Game at Ormondville.

Ormondville, N. C., July 21.

Ayden played Ormondville a game of baseball this afternoon at this place, the score being 8 to 8. It was an interesting game from start to finish, at no time did it look like either side would win. Turner E. of the Greenville battery pitched for Ayden, and it goes without saying he is a good pitcher. Herbert Holton, of Saw Hill, pitched for the Ormondville boys, and Herbert didn't fail to pitch either. With the exception of pitchers on both sides, the teams were composed of home boys. Ormondville feels proud of her team, and with some little coaching now, we expect to have even a better team. A series of three games are to be played between Ayden and Ormondville, this being the first of the series. The next game will be played in Ayden and the third again at Ormondville.

Line up was as follows:

Ayden	Ormondville
Surrell, 1b	Carroway
Stokes, 2b	Hopewell
Ross, 3b	Height
Turner, E. p	Holton
McKinnie, c	Little
Jackson, lf	Turnage Roy

Want 200,000 Immigrants

Mr. E. W. V. Lucas, holding credentials from Governor Glenn, has been conferring with immigration officials here with the object of diverting immigration to North Carolina. The government is unable to cooperate in such a movement and Mr. Lucas was referred to the New York immigration officials. An interview with Mr. Lucas quotes him as saying that North Carolina can take 200,000 immigrants. "We don't want these people all at once," Mr. Lucas is quoted as saying. "We couldn't place them all in a single season, but we can take such a number if they are willing to work and anxious to better their conditions, in the next few years. We want them in groups and neighborhoods, companies if possible, so that they shall not become lonesome and homesick. We have a number of such colonies in the state now and they are doing well. There is no end to the opportunities and possibilities of the state for such people, and we need them. The labor question there grows more serious every year and this appears to be the one solution of it."—Washington Cor. Charlotte Observer

The Attempt on Sultan's Life.

Constantinople, July 22.—The commissioner appointed to inquire into the attempt on the life of the sultan yesterday has ascertained that the explosion of the bomb caused the death of 24 persons and wounded 57. In addition fifty-five horses were injured. The preliminary investigations tend to show that the outrage was committed by two Hungarians.

Pastor Called.

The pulpit committee of the Baptist church made its report to the church, Sunday night, and recommended that Rev. J. E. Ayscue, of Henderson, be called to the pastorate of the church. Mr. Ayscue has been supplying for the church during this month and has made a most favorable impression upon the church and congregation. The church approved the recommendation of the committee and by unanimous vote extended the call to Mr. Ayscue.

Fell Out the Door.

Mrs. Latitia Dupree, who is visiting Mrs. L. H. Bountree, was about to go out the door for the purpose of attending the funeral at the cemetery, Sunday afternoon, when she made a misstep and fell from the porch to the pavement. She was right painfully hurt, though it is hoped there will be no serious results.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday.

Had Narrow Escape.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 22.—

Alton Parker Hall, grandson of Judge Alton B. Parker, had a narrow escape from drowning while swimming in the Hudson river with his grandfather, at Esopus, today. He was rescued by Edward Fritz, of Poughkeepsie. Judge Parker was swimming with the little fellow on his back when the boy became frightened and suddenly began choking his grandfather. By the time his grandson released his hold and fell into deep water, Judge Parker was thoroughly exhausted from want of breath and could do little to assist the lad.

Fritz, who was on a wharf with his family waiting for a boat, threw off his coat and jumped into the river. The boy was out of sight, but Fritz dived and caught hold of his hand about six feet under water, bringing him to the surface and to the shore. Judge Parker reached the shore without assistance. Fritz was taken to Judge Parker's home, Rosemont, supplied with dry clothing and thanked heartily for his timely assistance.

Governor Reviews Troops.

Wilmington, July 22.—The Governor's review of the State troops of the Second and Third Regiments was the chief feature of life at Camp Glenn, on the sound, today. The spectacular event was witnessed by hundreds of people from the city and the beach. The militia showed up exceedingly well, and the Governor expressed himself as eminently pleased with the evidences of progress on every hand. The Governor and his personal staff were met at the station by a detail of two companies of the Third Regiment Band, under command of Col. T. C. James, and was escorted into camp with the usual military honor.

A 200,000 Bridge.

New Bern, July 22.—At a meeting, held in Morehead City yesterday, the proposition of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railway Company to build a bridge across Newport river, from Morehead to Beaufort, was formally presented. The plan was discussed at length, but there was no adverse comment, all seeming to be in favor of building the bridge. Work will be commenced on the structure at once and it will be completed in about six months at a cost of $200,000. The bridge will be about two and one-half miles long.—Charlotte Observer.

The Disease Yellow Fever.

New Orleans, July 22.—The official autopsy on a patient, an Italian, who died today of what has been called suspicious fever, has disclosed that the disease was yellow fever. President Souchon, of the State board of health, has notified Governor Blanchard and the health officers of Mississippi, Texas and Alabama. Arrangements have been made for a detention hospital to treat the remaining cases. Application of the same methods which were pursued at Havana is to be made and the authorities are hopeful that the disease can be stamped out.

Explosion on Gunboat.

San Diego, Cal., July 22.—Tonight's summary of casualties due to a boiler explosion yesterday aboard the gunboat Bennington, in San Diego Bay, gives a total of 60 dead and 50 injured, six probably fatally. A number of men are still missing, some of these may be dead, and probably a dozen of the injured will die of their

The Manila bank which has been forced to the wall will pay about forty cents on the dollar. Catching on to the American idea of "doing business" pretty fast. Of course, they will finally get down to ten per cent and in some cases zero; then they will have America down "pat."

With typhoid fever prevalent in many sections of the state, and yellow fever developing in New Orleans, the hot weather scourge warns people that they cannot be too careful of their health.

Most all women talk shop, but just let about a dozen get together and open up the subject of shopping experiences and a man had just as well be dumb, for he couldn't shoot a word edge ways.

We learn that the butter trust is growing mighty strong. Judging from some you find in boarding houses the product is generally as strong as the trust.

That was a horrible explosion of boilers on the gun boat Bennington, while in the harbor at San Diego, Cal. Many of the crew lost their lives and over a hundred others were wounded.

Cassie is sitting in an Ohio prison sadly thinking of what a terrible mistake she made in not "touching" the Equitable instead of those little Ohio banks.

Beginning at the Wrong End.

We have often wondered how long some really good men would have to live before they would arrive at the stage of wisdom and common sense. It is almost a daily occurrence to see men trying to cure this and that evil by going at it from the rear end. They are no doubt actuated by the best of motives, but the panaceas they offer will never cure anything because they are aimed at the wrong end—they do not hit the mark or come anywhere near it. We never could quite understand this way of trying to remove a chance to do evil instead of taking a course that would fortify the man against the evil. Teachings of this kind kept up for years totally unfit a man for anything; he is taught just like he was a child. He is not allowed to have a knife because he might cut himself. It never occurs to such teachers that he might be taught how to so use the knife so he would not be injured. On the same theory a man should never be allowed to have money for fear that he might get in the habit of betting and gambling. It is common sight to see men—old, young or middle-aged—making a wager on this or that thing. They bet at a baseball game, they bet on anything.

When quite a lad we recall seeing half a dozen men engaged in betting on the time a Sunday school train would make to its destination. Wagers were made on this as a basis, then they bet it would not arrive at the next station on time. It was awful, but was there anything wrong about the Sunday school going on a picnic on a train? These men had never been taught it was wicked and sinful to bet, but the way some very good people would train them would be to learn them not to ride on a train. Train the boy and the man right and if they do not do right, it is no use to try to remove the things that give him a chance to sin. Illustrations of this are seen every day and the practice is growing so fast that after a while any big booby of a man will come to the conclusion that he must exercise no will power, but that he must be protected and shielded—that is, he must not be subjected to any temptation whatever for fear he might fall. With such people as this we would have a fine country to be sure. But we are teaching almost altogether along this line.—Greensboro Record.

The Value of Knowing

Nothing is more impressive in proving the value of thoroughness in one thing, than when a specialist must be employed to do that thing.

Great lawyers, men who have spent years in solving the intricacies of a special line of law, great physicians and surgeons who have given their lives to the acquirement of a knowledge of a single portion of the human anatomy, and in other walks of life and professions, are to be found men and women whose time and services are to be valued as they put the price, for the world has no fixed or fluctuating market price that it can place upon the specialist.

The value of knowing is to be gained by effort. It is an incentive to every young person to secure an education that shall be exact and thorough, and this is only possible by hard application and severe endeavor. Youth may find it difficult to make the effort to concentrate its energies with the purpose of becoming thorough in at least one thing, which shall make its possessor sought after by the world, but it is worth the effort, toil and hardship in its final results, not only from the material gain, in way of pay, but also from the self-consciousness of the power, which a fully equipped mind gives its possessor.

There is everything to be gained by education, and a still further incentive in making the education lead its possessor to some line of special work that shall bring its double reward, good to the world, and good to its possessor. And every day tells its story before the public of the value of knowing and being perfect in the knowledge of one's special subject.—New Bern Journal.

Original Observations.

Many a tombstone inscription is a grave error.

In matrimony the man who hesitates is bossed.

The man who courts trouble generally ends by marrying it.

The lawyer convinced against his will makes no reduction in his bill. Take good care of the pennies and the dollars will be blown in by your heirs.

When the old man kicks his daughter's lover over the front gate, he "toes the mark."

The reason a miser can find no interest in poor people is because they have no principal.

It is strange that the man who is dead in love with himself should be hated by everybody who knows him.—Orange, Va., Observer.

The New York Sun says that the city of Yonkers boasts a man who is probably the oldest editor in the world—and a real editor, at that, for he is at his desk every morning, dictating the policy of The Yonkers Statesman and seeing to it that every part of the newspaper plant is run according to his own ideas. His name is John W. Oliver and he is 90 years old, having been connected with the printing trade more than 70 years. We do not know the exact figures, but, if we mistake, not Father Creedy, of The Elizabeth City Economist, comes near if he does not parallel the record of the Yonkers editor.—Charlotte Observer.

A question that has long disturbed the people of the entire world outside of Great Britain has just been settled by the Montgomery Advertiser: "The reason why some Englishmen wear one eye-glass is because they need the other to see with."—Raleigh Post.

After being in force 105 days, and creating much disorder, causing a number of homicides and the loss of thousands of dollars to themselves and their former employers, the Chicago teamsters have called off their strike and will endeavor to gain their former positions. It is an encouraging and gratifying sign of the times that the far-sighted managers of the two great parties see the handwriting on the wall; that only honest and successful graft fighters are now wanted at the head of government, and that none others need apply.—Richmond Times Dispatch.

DRAGGING down pains are a symptom of the most serious trouble which can attack a woman, viz: falling of the womb. With this, generally, come irregular, painful, scanty or profuse periods, wasteful, weakening drains, dreadful backache, headache, nervousness, dizziness, irritability, tired feeling, inability to walk, loss of appetite, color and beauty. The cure is that marvelous, curative extract, or natural wine, of herbs, which exerts such a wonderful, strengthening influence on all female organs. Cardui relieves pain, regulates the menses, stops drains and stimulates the womb muscles to pull the womb up into place. It is a sure and permanent cure for all female complaints.

WINE OF CARDUI

WRITE US A LETTER
Put aside all timidity and write us freely and frankly, in strictest confidence, telling us all your symptoms and troubles. We will send free advice (in plain, sealed envelope), how to cure them. Address: Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

"I SUFFERED AWFUL PAIN
In my womb and ovaries," writes Mrs. Naomi Baker, of Webster Groves, Mo. "also in my right and left sides, and my menses were very painful and irregular. Since taking Cardui, I feel like a new woman, and do not suffer as I did. It is the best medicine I ever had in my house."

LEARN TO FORGET.

Do Not Spoil Your Happiness by Clinging to Grievances.

There is a wide and deep philosophy contained in that phraseology of the street—"Forget it!"

It is as important to forget as to remember. One is as difficult as the other, and ability along one line is as hard to acquire as the other. Both must be cultivated.

It is impossible to become an optimist without learning how to forget. Disagreeable things are bound to happen, and one must train oneself to wipe them off the mind as the boy wipes the figures from his slate. Having erased the ugly memories, it is easier to write the pleasant things on the slate of the memory.

The Indian, for instance, never forgets a slight or an injury. He will wait a lifetime to get even.

Don't be an Indian. Life is too short to be an Indian.

The man who considers himself a nemesis, who treasures up a wrong, who nurses an injury, who lets ignoble hatreds fester in his heart, cannot be a happy man. His soul is like a crouched tiger ready to spring upon the victim of his wrath.

Learn how to forget.

If it is easier for you to put on record in your memory personal grievances and to hug an ugly feeling it is because you have chosen to do so. If you hoard up in your mind the unhappy episodes of life it is because you have formed the habit of doing so.

To persist in that habit of mind will make you miserable and a confirmed grouch. There is nothing noble in such a disposition to remember.

Learn to forget.

Let go the uninspiring, the depressing and weakening grievance. Hold on to the memories that cheer and brighten. There is not room for both. Wipe out the resentments. Write in place of your hatred the things that are pure and just and lovely and of good report.

Has some one treated you ill or put a slight upon you?

Forget it.

Do not let it spoil your happiness. It is a triple light as air. Scorn to be scorned by one whom I scorn. Is that a matter to make me fret? Is that a matter to cause regret? Let no mean thing ruffle the serenity of your soul.

Forget it.—Detroit News.

Using Milk.

The proper use of milk is little understood. Thousands of people drink a glass of milk without removing the receptacle from their lips. No sooner does this mass of milk reach the stomach than the gastric juices curdle it and form masses of hard, tough and impendable curd. If the digestion is sufficiently vigorous, it may be taken care of, but few have such a digestion. If the milk were taken slowly, at the same time a piece of bread being eaten, it would be finely divided, the curd would be broken up and the processes of digestion would proceed rapidly. Hence it becomes an evident rule that milk should never be drunk rapidly in any considerable quantity. It should be slowly sipped or taken with a spoon or in connection with bread or some dry cereal.

A Study of Words.

A philologist was talking about words. "There are more than 250,000 words in the English language," he said, "but we only use a few thousand of them. The extra ones are of no use to us. Any man could sit down with a dictionary and write in good English a story that no one in the world could understand. Here, for instance—can you make head or tail of this?" pattering off glibly: "I will again buy the atabal. You are asweved? Yet this is no blusher's bobance, nor am I a cud-den either. Though the atabal is dern, still will I again buy it."

Then he translated: "I will recover the drum. You are amazed? Yet this is no young girl's boasting, nor am I a fool either. Though the drum is hidden, still will I recover it."—Chicago Chronicle.

A large congregation heard him and all were greatly pleased with his sermon. Mr. Fleming graduated from Wake Forest College a year ago and has since been taking a course at Chicago University. He has a promising future before him and Pitt county can feel proud of having such an excellent young man.
