerable height, in accordance with the conditions of his dream. The result was an exact fulfillment of what he had pictured in his sleep, and his experiments were the foundation upon which he was able to build up a substantial fortune. After cooling shot is sifted to separate the sizes and polished by rotary motion in small octagonal boxes.

HOLBEIN AND TITIAN.

To One the World Was a Pilgrimage, to the Other a Pageant.

The genius of Holbein blossomed early. In 1515, when he was eight years old, he moved from Augsburg, where he was born, to Basel, the center of learning, whose boast was that every house in it contained at least one learned man. In 1520 he was admitted to citizenship at Basel and to membership in the painters' guild, good proof, as he was only twenty-three, of his unusual ability. But the times were lean ones for the painter. Holbein found himself in need of money and accordingly set out for London with a letter of introduction to Sir Thomas More, the king's chancellor. "Master Haunce," as the English called him, arrived in England toward the close of 1526. During this first visit to England he painted portraits of many of the leading men of the day, but two years later, in consequence of an outbreak of the plague, he returned to Basel, only to be driven back to England in 1531 by poverty and the death of his old friends.

By 1537 Holbein had come to the notice of Henry VIII, and was established as court painter, a position which he held until his death. This seems to have occurred during another visitation of the plague in 1543, for at this date knowledge of the great artist ceases. When he died or where he was buried is not known.

What a contrast between his life and Titian's—one the favorite and the other the sport of fortune, for, though the greatness of both was recognized by the men of their time, Titian lived a life of sumptuous ease in the beautiful surroundings of Venice, while Holbein, often straitened for money, never wealthy, experienced the rigor of poverty, forced by need and circumstances to become an alien in a strange land, dying unnoticed and unhonored.

The world to Titian was a pageant; to Holbein, a scene of toil and pilgrimage.—St. Nicholas.

Awkwardly Worded.

The Perkins and the Podgrass families are unfriendly. Adherents of the Perkinses say it is Mr. Podgrass' fault, but he warmly protests that he meant no harm.

The trouble began at the concert given in aid of the Volunteer Hose company. Mr. Podgrass was stage manager. Miss Anna Belle Perkins was down for a solo, but when the eventful evening came she found herself prostrated with a cold and at the last moment sent a messenger to ask that she be excused to the audience. When her place on the programme was reached Mr. Podgrass advanced to the front of the platform.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "I have to announce that Miss Perkins will be unable to sing, as announced, and therefore Mr. Brown will give us 'A Song of Thanksgiving.'"

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates on experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some souse meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he and what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better: he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in this same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us."
