TOWN MATTERS.

As Transacted by the Aldermen.

The board of aldermen met in regular monthly session Thursday night, six of the members being present.

The finance committee recom mended that the following levy of taxes for the year be made: For general purposes 55 cents on each $100 valuation, for interest on improvment bonds 26 cents, for interest on graded school bonds 4 cents, for maintenance of graded schools 40 cents. This makes a total of $1.25 on each $100 valuation and $3.75 on each poll. This is the same total as last year.

The finance committee reported that this levy will raise a little above $13,000, including the license taxes, and the current expenses for the year being estimated at $13,000 it will be seen that the levy is as low as it could be made.

The street committee reported that considerable work had been done during the past month and most of the streets were in fair condition.

Complaint being made that the teamster and trash haulers on the streets had been negligent in their duty, the chief of police was empowered with authority to discharge any such employes found negligent in their duty and employ others in their places. The assistant police was given the same authority over street hands.

The cemetery committee reported that hands are cleaning out the cemetery.

The code of ordinances already existing for the government of the town were adopted, with the addition that bill posters in the town be required to pay a license tax of $5 per year.

After some discussion a motion was passed authorizing the appointment of a purchasing committee to purchase supplies used by the town. The naming of the committee was deferred for the present.

The report of the superintendent of the water and light plants showed that there are now 48 water consumers and eighty-one light consumers. The receipts during July for water service were $47.55 and for electric service $154.18, and service to the town $400, making a total of $601.73. The total receipts for construction during the month were $1,121.99, and disbursements for the month were $2,390.72.

The dispensary report showed purchases during July to be $2,743.95 and sales $3,368.50.

The tax collector, treasurer, police officers and chief of fire department submitted their monthly reports.

The sum of $25 was donated to the Rough and Ready fire company to help defray their indebtedness to the state association.

The salary of the clerk and tax collector was changed to $60 per month.

The orders drawn on the treasurer amounted to a little above $2,000.

Killed a Rattlesnake.

Silomon Morris, a colored man of Belyoir township, brought to town today the rattle of a large rattlesnake which he killed a few days ago. The snake was 4 1/2 feet long, measured 6 inches in circumference, and had eleven rattles and a button. He says the snake fought viciously and he had to use both a hoe and a fence rail to dispatch the reptile.

Yellow Fever.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 3.—The number of new cases of fever today reported up to 6 o'clock p. m., were 54 and deaths 5. This makes a total of 84 deaths to date. The increase of new cases today over yesterday was 22, but there were 6 less deaths.

CAROLINA CLUB.

Elects New Officers for the Year

The second annual meeting of the Carolina club was held Thursday night in the club rooms, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year.

President, H. A. White. Vice president, F. W. Clare. Secretary, J. S. Mooring. Treasurer, Thos. J. Moore.

Board of Governors: D. G. Moore, D. L. James, W. H. Ragsdale, R. O. Jeffers, R. Williams and H. McClellan.

Reports from the retiring officers showed the club to be in a good financial condition. The total membership is about seventy five, and is composed of Greenville's best citizens.

The Carolina Club is a popular and growing institution, an honor and a credit to Greenville, and has the reputation of being the best club in Eastern Carolina. The club was organized only two years ago and the growth has been wonderful.

Used the Wrong Bait.

Yesterday, says the Portland Oregonian, a man was fishing in Guild's lake at the exposition, from the bridge of nations. An other man passing by asked him what he was fishing for and he replied:

"German carp."

"Catching any?"

"Nope, seen lots of 'em in the water, but they seem to run away from my bait."

"What are you, using for bait?"

"A potato."

"Fishing for German carp with a potato! Say, did you never hear about the eternal enmity between the Irish and the Dutch?"

"Yep; but what's that got to do with it?"

"Well" said the onlooker, "if you want to catch German carp you'd better change your bait. Use a pretzel!"—Ex.

Richard White, of Greenville, spent Wednesday night in town and played ball with the boys yesterday.

Don't forget the trustees of the Ayden graded school will meet Monday night at 7 o'clock to elect teachers for next session.

Ormondville seemed a little off yesterday in their idea of what constitutes BALL. It has been our idea that nine innings make a game. Finding themselves 8 to 6 against Ayden they called the game off an hour by sun, Ayden boys insisted on a finish in accordance, but the Ormondites left the field in a body without further cause so far as we can learn than that they were in the lead, an act unprecedented in our knowledge so far as ball is concerned, admitting by their act that they apprehended and feared defeat, a fact no doubt they would have realized had they remained to the finish. Dick White and Matt Bland did good work for Ayden, White holding himself in reserve for the last innings. From our author we learn the game should stand 6 to 0 in favor of Ayden.

In matters of enterprise, town pride and a general disposition to compare favorably with other towns the citizens of Ayden are not slow to avail themselves of each and every opportunity to show us a progressive and a prosperous people. The magnificent stores, beautiful residences, lovely streets and all other available means taken advantage of fully attest this spirit. We were forcibly reminded of this fact yesterday when Messrs. McLawhorn and Dennis invited us into their market house, which is a fine brick structure, to look at a refrigerator lately purchased for the preservation of such supplies in which they deal for the benefit of the public. The refrigerator is quite a huge affair of its kind, being 10 feet high, 6 x 4 feet in dimension and solid mirrors in front, with necessary ice and section compartments to keep everything in apple-pie order, and that they have and do show such appreciation of their patrons' needs and wants is of itself a credit to the town and entitles them to a worthy consideration. In fact their market in every department is neat and clean, and we for one are justly proud of the spirit which prompts them to keep the best and serve the public in this most creditable style. We doubt if there is another such in the county.

The Security Life and Annuity Company

Mutual. Legal Reserve.

A Home Company conducted on a safe, economical basis in the interest of its policy holders. Why we can save you money.

The oldest companies have been on a 4 per cent. reserve basis for many years. Several of them have recently changed from a 4 per cent basis to a 3 per cent. or 3 1/2 per cent. basis, on account of a decrease in interest rates. Probably 90 per cent. of all the outstanding business is now on a 4 per cent. reserve, only the new business being on a 3 per cent. or 3 1/2 per cent. reserve. Following are the rates of a few companies on the old and new basis:

Twenty-Payment Life. Age 35.

COMPANY	OLD RATE 4 per ct.	NEW RATE 3 1/2 per ct.	NEW RATE 3 per ct.
New York Life	$35 00	$38 34	$38 34
Equitable	35 00	38 34	38 34
Penn Mutual	34 21	37 25	36 95
Prudential	34 01	36 95	36 22
Mutual Benefit	33 97	36 96	36 22
Etina	31 97	36 96	36 22
Mutual Life	35 00	36 87	36 22
North Western	34 91	36 87	36 22
Security Life & Annuity	32 60	36 87	36 22

The variation in rates of companies on the same reserve basis is due to difference in the amount added for expenses.

Every policy is registered and the full legal reserve deposited with the Insurance Commissioner.

SUFFERING FROM LOST LIMBS.

Does a person suffer from a limb that has been amputated and buried? This is a question that is discussed from time to time and many personal incidents have been cited in support of the contention that such suffering really exists. The most striking case on record, however, comes from New York, in the death of William Stall, as a result of worrying over his inability to alleviate an imaginary itching of his leg that had been amputated a week before. He was not aware of the amputation and complained that his left foot itched, but he could not find the foot to scratch it. Then the attendant broke to the still dazed man the information that his left foot had been cut off and buried. Immediately Stall began to worry and steadily became weaker, his death finally ensuing.—Charlotte Chronicle.

THE REFLECTOR has heard of cases of this kind where people have suffered from limbs that were amputated. There is now a Confederate soldier living in this county who lost a leg in the war, and we have heard him say there are times when he feels as if the lost foot was hurting him. We know another man who lost a leg by accident, and he says he sometimes feels a sensation as if the lost foot was itching and has caught himself involuntarily reaching down to scratch it.

Another case has been told us, though we cannot vouch for this, that seems more unusual than either of those mentioned above. It was of a man who had lost a leg, and once when he was sick complained a great deal of the big toe of the lost limb hurting him. The imaginary pain seemed to increase until he went out to where the lost limb was buried and had it dug up. When the bones of the foot were uncovered it was found that a mass of roots had grown there and some of the roots had entwined tightly around the big toe. The roots were removed and the bones were buried again. After this the man made no more complaint of the pain in his big toe.

TOO OFTEN THE CASE

A man was arrested, tried and fined last Tuesday for being drunk in a church at Spray last Sunday. Fine and costs aggregated something near $17, which his children who work in the mills had to pay. The arrest and trial was all right, but it is a pity that a term on the roads could not have been substituted for the fine. The wrong parties were punished.—Leaksville Gazette.

We agree with the Gazette. Too often the wrong person or persons have to suffer, as they did in this case. Such an outrage as the above incident should be strongly rebuked. The roads are the places for such vagabonds. All children love their fathers—no matter how low they fallow; it was natural that these children, above mentioned, denied themselves to shield their debauched father, but the court that tried this man should not have been so short sighted as to have made the wrong persons suffer. We need better roads all over the state, and although we hate to see men lower themselves, still such cases as cited above, the roads are the right places for such offenders.

At Bridgeport, Conn., a few days ago the bursting of a dam reservoir caused the loss of nearly a million dollars. Right bad dam affair.

"Dead authors pay best," is the heading to an article in an exchange. That fits some other people as well as authors—don't pay their debts while alive but leave such matters for their administrators to look after. It is in such instances that funerals help.

Those fellows so anxious to run that paper in Greensboro, might get somebody that has one already started to let them run it a few days. The experience might satisfy them.

A physician in New York says that the average man does not think with his brains. It is evident that this doctor belongs to the average man class.

A certain democrat says that "the woods are full of democrats." We might have believed this if we had heard it just after the last election.

Japan says that she does not want the Philippine islands. Japan seems to know a gold brick when she sees it.

The Tariff Question

"It is a condition which confronts us; not a theory." The trite phrase was coined by Grover Cleveland in his famous tariff revision campaign 16 years ago. It applies again today. The tariff question once more looms large upon the political horizon.

Much concern has been felt over the unsatisfactory balance of trade for the last year. In spite of the high Dingley duties, imports have increased enormously over exports. The cause lies deep. There is almost world wide retaliation against our high tariff. Manufacturers of sewing machines, typewriters, electrical machinery, shoes and leather, the growers of breadstuffs and fruits and the cattle raisers are beginning to appreciate the effect of European high tariffs.

The boycott of American goods in China threatens to assume serious proportions. The most delicate diplomacy will be called for to save American trade from a loss of many millions a year in that direction alone.

Yet the situation in China is less serious for us than that throughout Europe. The inevitable loss of a large portion of the valuable trade with Germany, unless the rigor of her tariff, which is to go into operation next spring, shall be mitigated, is having a powerful effect upon all who are interested in that trade.

Switzerland has a new tariff whose maximum duties will be imposed upon American goods.

Austria-Hungary is expected to put in operation soon a new tariff which will be prohibitory as regards a number of American products now largely consumed there.

Thus one European country after another is adopting the policy of the exclusion of American goods unless the United States will make concessions to them by abating here and there the extreme exclusiveness of our own tariff.

The interest in the reciprocity convention which is to be held in Chicago next month is increasing.

Announcement has come that President Roosevelt has decided to call a special session of congress on November 11, "to act," according to one statement, "on some anti-rebate and other railroad legislation and also for the consideration of tariff conditions."

There is no argument like necessity. Congress may even consent to cut off some of the tariff pap supply of the pampered trust since the whole commercial world makes firm demands.—Ex.

Why, the Ideal!

"Are you entirely satisfied with your alimony?" asked her friend. "No. Sometimes I am afraid some of it may be tainted. I don't see how he can possibly earn as much legitimately as I am getting."

"If there is any question about it, why don't you accept less, and so enable him to?"

"Mercy sakes! What a silly thing you must think I am."—Chicago Record Herald.

A Warning to Mothers.

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If it does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

Nothing on the Market Equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This fact is well known to druggists everywhere, and nine out of ten will give their customers this preparation when the best is asked for. Mr. Obe Witmer, a prominent druggist of Joplin, Mo., in a circular to his customer, says: "There is nothing on the market in the way of patent medicine which equals Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. We sell a d recommend this preparation." For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

A little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Anyone who makes it a rule to keep Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea remedy at hand knows this to be a fact. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee. Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a sweetener), then follow one of the following rules:

- 1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.
- 2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.
- 3. (Don't boil it too long. Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving. DON'T! Don't use water that has been boiled before.)

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.) (Lion-head on every package.) (Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

GERMAN COOKERY.

Its Variety Reflected in the Food Phrases of the Country.

"Most people would consider the French language richer in terms concerning food and cookery than the German," writes Jerome Hart in the San Francisco Argonaut. "I have always thought so, but I was so much surprised in Germany by the richness of the language in food phrases that I took the trouble to count the columns in a French-English and a German-English pocket dictionary. Result—French, eight columns; German, eleven. But when one reflects it is really not extraordinary that the German should have more words for articles of food than the French, for they certainly seem to have more things to eat and to eat them more frequently.

"Where did I once read a description of the German heaven? Was it in Heine? I remember dimly the writer describing the celestial abode dreamed of by all good Germans—a land where the sausage tree bends under the weight of plump sausages hanging in bunches like bananas; where golden salmon swim ashore and wriggle into your plate, perishing to be eaten raw; where the sturgeon come and voluntarily offer up to you their young in the form of caviare; where the cucumbers and gherkins grow in beds all ready for the consumer and may be picked, ready pickled, and eaten at once.

"Wandering swine in that heaven come up to those fond of raw ham and let them cut slices off their juicy loins; the roast goose, brown and succulent, flies through the air on its featherless wings, alights with a flop on your plate and turns up its plump breast ready for your knife; a land where there are lakes of soup and rivers of gravy; a land where it is ever raining beer."

His Grandfather.

Simple minded visitors to the Jardin des Plantes, the Paris zoo, take a rather intimate view of the Darwinian theory, according to the London Chronicle. Some branches of the animal kingdom are represented there by skeletons. Said a painter to a model one day, "I shall want you on Sunday morning for the final sitting." "Impossible, monsieur," said the model. "I am going to take the children to visit my grandfather." "Your grandfather! Why, how old are you?" "Sixty-seven, monsieur." "And you still have a grandfather?" "Oh, yes, at the Jardin des Plantes! He's a skeleton. I take my own grandchildren to see him once a month. The keepers know us very well. They always say: 'Ah, you have come to see your grandpapa! All right. You'll find him in his usual place. He can't walk very comfortably now, so he's still there.'"

Wouldn't That Jar You?

One day a well dressed stranger called at a Lawrence hotel and told the landlord that he was broke and very hungry. The landlord took him to the dining room and gave orders for a dinner. When he got up from the table, a twenty dollar bill dropped from his handkerchief, which he drew from his pocket. A waiter picked it up and handed it to the landlord, who confronted him with the fact and at once took out 75 cents (25 cents is the regular price) and returned the $19.25 to the stranger, who was apparently dumfounded and speechless. Later on the vigilant landlord learned that the bill was counterfeit.—Kansas City Star.

Pepper.

The most important pepper is common, or black, a genus of plants native to the East Indies. When any of the berries begin to change from green to red all are at once gathered, as when more fully ripe they are less pungent, besides being apt to drop off. Spread on mats to dry in the sun, they become wrinkled and black and are afterward ground to a powder. White pepper is the seed released from the skin and fleshy part of the fruit. The pepper thus prepared is of a whitish gray color, but not infrequently it undergoes a bleaching by chlorine, which improves its appearance at the expense of its quality.

Prices All Right.

As common tobacco has been selling so well since the market opened this season, a few farmers concluded to put some better grades on today and see how they went. The result proved most satisfactory. There was a 64 pound pile of wrappers at the Farmers warehouse that brought $30. There was plenty of excitement over the high bidding and when the pile was knocked off at thirty everybody shouted.

Improvements on the Avenue.

The depression on the lot where the Gorman stemery formerly stood is being filled up and the lot leveled. We understand a large building will be erected there in which to conduct a wholesale grocery establishment.

Rain Fall for July.

C. V. York, government observer for this station, reports that the rainfall here for the month of July was 5.93 inches.
