The New Landlord And Tenant Law

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That any tenant or cropper who procures advances from his landlord to enable him to make a crop on the land rented by him, and then wilfully abandon the same without good cause, and before paying for such advances, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 2. That any landlord who may contract with a tenant or cropper by agreeing to furnish him advances to enable him to make a crop, and wilfully fails or refuses to furnish said advances according to his agreement without good cause, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 3. Any person who employs a tenant or cropper who has violated the provision of section 1 of this act with knowledge of such violation, shall be liable to the landlord furnishing such advances for the amount thereof also be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 4. That whenever any tenant or cropper shall enter into a contract for the rental of land for the current or ensuing year, and without just cause, wilfully neglect or refuse to perform the terms of this contract, then the tenant or cropper shall forfeit his right of possession to the premises and the landlord may recover possession of said premises in the manner provided for in Section 1777 of the Code.

Sec. 5. The punishment for any violation of any of the provisions of this act shall not exceed a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for more than thirty days.

Sec. 6. That this act shall apply to the following counties: Wayne, Lenoir, Greene, Johnson, Jones, Onslow, Craven, Cleveland, Sampson, Pitt, Duplin, Gates, Cumberland, Perquimans, Robeson, Chowan, Bladen, Nash, Harnett, Rackingham, Pender, Currituck, Gaston, Northampton, Sampson, Beaufort, Tyre, Chatham, Mecklenburg, Rutherford, Caswell, Camden, Cabarrus, Halifax and Columbus.

Gloom in St. Petersburg

St. Petersburg, March 9.—The atmosphere of the war office is intensely gloomy. The officials admit that General Kuropatkin has suffered a bloody defeat, but they insist that it is not a decisive disaster. Their explanation of the dispatches of General Kuropatkin's and Sakharoff reporting fighting on the "south front" is that they refer to Japanese attempts to break through the Russian line screening the communications with the Pass, but the public regards it as an acknowledgment that General Nogi has already severed the Russian line of communications and enclosed at least a portion of General Bilderling's army which was bringing up the rear.

The dispatches of the Associated Press show beyond doubt that General Nogi has actually succeeded in reaching the railroad although it was specifically affirmed that the line was repaired and reopened. It is possible that this temporary interruption may have caused the Tokio report.

The Second $100,000

Fifty-five counties in the state receive aid from the state second $100,000, to enable them to have four months school. The appropriation was made by the Superintendent of Public Instruction last week, and sums as follows were apportioned to this and adjoining counties:

Davidson, $672.14; Randolph, $3,238.88; Montgomery, $1,902.93; Stanley, $2,087.30 — Lexington Dispatch.

The maple and elm trees are getting ahead of the others in the spring race.

ORMONDSVILLE ITEMS.

ORMONDSVILLE, March 9, 1905.

Deep colds and grip are very common now-a-days.

The young people had a social gathering at J. T. Frizzell's Wednesday night.

Mrs. R. I. Corbitt is on the sick list this week.

We consider this a typical month for the winds continue to blow.

Luther Bodiford, a ministerial student in the Seminary at Ayden, and Miss Lillian Mann the assistant teacher were the guests of R. I. Corbitt and wife Saturday night and Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Pate filled his regular appointment in the M. E. church last Sunday, and those who heard him were very well pleased at his sermon.

Representative Frizzell came in a few days ago and has been sick since. We hope the pure country air will revive him soon.

There was an oyster supper in Ormondsville high school last Friday night, conducted by Miss Hollowell and Carr, the efficient teachers, for the benefit of the building. Quite a feast was enjoyed by those who attend and the nice sum of $20 realized for the institution.

It's to be hoped that the great revival spirit of Wales and London will cross the waters and spread all over our beloved America.

Successes North of Mukden.

Tokio, March 9.—4 p. m.—The headquarters of the Japanese armies in the field reported today as follows:

"The whole district west of the railroad and south of the Hun river is in our hands."

"On the right bank of the Hun river the operations continue."

"The enemy in the neighborhood of Yangshihun and Likuan has still makes a stubborn resistance. The enemy made several counter attacks, but we repulsed them, inflicting heavy loss. Our force is now pressing the enemy towards Mukden."

"In the district north of Mukden despite the enemy's obstinate resistance, we have occupied Siao-chitun, five miles northwest of Mukden, Paogiatzu, two miles northeast of Siao-chitun and Santaise, five miles north of Mukden. Our force destroyed the railroad north of Mukden."

There were 1,235 acts of the legislature and 36 resolutions, while 2,012 bills were introduced. All the figures are somewhat larger than two years ago. The principal acts are the Ward bill, regulating liquor; McNinch divorce, Jame town exposition; settlement of the South Dakota bond judgment and Schafer Brothers' bonds; increase of all judges' salaries; increase of pensions from $200,000 to $275,000, the increase going entirely to the fourth class; increase of Soldiers' Home appropriation $5,000; abolishing of the merchants' tax.—Raleigh correspondent Charlotte Observer.

"Big Night" Postponed.

Owing to the critical illness of Mr. J. B. Cherry, Sr., and his being expected to die at any moment, the "big night" exercises intended to be held by the Knights of Pythas Thursday night, was postponed for two weeks.

A Good Move.

D. C. James is preparing a map and plan of the town preparatory to numbering the houses. It would be a good thing to number the houses throughout the town.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy and colder to night, rain in extreme eastern portion. Saturday partly cloudy, colder in eastern portion.

AYDEN ITEMS.

AYDEN, N. C., March 10, 1905.

Last Wednesday being the birthday of Mrs. King, wife of the popular pastor of the Missionary Baptist church at this place, her numerous friends in battle array and on pleasure bent went to her home in the evening and gave her the severest pounding of her life. It must indeed have proven gratifying to Mrs. King to realize the extreme high regard and esteem in which she is held by not only the members of her own church, but the universal spirit, regardless of sect or creed, which seemed to prompt everyone to thus manifest their appreciation of her many virtues and lovable traits of character. It was a pleasant occasion and all congratulated her upon the passage of this milestone in her life and sincerely hope many more such may be accorded her in this beautiful world made by the hand of God.

An election for a dispensary for the town of Ayden has been called to be held March 20th, 1905. E. G. Cox has been appointed registrar.

Carlos Harris, of Greenville, was here Wednesday and sold a very pretty horse to Dr. L. C. Skinner. Dr. Skinner is very popular among our people and so great has his practice become it necessitates the use of two horses. We predict for him as a physician a most brilliant future.

W. J. Munford was over in Winterville during the week on business.

Joseph Fleming, of Pactolus, spent Monday night here with his son who is a clerk in the popular store of Cannon & Tyson.

Merrimon McKinnie, of Washington, after a very pleasant visit here to his mother, returned home Tuesday morning.

Bently Harris, of Greenville, has been here during the week.

W. E. Hooks has come to live with us in our new office and we find him a genial and most pleasant companion. Mr. Hooks is an insurance man and a little later will be heard from through the columns of THE REFLECTOR. He represents a good company and intends to let everybody know it. He realizes the importance of advertising as all good business men do.

Mrs. Susan Meeks is on a visit to the family of J. A. Harrington.

We are requested to state that sometime during the past fall some one left a youth's jacket or coat in the store of W. C. Jackson & Co. The owner by calling can get the same.

Frank Lilly and C. A. Fair were in Greenville yesterday.

Mrs. M. C. Letchworth is visiting in Winterville.

Mrs. J. S. Hines spent the day in Greenville yesterday.

W. J. Boyd came in from the northern markets Wednesday. J. W. Moore has returned from one of those pleasant excursions to Washington City.

Where all the old stores stood now remind us of a desert sad and forlorn with a prospective oasis near in view.

It is time to advertise, M. M. Saul was a worker last Thursday.

John Tilman, of Kinston, spent Wednesday with Jesse Cannon.

C. L. Tyson and J. T. Smith are over the river for two or three days on business.

Fifty-five convicts are now at work on the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound railway. At present, they are building trestles on either side of Neuse river, six miles from Raleigh. There will be 800 feet of trestle, and the steel bridge across the streams will be 160 feet in length. The material for this is arriving.—Raleigh cor. Charlotte Observer.

ARRIVING DAILY.

There is one thing that we do not claim in our business to do and that is to sell goods cheaper than they can be bought. neither do we want to create the impression that our store is full of shop worn, out of style goods nor by filling our store with show bills and sign boards will we try to impress false ideas in your mind that we are going out of business, but we do wish it understood that we are receiving daily shipments of the newest things in

FINE TRIP.

People who have been contemplating a trip to the Pacific coast can take advantage of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition to be held in Portland, Oregon. It opens June 1st and closes October 15th. This will be a grand trip—one well worth taking. It is not too early to commence saving up for this trip.

This exposition will commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the exploration of the great "Oregon country" by Captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, under the direction of President Thomas Jefferson.

In the year of 1803 these intrepid explorers were commissioned by Thomas Jefferson to explore the region of the then just completed purchase of the Louisiana Territory. The explorers followed the Missouri river to its source surmounting many obstacles, but, however they were the first Americans to set foot on the shores of the Pacific overland.

This important achievement can best be appreciated by contemplating the acquisition of California and other domains, which was the result of the exploration, and led to our great continental development.

This explored country which embraced the present states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and parts of Montana and Wyoming, covered an area of 307,000 square miles. In 1850 the population was only 13,240, and in 1904 the population had increased to 1,500,000.

The approximate cost of this expedition will be $5,000,000, and will cover an area of 500 acres of beautiful terraces, landscapes, gardens and natural forest park.

For the part Washington City fails to take in the election of a president she makes up in ample measure when inauguration day rolls around.—Raleigh Post.

The Washingtonians deserve no credit for the success of an inauguration. The government stands for the big blow out, while the people of the capital are given the finest opportunity imaginable to fleece their fellow citizens from various parts of the country who go to the big show. There are people in Washington who make enough out of one inauguration to go on until the next one comes around.

The fighting between the Russians and the Japs recently has been terrible, but as usual, the Japs seem to have gotten the best of the Russians. The losses on both sides have been enormous. It seems that the Japs are in to win regardless of the loss of lives. They go at it in such a fanatical way that the Russians find it hard and bitter to face them. There is no sign of peace.

There has been a bill passed by the Federal Senate, providing that the circuit and district judges for the district of eastern North Carolina shall appoint, besides a clerk of that court, held at Raleigh, additional clerks, who shall reside and have their offices at Wilmington, Elizabeth City and Newberne.

The last legislature cost the state nearly $75,000 and was worth about 30 cents.

RULES FOR LENT.

(Prepared by St. Paul's church, Winston.)

1. To pray three times a day.
2. To abstain from some one article of food each day.
3. To read through with care the Prophets and the Gospels during the season.
4. To attend one service, at least, each day.
5. To receive if possible the Holy Communion on each Lord's Day.
6. To avoid dinner parties, the theatre and social assemblies while the season lasts.
7. To give alms more strictly and liberally than usual.
8. To make a thorough self-examination and try to know myself better.
9. To try to do some certain good to at least one person concentrating effort and thoughts on that person's welfare and praying especially for that person's salvation.
10. To restrain MY tongue and keep silence a good deal.
11. To forgive all that have offended me at any time.
12. On each Friday at noon to meditate on the crucifixion.
13. On each Saturday to meditate on the words, "Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."
14. To pray each day for those graces in which I am most deficient.
15. To try to be patient and gentle.
16. To try to love, and to think justly, and do justice.
17. To avoid flattering others, or being deceived by their flatteries.
18. To seek some one's comfort each day, rather than my own.
19. To try to perfect myself this Lent in at least one virtue which I find difficult.

[It strikes us that the most of these rules would be good ones to observe on the other 325 days of the year as well as during Lent.—THE REFLECTOR.]

It is said President Roosevelt will send a message to the congress of mothers that meets in Washington. Possibly he thinks this message will get more consideration than some he has sent to the senate.

The late issues of the Congressional Record have greatly diminished in size.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates on experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwinstown, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some soured meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in this same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale at Wooten's Drug Store.

Farmers Working Together.

Atlanta, Ga., March 9.—Meetings which were held all over the South Tuesday at the different county seats in the various states indicate that the cotton acreage this year will be reduced fully 25 per cent as required by the Southern Cotton association. Not only have farmers everywhere resolved to cut the acreage, but they have also reduced the amount of commercial fertilizer that is to be used, as was shown in the letter of Commissioner of Agriculture O. B. Stevens, of Georgia, who stated that from every state he had received official reports that the acreage was being reduced 25 per cent and the fertilizer 33-1/3 per cent.

President Harvie Jordan feels very enthusiastic over the outlook. People have rallied to the support of the movement in all sections, and as he has stated in an article the work is not for the farmers alone, but for the upbuilding of the whole South.

Mr. Jordan is now on a tour of the western southern states. He will be gone for probably three weeks. He will speak in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee Indian Territory and Oklahoma Territory. Everywhere he is being received with great enthusiasm by the people, and at every point he stops he receives additional assurances of support.

The next week will be spent by Mr. Jordan in New Orleans arranging for the working of the Cotton Planters' Holding and Commission company that is to retire two million bales of cotton from the market and hold the cotton until the price of cotton reaches ten cents.

A Dinner Invitation.

After a hearty meal a dose of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will prevent an attack of indigestion. Kodol is a thorough digestant and a guaranteed cure for indigestion, dyspepsia, gas on the stomach, sour rising, bad breath and all stomach troubles. N. Watkins, Lebus, Ky., says: "I can testify to the efficacy of Kodol in the cure of Stomach Trouble. I was afflicted with Stomach Trouble for fifteen years and have taken six bottles of your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which entirely cured me. The six bottles were worth $1,000 to me." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest any quantity of all the wholesome food you want to eat while your stomach takes rest—recuperates and grows strong. This wonderful preparation is justly entitled to all of its many remarkable cures. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Plenty Room For Such Boys.

The following advertisement appeared recently in the Dansville Advertiser, inserted by A. O. Bunnell:

"I want an old fashioned boy, not afraid of work, to learn the printer's trade and to be a leader."

Was that advertisement answered by "an old fashioned boy, not afraid of work?" We should like to know because the closing sentence "to be a leader" ought to have stimulated the ambition of any boy who read the advertisement. If Horace Greeley or William W. Holden had seen such a chance as that they would have eagerly embraced it, and it is to be hoped that some boy at Dansville, made of the stuff that distinguished Greeley and Holden, read and answered that advertisement, and that he will be to New York journalism another Greeley.

There is always room in any calling for "an old fashioned boy not afraid of work," who does not work with his eye on the clock and a cigarette in his mouth. There are many boys complaining they cannot get a place whose failure is due to the fact that they are "afraid of work." They wish to sit down in the shade and do work that does not soil their hands and they expect compensation to enable them to dress in the height of fashion. But there are still "old fashioned boys" not afraid to work among us who are training to be the leaders of the future. The leaders are not produced in hot houses. They come from the ranks of humble "old fashioned boys not afraid of work."—Raleigh News and Observer.

Dear Mr. Munford:

Your communication of the 4th is before us at present. Low prices and holding back the cotton crop from market has place hundreds of Solid Southern Merchants in just your position. A FOUR LEGGED FAKIR.

The Holy Cow Was Presented With a Very Effective Petition.

Not all the fakirs of India are human beings. Holy cows and sacred monkeys have a fine share in the game and in some instances show rare cunning in taking advantage of the people's beliefs in their attributes.

At Haje Ka, on the Indus, there is a notably wily old sacred beast, whose long years of receiving worship, petting and pampering have developed some strange characteristics. This animal will leave the shore several times a day in the heated season and, wading far out into the stream, stand there and bawl until some one of the villagers comes out and laves her with water, the coolness caused by the evaporation seeming to gratify her greatly. She is extravagantly fond of choice plantains and will go into the bazaar and take only the very best.

A friend of the family was close by a shopkeeper's stand one day when a sacred bull wandered up and began to feed from the provisions displayed, with entire assurance of being within his rights. The shopkeeper approached him gently, saying:

"Forget not that I am a poor man, brother. Seest thou not those sweet delicacies before the place of the rich man across the way?"

The bull munched on.

"Full well I know thou art a holy man, and I give thee all thou takest, feeling my reward in heaven already bestowed; but, brother, I am a poor man, and this morning I gave a rupee to thy very holy brother of Ratonga (a still armed fakir of the region), and thou shouldst come in another moon."

A great hole was growing in the pile on the stand. The shopkeeper picked up a bamboo stick and blew his breath in the end of it, then again addressed the animal:

"Into this stick I have breathed a prayer that thou mayest remember how poor a man I am, O my brother, and I now present my humble petition." Whereupon he whacked the bull sharply over the nose, and the astounded animal galloped, belching, through the bazaar.—Metropolitan Magazine.

Beer barrels are invariably marked with a series of crosses, which nowadays denote the quality of the beer contained in the cask. These crosses were originally put on by the monks, who then made all the malt liquors, as a sort of trademark. The crosses were not of the same shape as now shown, but were more akin to the shape of a crucifix and were intended to show that by their oath sworn on the cross the beer supplied was of a fit and drinkable condition.—London Times.

Smoother.

They were as sociable a set of passengers as ever sailed together, and talking and laughter were going on merrily when they sat down to the first dinner aboard.

Suddenly there came a terrific uproar from the neighborhood of the fore-castle. The sailors had been a trifle too merry before starting and were now engaged in pummeling each other for all they were worth. The first officer rose from the table to go and quell the disturbance, and in a few moments all was quiet.

"Things seem smoother now, Mr. Parker," said the captain approvingly, when the mate returned.

"Yes, sir," was the reply. "I've just ironed the crew, sir!"

Breath.

In an essay on breath a school-boy begins:

"Breath is made of air. We breathe always with our lungs, except at night, when our breath keeps life going through our noses while we are asleep. If it wasn't for our breath, we should die whenever we slept. Boys that stay in a room all day should not breathe; they should wait till they get outdoors. For a lot of boys staying in a room make carbonic acid. And carbonic acid is more poisonous than mad dogs, though not just in the same way. It does not bite, but that's no matter as long as it kills you."

His Indorsement.

An eastern bishop tells of a young and inexperienced clergyman who had just been called to a city charge. At the end of the first month his salary was paid by a check, and he took it to the bank and passed it in at the paying teller's window. The official looked at it and then passed it back. "It's perfectly good," he said, "but I will have to ask you to indorse it." The young clergyman took his pen and wrote across the face of the check, "I respectfully subscribe to the sentiments herein expressed."

Get Beyond That.

One of the principal stockholders in a promising gold mine was expatiating on its merits to a capitalist and prospective investor. He described the vein in which the miners were working, showed him specimens of the ore and backed up his statements with the written opinions of experts.

"Well," admitted the capitalist, "it looks as if it might be a good investment. As my old Uncle Hiram would say, it has 'pints.'" "Pints?" exclaimed the stockholder, carried away perhaps by his overanxiety. "Why, sir, we're in quartz right now!"

Sour Stomach

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, sour stomach is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals, and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the sour stomach may be avoided. Correct Styles.

FOR SPRING & SUMMER

In selecting material, choose something that will harmonize with your make-up. Big checks don't look well on stout men and stripes should not be worn by men of a tall, slim build. Be careful, also as to color. Pale complexioned men should be careful of drabs, or a material with a touch of green in them. Browns are better. Blue looks well on most people, but men with reddish hair should not select a shad that is too bright. A little care in this direction goes a long way in improving a man's looks.

Over 500 styles to show you. Brown serges will take the place of Blues this season. See our $17.50 and $20 line.
