Bone Driven in Brain.

Winston Salem, N. C., August 4.
—John Nail, aged about 21 years, who has charge of the reordering room at the tobacco factory of Brown & Williamson, met with an accident today that may prove fatal. Mr. Nail was standing about ten feet from the machine when the leather belt used in operating it broke. A piece of the brass staple, about one and a half inches long, which held the belt together, struck Mr. Nail above the right ear with terrible force, knocking him down. The wounded man was removed to the hospital, where an operation was performed. The physicians found that the staple broke the skull and carried several pieces of bone into brain. They removed five or six pieces of bone, but were unable to find the piece of staple which inflicted a hole in the side of the head about the size of a bullet. It is feared that it is in the brain. The condition of Mr. Nail is decidedly serious.—Raleigh Post.

AUGUST SHIRT SALE.

The object of this sale is to clear out stock of 16 1-2 size Negligee Shirts before the opening of Fall trade as we are greatly overstocked on this size only.

We don't believe in carried over goods. They've a poor claim for patronage.

What would you think if next year you bought a Shirt from us identical to the one some fellow got this season? You'd feel pretty cheap, wouldn't you?—and you wouldn't have a very good opinion of us. Now to obviate things of this sort we are willing to accept a loss—a most severe one. Hence this Mutual. Legal Reserve.

A Home Company conducted on a safe, economical basis in the interest of its policy holders. Why we can save you money.

The oldest companies have been on a 4 per cent. reserve basis for many years. Several of them have recently changed from a 4 per cent basis to a 3 per cent or 3 1/2 per cent. basis, on account of a decrease in interest rates. Probably 90 per cent. of all the outstanding business is now on a 4 per cent. reserve, only the new business being on a 3 per cent or 3 1/2 per cent. reserve. Following are the rates of a few companies on the old and new basis:

Twenty-Payment Life. Age 35.

COMPANY	OLD RATE 4 per ct.	NEW RATE 3 1/2 per ct.	NEW RATE 3 per ct.
New York Life	$35 00		$38 34
Equitable	35 00		38 34
Penn Mutual	34 21		37 25
Prudential	34 01		36 95
Mutual Benefit	33 97		36 22
Aetna	31 97	$36 96
Mutual Life	35 00	36 87
North Western	34 91		37 80
Security Life & Annuity	32 60

The variation in rates of companies on the same reserve basis is due to difference in the amount added for expenses.

Every policy is registered and the full legal reserve deposited with the Insurance Commissioner.

C. L. Wilkinson & Co.

EVERY AFTERNOON EXCEPT SUNDAY. D. J. WHICHARD, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

SATURDAY, AUG. 5, 1905.

If Greenville had a few more good manufacturing enterprises to increase the weekly pay roll of wage earners, there would be a marked difference in the growth of the town.

During the summer not much is heard about the condition of the public roads. A little later when bad weather sets in and the farmers get to experiencing trouble in hauling their products to market, the need of good roads will be felt.

This talk of probing the departments in search of graft and crookedness may be largely for effect. The rascality brought to light would give the government too great a jolt and those in authority had rather keep it in the dark.

W. J. Bryan announces that he is soon to start on a trip around the world that will take from one to two years. He will hardly be lost to public view in the meantime, as he will keep the papers telling what he is doing.

If the rest of us were to let up on these Greensboro papers to be, we doubt if they would ever be heard of again. But talking about them makes an occasional squib in the absence of something better.

In high circles they call it graft, while with ordinary folks it is plain stealing. If both were treated alike and the guilty ones made to wear convict stripes, there might not be so much of it.

If a man is not straight in his private life he will hardly be so if he is elevated to public position, hence the greater need for an exercise of wisdom in selecting men for places of trust.

It is said that suckers are born in New York every thirty seconds. A few years ago it was just one a day. If this increase keeps up there would be anything in New York but suckers.

The Charlotte News hits it right in saying "an Italian with yellow fever is very much like a negro with smallpox—there is an irresistible temptation to conceal the disease."

Mrs. Duke, it seems, will be denied the privilege of being provided for the balance of her days at Brodie's expense. The courts have denied her petition for alimony.

Governors of all the states in the union have been asked by Governor Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania, to join in a movement to bring about uniformity of divorce laws in the several states.

The New Style the Boys Put On.

Are you on the latest fashion among the young men? It was brought in by the boys who had been off to school when they returned in June.

"I noticed for some time that all the half grown fellows seemed to be suffering with the hot weather more than anybody else. Every time I saw one of them he had his coat on his arm.

Very Suggestive.

The mother was expecting guests for the evening, and at 8 o'clock the youngest son was told that it was bedtime. The little fellow persisted in sitting up for the occasion pleading fear of the darkness.

"Mamma!" "Well, dear?" his mother said. "May I speak, mamma?" "Certainty, dear. What do you want?"

The Farmers Mean Business.

There is no politics to speak of in the State this year, but there is something better—cotton talk. The farmers in every cotton county in North Carolina will be in action this month.

Still Protected.

The shade of Capt. Kidd loomed up from the sands where his undiscovered gold was still buried. "Talk about chest protectors," he remarked facetiously, "I think I should be awarded the prize.

NAPOLEON AS A GUNNER.

How He Demonstrated His Ability and Discomfited His Critics.

It was in 1782 that Napoleon, on a visit to his folks at Ajaccio, had an opportunity to demonstrate in the presence of the friends of his boyhood the superiority of his knowledge of the practical use of artillery. It may easily be believed that he embraced the opportunity with pleasure.

The officers of the garrison had received from Paris a new mortar, which they were trying on a mark fixed on Aspreto, a rocky point opposite the city and across the harbor. They could not hit the target to save their lives. Napoleon said to the spectators: "They will not succeed. Their method is all wrong." The officers did not hear this remark, but after many trials, noting the smile on the young officer's lips, one of them said, with a touch of irony in his voice:

"Monsieur, you are laughing at us. Do you desire to give us a display of your superior knowledge?"

Napoleon answered courteously, "I am very far from laughing at you, but I do not approve of your method."

"Will you show us your method?" asked the officer, with a sneer.

"With pleasure." Bonaparte loaded the mortar carefully with his own hands, quickly measured the distance of the target with his eye alone and touched the fuse.

The target was shattered, and there was a cry of applause from the bystanders, who were not at all troubled to see a native Corsican take the wind out of the Frenchmen's sails.

"All an accident!" cried the officer who had challenged Napoleon to try his skill. "He couldn't do it again in a hundred times."

"Do you desire me to attempt it once more?" asked Bonaparte, with the same ironical smile on his face that was destined to aggravate so many enemies among the crowned heads of Europe.

"S'il vous plait," said the officer. Napoleon again lighted the fuse after personally loading the mortar. Again he hit the mark. Then, without waiting for further permission, he tried it the third time, with the same result. The garrison officers apologized for their impertinence and inquired if he would tell them in what respect their method had been at fault.

"With pleasure," answered Napoleon. "You simply had too much powder behind the bomb. Try it yourselves with less powder, and you will succeed." The first experiment showed that he was right. The officers had had a good lesson in gunnery, and the people of Ajaccio had been shown that their young hero had not lost his prestige by going to a French military academy.

Marriage of the Dead.

A strange custom prevails among a certain tribe in the Caucasus. When a single young man dies, some one who has carried to the grave a marriageable daughter in the course of the year calls upon the bereaved parents and says:

"Your son is sure to want a wife. I'll give you my daughter, and you shall deliver to me the marriage portion in return."

A friendly offer of this description is never rejected, and the two parties soon come to terms as to the amount of the dowry, which varies according to the advantages possessed by the girl in her lifetime. Cases have been known where the young man's father has given as much as thirty cows to secure a dead wife for his dead son.

An Odd Experiment.

Some years ago one man bet another that he could not move an ordinary brick tied to the end of a cord two or three miles long. A straight and level road just outside Chichester, N. Y., was selected for the trial. The brick was not moved, and the man lost his bet for a large amount. It was stated by some one present that the brick, although weighing only seven pounds, would from a distance of two or three miles represent a dead weight of nearly a ton.
