ARRIVING DAILY.

There is one thing that we do not claim in our business to do and that is to sell goods cheaper than they can be bought—neither do we want to create the impression that our store is full of shop worn, out of style goods nor by filling our store with show bills and sign boards will we try to impress false ideas in your mind that we are going out of business, but we do wish it understood that we are receiving daily shipments of the newest things in

RIBBONS, SILKS, EMBROIDERIES, LACES

and kindred materials so desirable with the women folk of Greenville and Pitt county, and we do hope that you will at least favor us with a visit to see these many new things.

NEW MUNICIPAL OFFICES.

Nice Quarters for Conducting Business of the Town.

The aldermen of Greenville have rented a suite of rooms on the ground floor of the Masonic temple building in which to locate the official headquarters of the town. There are four rooms in the suite, and bringing all the business affairs of the town together in one place will be a convenience both to the officers and to the public. The large room at the end of the porch will be used as the mayor's office and court room and a meeting place for the board of aldermen, while the communicating room in rear of this will be used as an executive room and for keeping the documents and records of the town. The adjoining room fronting on the porch will be the office of the city clerk and superintendent of the water and light plants, and the communicating room in rear of this will be the storage room for supplies for the water and light plants. The whole makes a nice and convenient place for the business of the town to be carried on.

Orphans' Concert.

The class of orphans from the Oxford Orphan Asylum gave a most enjoyable concert here last night in Masonic temple opera house. The receipts amounted to $59. The class is in charge of Mr. Brogden and Miss White. They went from here to Washington.

Has Cartoon Talent.

The base ball cartoon in Tuesday's REFLECTOR made a hit and occasioned much comment. It was executed by D. C. James who has developed remarkable talent in that direction. If he pushes it there is fame and fortune in store for him.

Barlow Granger, an oldtime printer and newspaper man, who one time set type for Horace Greely on the New York Tribune, is dead, aged 89 years.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy and continued warmer tonight and Thursday.

WORLD'S GREAT NAVAL FIGHTS.

Battles on the Sea That Have Shaped Course of History.

The Washington Star prints the following list of decisive naval battles of history:

Salamis, 480. B. C.—Greeks defeated the Persians and saved their country.

Actium, 31 B. C.—Octavius defeated Antony and Cleopatra in Rome's great civil war and became master of the world.

Lepanto, 1571 (first naval battle with guns)—Don Juan, of Austria, commanding the united forces of Spain, Venice and the Pope, defeated the Turks and checked Moslem invasion of Christendom.

Defeat of the Spanish Armada, 1588.—English Admiral Howard, assisted by Sir Francis Drake and Sir John Hawkins, destroyed the great Spanish fleet in the English channel, saved England from invasion and established her sea power.

Battle of the Nile, 1780.—English Admiral Nelson defeated the French fleet, blockaded Napoleon's army in Egypt and gained his invasion of England.

Trafalgar, 1805—Nelson again defeated the French admiral Villeneuve, destroyed Napoleon's sea power and prevented his invasion of England.

Lake Erie, 1813.—Commodore Perry defeated the British squadron under Captain Barclay and saved the northwest of the United States from invasion.

Monitor and Merrimac, 1862 (first fight of ironclads).—Monitor's victory established control of the sea for the Union and revolutionized naval warfare.

Mobile Bay, 1864.—Farragut, commanding the American Union fleet, cried "D—n the torpedoes! Go ahead," and struck one of the death blows to the Confederacy.

Yalu, 1894.—Japanese destroyed the Chinese fleet and laid the foundation for their present victorious sea power.

Manila Bay, 1898.—Admiral Dewey annihilated the Spanish fleet without losing a man and won the Philippines for the United States.

Santiago, 1898.—Admiral Sampson's fleet completely destroyed Admiral Cervera's fleet and terminated the American-Spanish war. Only one man was killed on the American ships.

Port Arthur, 1904.—Admiral Togo's first decisive victory over the Russian fleet attempting to escape from Port Arthur.

A. and M. College.

The Catalogue of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts shows 130 students of Agriculture, 93 of Civil Engineering, 60 of Electrical Engineering, 73 of Mechanical Engineering, 25 of Cotton Manufacturing, 33 of Chemistry and Mining, and 58 of Mechanic Arts. Young men desiring practical industrial training would do well to write for catalogue to President Winston, West Raleigh, N. C.

Fell on a Cross Tie.

New Bern, N. C., June 12.—Yesterday afternoon as the late passenger train from Morehead City passed through James City, a small negro town south of New Bern, a negro boy twenty years old, a passenger, alighted off the rear end of the car, fell and struck his head on a cross tie, crushing his skull. Medical aid was summoned but death came within half an hour.

Although the weather was very bad Tuesday night the Altar Workers society of the Methodist church realized a very nice little sum by selling cream, near the Masonic temple, for the benefit of the new church building now being erected on Washington street.

Murdered Woman Found Under Ruins.

Windsor, N. C., June 13.—News reached here this morning of the most atrocious murder in neighborhood of Asheville, seven miles from Windsor, in Bertie county. A negro by the name of Charles Reveter Mitchell, was brought to Windsor today and lodged in jail on the charge of having last night killed his wife. It is asserted that he took her dead body and placing it in an outhouse set the building on fire, burning it down upon the body.

When white men went to the house Mitchell was sitting in his dwelling. When asked about his wife he said that she had gone off. They saw considerable blood which aroused suspicion, and they went to the smoldering ruins of the outhouse, where they found the larger sills slowly burning. These they removed and found beneath them the remains of a human body.

The supposed murderer was taken in charge and after a preliminary hearing committed to jail without bond. He refuses to talk when asked about the crime. It is said that Mitchell had been consulting root doctors lately.

Base Ball Thursday.

Greenville will cross bats with LaGrange tomorrow, and it will be the best ever played on this diamond. John Patterson, New Bern's star pitcher will twirl for LaGrange and it will be worth the price of admission to see him pitch. The game will be a pitcher's battle and lets everybody get out and root for Greenville. Game called 4 o'clock.

TRIBUTE TO JAMES B. CHERRY.

Address delivered June 11th, 1905, by Thomas J. Jarvis, at the memorial exercises held by Tar River Lodge No. 93 Knights of Pythias, upon the life and character of James B. Cherry, deceased, a member of said Lodge.

Mr. Cherry led an active, busy life, and in this, too, he had success. For a number of years he was junior member of the firm of T. R. Cherry & Co., which firm did a very large and lucrative business in the town of Greenville and enjoyed in a high degree the confidence and respect of its patrons. Soon after the dissolution of that firm, Mr. Cherry associated himself with Jesse R. Moye and Joseph G. Moye and organized the firm of J. B. Cherry & Co., which firm continued until the death of its senior member. It is no disparagement to the other fine business houses in the town and county, to say that the firm of J. B. Cherry & Co., during its existence, did the largest general mercantile business done in the town of Greenville. The same honest, upright, straight-forward methods that characterized Mr. Cherry in all his other pursuits in life were carried into the business transactions of this firm, and it may be truthfully said that no business house ever possessed more largely the confidence and esteem of its patrons. Indeed it cannot be too strongly asserted that in all the relations of life the name of J. B. Cherry stood as a synonym of honesty, integrity and truth. He despised deceit and dissimulation in all their garbs. He possessed in the highest degree that splendid character which adorns a palace or a hovel, and without which neither prince or peasant is an example worth to follow. A king upon his throne without character is a monster; a peasant in his humble home with character possesses a priceless jewel. Character is not purchased with money, nor is it a creature of accident; it is a thing of growth.

It can grow amid poverty or perish amid wealth. It must be fed on truth and justice and its inner life must be kept pure and good. The ignorant may have it, the learned may lose it. It abides where right guides and prevails. The man who builds upon character builds upon a sure foundation. It outlives the man and becomes a glorious heritage for his posterity. The character of J. B. Cherry was so built. It was of sturdy growth, beautiful in symmetry and exalted purity. It was like the giant oak which had sent its roots deep down into the rich soil and taken a firm hold upon a secure foundation. The storm came and beat upon it and it fell not, because it was well rooted. So with the man who takes a firm hold upon the eternal principles of right and truth and justice. Trials and temptations may assail him but they cannot overcome him. It was in such a mould that the character of J. B. Cherry was cast, and it shall live long in the memory of this community as an example and in spiration to those who come after him.

Brother Cherry became a member of our order in 1874, and was the first Chancellor Commander of Woodson Lodge which was organized in the town of Greenville in that year. It is rare that our order presents to the world, in the life of any man, a more beautiful living illustration of the teachings of Pythianism. Pythianism teaches the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. It teaches that an honest man is the noblest work of God. It teaches all men who enter its sacred portals to be just and true and faithful. It teaches that no man liveth to himself and that each has a helpful work to do. It teaches that service to humanity is service to God. While it teaches the duty of supporting the widow and caring for the orphan and helping the needy, it is not content to stop there, but it inculcates the beautiful graces of friendship, charity and benevolence. Men naturally look to each other for sympathy and companionship. Pythianism teaches the highest lessons in these relations, and makes plain our duty to their sacred fulfillment. The weak holds up its hands to the strong, and struggling humanity ever looks up to the generous for help. Pythianism demands that we lift up the weak and help the struggling. It teaches men to be unostentatious, gentle, kind and considerate of others; steadfast and firm in their purpose to do the right and eschew the wrong. Our departed brother illustrated, in his daily life all these virtues and we can point with pride to him as a noble example of the teachings of Pythianism. Let us pray that the spirit of his noble life may be ever with us to guide us in our daily duties and assist us to reach that realm where the faithful disciples of friendship, charity and benevolence will find their perfect reward.

Mr. Cherry was profoundly interested in the welfare of the children of his community, and he always gave his sympathy and support to every cause that tended to aid in their education and elevation. I happened to be standing near him on the streets of Greenville one afternoon, during the first year of our graded school, when the children, joyous and happy, were on their way home from school. He turned to me and pointed to the children, said, "Governor, isn't that a beautiful sight? That school is the biggest thing that has been done for Greenville in my day and generation. If my taxes for that school were many times what they are, I would pay them with pleasure." There was an earnestness in these simple words that unfolded his true nature and that told of the wisdom and nobility of his generous soul.

I have never understood—I can not now understand how any man who claims to have a soul within him can be indifferent to the education and proper training of the children of his community. There is nothing which engages the time and attention of men, that can bring to them more pleasure, and to their community more lasting benefit, than the work they do for the children. Nothing I have said of our dead friend can be truer or better than to say he was the children's friend. Indeed nothing more praiseworthy could be said of him.

Mr. Cherry was an earnest sincere professor of the Christian religion and a useful and loyal member of the church. There was about him no cant or pretense of any kind. In his religious life, as in all things else, he was simple and sincere. He had no toleration for denominational controversies and differences. He stood for purity of life and for the broadest fraternal relations in church fellowship and Christian endeavor. And he was right. In this age of active church work for the spread of the Gospel and the salvation of men we have no place for denominational bigotry. It is Christlike living that is to lead men to Christ and save the world. The day for blatant denominationalism is past and I trust its discordant, disturbing voice will never be heard in our midst.

So if we turn to his public or private life, to his social or religious relations, we find him the same unostentatious, sincere, honest, generous, noble man. Touch him at any point, and his resplendent character shines forth with a light which the grave cannot extinguish and which shall make brighter the pathway of all who strive to walk in the ways of right living and a noble useful life. This community has been made better by reason of his having lived in it, and it is meet and proper that we should join in these memorial services and exalt his virtues. His was a well rounded life, full of goodness and well worthy of praise.

I therefore beseech you, Noble Knights, as our chosen commanders gather around our sacred altar, that each of us resolve to live like our departed brother as far as it lies in us. And let us pray that the influence of his worthy example may live long in the memory of our people to inspire them to higher ideals and nobler living. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright," for the end of that man is peace."

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates on experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some soured meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Cholera, Colera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better; he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale at Wooten's Drug Store.

Quality vs. Quantity.

Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system, overcomes and cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Belching, Sour Stomach, etc. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for what is sometimes called America's national disease. THE SPARK OF LIFE.

Methods by Which the Unskilled Can Tell It Has Gone Out.

It is not always easy to determine when the spark of life has become finally extinguished. From the fear of being buried alive, which prevails more abroad than in this country, some infallible criterion of death, capable of being applied by the unskilled, has been considered a desideratum, and valuable prizes have been offered for such a discovery. The conditions most resembling actual death are syncope, apoplexy and trance, particularly the latter. We must not rely solely on any one sign of death, but combine several.

The most reliable sign of death is cessation of the heart's action. This, however, must not be inferred from mere pulselessness, for the heart may still be beating and resuscitation possible when no pulse can be felt in the arteries by ordinary manipulation. The use of the stethoscope is necessary, implying, of course, technical skill. Though the heart cannot cease to beat for more than ten seconds without death, yet in considering the very slow and feeble action of the heart (eight to ten beats per minute) in hibernating animals, which normally have a pulse of eighty to ninety per minute, it is well to regard a similar position as possible in man and to spend in doubtful cases up to an hour in auscultation.

An easy method to determine whether the circulation continues or not is to apply a ligature on a finger or toe. If the circulation has ceased no change in color is produced, but if the circulation continues, however feebly, the extremity in course of a few minutes will assume a livid tint from strangulation of the venous flow. The respiration may not be very obvious, and yet it may be going on. Holding a cold mirror before the mouth and nostrils and looking for indications of moisture is a means of ascertaining whether air currents exist. Placing a cup of water on the chest and observing whether the reflection on its surface moves or remains still is well adapted for the purpose in view.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Enjoyed Themselves.

There is a certain small boy in town whose table manners are not the best. He grips his fork as if afraid it might get away from him and handles it much as if it were a pitchfork. Reproaches and entreaties on the part of his parents seem of no avail, especially if the lad is hungry. His big sister's pleadings, "Please, brother, don't eat like a pig," makes no impression on the youngster. One day the family were away from home, and the boy and his chum of the same age and neighborhood dined alone. When ready for the feast the lad of the house was overheard by the domestic to remark: "Say, Harry, there's no one here but us and nobody to scold. Let's eat like hogs and enjoy ourselves!"—Huntington (Ind.) Herald.

Prolonged Sitting Needed.

"You want me to tell the whole truth?" asked the witness.

"Certainly," replied the judge.

"The whole truth about the plaintiff?"

"Of course."

"How long does this court expect to sit?"

"What difference does that make?"

"It makes a lot of difference. I couldn't tell the whole truth about that scoundrel inside of thirty days, talking all the time."—Chicago Post.

Has Effect.

"Gentlemen will not, others must not, cut their names on or disfigure in any other way these relics."

This is a clever and evidently effective notice that is displayed in a small museum. Another exhibition contains the following:

"Fools are earnestly requested to cut, draw and scratch their names on the articles displayed."

Needless to say the sarcastic notice has the effect of deterring would be vandals.

He Laid Down the Law.

Tomson—Didn't you ever attempt to lay down the law in your own home?

Meekton—Certainly, and with entire success. I gave instructions to the family and to the servants that Henrietta was to have her own way in every particular, and Henrietta sees to it that my instructions are implicitly carried out.

Puzzled.

Count Nottapenni—Las' night I giva ze lecture heent to Miss Roxley zat I would like she should marry wiz me.

Acum—And did she give you any encouragement?

Count Nottapenni—I do not know. She simply say to me, "What kinda ze nerve food do you use?"—Philadelphia Press.

At Reduced Prices

early in the season, just in time to meet your needs, before the stock is broken and styles and sizes run down, is a rare opportunity, and that demands the attention of all careful buyers, who appreciate genuine Bargains.

WHY DO WE MAKE THIS UNUSAL OFFER?

The reason we give is simple, plain and honest: We are overstocked, have too many Summer Shoes, we need the room and want you to have the slippers, and in order to clean them out quickly we make this offer:

Ladies patent leather Court Tie Oxfords, worth $4, for $3.00.
Ladies patent leather, Court Tie Oxfords, worth 3, for 2.25.
Ladies patent leather and plain kid Oxfords, with 2.50 for 1.85.

Ladies patent leather Strap Sandals, plain kid Strap Sandals, and patent leather tip Oxfords, tan kid Court Tie Oxfords, all styles and sizes, worth $2 and 2.25 per pair, to be sold for $1.60 per pair.

Ladies tan or black Court Ties, plain kid Sandals, patent tip or stock tip Oxfords, dressy styles and plain common sense Oxfords, all styles and sizes, that are selling for $1.50 pair, we offer for $1.15 pair.

All the styles of Ladies Oxfords and Sandals that are selling for $1.00 to 1.25 pair we offer in this sale for 80c to $1 per pair.

All the Childrens and Babies Slippers are offered in this Sale and are in proportion to the Ladies as quoted above.

Those who come early will get first pick at this beautiful line of goods. The Styles are beautiful, the makes are of the best, and a full line of sizes await your inspection.

A Veteran's Special Leaps From Spread Rails Over a Trestle.

Albion, Ill., June 13.—Three persons were killed and twenty-nine injured in the wreck of an eastbound passenger train on the Southern Railway at Golden Gate, Ill., today. The train was a "cotton special" carrying Confederate veterans to the reunion at Louisville, Ky. While running at a speed of fifty miles an hour, the engine struck a spread rail on a trestle twenty feet high and the engine and four coaches were overturned and fell to the bottom of the ravine. The engine turned completely over.

Notice Red Man.
There being two pale faces to scalp tonight, it is desired that every member shall be present at the wigwag at 8 o'clock. W. P. Edwards, C. of R.

Potato Market.
The prices on potatoes today were quoted as follows:

Pittsburg, Pa., $1.50 to $1.75.
Philadelphia, Pa., $1.25 to $2.00

WARNING.
My son, William Harvey Stanfill, colored, aged 13 years, has left home without my consent. All persons are hereby warned and penalty of the law against employing, harboring or sheltering him. Any information as to his whereabouts will be greatly appreciated. LOUISA STANFILL, House N. C.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

The firm of Brinkley & Hooker by mutual consent was on the first day of June, 1905, dissolved. J. Frank Brinkley purchasing O. D. Hooker's interest in the Centre Brick Warehouse. The Centre Brick Warehouse will hereafter be run by J. Frank Brinkley. This June 14th, 1905.

I desire to thank my friends for their liberal patronage in the past and ask a continuance of the same, promising that I will always use my best effort to protect their interest in the future. Very truly,
J. Frank Brinkley.

Queen Quality

It Sets the Style.

What do we mean when we say that the styles of most of the shoes for women originate with the "Queen Quality" Shoe?

Simply this. The "Queen Quality" is, and always has been a leader. It gets up its own original patterns at great expense, and has established a reputation for the style and beauty of its creations.

OTHER MAKERS ARE CONTENT TO AWAIT THEIR APPEARANCE, and then copy them as closely as possible.

But "Queen Quality" "sets the style"—don't forget that!

And one other point—"Queen Quality" offers twice as many styles for your consideration as any other shoe.

You cannot suggest a need which is not fitted with a "Queen Quality" shoe specially designed for it.

Does not this realize the ideal of a strictly custom shoe? And such a shoe for $3.00. Think of it! Oxfords $2.50.

Tans in all shape are here.
