BARACA'S SOCIAL.

Philathias Delightfully Entertained.
On Tuesday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock, at the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Parham, on Fourth street, the Baraca class of the Baptist Sunday school delightfully entertained the Philathias class of the same school in a social party. About twenty couples were present and from beginning to end the evening was filled with enjoyment.

The assemblage was entertained with much music consisting of instrumental selections, vocal solos, duets and quartettes. Mrs. Parham had prepared a memory test that proved an interesting feature of the evening. Sentences had been written on slips of paper which were torn in two, one end being distributed among the gentlemen and the others among the ladies. Each gentleman had to select his partner by finding the lady who held the slip that completed the sentence he held.

After the couples had been placed the contest blanks were distributed. These consisted of folders on which thirty-one sentences were printed, each sentence having a blank at the end in which must be written a word composed of T and a certain number of letters. For instance, T and 4 letters forming to instruct—the word to be supplied here being teach, and so on through the other sentences.

Half an hour was given the couples to form and write the words, then blanks were examined to see who had the largest number. Rev. A. T. King had the highest score, thirty, and was awarded the first prize, a handsome scarf pin, which was presented by Prof. W. H. Ragsdale. Among the ladies Miss Sophia Jarvis was highest with twenty-eight, and was awarded a pretty bisque figure presented by Dr. J. W. Bryan. The lowest score was made by J. F. Smith and Miss Stokes, nine, and they were awarded a comic scarf pin and Japanese candle respectively.

After the contest fruits were served.

The Baraca class is to be congratulated upon the success of the entertainment. The class has been organized only a few months, yet it numbers more than thirty members, is a prominent part of the Sunday school and is doing a splendid work among the young men of the community.

The class and its guests thank Mr. and Mrs. Parham for the pleasure they contributed to the entertainment.

MISSIONARY INSTITUTE.

Many Attend and Much Interest is Manifest.

The Missionary Institute of the Washington District is now in session in the Methodist church. Delegates have been arriving each day this week, and a very large per cent. of the members of the Institute are now present.

The opening sermon of the Institute was preached Tuesday night by Rev. F. D. Swindell, D. D., of Wilson Station. The sermon was a very appropriate one and is conceded by all who were so fortunate as to hear it to be one of the most powerful missionary sermons ever preached in our city.

The services this morning consisted of the discussion of the following subjects: "Our Opportunity and Our Responsibility," led by Rev. R. C. Craven, and participated in by Rev. A. D. Betts, D. D., H. G. Stamey, and F. D. Swindell, D. D. "Do Missions Pay?" led by Rev. E. C. Sell, followed by Rev. F. D. Swindell, D. D., and Rev. L. E. Thompson. "How to Secure a Missionary Conscience," led by Rev. D. L. Earnhardt, followed by Rev. A. D. Betts, D. D., Rev. R. C. Craven, Rev. L. E. Thompson and Rev. L. E. Hunt and Mr. G. S. Prichard. "Woman's Work," discussed by Rev. F. D. Swindell, D. D.

This concluded the work of the morning services, and an adjournment was taken until three o'clock this afternoon, when the discussion on missions was resumed.

These services are both interesting and instructive, and a cordial invitation is extended to the people of our town and community to attend them.

HOOKER-HARRINGTON.

A Beautiful Home Wedding.

The attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Harrington was the scene of a beautiful marriage this morning. The large and spacious parlors had been artistically decorated with seasonable-ferns and potted plants, while the passage way leading thereto and the adjacent rooms seemed a veritable flower garden.

Promptly at 8 o'clock Miss Mary Moye in her usual graceful manner rendered a suitable march. Dr. J. E. Nobles and J. L. Carper, were the first of the bridal party to enter the parlor. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Lou Josey, of Scotland Neck and little Miss Mildred Edwards carried the ring. Then came the bride, Miss Emma Harrington, the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. W. H. Harrington, with the groom, Mr. Jno. L. Hooker, of Scotland Neck.

The marriage vows were taken by Rev. A. T. King, pastor of the Baptist church, who pronounced them husband and wife.

The newly married couple immediately after ceremony left for the A. C. L. depot where they took the north bound train for a trip to Northern cities. After their bridal tour they will make their home in Scotland Neck where Mr. Hooker for several years has lived as one of the prominent and prosperous young citizens.

The great number of handsome and useful presents together with the large number of visitors and friends that attended the marriage from a distance attest the popular and esteem with which the contracting parties are held.

Marriage in Kingston.

Robert C. Tunstall and Miss Cummings were married this morning in Kingston, and passed through here on the morning train on their way to Philadelphia and New York. Mr. Tunstall once lived in Greenville for a while and made many friends here. They extend best wishes to him and his bride.

VISIT TO A MODEL ANTE-BELLUM FARM.

Changed Conditions of Today—The Old Widows' Club.

[By J. M. HINES, Correspondent of the St. Louis Daily World and Industrial Press Syndicate.]

CUPULO FARM, N. C., April 24, 1905.

From where I am writing to the flourishing village of Farmville, Pitt county, on a line as the crow would fly is three miles. "Cupulo" is the rural name of the hospitable home and farm of Mrs. Harriett Bynum. In ante bellum days before the civil war this section of Greene county was known as the Ben Streeter neighborhood, from the fact that he owned extensive tracts of land for several miles around his homestead. He was called the land baron of upper Greene county. In addition to his large landed estate he was a large slaveholder and cultivated many broad fields of cotton, corn and small grain with his large force of negro laborers. Ben Streeter was regarded as the leading farmer in all of this section of country. He raised everything that he needed on his farm to produce a crop, his meat house and barn were not on the prairies of the West but on his own soil, from which he gathered his grain and cotton and raised his own live stock for farm animals and for meat.

After his death this valuable estate passed into the hands of his only heir and child, Mrs. Susau Atkinson, who placed a manager in charge to run the place as her father had done, which was continued until the close of the civil war in 1865. Then conditions and times changed from the old style of farming in the South. The negroes were free, and she had to rear out her large farms to such persons as she could get to cultivate her lands. In other words she was land poor, yet she owned some of the most valuable land in the county. Today most of her beautiful and fertile farms have passed to other hands, and are divided into small western like farms to suit the present conditions of farming in this portion of the South. As the traveller passes along the public highways leading through this neighborhood he sees in every direction the smoke curling upward from many cheerful cottage homes of the industrious sons of toil, while echoing through the morning breezes comes the merry song and whistle of the happy plow boy as he guides the plow in the furrow, singing and whistling the familiar airs of "only one more river to cross," "the girl I left behind," "where, oh where can all this music be," or "Saturday night and Sunday too, ladies in my mind, Monday morning good and soon dad has me gwine."

The people of this section are known far and near for their social hospitality. They have their societies and clubs, meeting at each other's homes in town. Among them they have an old widows' club, organized for social purposes only. They recently held their annual reunion, at which no male person was permitted to enter. At this meeting matters of unusual interest were to be discussed, from the fact that it was rumored that a man claiming to be a foreign count, lord, earl or duke, was intending to make a visit to this portion of the country, with a view of finding an American wife. This was the signal for every widow of good appearance with a strong bank account, to be fully aligned with the passions of the times, as this distinguished gentleman of foreign scent, and title is surely to come. Every member of the club was present dressed in all the finery and furbelows that the currency left her by her dear dead husband would buy. Music song and dance was the order of the day, the keys of the best piano were 'touched' with the delicate fingers of these motherly widows, they sung songs that traced their memories back to sweet sixteen and threw dull cares away. The ages of the members is not recorded. One of them gave as a reason for not giving out their ages that they did not wish to discourage the younger widows and young girls, who were seeking to catch good chances of marriage, as we are only girls ourselves, you know; we are only old in experience, which is worth much to a woman in selecting a husband. The old widows club of this section is reported to be in a most flourishing condition and will be pleased to examine the credentials of all foreigners who claim to have titles and are seeking American wives in our midst.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates on experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some soured meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale at Wooten's Drug Store.

The Cash Value of Sobriety.

The Chicago and Alton Railroad company, in rules recently issued for its employees, forbids men in its employ to visit saloons, race tracks, dance halls or any other resorts where liquor is sold or gambling permitted.

The company makes no pretense of carrying on a moral crusade, it simply strives to live up to business principles which depend upon the competency and reliability of its men.

Good service, it holds, depends upon steady habits, and both help to insure public safety.

"All the things which are prohibited," says General Passenger Agent Charlton, "either tend or might tend permanently or temporarily to impair a man's mental and physical powers."

This puts the question of temperance and steady habits upon a basis where even the most benighted morally can clearly understand it and see that there is but one practical side to it.

The man who will not hearken to moral appeal is apt to lay great stress upon his regard for the practical. He doesn't care for sentiment—gush, he calls it; he must have hard fact.

Well, here he gets just what he wants. The hard fact is that he must be sober and steady or give up a job where sobriety and steadiness are essential qualities.

And wherever he turns nowadays he finds that same hard fact staring him in the face. In all lines of paying employment sobriety and steadiness are becoming more and more rigidly required.—Atlanta Journal.

Cured of Lame After 15 Years of Suffering

"I had been troubled with lame back for fifteen years and I found a complete recovery in the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says John G. Bisher, Gillam, Ind. This liniment is also without an equal for sprains and bruises. It is for sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville.

Forget About Your Stomach.

If your digestion is bad the vital organs of your body are not fed and nourished as they should be. They grow weak and invite disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, cures indigestion and all stomach troubles. You forget you have a stomach from the very day you begin taking it. This is because it gets a rest—recuperates and gradually grows so strong and healthy that it troubles you no more. E. L. Babcock, Amherst, Minn., says: "I have taken a great many remedies for indigestion but have found nothing equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure." Kodol digests what you eat, cures indigestion, Dyspepsia, sour stomach, belching, heartburn and all stomach troubles. Its preparation is the result of many years of research. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

The greater the uses are for raw cotton, the greater the demand, and the better the prices. Bagging made from cotton is to be a new industry in the South, two such companies having been organized the past week. The Atlanta (Ga) Bagging and Tie Company and the Huntsville (Ala) Bagging and Tie Company have organized to manufacture cotton bagging and ties. Nothing like diversifying our industries.—Wilmington Star.

Sour Stomach

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, sour stomach is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals, and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the sour stomach may be avoided. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville.

A Tried and True Friend.

After trying a number of remedies to no avail, One Minute Cough Cure entirely cured me." Sold by Jno. L. Wooten.

The Right Name is DeWitt.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cools, soothes and heals cuts, burns, boils, bruises, piles and all skin diseases. K. E. Zickefoose, Adolph W. Va., says: "My little daughter had white swelling so bad that piece after piece of bone worked out of her leg. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured her." It is the most wonderful healing salve in the world. Beware of counterfeits. Sold by J. L. Wooten's drug store.

TIBET'S TEA TIPPLERS.

Salt, Soda and Butter Go to Make It Their National Drink.

Tea forms one of the principal articles of commerce throughout Tibet and Mongolia. The native is miserable without it and when it cannot be obtained is willing to cheat himself by various expedients, such as boiling dried onion heads, herbs or even an infusion of chips of wood in water, in order that he may not be at least without a suggestion of his favorite beverage. The tea imported from China is pressed into small oblong shaped bricks, made up into cases of nine bricks, securely sewed in a white, and not only is it used as a beverage, but in fact forms a staple of currency as negotiable as Bank of England notes or American paper currency.

The native method of preparing this delicacy is not appetizing. The tea is first ground to a fine powder by vigorously pounding it in a mortar until no splints of wood or other impurities are visible to the eye; it is then put into the kettle, when the water is hot, to boil ten or fifteen minutes. By way of giving increased flavor, salt or soda is added, and this part of the operation being completed, the all important business of drinking it commences. The family being gathered around the fire of yak dung, in order that atmosphere, as the painters would say, should not be lacking, each one draws from some hidden recess in the folds of his voluminous sheepskin coat a little wooden bowl, and with a satisfaction which must be seen to be appreciated, fills his private dish with the liquid. All this, however, is by way of preliminary.

From a skin full of butter, placed within convenient range, each person takes a piece of oleaginous compound and lets it melt into his bowl of steaming tea. Then, oh joy! oh rapture! with furtive gusto he draws the nectar to his lips and "heaven is opened unto him." The bowl is again filled; into the steaming liquid he throws a handful of tsamba (parched barley meal), and, drawing forth the sodden lump, works it into a ball of brown dough with a deft movement of his left hand, and successively bites off pieces of this delicacy and drinks his buttered tea until the visible supply has vanished, when, in order that his table etiquette may not be impugned, he licks his bowl clean, and eagerly looks forward to the moment when gods and fate shall again become propitious.—Outing.

Properly Appared.

"The evening wore on," continued the man who was telling the story.

"Excuse me," interrupted the would be wit. "But can you tell us what the evening wore on that occasion?"

"I don't know that it is important," replied the story teller. "But if you must know, I believe it was the close of a summer day."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A Compliment.

Miss Hippopotamus—I received quite a compliment from Mr. Tiger today.

Miss Rhinoceros—Hope you don't associate with people of that stripe! Miss Hippopotamus—Indeed, and why not? He's as good as the best. He looked at me so admiringly! Then he said, "I congratulate you on the fact that beauty is skin deep." Wasn't that sweet of him?—Boston Transcript.

A Great Scheme.

"That was a great scheme old Shrewdly worked."

"I didn't hear of it."

"He gave it out that the first one of his eleven daughters to be married should have his entire fortune." "What was the result?" "Eleven elopements in one night. They can't determine which one was the first, so Shrewdly gets rid of the girls and keeps the fortune."—Liverpool Mercury.

A Civil Answer.

The news butcher, a box of chewing gum in his hand, stopped in front of a rural passenger.

"Chewing gum, mister?" he asked, sticking the box under his nose.

The passenger addressed looked at him solemnly a moment, stroked his beard, expectorated a long stream of ambia on the floor and replied curtly:

"Naw, terbaccer!"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Satisfactory.

Little Ruth visited a large wholesale grocery store with her aunt. While there a clerk gave her a small sample bottle of catchup. That evening she tasted it and seemed much pleased.

"Oh, auntie," she exclaimed some time later, "when you go to that store again, please tell the clerk I would like another example of catchup!"—Little Chronicle.

GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

EATING BEFORE SLEEPING.

A Light, Palatable Meal One of the Best Aids to Rest.

A short time since a physician held the eating of food immediately before retiring almost a crime. The old theory is quite exploded. One medical journal, in commenting on the subject recently, said that while it is not good, as a matter of fact, to go to bed with the stomach so loaded that the undigested food will render one restless, still, something of a light, palatable nature in the stomach is one of the best aids to quietude and rest. The process of digestion goes on in sleep with as much regularity as when one is taking violent exercise to aid it, and so something in the stomach is very desirable for the night's rest. Some physicians have declared, indeed, that a good deal of the prevalent insomnia is the result of an unconscious craving of the stomach for food in persons who have been unduly frightened by the opinion that they must not eat before going to bed, or who have, like many nervous women, been keeping themselves in a state of semistarvation. Nothing is more agreeable on retiring for the night than to take a bowl of hot broth like oatmeal gruel or some good nourishing soup. It is a positive aid to nervous people and induces peaceful slumbers. This is especially the case during cold winter nights, when the stomach craves warmth as much as any other part of the body. Even a glass of hot milk is grateful to the palate on such occasions, but a bowl of light well cooked gruel is better and during the cold months of winter should be the retiring food of every woman who feels, as many do, the need of food at night.—American Cultivator.

His Essay on Pants.

A boy has been suspended for reading the following essay on pants:

"Pants are made for men, and not men for pants. Pants are like molasses—they are thinner in hot weather and thicker in cold. The man in the moon changes his pants during the eclipse. Don't you go to the pantry for pants; you might be mistaken.

"Men are often mistaken in pants. Such mistakes make breeches of promise.

"There has been much discussion as to whether pants is singular or plural. Seems to us when men wear pants they are plural, and when they don't wear pants it is singular.

"Men go on a tear in pants, and it is all right, but when the pants go on a tear it is all wrong."—Pittsburg Bulletin.

A Wonderful Saying.

The largest Methodist church in Georgia, used 32 gallons of L. & M. mixed with 24 gallons of oil, thus making paint cost about $1.20 per gallon. They calculated to use 100 gallons of other paint. Saved about $80.00 and also got a big donation of L. & M. Dealers gladly sell L. & M., because their customers call for it, and say they used it 12, 14 and even 30 years ago.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for linseed oil, which you do in ready-for-use paint.

Buy oil fresh from the barrel at 60 cents per gallon, and mix it with L. & M. paint.

It makes paint cost about $1.20 per gallon. Sold by H. L. Carr.
