Attendance Largest In Association's History.

GEMS OF ADDRESSES.

Mayer Barnard Welcomes to Asheville in Eloquent Words

Asheville, N. C., July 5.—The attendance at the press association is the largest in its history. Mayor Barnard's address of welcome and the response were gems.

President Varner's address touched up the editors' power and upon the state's progress and its problems. He said that North Carolina in manufacturing was rapidly coming to be the New England of the South. As to its problems, he declared that a lack of confidence on the part of the people in the courts of justice is a most regrettable state of affairs. Human life is entirely too cheap in North Carolina. He advocated the Virginia law that transports a jury from one county to another as one of the best reforms that could benefit the judicial administration.

The speech of Mr. W. S. Copeland, of the Richmond Times-Dispatch on the relation between North Carolinians and Virginians was wise and strong and kept the convention in an uproar of applause from start to finish. Other papers read were: "The effect of the Patent Outside Upon Foreign Advertising," by D. J. Whichard, of the Greenville REFLECTOR; "The Business End of a Newspaper," by W. B. Westlake, of the Asheville Citizen; "Scrambled Eggs," by J. A. Roberson, of the Durham Sun; "Fraternal Organization," by W. S. Copeland, of the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

In the afternoon a ride over the city and an elegant reception at Swannanoa Club charmed the editorial party.

At night Dr. B. F. Dixon, State auditor, representing the Governor, delivered the State's welcome to the Virginia editors in a greeting that was as eloquent and original as it was beautiful in diction. The response by J. H. Lindsey, of the Charlottesville, Va. Progress, who was formerly editor of the Kernersville, N. C. News, was one of the happiest speeches of its kind I ever heard.

An invitation has been received from a committee of citizens of Waynesville, headed by Col. S. A. Jones, inviting the editors to visit Waynesville Friday, and has been accepted. It was at first intended that the visitors should be taken to Lake Toxaway on that day, but owing to circumstances this plan was abandoned. A special train will take the members of the two state editorial associations to Waynesville for the day.

DR. ROWE IS GONE.

It is true that Rowe is gone, but this does not mean that our team is so much weaker.

Rowe will readily be conceded a place among the very best catchers in North Carolina, and no one can blame him for going to a faster class. The town is indeed sorry to lose the doctor, for beside his qualifications as ball player, he is a gentleman, and was well liked by all the people who knew him. He is full of life, and is always in the game, and shall miss him on the diamond, in the club, and on the streets.

As to the future: Our team lacks a lot of being weak. The new "bull" Thompson behind the bat is enough to put any visiting team in Eastern Carolina down the "Queens" street. He was good enough to hold Vail at Davidson college this spring when he was in his prime, and you need have no fear that the two "balls" and Turner E. will not make a winning trio.

And that new man! He hails from the bracing, sun kissed, verdant hills of Western North Carolina, and as Grantland Rice would say in the Atlanta Journal: He is "keen on the paths boot" and to my certain and specific knowledge he is a "sticker" that will make a pitcher shake and tremble with a fearful apprehension, and the second time he comes to the bat you the fielders close back toward the "tall timbers" in anticipation of a refreshing spirit, and Eckridge—that's his name—he just drops one back of third base and before the surprised fielder finds the nine inch sphere, he has perched himself on the second bag.

He will be a decided addition to our team for he is a hitter and lead in the outfield or infield. Last year he was at A. & M., and led the batters there, so Billy is, as some young babies say, "all to the peppermint."

Don't feel discouraged for the team is all right and will make Suffolk and Norfolk play fast ball or take the games from them, and just tell Washington, when you happen to pass that way, to keep Hobbs and Hobbs and wait for us.

DOPE FOR THE FANS.

Stunts in Front of the Grand Stand.

Rowe left this morning, while here he has made evident the fact that he is one of the best catchers in Eastern Carolina. We all regret very much to see him leave.

Monday and Tuesday in Suffolk, Wednesday and Thursday in Norfolk—that's the schedule for our team next week. If you can't take this trip come and encourage the boys in their practice.

Old "Bull" is as sly as a summer girl. Ask him who he loves. He don't know.

Saturday we leave for Wrightsville. Go with us.

Another new man will be here in a few days. He comes with a "rep," having played with A. & M. the past season.

Rowe is gone, but he is still with us. Much success to the young doctor.

The two "Bulls" are crazy over the same girl. There ought to be one more just like her, but that is impossible.

Poor Bert after Saturday will have to change his course from A. W. to M. B.

Ask Turner, J., what corner he is topping on now.

Jim and old "Bull" say there are some houses in Greenville that look alike on all sides. Where are the front doors?

Richardson says there are some good-looking flossies in Greenville.

If you didn't go to see them, Dr. Rowe, the ladies hate to see you go.

What will become of Charlie Forbes now that Rowe has gone?

THE REFLECTOR will print a few extras for the next few weeks to enable the members of the team to keep the "flossies" who are away posted on the games. Mr. Roy Flanagan put the one cent stamps to us.

Here's to the fans who accompany us on our trip: May we give them good games.

On account of the death of a child of one of the jurors, a mistrial was yesterday declared in the case of Thos. W. Dewey, alleged wrecker of the Merchants & Farmers Bank at New Berne.

AYDEN ITEMS.

AYDEN, N. C., July 7, 1904.

One evening this week some mischievous children stretched a wire across the sidewalk on Main street up in the western section of the town. Mrs. Sparks, mother of Mrs. Lon Forrest, who is quite an old lady, coming down the side walk ran into wire, tripped and fell. In the fall Mrs. Sparks' left wrist and knee were both knocked out of place, besides which she sustained several other severe bruises on her person. She is now confined to her bed and suffering intensely. Such carelessness, though innocently so, is to be very much regretted. While the children did not think of anything so serious happening, yet it does not remedy the fact that some means should be taken to prevent a like occurrence. Children will be children.

N. S. Fulford, of Washington, was here Tuesday.

Mrs. J. W. Brown, of Greenville spent Monday night with Miss Ida W. Edwards and left next morning to visit friends in Greene county.

Miss Laura Cox, of Winterville, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. J. Mumford during the week.

Miss Helen Cox left Tuesday morning to spend some time with friends in Aurora.

Mrs. Gaskins, of Wilson, has been visiting Mrs. D. G. Berry the past week.

Miss Ethel Burnette, of Oak City, came this week to spend several days with her sister, Mrs. O. C. Nobles.

Cam Nobles has gone to Bellefield, Va., to accept a position in a carriage shop there.

Merrimon McKinney, who has a position in the drug store of the Dr's. Blount at Washington is here on a month's vacation. Mr. McKinney is an excellent young gentleman and we are pleased to have him with us.

The Masons held their regular semi-monthly meeting here yesterday.

We spent a delightful morning last Wednesday in our office with two of our old friends, ex Sheriff W. M. King, of Greenville and J. L. Smith, of Vanceboro. Such meetings are always pleasant, more especially so, when ideas, thoughts, remembrances, and expressions revert to a past so closely interwoven as the experiences of we three taught us. Come again, gentlemen, we shall be glad to see you.

J. J. Perkins, of Greenville, spent a pleasant half hour with us yesterday.

Miss Venetia Baker spent yesterday in Greenville.

Miss Jeane Morrison left last Tuesday to visit her parents at Belhaven.

That was a delightful lawn party out near the Methodist church conducted by the ladies last evening.

Miss Emily Kennedy, of Kingston, came Thursday to visit Miss Jimmie Davis.

A certain Methodist friend of ours' yesterday said: "Joe I never intend so long as I live to plant tobacco again!" In answer to our inquiry, "why?" He replied "it has actually made me cuss and I'll be d—d, if I do it again." We can't blame him.

House Burned.

Joseph L. Roberson, of Carolina township, had his dwelling destroyed by fire about 11 o'clock today. There was but little of his furniture saved.

J. R. Moorefield, a prominent merchant of Greensboro, has been bound over to the Federal court at Greensboro for retailing liquor.

FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1905.

The Tarboro Southerner is complaining about the "no fence" districts. The Southerner says that in several districts the roads are injured by the farmers plowing into the road. We join in the kick the Southerner is making. Good roads cannot be kept in good condition as long as this sort of "farming" goes on. The tax for keeping up good roads is already heavy enough and this will increase the burden.

Those who held their cotton for 10 cents have a right to feel good, but will they hold it for 15 cents and do like some did a little over a year ago when cotton was bringing from 12 to 15 cents, stick out and hold for higher prices still? A great many farmers had to sell for 8 and 10 cents when they could have sold for over 16 cents. You may get over a 11 cents and you may not. No time like the present.

Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, says the legislature in that State "has got to reorganize the dispensary and make it decent, or he will stump the State to kill it. This sounds very strange since Mr. Tillman is the father of the South Carolina dispensary.

Cotton is still soaring. It is a little over two dollars a bale higher than it was last Monday. In New York Wednesday, October cotton sold at 10.86, January at 11 cents. The continued advance in cotton is causing intense excitement.

It is strange to us why the good people who are putting up such a strong fight against whiskey don't take up the poisonous and deadly cigarette.

When we read of a woman to be hung it is with regret, considering that there are so many men who go unhang that deserve this punishment.

While there is so much speculation among the newspapers as to who will succeed the late Secretary Hay, Elihu Root should not be forgotten.

One reason why the Czar is so indifferent about peace is that peace is unknown to him.

Coming Out of the Woods.

Greene is one of the very few counties in North Carolina not traversed by a railroad. In many of the elements that go to make up a rich and prosperous community Greene compares favorably with the best of the more fortunate in our galaxy of ninety-seven. Situated in the midst of one of the most favored sections of eastern Carolina, Greene has suffered in comparison with counties surrounding her for the want of transportation facilities. Railroads come almost to her borders on every hand, but instead of crossing the boundary they stop abruptly or pass by on the other side.

But Greene is not destined to remain in the background perpetually. She will come out of the woods some day, and that day, we hope, will not be far in the future. The most substantial ground for expectations at present is the fact that a corps of surveyors has recently traversed the county through Snow Hill, beginning at Washington in Beaufort county, and ending at Seven Springs in Wayne county. A railroad route has been surveyed and the surveyors have been over the ground a second time, verifying their work.

Now, it is a well known fact that surveyors are not talkative people; they go about their business quietly and leave those who observe their movements to guess their significance. It is so in the case of the men who have been surveying the route through Greene county. It might be a safe guess that the route from Washington to Seven Springs is the branch that the lessees of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad have contracted to build, especially as no movements upon their part have been observed indicating that they intend to build any where else.

But we are not left entirely to the recourse of guessing, for word comes from a source worthy of credence that the Howland Improvement Company intends to do just what is here indicated. We trust that it is so. We want to see Greene county get out of the woods, and we shall hail the day that sees the first railroad train enter Snow Hill.—Raleigh Post.

Must Move Past Durham

Just now an absorbing and interesting question in Durham is that of closing and keeping closed the houses of a disreputable character. This crusade was brought about when Raleigh, following the Rogers-Dockery tragedy, began to drive out the men of this character. They started to locate in Durham and were told to move on by Chief Woodall. Then they began to settle around Durham and Sheriff Markham took a stand against them. Regarding the following is copied from the Morning Herald of Sunday:

"The women who were made to move out by Chief Woodall and his men are now located at the brick house below East Durham. Sheriff Markham has issued orders that they must find more congenial quarters. Unless these orders are obeyed there will be trouble and plenty of it for those who violate the instructions.

But the women, at least some of them, appear in a defiant mood. When told that they must move on the women were themselves in somewhat defiant mood and later it was stated that they would be backed by some of the young men, these furnishing, it was stated, money on which to make fight in the courts. This is the information that has reached the ears of Sheriff Markham. Put to use a slang phrase the defiance of the women and the threats of the men will cut but little ice in the matter.

There may be further defiance but there will be trouble in which the poor deluded women will be sufferers. A move on will be the only thing that will prevent this trouble.—Durham Recorder.

Help Wanted.

From all over the South the cry for help is a continuous refrain.

The farmer, the factory, the rail ways, the merchant, the housewife and in other departments of organized civilization the call is for labor for immediate employment and at good prices.

The South is now the Eldorado for those of other countries or other sections of this country who wish to better their condition. With cotton again at 10 cents a pound and above there is no better opening in the world than in farming in the South.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Here is a question for discussion at the summer schools. The story is told by President Hyde, of Bowdoin College, not far from which lives a farmer fishing folk whose shrewdness is proverbial. One day one of the professors was accosted by an old man who was digging clams. "Be you one of them professors?" he was asked. The professor said he was. "I suppose you know about everything," was the next remark. The professor meekly disclaimed any pretense to such knowledge. "I have been wanting to see some of you fellers for a long time," went on the old man, "for there's a question I want you to answer: Is clam digging fishing or agriculture?"—Charlotte Chronicle.

In five hours I saw a change for the better. We kept on giving it and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well." This remedy is for sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

GREENVILLE'S GREAT DEPARTMENT STORE.

Delivered Address on the Fourth.

Great Sachem F. M. Hodges, returned Thursday night from Rutherford county, where he went to deliver the 4th of July address before the gathering of Red Men. Mr. Hodges reports a fine trip and says there were over three hundred Red Men in the procession, besides something like four hundred pale faces. The procession was over two miles long and trailed from seven o'clock in the morning to six in the evening, a distance of about twenty one miles in all. They trailed from C. f. side to other small villages in the vicinity and at 12 o'clock stopped in camp and partook of corn and minson. We are sure taken altogether from what Mr. Hodges reported it was the grandest celebration of any thing heretofore held in North Carolina.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.
