KEEPING IN TOUCH.

Abreast the Spirit of the Times.

Bargains Never go Begging

Our bargains never go a begging, always a prompt, hearty response when the news gets abroad. The reason is that we are always careful to use the word "bargain" in its broadest and fullest sense. Bargains at this store do not mean special lots of cheap merchandise, bought for the purpose of advertising at a low price, but our offerings consist of regular goods from regular stock at reduced prices.

The buying public will not fail to note the difference. You are invited to make an investigation, note the prices and quality of the goods offered. They are all of a wanted summery nature, picked from various stocks to fit the needs of now. All summer goods have their orders to leave.

AYDEN NOT COMING.

But There Will Be a Good Game.

The manager of the Ayden base ball team phoned us this morning that it would be impossible to get his team together and come tomorrow, but there will be a game, and a good one. Harry White and Hugh Ragsdale said give them E. Turner, Jack Smith, and Richardson and they would defeat the first team. They will get the above three so you may look out for some hot ball. The line up of the first team will be as follows:

Jimmie Turner, c.
Aix Blow, 1b.
Will Lipscomb, 2b.
Eskridge, s. s.
Burtie James, 3b.
Dick White, p.
Boots Anderson, l. f.
Tige, c. f.
Prof. Jarvis, r. f.

At this writing Harry and Hugh have not fully decided on their line up, but they say they have the goods

Everybody get out and witness the last game of the season. Admission 25c, ladies free, grand stand seats 15c.

Yellow Fever Has Taken Hold,

New Orleans, July 25.—The board of health made known tonight for the first the status of the yellow fever and the number of cases and deaths in this city. The fever was discovered here July 13 when several suspicious cases were found. It was not actually proved to be yellow fever until July 21, when an autopsy showed it to be yellow fever beyond question. During the time between July 13 and July 21 the board of health made a house to house investigation to find out how many cases of fever and how many deaths had occurred up to that time. The conclusion reached was that there had been one hundred cases and twenty deaths up to July 21. Since then the record has been: July 21, one new case, one death; July 22, sixteen new cases and three deaths; July 23, nine new cases and two deaths; July 24, nine new cases and one death; July 25, eight new cases and two deaths. With two or three exceptions all the cases and deaths are Italian. The fact that the disease broke out among the lower class of Italian laborers accounts for the failure of the board of health to locate the disease, as these Italians do not report sickness and rarely employ a doctor.

A DEAD ONE.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead,

Who never to himself has said:
"My trade of late is getting bad;
I'll try another ten-inch ad."

If such there be, go mark him well;

For him no bank account shall swell,

No angel watch the golden stair
To welcome home a millionaire,
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad displayed,
Cares more for rest than worldly gain,

And patronage but gives him pain.
Tread lightly, friend; let no rude sound

Disturb his solitude profound.
Here let him live in calm repose,
Unthought except by men he owes.
And when he dies, go plant him deep,

That naught may break his dreamless sleep;

Where no rude clamor may dispel
The quiet that he loved so well.
And that the world may know its loss,

Place on his grave a wreath of moss,
And on a stone above, "Here lies
A chump who wouldn't advertise"

TWO LADIES MEET ACCIDENT.

Both Hurt While Crossing a Bad Bridge.

On Tuesday Mrs. M. A. Whichard, of Whichard and Mrs. J. R. Davenport, of Paetolus, were riding along the road together going to visit friends. They came to a bad bridge in the road when Mrs. Whichard alighted to lead the horse across. The horse got one foot hung in the bridge and making a jump knocked Mrs. Whichard down and run one wheel of the buggy over her. At the same time the wheels on one side run off the end of the bridge and Mrs. Davenport was thrown out of the buggy into the ditch. Both the ladies were considerably bruised in the accident but escaped serious injury. Mrs. Davenport lost her hat.

Bargain Sale Crush

Pittsburg, Pa., July 25.—A stampede of 3,000 women at a bargain sale in Fifth avenue this afternoon resulted in several hundred women being knocked down and trampled while several were more seriously hurt.

"Bargains. Men's overalls 10 cents; shirts 10 cents."

The above sign in the window of the Woolworth & Co. stores at noon today caused the stampede. Eight women were seriously hurt in a rush to secure overalls or shirts for their better halves, and the reserve force of police had to be called out in the down town district. Ambulances and patrol wagons backed up to the door of the big store, and for a time it looked as though there would be a great loss of life. As a result of the trouble it is likely there will be a rule issued by the police against bargain day sales in Pittsburg.

Died.

F. B. Tucker, constable of Contentnea township, died at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, at his home near Ayden, of typhoid fever. He was an upright citizen and a good officer, and his death is a loss to his community.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., July 26.

Monday night Miss Lela Chapman returned from near House where she has been visiting. She reports a good time, and her many friends are glad to see her back again.

Mrs. Evelyn Cox returned from Seven Springs Tuesday morning where she has been visiting her daughter.

Willie Wolf, who is now here putting in electric lights, is at present engaged in putting sixty incandescent lights in the school buildings

Mrs. Green, of Williamston, after spending some time here with her son, J. E. Green, left for Grifton Monday night to visit her daughter.

Misses Edith and Beulah Mumford, daughters of W. J. Mumford, were visiting at A. G. Cox's Monday.

Miss Ethel McDaniel, of Trenton, a former student of the Winterville High school, came up Tuesday morning and went out in the country to visit Miss Minnie McGowan.

Joshua Manning has gone to Baltimore for special treatment of his eyes.

J. A. Wilson is rapidly improving in health and is welcomed back to his old stand.

Mrs. G. F. Parrott, of Kinston, has given five hundred dollars to the Winterville High School to be used as a loan fund. The school is rapidly becoming one of the best high schools in the state.

Miss Miriam Johnson and her little sister, Dorothy, returned home Sunday from a very pleasant visit to relatives near Ayden.

Miss Annie Stox left today for Jones county where she will spend several weeks at the home of Mr and Mrs. W. B. Hargett.

Mr and Mrs. Mumford and Mr. Tyson of Ayden attended services here Sunday.

Early Tuesday morning as br'er fox was making his daily visit to A. G. Cox's poultry yard, he was treacherously way-laid by Alonzo Harris, who fired four shots into br'er fox's mortal frame and br'er fox is no more. In behalf of the chickens we extend to Mr. Harris a rising vote of thanks.

Mutual.

Legal Reserve.

A Home Company conducted on a safe, economical basis in the interest of its policy holders. Why we can save you money.

The oldest companies have been on a 4 per cent. reserve basis for many years. Several of them have recently changed from a 4 per cent. basis to a 3 per cent. or 3 1/2 per cent. basis, on account of a decrease in interest rates. Probably 90 per cent. of all the outstanding business is now on a 4 per cent. reserve, only the new business being on a 3 per cent. or 3 1/2 per cent. reserve. Following are the rates of a few companies on the old and new basis:

Twenty-Payment Life. Age 35.

COMPANY	OLD RATE 4 per ct.	NEW RATE 3 1/2 per ct.	NEW RATE 3 per ct.
New York Life	$35 00		$36 34
Equitable	35 00		38 34
Penn Mutual	34 21		37 25
Prudential	34 01		36 95
Mutual Benefit	33 97		36 22
ETNA	31 97	$36 96
Mutual Life	35 00	36 87
North Western	34 91		37 80
Security Life & Annuity	32 60

The variation in rates of companies on the same reserve basis is due to difference in the amount added for expenses.

Every policy is registered and the full legal reserve deposited with the Insurance Commissioner.

Whole Family Poisoned.
The family of Mr. W. R. Wicker, consisting of himself, wife and grandchildren, were all poisoned yesterday in a very peculiar manner.

Mr. Wicker decided yesterday morning that he would have an old time vegetable soup for dinner, so, going into his splendid garden, he gathered several varieties of beans, tomatoes, squash, cabbage, carrots, beets, egg plants, spinach, corn, etc., but could not find any onions. He remembered, however, where some had been planted and recently dug up, so he delved into the ground and found what he supposed were four small onions. Three of these were added to the other vegetables, and at dinner a soup fit for a king was placed on the table as first course. Within a few minutes after eating the soup all the occupants of the table were taken violently ill, so ill in fact there was no one able to go for a physician. They shortly began to recover, however, thanks to the violence of the sickness no doubt, and, upon investigation, it was found that the supposed onions which Mr. Wicker had gathered were in fact narcissus bulbs.—Fayetteville Observer.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 26, 1905.

Capt. S. A. Ashe, of Raleigh, has written a most interesting letter to the Financier, of New York, in which he gives the history of the repudiated North Carolina special tax bonds, about which so much has been said in the last few months. Capt. Ashe shows under what circumstance the bonds were issued, how they were fraudulently sold, and that the state never received the slightest benefit from them.

There has been a merger of newspapers in Elizabeth City, the Tar Heel and the Economist being consolidated under the management of the Carolina Publishing Company. Col. R. B. Creecy, the nestor of the State Press, will continue as editor in chief. It means better papers for Elizabeth City.

Times have changed. The Sultan of Turkey years ago used to figure on all the front pages of the leading daily papers under the name of Abdul the damned. But in latter days it is necessary to drop a bomb close at his heels to get his name even on the inside pages.

The scandal that has developed in connection with the construction of a water plant in Charlotte, reads like the contractors had been patterning after the deings in Philadelphia or Washington City. We had hoped the South would escape the graft business.

The salaries of forty seven postmasters in this state have been raised owing to increased receipts. This shows development and improvement in business in these towns. It is also an indication that the people generally are better off financially.

The Greensboro Republican daily has progressed far enough to select an editor-in-chief and a foreman. Announcement is made that the paper will make its appearance about the first of September.

Paste Diamonds and Paste Men.

If your diamond is not genuine, but is a "paste diamond," be consoled in this at least, that it is imported; and what is not better for being imported? But if you wear a paste diamond and know that it is not genuine, having bought it for a dollar and a half, when a real one of the same size would cost one hundred times that much, you probably do not care whether it is imported or not—provided nobody knows it. However, the editor of The Manufacturing Jeweler, published at Providence, R. I., in reply to a recent statement in The Literary Digest, that large quantities of imitation diamonds are made in this country, writes to that paper—that "No imitation diamonds whatever are made in this country." He says they are all made in Europe, and will continue to be made there, where labor is cheap. This is surprising—more than surprising. A country so gifted as to make nutmegs out of wood, linen, woolen, and silk fabrics out of cotton, the finest Havana cigars out of North Carolina tobacco, a variety of substances ranging from home made Jersey butter to pure whale oil out of cotton seed, and many foreign made articles out of the things around them, eye even unto making a Japanese silk purse out of an ordinary mother pig's ear, yet fails to supply its talents to so simple, yet profitable, an industry as making the most brilliant diamonds out of glass. Think of it!

But looking at it a little deeper, it is not so strange, perhaps, after all. America has no time to make "paste diamonds." Besides, that is not our part of the job. In the ordering of modern industrial economy—with respect to this matter—this great country of ours has been assigned the task not of making imitation diamonds, but of making imitation men and imitation women to wear these "diamonds."

A diamond is a very beautiful stone. That is undeniable. But a paste diamond is often just as beautiful as a real one. Yet people who wear spurious ones do not admit it. This would not be, were it not that the beauty of a diamond is of secondary consideration. When you see a man or woman displaying diamonds you may be sure it is meant to dazzle you, not by their brilliance, but by their value. The display of wealth and the symbols of wealth is now the rage among the vulgar, and it is not of importance, either, whether the wealth be substantial or only make-believe; whether the "gems" be diamonds or glass, so long as people do not know it. The display of wealth, real diamonds, is vulgar enough, but when the spurious is displayed—well, it is America's task to make the imitation man and the imitation woman. And no matter how they are made, the results show that our part of the job has been well performed.—Charlotte Observer.

A Cure for Accidents.

There are several reasons why our railroads kill and maim thousands each year, while English railroad traveling is as safe as sitting at home. But the fundamental reason is that our courts, especially our judges, regard a railroad smash-up as an "accident," whereas the English courts regard it as deliberate and criminal carelessness always. If your arm is broken or your thumb smashed in a railroad "accident" of any kind in England you get damages which an American judge, thinking always of "vested rights," would set aside as scandalously excessive.

But is not the English practice both juster and wiser? Does not the result—the absence of "accidents"—prove it?

Our officials and our public, too, are most respectful of "vested rights"—a wholesome spirit of conservatism. But do we not carry our respect too far when we respect those rights more than those possessing them? Does not a man show the most reckless disregard of his own rights—a disregard that should be sharply rebuked—when he mounts them and rides them roughshod over the rights of others?

The cure for "accidents" is invariable heavy damages for the victims.—Saturday Evening Post.

Mr. Holmes, the deposed cotton statistician, drew a salary of $2,000 a year yet it is disclosed that he has retired with a fortune of $500,000. It is no wonder Mr. Roosevelt was moved to characterize him as a scoundrel.—Charlotte Chronicle.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve Penetrates the pores of the skin, and by its antiseptic, rubeficient and healing influence it subdues inflammation and cures Boils, Burns, Cuts, Eczema, Tetter, Ring Worm and all skin diseases. A specific for blind bleeding, itching and protruding Piles. The original and genuine Witch Hazel Salve is made by E. C. DeWitt & Co. and sold by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

That was indeed a pathetic scene at the military graveyard near San Diego, Cal, Sunday afternoon, when 47 of the victims were interred in a single grave, there being no ceremony whatever, only one hour and fifteen minutes being required to commit to earth the entire lot of former servants of Uncle Sam. The large number to be buried of course made haste necessary, but there was an apparent heartlessness in the manner of disposing of those men who died in the service of their country just as much as if they had been killed in battle.—Charlotte Observer.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

INDIAN JUGGLERY.

How Water Was Drawn From an Empty Coconut Shell.
Here is a tale of Indian jugglery. The trick described is new to me and is given on the best authority in a letter from India:
"I tell it as it was told to me the day after. Witnesses—Mr. S. S., Mrs. S. S., three English girls, from fourteen to eleven; an American dentist called Durand and half a hundred villagers. Locale—A roadside in Saugor. S. S. says:
"Yesterday we were all marching in from Khimlasa when we passed a village, and on the roadside a juggler was resting. We said to him, 'Juggle!' and he did the finest trick I've ever seen on the bare maidan. We stood within six feet of him all around him all the time, and he was half naked. He took a rudely carved little boat, empty and undecked, about 8 by 4 inches, with one thwart across it, with a hole for a mast. We all examined this boat and handed it around. It was empty. He then stuck a thin bamboo stick about two feet long in the hole and then took a coconut and handed it around. This coconut was empty, with three holes in it. It was a small one, and we all saw and felt it was empty. He then stuck the nut on the bamboo and stuck a little bamboo spout in one hole of the nut and stood five yards off and said, 'Spout!' And it spouted water like 1 o'clock for a long time. He said, 'Stop!' and it stopped. 'Spout!' and it spouted. It spouted much more water than could have been in the nut or boat. When it stopped and the man was going Durand said, 'You can't get another drop out of it now.' So the old man called for one of Mrs. S. S.'s breakfast cups, put it under the spout, went away as before, said, 'Spout!' and it filled the cup over the brim. All the time the old man, who had a monkey's skull with him, kept on saying, 'Bandar ka kopra' (monkey's skull) over and over again." — Andrew Lang in Longman's Magazine.

An Apt Comparison.

A young woman from Schenectady has been visiting her uncle in Fifeshire, Scotland. "Schenectady" greatly amused the good man of Fife. But the girl rallied to the defense of her home town. "Uncle John," she said to him suddenly one evening when he was in convulsions over Schenectady, "Uncle John, what is the name of your place?" "Balduthro" (Balduthy in the vernacular). "And of your parish?" "Aroncrach" (Arro-craw). "And of your postoffice?" "Pittenweem" (pronounced as it is spelled). "And of your railway station?" "Killcoguhar" (Killnoeker). "And still, Uncle John," I continued, "you as laird of Balduthy, elder of the Kirk of Aron-craw, receiving your letters and papers at Pittenweem and taking your trains at Killnoeker, think Schenectady funny!"

Luther and the Devil.

Martin Luther was a believer in not only a personal devil, but in whole herds of them. In his writings he informs the readers that man is continually surrounded with demons and that "the devil is nearer to the Christian than is his coat or shirt." "Devils," he says, "are in houses and in dense black clouds. There are many of them in the woods, waters and deserts. They send storms, hail, thunder and lightning and poison the air with an infernal stench." In one place in his writings he tells us that the devil sends all diseases and plagues among men and that we may be sure that when one dies of a plague, is drowned or drops suddenly dead the devil was the cause of it.

A Close Resemblance.

"There are some points about your writings that much resemble Shakespeare," said the editor. "Do you think so?" cried the delighted author, who had brought his contribution in with his own hand. "Yes," the editor continued, "you employ almost the same punctuation marks."

GREENVILL'S Great Department STORE

Always Has Something

New to Show You

But new things never find a place with us until they have earned recognition by their merit. We like our friends to FEEL safe and BE safe in every transaction. No experimenting at their expense. Now, however, after the most careful scrutiny, we are pleased to offer which is a real innovation, and comes to us bearing the seal of approval, it being recommended by New York's most famous dressmakers and it actually disposes of some grave corset difficulties. The name almost lets the cat out of the bag, but one glance will tell any corset wearer the whole story. No matter what corset you wear this new corset will interest you, and we hope you will come and look. Among the many fine models you will find just what you want, and, like the little girl in the book, "you'll be happy ever after."

Colton's Invisible Lacing Corset

PRICE $1.00.
