THE MERCERIZED CONTROVERSY Still Continues to Burn Advertising Space and Money.

"EFF" Mary had a little lamp
The Vapo-Cresolene
And everywhere that Mary went
The lamp was always seen,
For Mary had the whooping cough—
She would cough, cough and cough
And but for Mary's little lamp
She'd cough her head right off,
But every night by Mary's bed
The faithful lamp burned bright,
And Mary's cough and parents too,
Could rest the whole long night

Ideal Clothes are not easily defined, but it's easier to define than to make them. Ideals vary, what satisfies one man doesn't please another. That's what makes ideals an index to character, and also what makes ideal clothes difficult to produce. There are some general principles, however, and good quality is one of them the pattern, the price you pay disclose your taste and common sense, but the quality is an index of character.

The Style of Your Clothes

If you pay an all wool price for "mercerized cotton" fabrics that shows that you are easily "flimflamed," but your ideals may be good. If you willingly buy and wear the "mercerized cotton" adulteration, because it looks good, and nobody knows the difference, that's another indication. Maybe you govern your conduct by the same test.

Be an All-Wool Man

when it comes to buying clothing. Your clothes can be as good as they look if you say so. Our label means all wool and best workmanship, it is a small thing to look for, a big thing to find. Let your next suit have

PHILATHIA CLASS ENTERTAINS.

In Honor of Two Other Classes.
The Philathia class of the Baptist Sunday school gave a delightful entertainment Tuesday night, from 9 to 12, at the home of Prof. W. H. Ragsdale. The entertainment was in honor of the Baraca class and Mrs. Humber's class of the same school, but many of the young men were so pre-occupied with the excursion and base ball that they allowed themselves to miss a most delightful occasion.

The building was beautiful with electric lights and flowers and afforded a charming place for such a gathering. Miss Hennie Ragsdale was assisted by Miss Fannie Bagwell in receiving the guests at the door and all were most cordially welcomed.

The evening was devoted to popular games and music, and merriment and pleasure reigned supreme.

Refreshments consisting of creams and cakes were served in the handsome dining room, and after all had partaken sumptuously games and music were resumed and continued until the hour of bidding good night came. The Philathia's proved charming entertainers indeed

Off For Philadelphia.

J. N. Hart and Carlos Harris left Greenville this morning for Philadelphia to attend a convention of painters and wholesale distributors of paints, held at the works of Harrison Bro's. & Co., who are the largest and oldest paint manufacturers in the world. Their works covering 35 acres of ground upon which is located 72 buildings devoted to the manufacture of the celebrated brand or Town and Country paint which because of its purity and wonderful covering capacity is used so largely by the government and the railroads.

Mr. Hart and Mr. Harris expect while in Philadelphia to visit the painting department of the Navy yard, Pennsylvania railroad, and Cramp's ship yard.

Painted Paragraphs.

Truth and a woman's age are not on speaking terms.

Now the festive mosquito is preparing for a strenuous season.

Money is naturally tight with the man who is shy of loose change.

If you would convince others that you are a fool boast of your wisdom.

A pessimist thinks it's an ill wind that blows anybody good but himself.

Some men claim to practice what they preach merely as an excuse for preaching.

If you can't do any better else you can at least keep out of the other fellow's way.

Why is it that one never sees the portrait of an angel in trousers or of the devil in petticoats?

One little flower to a living man is worth more than a wagon load of floral emblems to a dead one.

After making a strenuous effort to marry the man of her choice a woman is apt to be badly disappointed if she succeeds.

It sometimes happens that when a man comes home about 2 a. m. and finds his wife waiting for him at the head of the stairs he imagines he's a bigamist.

Excursion to Kinston.

The Masonic excursion to Kinston today was well patronized. A large crowd went from Greenville and many from Winterville, Ayden and Grifton. The officers of Greenville lodge were duly installed by the Grand Lodge in session at Kinston. The day has been fine for the excursion.

The base ball boys went along in good shape to play a game with the Kinston team and expected to come out victorious.

MARRIED IN COURT HOUSE.

Colored Couple Came From Swift Creek to be Joined.

In the early afternoon a colored couple drove into town that attracted some attention as they passed through the street. The man was diked out in his Sunday best, while the damsel by his side was robed in white throughout, in striking contrast with her complexion. They did not take up until the court house was reached where they both alighted and went in. Inquiry for the office of the register of deeds disclosed the fact that they were on matrimony bent. A license was obtained when some one was sought who could do the joining. A messenger went after Rev. J. A. Hornaday who came down and united the couple in his usual good style, a number of people having gathered in the meantime to witness the ceremony. The couple were Cornelius Kittrell and Martha Gardner, of Swift Creek township. There was every indication of happiness in their faces as they left the court house and went out to take in the town before returning home.

Don't Wash Your Dog.

In the Country Calendar for July, Reginald F. Mayhew writes:

"Even careful feeding, however, will not give a dog's coat that glow which is such a sure sign of health if he is continually washed with soap and water. Owners who allow their dogs to live in a house are forever washing the wretched animal, and forever complain that his coat is coming out. The oftener the dog is washed and scrubbed the more will his coat leave its trail, and the deader and duller will it look: The health and growth of a dog's coat depends entirely on a natural oil from the skin. As often as a dog is washed so often is the oil washed out, and so much more is the destruction of the coat.

If a dog were brushed every day for five or ten minutes, against as well as with the grain, his coat would not only have a luster, but would cease to distribute itself all over the place, except for a very short time once or twice a year. Besides this, brushing has a stimulating effect on the whole system, helps the blood circulation; by this the digestion, and so the general health.

"As examples of brushing versus washing. I have a dog I showed last June at the Ladies' show at Mineola; he has not been washed since. Another, that was shown at Newport last September has not been washed since; two others, that were shown at New York last February, have not been washed since, and still another which I have had for a year and a half has never been washed at all. In the warm weather they get plenty of swimming, and in the winter rolls in snow, or a drench in the rain, but a good rub down afterward."

Nothing Equals Town & Country.

Compliments to the so-called pure brands of paints claimed to be the equal to Harrison's Town & Country paint. Indeed! but the property owner is getting easy. Evidently their time clock isn't working; their mental microscope fails to find the difference between a perfectly pure paint and a so-called pure paint. The paint you should use should be the paint a standard of quality, a paint that has stood the test of time, a paint that is the result of over one hundred years experience of good paint-making such as Town & Country paint. It used to be that a sucker was born every minute; today the foolkiller works overtime and cannot keep anything like a correct tally on the crop of paints sold as the equal of Town & Country paint with the aid of a split second chronometer. Men sweat and slave like galley slaves trying to produce a paint equal to Town & Country paint and be able to sell it at the price. Don't be beguiled into parting with your hard earned and denied earned cents by hot air.

We are inspired to offer this suggestion, protest, and appeal. See that every can of paint you buy is branded, Harrison's Town & Country paint.

IT EFFECTS THE SOUTH.

While the country at large is discussing and worrying over the Chinese exclusion, the South, the very portion that will be most visibly affected, no matter which way it is decided, is saying hardly a word.

Upon the decision of this question depends in a great degree the prosperity of the South. China is no longer the ignorant, superstitious, pulseless nation she once was. The powerful, magic finger of Japan has touched her, and she is waking; the ways and methods of the Western world she is incorporating, and she is stronger now than ever before.

The man of China has the same race pride that the American or any other man has, and insult that pride you invite his ill will, something now that is powerful. Insult the Chinaman now, you lose his trade.

The South is still dependent for her prosperity on the cotton markets of the world; China has been and is still her most valuable customer. Already the trade is falling off, and why? Because of the disrespectful, unreasonable and uncalled for severity of the immigration bureaus of our country. Chinese students and tourists coming with the best of recommendations, even from American prime ministers, are subjected to the indignities of the examination accorded the common coolie laborer.

The South should kick on this, because it means her ruin. Already the Chinese trade is boycotting systematically the American manufacturer with a telling effect.

Another phase we should look at: The negro as a household servant has had the majority of his days. The Chinaman is decidedly the best for his that can be found; they are clean, honest and industrious, and as patient as can be. He is a much more desirable immigrant than the scum and riffraff of Southern Europe that is coming now. He will not underbid American labor, for his is of a class that the American will not do. We need him, and there is a place here that will be distinctly his own, and the South should work for his coming.

FACTS AS THEY ARE.

The following from the Richmond Times-Dispatch will prove both instructive and interesting to the close readers of daily papers:

"The newspaper is under a tacit agreement with its readers to print the news fairly, and when it distorts or colors its news reports in order to deceive, it violates a solemn obligation and defrauds its readers, as much so as does a merchant when he sells spurious articles of merchandise. It is impossible for a newspaper always to be accurate in its news reports, for the truth is mighty hard to get, but it is the desire of every honest newspaper to print the news correctly, whether or not the reports are agreeable to the editor. We have often said that fairness is a newspaper's religion. Every honest publisher strives to be fair, just as every honest man strives to be honest not merely as a matter of justice to others, but that he may be true to himself."

The above is well said, and sets a good lesson for all daily papers—weeklies not excepted. The paper that adheres to the above policy will have the respect and support of all honest, conservative people. To suppress news or to disguise it is wrong. The public wants the facts in all things as they are.

All Americans arriving at Peking must submit to being fumigated. The Americans should make no kick. If they can stand the Chinese they can stand the fumigation.

The Republicans of North Carolina might pull themselves together if they could all stick their knees under the pie counter.

Up until a week ago there were five dispensaries in Johnson county, but on last Thursday the county voted itself dry.

If Governor Glenn does not let those gold brickers stay in the penitentiary he will not do what he ought to.

Russia is to build another great fleet. It looks to us like it would be great deal cheaper to bury her sailors on land.

Blackburn had better get busy and start up "rum rag" No. 2. If he don't he may have to gaze upon his finish.

If Raleigh would get in the habit of hanging a few men, she might escape less scandals.

While Dockery may not have deserved killing, there is very little to be said in his favor.

In the invention of the vineless potato we can see the finish of the potato bug.

The Washington paper with hyphenated name is sore over it yet.

The wings of the dove of peace seem to have been clipped.

China was not long in making the United States see the point.

Both Deserves and Needs Rest.

That Governor Glenn is to soon take a rest will generally please the people of North Carolina. It will not please them because they will not miss the Governor, for they will, but it will delight them because they feel that His Excellency by his untiring, zealous work since he entered upon his duties last fall deserves a vacation and that his health, which he has endangered much by this hard service, needs it.

The equal of Governor Glenn for work we don't believe can be found in a Governor in the United States. And his labor has not confined itself to speech making and the usual routine of his high position, but he has worried over and mastered some difficult problems already though he has only been Governor a comparatively short while. In connection with the legislature many knotty questions arose for him and he had to scuffle with the Dakota bond matter. Here's hoping that he will enjoy his rest and that it will greatly benefit him!—Wilmington Dispatch.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates on experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some souse meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Cholera, Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale at Wooten's Drug Store.

Sour Stomach

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, sour stomach is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals, and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the sour stomach may be avoided. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville.

Cured of Lame After 15 Years of Suffering

BAKING POWDER

ORIGIN OF THE MUFF.

At First It Was the Exclusive Property of Venetian Nobles.

"Do you know that the color of a muff once betokened the rank of the wearer?" said a furrier the other day as he stroked a beautiful sealskin muff. "In the days of Charles IX. no lady could have worn this fur, for black was decreed by the king to be the badge of the common people, and the court followers were restricted to the colors. Muffs have gone through more styles than it would seem possible to invent for such a simple article of convenience. It has been long and narrow like a sheaf and again large and round. At the beginning of the last century the test of size was to try the muff in a flour barrel. If it went in without much trouble, then that muff was too small to be really fashionable. At the present day almost anything is proper, but those enormous cylinders would certainly draw much attention. One of the most curious styles was that of Louis XIV., called the 'chiens mauchons,' because they were made to convey little dogs in.

"The muff when first introduced was the exclusive property of the nobility and originated in Venice. These muffs were very small and consisted of a single piece of velvet, brocade or silk, lined with fur, and the openings fastened with rich jewels. Such arrangements came in during the early part of the seventeenth century, but in the previous century the ladies frequently carried a piece of rich fur, which they used either as a muff or a neck piece. "The muff reached its highest point in the reign of Louis XV., when the productions were exquisite. Then fashion declared for a cloth muff instead of fur, and the furriers made a great uproar. They petitioned the pope to excommunicate the wearer of a cloth muff, but to no purpose. Finally some ingenious merchant bribed the headman to carry a cloth muff on execution day. The women shrank from such association, and the fur won the day. We now associate the muff only with cold weather, but in the old days it was a regular part of woman's dress and was carried in all weathers. As late as 1830 a muff and a straw bonnet were not deemed incongruous."—Shanghai Times.

After All, Only an Illusion.
"Speaking of consistency," said Professor Royce, "there once was a Hindoo sage who said that everything was illusion. So one day when he was in the middle of a field his friends let a 'bad' elephant loose. The sage ran at the top of his speed and climbed a tree. When the elephant had been secured, the wise man's friends gathered under the tree and said:
"We thought you said everything was illusion?"
"I did," said the frightened but still true philosopher.
"Ah, but you ran fast enough when the real elephant pursued you."
"You are mistaken again," said the sage. "There was no elephant, and I did not run. It was all illusion."—Boston Record.

Liquor and Seasickness.
Regarding seasickness a traveler says: "Before sailing it is just as well for a man not to take too many farewell dinners and not to start out with a head on him." One of the worst cases of seasickness I ever saw was accumulated by a man who had never been seasick before and had sailed all over the world. But he was sailing from Honolulu and the day before had been to a farewell 'luau,' where he had eaten poi and raw fish mixed with a great deal of frapped champagne. His friends came down to see him off and hung many floral leis about his neck. They also poured more champagne into his neck. As a result the acute case of seasickness which he developed alarmed even the ship's surgeon."

Her Secret.
"A woman can't keep a secret," declares the mere man.
"Oh, I don't know!" retorts the fluttery woman. "I've kept my age a secret since I was twenty-four."
"Yes, but one of these days you will give it away. In time you will simply have to tell it."
"Well, I think that when a woman has kept a secret for twenty years she comes pretty near knowing how to keep it."—Judge.

Mexican Railways.
The rails of the Mexican Gulf railway are laid on mahogany sleepers and the bridges built of white marble. In west Mexico is a line with ebony sleepers and ballast of silver ore drawn from old mines beside the track. The engineers constructing these railways had no other material on the route and found it cheaper to use these seeming extravagances than to import the ordinary material.

A USEFUL CONVERT.

The Preacher Made a Friend When He Least Expected It.
Peace lovers though we be, to us all there is virtue in skillful fist fighting in a just cause. Therefore the thrill is at least pardonable which one feels on reading this episode which Dr. Rainsford relates in his book, "A Preacher's Story of His Work." The episode was in the midst of Dr. Rainsford's vigorous struggle on the east side of New York:
I remember one man in particular, a big, strong fellow. He came in and sat down in the Sunday school. I had some of the very best teachers I could find, and I always put the best workers I had there. He began to talk in a way that a man should not talk to a lady. He was a little drunk. I saw the lady's face flush. I walked over and told him to get out. He would not move. I said:
"We are here to help you people. We are paid nothing for it. Now, you are enough of a man to respect a lady. Why do you sit here and make it impossible for her to teach those boys?"
He swore at me and would not get out.
"You don't want me to call a policeman, do you? Go out quietly."
He jumped to his feet, and I saw I was in for a row. He was as big a man as I am. I did not call a policeman, but hit him harder than I ever hit a man in my life and knocked him down. Then I stood over him and said:
"Have you had enough?"
He said, "Yes."
"All right," I answered. "Now get out." And he went.
About three weeks after that we got into a scrimmage outside the Sunday school room with some toughs, and to my horror I saw, elbowing his way through the crowd, this same burly fellow, and I began to feel that between him and the others I should be killed when, to my astonishment, he walked up to the ringleader and said:
"The doctor and me can clean out this saloon. You get out."
