

As We Buy So Do We Sell

THE GREAT JUNE SALE.

Our annual custom during the month of June is to feature Special Sales, turning a dull business month into one of greatest activity.

Profit stripped offerings produce lively selling. Free advice is the cheapest thing on earth, but the following is calculated to put you to thinking—dead on.

Reductions in the Millinery Department.

All summer Millinery and Lawns will be sold at a great sacrifice.

Ladies' and children's ready-to-wear Hats in straw and duck at price

Reduction in Ladies' Misses and children Slippers.

Reductions in all figured Lawns.

Laces and Embroideries reduced one half.

Special Reduction on Ribbon

Reductions in Other Departments.

Men's and Boys' Clothing reduced 50 per cent.

As summer trips are maturing thick and fast and we are overstocked on Trunks, Grips and need the space we reduce them for a few days 20 per cent.

Men's and Boy's Straw Hats reduced one half.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Umbrellas reduced 25 per cent.

Men's and Boy's Slippers in Tans and Blacks reduced 15 per cent.

These prices are made for thrifty cash buyers and are made for a limited time. Other goods at cut prices to which reference is not made. You'll see them. They will be handy.

THIGPEN KEEL

Beautiful Home Wedding.

Wednesday evening at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. H. F. Keel, in South Greenville, a large number of friends and relatives assembled to witness the marriage of his daughter, Miss Floy, to Mr. A. L. Thigpen, of Penny Hill. They were married by Rev. J. A. Hornaday. The attendants were: Miss Huldah Keel with Von Fein; Miss Mamie Haskett with J. F. Thigpen; Miss Sallie Knight, of Tarboro, with J. H. Briley.

Mendelszhu's Wedding March was played by Mrs. Walter C. Johnson. The parlor was beautifully decorated with palms ferns and ivy. After congratulations were extended the bridal party left for the home of the groom, where a reception was tendered them. Mr. and Mrs. Thigpen were the recipients of many beautiful and valuable presents.

Lamp Causes Excitement.

Wednesday night a little past 11 o'clock when the Red Men had closed their meeting in the Masonic temple and the members were coming down from the hall, J. H. Harris was carrying a lamp to light the way. After passing the last landing on the stairs from some cause the lamp flashed up in Mr. Harris' hand and caused him to drop it on the steps. He quickly picked up the lamp and threw it out the door into the street so that no damage was done. Some one seeing the blaze on the street cried fire and the alarm was rung. There was excitement for a few minutes until it was found out there was no fire.

Found Dead On Street

This morning Ned Spell, a well known colored man, was found dead on a street near the edge of town. He lived on Otanch street between the market house and the branch. Ned was a very superstitious darkey and was afraid to sleep in the house at night by himself. When his body was found this morning it had on only night clothes and was wrapped in a blanket. It is supposed that during the night he got scared and left his house. Death is thought to have resulted from heart disease.

Nice Monument.

A nice granite monument has been erected at the grave of the late H. A. Sutton in Cherry Hill cemetery. The monument was constructed by Charles Miller Walsh, the noted marble dealer of Petersburg, and S. E. Walsh, his representative, was here Wednesday to superintend erecting it.

Norman H. Johnson Coming

Norman H. Johnson, attorney general of the North Carolina Retail Merchants' Association will speak at the court house Friday night, June 9th, to the members of the association here. All members are requested to be present, and all business men who are not members are invited.

Is It Another Railroad?

Some engineers are here making a preliminary survey for a railroad. Whether or not it means another road for this section we cannot say, as we have seen no one who seems to know anything about it.

For Rent or for Sale.

1 new seven room tin roof dwelling. 1 twelve room slate roof dwelling 1 three room cottage. Apply to W. M. Smith at Fountain or C. S. Carr.

THE WEATHER

For North Carolina: Fair, cooler tonight; Friday fair.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Knights of Pythias meet tonight.

The base ball battle is on as we go to press.

The ball game was a good crowd drawer.

You can get Rice flour for the sick from J. B. Cherry & Co.

Some people do not seem to know that it is tax listing time.

8-room dwelling for rent, apply to Mrs. M. Foley. 62 1/2 kd

Some cold facts—Victor refrigerators Taft & Vandyke.

Handsomest and largest stock of Iron Bedsteads at S. M. Schulz.

10lbs Standard granulated sugar for 65 cents at Johnston Bros. 2sw

Have you called on the tax lister? No need of putting it off

See Wm. H. McMahon 3 piece iron beds, Taft & Vandyke. 529 1m

Several different flavors of ice cream will be served at the lawn party tonight.

Fox river butter in pound packages. Something extra good, J. B. Cherry & Co. 67 3td

Greenville has many visitors today and the latch-string to everything hangs on the outside.

For Rent—Five room cottage on 11th street. Good water. Apply to C. D. Rountree. 5-27 dtf

We have the very thing for infants and invalids "Patent Barley." J. B. Cherry & Co.

Don't holler yourself so hoarse at the ball game that you can't eat ice cream at the lawn party tonight.

The Altar Workers of the Methodist church will have a lawn party on the court house green on Tuesday night, 13th.

A fine milch cow belonging to night policeman W. H. McGowan died Wednesday night. He thinks he fed the cow with too much cotton seed meal.

Don't forget the lawn party on the court house green tonight. If it rains the ladies will sell ice cream in the Jarvis building, so go and enjoy the evening anyway.

RICE FLOUR AND BARLEY—Good for babies and children suffering with dysentery and summer complaint. Highly recommended by the doctors. For sale by J. B. Cherry & Co. 68 2 td.

John Peebles, a colored man, while at work Wednesday helping raise a monument in the cemetery, met with an accident in which the small bone in one leg, just above the ankle, was fractured.

PERSONAL ITEMS.

W. O. Shelburn, went to Goldsboro Wednesday evening.

T. L. Bland and family returned this morning from a visit to Ayden.

Tom Blow, returned home from Baltimore Wednesday evening last.

Mrs. J. A. Perry, of Moyton, is visiting Mrs. W. R. Parker in South Greenville.

Mrs. J. T. Giddens and Miss Inez Croon, of Durham, came in Wednesday night to visit Mrs. J. M. Moore.

Rev. and Mrs. F. G. Hartman and Miss Elizabeth Baskerville, left this morning for different points in Virginia.

Orphan Concert Tuesday June 13th.

The concert tours of the orphan children each year become a greater success and they deserve to be. The entertainments are of a high order, bright and humorous, from all that could do harm. The program, different each year, always contains a pleasing variety of pieces. The cause the children represent is indeed a worthy one. The amount realized from the tours goes to help in the support of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, which is attempting the care and training of over 270 orphan children.

RENSTON ITEMS.

RENSTON, N. C., June 7, 1905

Miss Rosa Lee Dail is on the sick list.

Services were conducted in the new church building at Little Creek last Sunday notwithstanding the building is not completed.

Rev. M. Pate filled his regular appointment in the M. E. church Sunday morning.

Rev. R. I. Corbett preached in Hookerton last Sunday night. He was accompanied by Rev. M. A. Woodard.

To the Potato Growers of Greenville.

We wish to state that the official quotations on strictly prime potatoes are as follows:

New York $2.25, Pittsburg $2, Philadelphia $1.50. Buyers are not offering over $1.10, owing to the downward tendency of the market, and as it is difficult to secure orders to buy f. o. b., without too large a margin we would advise all who are forced to dig to ship on consignment, rather than sell at such low prices. We are prepared to solicit consignments to any of the large markets and to good, reliable dealers. If you decide to ship see us and we will keep you posted.

June 8th., 1905.

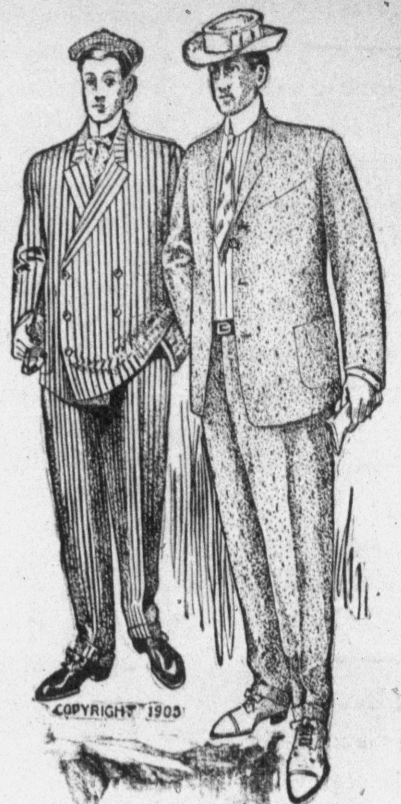

SPEIGHT & Co.

Died.

The infant son, aged 5 months and 7 days, of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. May, died at 5:30 o'clock this morning at their home in the Harriess house on Dickinson avenue. Much sympathy is expressed for the young parents in their bereavement. The interment will take place Friday in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Gold Mine Chartered.

The Colossus Gold Mining and Milling Company, of Waxhaw, has been chartered with a capital of $10,500,000. It is the largest corporation in the state.

SUMMER-TIME.

The season of the year when coolness must be suggested in all that appertains to a man's apparel. You will find in our stock of Furnishing Goods a variety of "little things" at your disposal, that are well worth the having—and at prices distinguished for modesty.

We can fix you out for all sorts of Summer sports—for Outing, Traveling or for Business. We have

Frank Wilson,

THE KING CLOTHIER.

New Spring Goods ARRIVING DAILY.

There is one thing that we do not claim in our business to do and that is to sell goods cheaper than they can be bought—neither do we want to create the impression that our store is full of shop worn, out of style goods nor by filling our store with show bills and sign boards will we try to impress false ideas in your mind that we are going out of business, but we do wish it understood that we are receiving daily shipments of the newest things in and kindred materials so desirable with the women folk of Greenville and Pitt county, and we do hope that you will at least favor us with a visit to see these many new things.

RIBBONS, SILKS, EMBROIDERIES, LACES

Pulley & Bowen,

THE HOME OF WOMEN'S FASHIONS.

19 PAYMENTS.

You can secure a "Nineteen Payment" Policy in the PENN MUTUAL for about the same premium charged by a number of other companies for Twenty Payments. Why not save this one years premium?

If you become interested in Life Insurance don't buy until you investigate policies issued by "The Penn"—a strictly Mutual Company.

Yours Truly,

TAFT & VANDYKE.

THURSDAY, JUNE 8, 1905.

Nobody said anything about Nan Patterson.

As a ship building boomer Togo is a drawing card.

The two contemplated Republican daily papers at Greensboro have come together, and there will not be over one.

Japanese wraps have become very stylish of late. But Russia has got enough of Japanese raps at present.

The officers of Maxton went at the root of the thing the other day. They arrested a whole negro base ball team for vagrancy.

The author of "Sweet Marie" has written a song which he says will be more popular than "Sweet Marie." Well—we hope so.

Such places are not often turned down, but an Asheville boy has declined an appointment to the naval academy at West Point.

Wilmington whiskey dealers raised a kick because they had to pay $600 for license. In Morganton they have to pay $1,250.

General Miles says he can see no hope for Russia continuing the war. The Czar could profit by looking through the same kind of glasses.

There are only three editors who are candidates for governor down in Georgia. Georgia ought to elect one of these editors. She could do worse.

The other day a man of seventy years married a girl of eighteen in Greensboro. Some people might live always and then never learn anything.

Gen. Miles is as hard to choke off from wanting something as some other folks we know. He is now a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Massachusetts.

A statistician of the Cleveland Humane Society says men are kinder to their wives in summer than in winter. We suppose it is because there is less wood to chop and less fires to build.

That big surplus of the Equitable may belong to the people who had policies in that company now, but if the litigation is not broken up mighty soon this surplus will look like thirty cents when the lawyers get through.

We notice in an exchange that a husband and his wife in Indianapolis have not spoken to each other in just twenty-one years. They have missed a whole lot. For instance the usual little spats and then the kissing and making up.

It appears now beyond question that every civilized nation of the world should demand that peace be made between Russia and Japan. Further repetition of the slaughter along the lines it has been going would disgrace even the name of war.—Winston Journal.

The Globe Democrat says it is not veni, vidi, vici with the Russians, but Togo, went, gone.

Hon. John H. Small.

The Wilmington Messenger says: "One of the greatest compliments we have ever seen paid a North Carolina congressman comes to our democratic member from the First district from The Carolinian. This paper carries at its masthead the legend: 'The Oldest Republican Paper in the South,' yet it has the following to say of the democrat who has for the fourth time been elected to congress from his district. For once we agree with this republican newspaper. It would be a shame and a misfortune to the democrats of the First district should he be defeated. Those people down there have got a good representative. He has done great things for eastern North Carolina. Then, why turn him out for some moss-back politician who wants to be candidate only when there is a sure chance of drawing the pay and whose ambition as a member of congress soars no higher? The Carolinian well says:

Seven years ago the First congressional district was represented in congress by a republican. The democratic party considered it a hopeless task to succeed in ousting the Hon. Harry Skinner.

The nomination went begging. Not one of the professional office-holders could be found who was willing to plant a few hundred dollars in a campaign which everyone thought meant certain defeat.

These devoted patriots, ever loyal to their party and the machine, were not willing to be sacrificed on the political altar. They were hungry for office, but each one preferred a certainty. The result was that the democratic party was forced to go outside this ring of the favorite few to name a candidate to oppose Mr. Skinner.

The district convention met, and offering the nomination to each of the perpetual candidates without securing one, the nomination was finally tendered to the Hon. John H. Small, of Washington, N. C. Mr. Small realized that it was only an empty honor, but he was just the kind of man who was as willing to serve his party in the hour of defeat as in the hour of certain triumph. He accepted the nomination and much to his surprise, and to the utter astonishment of the "patriots" who had turned down the nomination, was elected.

Now, according to rumor, the same crowd who are willing to sacrifice Mr. Small on the political altar are busy resorting to every scheme to defeat him for the congressional nomination next year. But will the honest people of the First district submit to any such scheme? The Carolinian is a republican paper, Mr. Small is a democrat, but we do not hesitate to say that he is the hardest working and most capable representative that the democratic party has ever sent to congress from the First district of North Carolina. John Small is the representative of the whole people. He deserves to remain in congress as long as his party is in the majority in this district.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates on experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwinstown, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some souse meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Cholera, Colera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale at Wooten's Drug Store.

Cured of Lame After 15 Years of Suffering

"I had been troubled with lame back for fifteen years and I found a complete recovery in the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says John G. Bisher, Gillam, Ind. This liniment is also without an equal for sprains and bruises. It is for sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville.

Blind Man Tells The Time.

Charles Bohannon, of Taylorsville, is totally blind. Light and darkness are the same to him, but he makes his certain way about the streets with the aid of a cane, and sometimes puts to shame men possessed of two good optics. Yesterday Charlie visited the county jail. After talking a while he pulled out his watch, an ordinary gold time-piece, with a double case, held it in his hands a moment in the usual way and then snapped it shut with a sigh of relief.

"Well, it's time for me to start home," he remarked.

"What time is it, Charlie?" he was asked quizzically.

"One minute to 3," was the prompt response.

Every watch in the crowd except Charlie's came into view: It required longer for the men with good eyes to verify Charlie's observation than it did for him to ascertain the time, but he was declared correct almost to the second.

"Goodbye," and he was off, without waiting to hear the discussion his feat had precipitated.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Quality vs. Quantity.

Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system, overcomes and cures indigestion, Dyspepsia, Belching, Sour Stomach, etc. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for what is sometimes called America's national disease. Dyspepsia, is destined to eventually work a wonderful and lasting benefit to sufferers from this distressing and mind harassing condition. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten.

The Confederate veteran holds on to life and life's activities as he used to hold on in the warmer fights that is, through sheer inherent sand. Here is General W. R. Cox. Twice thanked on the battlefield by General Lee for his gallantry, bearing on his body the scars of eleven wounds received in action, commander of the brigade that made the last charge and fired the last shot at Appomattox, thirty years ago, head over heels in the political campaigns of those stirring days, now more than 73 years old, he still had sand enough to get so mad the other day he wouldn't attend the unveiling of the North Carolina monument at Appomattox, and now is so gay and happy that he is going to get married! Watch the veterans. They are not yet all done for by a long shot.—Gastonia Gazette.

Bilious Bill the sleepy head, Dearly loved to lay a bed; Couldn't wake him if you shook him;

When his slumbers overtook him, Suddenly he started waking, Ev'ry morn when day was breaking.

What's this magic necromancer? EARLY RISERS, that's the answer.

The Famous Little Pills, "Early Risers" cure Constipation, Sick Headache, Biliousness, etc., by their tonic effect on the liver. They never gripe or sicken, but impart early rising energy. Good for children or adults. Sold by John L. Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville.

Sour Stomach

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, sour stomach is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals, and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the sour stomach may be avoided. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville.

The Children's Favorite.

For Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc., One Minute Cough Cure is the children's favorite. This is because it contains no opiate, is perfectly harmless, tastes good and cures. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

For refrigerators, ice cream freezers, water coolers, hammocks, screen doors and windows go to 5-30 4t and t. H. L. Carr.

A MUSICIAN'S THEFT

Professor Smythe, an impoverished musician, was on his way to play in the orchestra at the Globe theater when the door of a residence he was passing opened and a man in evening dress rushed out and, seizing the professor, begged him to come in. Smythe told his necessity of earning his evening's wages.

"I will pay you twice as much, and you will have nothing to do but make yourself agreeable. It will be a great accommodation, and I shall never forget it. I can see by your appearance that you are a gentleman. Consider me a friend and accept my offer."

"But what service is required of me?" asked the professor, who had a vague idea that a grand piano had suddenly gone wrong.

"Why, you see, I am giving a dinner to some friends. It is all on the table, and we have just discovered that there are thirteen of us. That would never do at all. Now, if you will dine with us, you shall be well paid for your services, and I dare say you will be in time for your flute solo at the theater, as you can be excused when you desire. You will come? Thanks!"

The professor followed his host in a state of absolute subjection, as if he might have been hypnotized, but the fact was that the poor man had not broken his fast since morning, and the delicious aroma of the dinner coming through the open door proved irresistible. He gave his name in a whisper and was handed over to a servant, who took him upstairs into a guest chamber, helped him remove his shabby overcoat and whisked off his best suit with a silver handled brush, taking its threadbare glint for dust. It was well he was engaged to play; otherwise he would not have been in evening dress. He was beginning to enjoy the little comedy in which he was himself an actor.

There was no introduction. His host motioned him to a seat between the maiden lady and a severe matron who turned her silken back on him to talk to her neighbor on the other side. The professor's pride did not once assert itself. He was masquerading; that was all.

But fate had not done with Professor Smythe.

The consommé had a dash of champagne in it, and new life was infused into the veins of this professional diner out. The fish and game and pate that followed were all triumphs of the culinary art, and the hungry man cloyed the edge of his appetite, not by the bare imagination of a feast, but by the feast itself. It was no feast of the Bar-mecide either, for the viands were actual, and the wine was not a pretense, but a delightful vintage, served in cut glass goblets. The poor professor felt like saying to his neighbor, "Pinch me!" for it was like a dream or an illusion rather than a reality.

But the striking of the clock reminded him that he had been there an hour, and as he had broken the spell of the unlucky thirteen he ventured to excuse himself and rose stiffly from his place and bowed himself out of the room.

He was followed by a servant, who handed him an envelope with the compliments of the gentleman with whom he had just dined. Not for worlds would he have opened it, though it was unsealed, before the man, but he accepted it graciously and went upstairs to get his hat and overcoat unattended.

A number of handsomely appointed chambers were on the upper hall, and the professor glanced into each as he passed on his way to the particular guest chamber where he had left his belongings. Perhaps he was a trifle overcome by sherry and other beverages, but he thought the room had been darkened and that he was right. He stood a moment in the doorway and looked cautiously in, peering about at the luxury, but at the same time noting that it was not the dressing room for which he was looking. Before he could step back and turn down the corridor again the unexpected happened. He received a sudden and violent push from behind, which flung him forward out of the doorway into the room; the door was instantly locked upon him, and he was a prisoner.

"Smythe the luck!" said the poor man as he tried in vain to open the door and knew by the rumpus he could hear outside that the house was in a state of excitement. "I suppose they will think I was trying to steal something."

And to add to his terror he heard the alarmed household coming upstairs, and the next moment the door of his room was opened, and his host, backed by all the male guests, stood in the open doorway.

"What are you doing here?" was the first question his host propounded.

"Tell the truth now as you would hope for mercy."

"I came here to get my hat and coat," said the professor, the dignity of all the Smythes since Mount Ararat in his thin, rasping tones.

"A likely story. Turn your pockets inside out," commanded the host.

"I refuse to do it."
"Then I will send for the police. I was willing to give you a chance, but if you refuse to be searched you are guilty."

"I am not a thief."
"I do not know. Your actions are very suspicious. You can explain matters to the chief of police. There must be reasons why you refuse to be searched. If you are honest, you can have nothing to conceal."

A hollow laugh rang through the room. Was it possible the bold intruder dared to laugh at them? It was the laugh of despair, and as such it smote upon the heart of the host, who looked troubled and perplexed. His enforced guest saw the look, and it suggested a line of action to him.

"Send these men away," he said, pointing to the group of alarmed guests crowding in at the door. He was glad the women had remained below stairs and not come to gaze upon his discomfiture. He did not know that they were locked up in fear and trembling in a distant parlor.

"We won't go!" chorused the group. "He may want to murder you."

"I don't think he will," said the host, who was really soft hearted. "I'll trust him, and you fellows can go to the ladies. I'll call if I need help."

They went, rather glad to be out of it, and the two men, left together, eyed each other, one waiting for the other to speak. They were exactly opposite in appearance, one rosy and rubeund, the other thin and anxious, a meager travesty on a successful man.

"I refused to let you search me," said the professor slowly, "because—oh, my God, how can I acknowledge it?—I am a thief!"

The other man started and moved toward the door. Then he waited.

"I have stolen from you—here, let me show you, and you will know why I could have died easier than to have those people gloating over me. See here—and here—and here."

He took the valuables out of his pocket one by one. They made a strange exhibit as he piled them up on the table in front of him. They were a roll of dinner bread, a pate, a sweetbread rolled in a leaf of lettuce, a chicken breast, a bit of toasted bread and a caviare sandwich. He brought them out to the last crumb, with the manner of one who lays his life on the altar of sacrifice.

"Great heavens, man, what does this mean?" asked the astonished host.

"It means," replied the other solemnly, "that my sick wife and my little children are starving, and that I pilfered from my share of food at your table to give them, for my rent is overdue and the money I earned is already spent."

"But what did you eat yourself?"
"More than I have eaten for many a day. But now do with me what you will."

"Would you mind putting these things back into your pocket?" inquired his host vaguely. "Now come with me." He took him by the arm and led him downstairs and into the presence of the shaking guests. "I made a bad mistake, my friends," he said. "This gentleman has proved himself perfectly innocent of any attempt at crime, and I must beg you to remain silent as to the events of this evening. He is under my protection from this time, and you will all agree with me that we are extremely sorry that such a mistake should have occurred."

Of course they all agreed with the sentiments of their host, whatever they were, and Professor Smythe was allowed to take his leave amid profuse apologies.—Mrs. M. L. Rayne in Detroit Free Press.

The Hard Part.
"Try to bear up, dear," said the great man's wife as he lay moaning in bed. "The doctors say you are much better today and they think you may live for at least a week."
"Oh, it isn't the thought of having to go so soon that worries me," he sadly replied. "Not one of the papers has referred to me this morning as the illustrious patient."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Negro Killed Another.

Fayetteville, N. C., June 7. Oscar Riggins, a young negro man, sitting in the rear door of a restaurant, was shot and instantly killed here tonight at 8 o'clock by List E. Robinson, another negro.

The shooting occurred on upper Hay street near the Atlantic Coast Line depot and was the result of a short quarrel. The two men married sisters.

Robinson used a flobert rifle, firing several shots. The fatal bullet entered the victim's throat. Robinson has not been apprehended at last accounts and is at large tonight.

A C. L. Safe Robbed.

Bennettsville, S. C., June 7.—Last Thursday night the safe in the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad office of this place was entered and $572.26 in checks and $208.50 in cash taken therefrom. Detective Wheeler was at once placed in charge. A. Beed, a 19 year old office boy was doing work for nothing in order to learn telegraphy confessed the theft, and was committed to jail. He had spent part of the money.

Just For a Moment.

In the early days in Iowa, writes a correspondent of the Youth's Companion, a village school was held in a room of a farmhouse. The farmer, Mr. Jennings, told the pupils that they must not molest his bees.

They were obedient children and respected the farmer's rights. Moreover, since most of them went barefoot, they were not anxious to stir up trouble in the hives.

One day a little girl went to Mr. Jennings and made this naive explanation: "Please, Mr. Jennings, my brother Willie stepped on a bee, but it was an accident, and he got right off."

Why a Hen Sets.

The old and hitherto unanswered question, "Why does a hen set?" has at last been answered, and, as might be expected, the answer comes from Boston. Says the Boston Herald in a thoughtful editorial, "The hen patiently 'sets' only through the overpowering pressure of a mysterious impulse that masters her restless impulses to be outside scratching and cackling instead of working for posterity."

Chestnut Stuffing.

For a very simple stuffing shell and blanch a couple of quarts of chestnuts and boil for half an hour in water enough to cover. Drain and mash, adding to them three tablespoonfuls of butter, a level teaspoonful of salt, a saltspoonful of pepper, a teaspoonful of minced onion, two tablespoonfuls of bread-crumbs and the yolks of two eggs. Mix thoroughly and stuff the turkey.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

SHOES REPAIRED.

I have just opened a shop on Fifth Street, in the building opposite Hotel Bertha, and am prepared to do all kinds of repairing on shoes. Work done satisfactorily and ready for delivery when promised. Give me a call. JAMES H. PAYNE.

Queen Quality

It Sets the Style.

What do we mean when we say that the styles of most of the shoes for women originate with the "Queen Quality" Shoe?

Simply this. The "Queen Quality" is, and always has been a leader. It gets up its own original patterns at great expense, and has established a reputation for the style and beauty of its creations.

OTHER MAKERS ARE CONTENT TO AWAIT THEIR APPEARANCE, and then copy them as closely as possible.

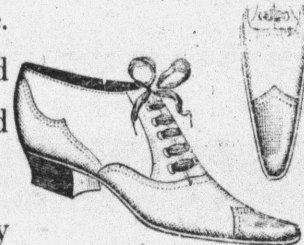

But "Queen Quality" "sets the style"—don't forget that!

And one other point—"Queen Quality" offers twice as many styles for your consideration as any other shoe.

You cannot suggest a need which is not fitted with a "Queen Quality" shoe specially designed for it.

Does not this realize the ideal of a strictly custom shoe? And such a shoe for $3.00. Think of it! Oxfords $2.50.

Tans in all shape are here.*
