FIVE AGED MEN

And They Are as Good as Are Found.

On Saturday afternoon five of our oldest citizens by chance gathered together at the office of Maj. H. Harding. As the conversation turned to old times the question of their ages came up. It was found that the combined ages of the five men aggregated 358 years, or an average of 71 3-5 years. Mr. J. O. Tripp led the party with 77 years behind him. Ex-Sheriff W. M. King came next, 74 years to his credit. The other three, ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis, Mr. Josiah Dixon and Maj. Henry Harding are each 69 and look young for their age. You do not come across better men in bunches of five, either.

The "Martin Family."

The revival services at the Christian church opened last night with a large congregation in attendance.

Dr. Martin and his family met with a most cordial welcome and in turn captured the public at every advance move, with the singing, preaching, and violin music.

We cannot describe the sweet music and powerful presentation of the Gospel, words are inadequate.

Dr. Martin preached on "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus."

For one hour he held the close attention of the congregation, and it is safe to say that those who listened last night will come again and again and scores with them.

The subject for tonight will be "The good confession." The meeting opening at 8 o'clock p. m. sharp.

Beginning tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon services will be held at 3:30.

All are advised to come early so as not to miss a seat.

LETTER TO R. L. DAVIS.

Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir: A banker's business is to know pretty much everything. Here's a part of it, well worth anyone's knowing.

Devoe lead-and-zinc is the paint that takes fewer gallons that mixed paint and wears twice as long as lead-and-oil. Our agent sells it under this guarantee:

"If you have any fault to find with this paint, either now in putting it on, or hereafter in the wear, tell your dealer about it.

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

If you get your house painted with it, and it wears no better than most lead and oil, you will have good cause of complaint; and we must pay damages.

This is the paint that looks as good, and wears twice as long, as lead and oil.

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & Co.

P. S. H. L. Carr sells our Paint.

Another Argument for Raising Supplies at Home.

Franklin county is being scourged with a wild onion plague. Many of the best pastures for cows all over the county are being filled with beds of wild onions, making them useless for grazing purposes. The only explanation so far advanced is that the seeds are imported in foreign raised hay. If so, here is another argument for raising supplies at home. It is so bad in some places that men are employed by the day to dig them up.—Louisburg Times.

The Free Will Baptist of the 2nd union district of the central conference held their union meeting at St. Delight last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. There was a large attendance at each service and much interest manifest in the business proceedings. On Sunday morning at about 9 o'clock the people began to arrive from almost every direction and in a short time the house was filled and yet people continued to come. Such a congregation had not been seen at St. Delight before since the annual conference was held there several years ago. It was estimated that there was between 800 and 1,000 people present. Rev. E. T. Phillips, of Ayden, pastor of the Free Will Baptist church and editor of the Free Will Baptist, preached an able sermon on Sunday at 11 o'clock. At night services were conducted by pastor. All seemed to enjoy the meeting and it was a feast indeed to those who heard the sermon on Sunday.

At the election held here yesterday for town officers the following named gentlemen were elected: Mayor, J. J. Stokes; Commissioners, M. M. Sauls, Stancel Hodges, R. W. Smith, Sebron Cox and S. A. Jenkins.

Ben Sheppard, of Wilmington, has been here on a visit to relatives. Rev. W. L. Bilbro, an old former resident of Ayden, but now of Dover, has been here in attendance upon the union.

Our Baptist friends have had charge of our town for the past few days. They were an intelligent, handsome and extremely clever people. We miss them very much.

The Baptist Union in session here during the past week did much business of importance. Their preaching was of an exceedingly high order, their congregation unusually large and the zeal and interest each and every one of them made manifest in all their deliberations show them to be a people determined to carry out and execute the aims and purposes they have in view. Their visit was very pleasant to all our people and we sincerely wish they may come again.

Several went from here to Greenville Sunday to here the sermon preached by Rev. N. M. Watson to the Odd Fellows.

Winterville has been well represented at the Union here. Especially were the representatives from the high school an attractive feature. They just can't be beat. There were only seven wagon loads of the angels here Sunday.

E. F. Tucker was here Sunday afternoon.

Rev. W. E. Cox conducted religious services in the Episcopal church Sunday and Sunday night.

Charlie Nunn has returned from Elizabeth City.

Misses Hennie Brown and Mary Johnson, of Standard, have been on a visit to friends here.

A negro on being placed in the lock-up here the other day saw occasion to remark it was the first time he had the privilege of looking through the ten of diamonds. There are some people who know how to appreciate a good thing when they see it.

There was right much cotton on the market yesterday.

Miss Jennie Coward, of Kingston, came up Sunday morning to visit friends.

Miss Ruth Mitchell, of Arba, is visiting Miss Mattie McLawhorn.

The convict road gang is getting to be something immense. We believe two squads would accomplish more than one, with less expense.

TRIBUTE TO RETIRING PASTOR.

Remarks in Baptist Church by Prof. W. H. Ragsdale.

Bro. King: Sometimes when we are asked by individuals or bodies to express something in their behalf, it is purely and simply formal. I have not been asked by this church to bear you the message of love which I bring you tonight, and yet never in my life have I felt and known that I voice the sentiment of every member of this church when I speak a few farewell words to you now. Their every act, the very expression upon their faces say to me, speak for us. I come with no words of fawning or flattery, but with the honest feelings of true hearts, simply, crudely and poorly expressed.

Not quite two years ago, late one Saturday afternoon, you came to this town a perfect stranger to every soul within its portals. Sunday morning and evening you preached for us. Scarcely had you reached your home when you received a letter conveying to you the unanimous call of this church to become its pastor. You came and the hand of God was in it all. Mistis are unsightly everywhere and in every thing. In a pastorate they are deplorable. Here, however, there was none. The right man in the right place is the verdict of two years experience and observation.

In every pastorate, as I see it, four phases of life enter—the social, the pastoral work, the public services, and his connection with the Sunday school. I bear testimony tonight that in your stay with us in these it has been thus: In the social you have been gentle, kind, courteous, refined and cultured. You have been an example of what the social ought to be. Our ideals are higher and our social life is better. In pastoral work you have been loving, diligent and faithful. No shepherd ever loved his flock better than you. No one has ever led them more lovingly and kindly. In your public services you have broken unto us the bread of life, you have given us the Gospel and nothing more. You have led us to nobler ambitions, you have inspired us with higher aspirations, you have made us better, you have caused us to desire to be more like Jesus. In reference to your connection with the Sunday school, I, as its superintendent, dare not trust myself to speak. As I sat tonight thinking of opening the school next Sunday morning without the approving smile of your presence, my heart sank within me. I want to bear testimony tonight before this vast concourse of people that in this work your soul has been, and your labors unceasing for its upbuilding. It must have been gratifying to you this morning, your last meeting with us, to see it reach the two hundred mark.

We shall miss you here and miss you sadly. We shall think of you and remember you kindly. We realize that the time has come when we must part, but we are unwilling that you shall go without this message of love which I bring you from an admiring people: We love you for what you are—gentle, noble, kind, loving, Christlike. We love you for what you have been to us—a leader in everything that is good. You have served us at the marriage altar and at the death-bed with a tenderness that has touched our hearts. At times we have seemingly not followed your leadership, I desire to say in behalf of the church that it has been due to the weakness of poor, frail, human nature and not to a want of willing hearts.

We love you lastly for Jesus' sake whom you so faithfully and nobly serve and preach. When I think of your many earnest appeals to the unsaved, of the opportunity you gave their lives to the service of your Master, I feel that it is sad for them that you are to leave. We must say farewell, but wherever in this green earth you meet a member of this church the hearty grasp of the hand will be such as can only come from a loving heart. We only give you a leave of absence—some time in the future there will come again the unanimous call of this church to you to become its pastor. Until you shall thus return, even in your absence our homes, our hearts, our love are yours. God bless you wherever you go and whatever you do now and always is the wish and prayer of every member of your loving congregation.

NORTH CAROLINA AHEAD.

Rich in Resources the State Has Produced Many Marvelous Things, but Nothing of the Kind Perhaps the Equal of Buckhorn Lithia Spring Recently Discovered in Granville County.—A Wonderful Mineral Water Which Works Miracles in Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder and Stomach.

No State in the Union, perhaps, has a greater diversity of resources than North Carolina. And in nothing is it richer than in mineral waters whose curative properties are recognized far and wide. The latest discovery of this kind is that of the Buckhorn Lithia Spring, one mile from Bullock, Granville county, on the line of the Durham & Key-ville (Southern) Railway, between Oxford and Clarksville.

The story of the discovery and beneficial results obtained from the use of this water make interesting reading. The sons of Mr. B. T. Hicks, on whose land the spring is located, while working in a field near by discovered a small stream gushing up out of a rock. The water looked pure and sparkling and being thirsty, they stopped to drink. It had a marked effect, and they drank of it again and repeatedly. Mr. Hicks was away from home at the time, having gone to a well known spring in the Western part of the State, seeking relief from an aggravated case of catarrh of the stomach. At the end of three or four weeks, he returned home, apparently no better, and dejected spirit.

When Mr. Hicks reached home, the boys told him about the water they had found and the peculiar effect it had upon those who drank it. They suggested that he try it, but he had lost all hope. If the water and medicines he had been using for so long a time were with out avail, surely he did not expect to find relief from any water, or other thing, on his own premises. But, incredulous as he was, like a drowning person grasping at a straw, he determined to give this water a trial.

There was no spring there—merely a small stream gushing up out of a rock. Perhaps no one would have thought of taking notice of it or drinking at such a place but boys. Mr. Hicks began drinking the water, and soon commenced to improve. The effect was marked from the very first. The man who went home, a wreck, is today a well man—strong, vigorous, hearty—a walking, living illustration of the marvelous curative powers of this wonderful water after six or eight months use of it.

After using the water awhile and finding there was virtue in it. Mr. Hicks cut away the rock through which it had forced itself in a tiny stream, all through the ages undiscovered and unutilized, and released a bold spring, which flows at the rate of a gallon a minute. This, in brief, is the story of the discovery of this new elixir of life.

A gentleman from Baltimore came out to Mr. Hicks' on a hunting expedition last fall. So impressed was he with the extraordinary activity of the water from this spring, that he took a sample home with him and had it analyzed at his own expense, at a cost of $75.00.

After having the analysis made, the gentleman in question sent it to Mr. Hicks and advised him to have the spring capitalized and exploit the water for the benefit of suffering humanity. This, Mr. Hicks has done, Messrs J. A. Kelly and R. H. Hood, of Henderson, purchasing an interest in the spring. The name "Buckhorn" has been given to it, and Buckhorn Lithia Water will be vigorously pushed by these enterprising gentlemen. That it is des-tinued to attain a wide sale and a great reputation admits of no doubt. The analysis shows it to contain double the quantity of lithia of the most celebrated lithia waters known. As a diuretic, alterative and laxative it has no superior. Its effect upon the stomach, bowels, kidneys and bladder is very pronounced, and its use is attended with the most beneficial results. A number of persons in Henderson have been drinking Buckhorn Lithia Water for some time and enthusiastic are the praises bestowed upon it.

Henderson will be the principal distributing point, thus adding another important industry to our town.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

Strictly Genuine.

Most of the patent medicine testimonials are probably genuine. The following notice recently appeared in the Atchison, Kan., Globe: "Joe Tack, a well known engineer, running on the Pacific between Wichita and Klowa, lately appeared in a big one, with a picture, and when he was in the office today, we asked him about it. He says terrific pains in his stomach, and thought he had cancer. His druggist recommended Kodol and he says it cured him. He recommended it to others, who were also cured." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and cures all stomach troubles. Just as surely as the sun shines your stomach can be brought back to its originally pure condition and life sweetened by this lasting and truly the greatest digestant known. Sold by Jno L Wooten.

Bilious Bill was getting bloated, And his tongue was muchly coated. Patent "tonics" wouldn't cure him, Companies would not insure him. All his friends were badly frightened, But their spirits soon were lightened, For Bill said—and they believed him, EARLY RISER pill relieved him. The famous little pills "Early Risers" cure Constipation, Sick Headache, Bilioussness, etc., by their tonic effect on the liver. They never gripe or sicken but impart early rising energy. Good for children or adults. Sold by Jno L Wooten.

PAPOOSE POPCORN
A New Seed Discovery for FORAGE, POULTRY, POPPING

A subscriber to the Southern Agriculturist secured the original seed from an old Indian in Northwest Texas. After experimenting with it seven years he wrote that paper: "With good ground and care it will make from 50 to 100 bushels to the acre, and planted thick and cut stalk and all it will make more feed and better feed than anything I ever saw. The old Indian said poultry fed on it would never have the cholera. I have not lost a fowl with cholera since I have been raising it. It also pops beautifully." This article brought hundreds of requests for seed, and now only a few bushels are left. Send 10c for a 3 months' trial subscription to Southern Agriculturist, 39 C. P. Bldg., Nashville, Tenn., and you will get 100 seed by return mail, also details of 500 prize seed-growing contest.

JAPANESE POLITENESS.

Even the Thief Apologizes to the Police For Troubling Them.
The politeness of the Japanese is what one might expect of a country where the thief apologizes to the policeman for giving him so much trouble. If you want to learn the language and hire a teacher he is far too polite to tell you of your mistakes. "This authority," says Mr. Scherer, a teacher who has lived long in Japan, "usually proceeds upon the hypothesis that a foreigner cannot learn Japanese anyway and that the most the teacher may hope to do is to persuade him that he can." Xavier, the first great missionary to Japan, held that the language was an invention of the devil to prevent the preaching of the Christian faith, and most students have agreed so far as the first part of the phrase is concerned. Mr. Scherer tells of a missionary who fancied he had made progress enough to deliver a sermon in the native tongue. This feeling was intensified as a dignified and interested listener came forward with words of gratified comment. But the appreciative auditor continued: "Truly, as for the honorable sermon, it was greatly interesting. I listened to it well. If you ask why, it was the first time I ever heard a discourse in the English tongue. And how much your language is like the language of Japan!"

Politeness may sometimes take a mercenary form. Mr. Scherer says: "My own most impressive lesson in the art of oriental politeness occurred at an early pecuniary transaction. Upon asking a Japanese merchant the price of some fancy shells he told me they were 10 cents each. 'Now,' I said to him, 'you have just fifteen of them left and I need them all. So what will be the price if I take the entire lot?' After elaborate figuring on the ever present abacus he replied that the fifteen would cost $1.75. Thinking that my friend the merchant had made a mistake or that his abacus was out of order, I confidently called attention to the fact that since all the articles were being purchased there should rather be a reduction in the price than an increase. 'Not at all,' he replied, with a pitying smile. 'I sell you my entire stock of shells. Then when some other customer comes to buy I, forsooth, am out. And that will be impolitely inconvenient to him; hence the extra charge for my impoliteness.'

Palm Trees.
The various kinds of palm trees on the island of Ceylon are in themselves of great interest, and when their different uses are explained a person can well appreciate how essential they are to the natives in low country Cingalese districts. From the sap of the cocoon palm the spirit he drinks is distilled; the kernel of the nut is a necessary element in his daily curry; the milk is the beverage offered to every visitor to his domain; his only lamp is fed from the oil; his nets for fishing are manufactured from its fiber, as is also the rope which keeps his goat or cow from going astray, while the rafters of his house, the thatch of the roof and the window blinds are made from its leaf and wood. There is perhaps no product in the world that is put to so many and such profitable uses as the cocoon palm, for even before it is grown its leaf ribs are tied together to make brooms for sweeping and cages for birds.

An Old English Woolen Law.
An act passed in the time of King Charles II. of England, "for the encouragement of the woolen manufacturers of this kingdom and the prevention of the exportation of the monies thereof for the buying and importing of linen," provided that "from and after the five and twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand six hundred and sixty-seven, no person or persons whatsoever shall be buried in any shirt, shift or sheets made of or mingled with flax, hempe, silke, haire, golde or silver, or other than what shall be made of wool only." There was one exception to the rule. A person dying of the plague was permitted to be buried in a linen shroud. Otherwise penalty had to be paid, $25 for each offense. The act was repealed in the reign of King George III.

How Poison of Cobra Acts.
The venom of the cobra contains an ingredient not well known that acts upon the nerves. Its effects are rapid and difficult to counteract. This ingredient exists in the cobra's venom to a greater extent than the other substances that make up the poison. The poison of the viperine and crotaline snakes (the rattlesnake, copperhead, moccasin, etc.) contains but a small percentage of this nerve destroying or paralyzing element. The poison of these snakes acts principally upon the blood and in consequence its action is slower. —St. Nicholas.

HAIR TONICS.

Remedies That the Baldheaded Man Was Advised to Try.
"Take half a dozen white potatoes," said the barber, "and pare them lengthwise, from end to end, instead of crosswise, as is usual. Boil them in a quart of water. Drain the water off into a bottle and add a teaspoonful of salt. This liquid, this simple compound of boiled potato water and salt, will, if it is rubbed into the scalp three times a week, change a thin, moth eaten head of hair into a thick and vigorous crop."

The bald listener laughed. "Potato water is a new one," he said scornfully.
"New and fine," returned the barber. "Do you see how good my hair is? Well, I was nearly as bald as you are once. I used potato water three times a week for three months. Look at the result."

"I'll tell you some of the tonics that have been recommended to me," said the baldhead.
"First, coal oil—coal oil rubbed into the scalp every night before retiring. Can you imagine any man sinking a coal oil drenched head among his pure white pillows?"
"Sage tea. I made some sage tea once, and the mixture had so vile and forbidding a look that I could not apply it."

"Onion juice. That no doubt is a good tonic. But what would my friends say if I should always be thrusting under their noses a head scented with onions?"
"Black molasses. A Kentuckian actually advised me last year to try black molasses."
"Hemlock soap and vinegar. That is a tonic that a Maine barber swears by. Seaweed and apple seeds boiled in sea water is a sailor's recipe. Dandelion tea, plaintain tea and a tea made of honeysuckle are the tonics that a Boston masseur suggested to me."—Washington Post.

Two Ugly Men.
The Duc de Roquelaure was a man of great ugliness and much humor. One day he met in the street a most unlovely looking Auvergnat, who had some petition or memorial to present at Versailles. He immediately introduced himself to Louis XIV., remarking that he was under a special obligation to him. The king granted the favor asked for and then inquired of the duc what might be the nature of the obligation. "But for him, your majesty, I should be the ugliest man in your dominions!"

I am reminded of Heidegger, the manager of the opera house in the Haymarket when George II. was king. One day he laid a wager with the Earl of Chesterfield that he would not find in all London an uglier face than his. After a long search the earl produced a woman of St. Giles' who at first seemed to outvie the manager, but when the latter put on the woman's headgear his superior ugliness was at once admitted.—All the Year Round.
