

PAVING THE WAY. BODY OF W. E. JOLLEY FOUND

Will Be Brought to Greenville To-Night--Latest Particulars From Wreck.

The regular passenger train that reached Greenville Friday evening brought the bodies of seven of the excursion wreck. A number of the survivors also came in on this train. Four of the dead belonged to Greenville and were Dock Hemby, John Marable, Mary Jones and Nelson Peebles. The other three bodies were for points south of Greenville. The body of Walter Forbes, the young white boy, was also expected on that train but did not come. Hundreds of people were at the depot waiting to meet the bodies and survivors.

The excursion train with the bulk of survivors came in about 12:30 o'clock and there was another immense throng at the depot. Many of the injured who were not hurt too bad to travel were on board. The scenes around both these trains were pathetic, the grief over the dead and injured being beyond restraint.

The survivors as groups of interested friends surrounded them, gave harrowing accounts of their experiences in the awful wreck. It is marvelous how a number who were saved came out of the disaster alive. Today not much has been talked on the streets but the wreck, groups of people gathering around wherever they could find a survivor talking about it. More bodies of victims are expected on this evening's train, also other survivors who remained behind to assist in identification of the dead.

After THE REFLECTOR was published Friday information came that two more bodies of Greenville people had been identified, Shorty Baroers and Arthur Wooten. Today a telegram came from E. H. Shelburn, who went to the scene of the wreck Friday, that the body of W. E. Jolley was found this morning and would be sent home as early as possible. It was learned later that his body was found floating near the scene of the wreck. Mr. Jolley was the manager of the excursion. It is reported that the satchel with his money in it was found Friday afternoon when one of the cars was dragged ashore. Mr. Jolley leaves a wife and two children.

Reports today from Heber Forbes, who is in a hospital, say he is getting along well and is out of danger. His brother, Ed Forbes, went to Norfolk Friday to look after him.

A later telegram from Mr. Shelburn says that the body of Mr. Jolley will reach Greenville about 8 o'clock this evening. It is coming on a special train and will be carried to his late residence on the corner of Pitt and Fourth streets. The funeral will take place Sunday morning.

The body of Walter Forbes, who is a son of Noah Forbes, will arrive on the regular evening train. His funeral will also take place Sunday. The bodies of three more colored people will be brought in this evening.

The raising of the cars and engine from the river has been placed in the hands of a wrecking company of Norfolk and the company began work this morning. The number of bodies already recovered from the wreck is between 40 and 50 and more will be found when the cars are raised. Many may never be found, as some have doubtless been washed out and away from the cars. It is not likely on this account that the full extent of the awful disaster will ever be known.

Stand Back, Gents.

The railroad detectives and county constable Jake Pope have been reaping harvests of hoboos at Johnston street Seaboard station and yards during the past few weeks, but of all their captures, that of R. K. Downing, a negro tramp, is the most amusing, and by his wit the darkey nearly escaped having thrown the officers into convulsions of laughter.

When they approached him Downing cried passionately and with a well feigned sympathy in his voice:

Stan' back gemmans! I's come from New Orleans, and has had de yellow fever fo' days! Stan' back, gemmans!

But instead of standing back the officers closed in and the "patient" was taken before Justice of the Peace Barbee, where the second chapter in the episode occurred. Downing repeated before his honor that he had been bitten by an infected mosquito, and had felt the symptoms of the dread disease four days. But the justice told the darkey there was nothing in the world better for a yellow fever tramp than exercise on Wake county roads where the soft breezes, pleasant climate, nothing but water and corn bread and North Carolina bacon would be administered to him in moderate quantities.

When Downing finishes his thirty days' sentence he will be permitted to return to New Orleans and tell his friends of his kind reception here.—News and Observer.

The Robber Lacked Nerve.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 17.—News was received here this afternoon of a bold attempt which was made last night to hold up and rob Mr. Turner, the ticket agent and telegraph operator at Starkey's Station on the Roanoke & Southern division of the Norfolk & Western railroad. The attempt was only interrupted by the awakening of a colored man at the proper time.

Mr. Turner was busy working with his telegraph instrument when he was interrupted by a big black negro, who walked up behind him and said, "I guess you have plenty of money." Turning around the agent was confronted by the man, who had a pistol pointed at his head. The visitor demanded the agent's watch, and while Mr. Turner was moving to get it the noise awakened a colored man waiting for a train and who had fallen asleep in the corner of the station. The robber turned, and seeing the other man, made a break for the door and disappeared.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Aug. 19.

Mrs. Pattie Sutton and daughter are visiting in the country. Mrs. Lou Jackson and Mrs. George Jackson spent yesterday afternoon at the home of A. G. Cox.

When the down freight came in Wednesday, three negro tramps slipped off of the train and started down Railroad street. Before arriving here, they had refused being put off and had drawn a pistol on one of the hands; so the conductor quickly notified Police-man Charles Smith of their presence. Finding themselves closely pursued, one of them took a pistol from his pocket as if to resist, but a hasty shot from the policeman's pistol caused them to leave rather hurriedly. When last seen, they were flying toward Ayden, and none swift enough to catch them.

J. R. Smith and daughter, Miss May, of Ayden, were pleasant callers in our town Thursday.

E. E. Forsythe, traveling agent for J. B. Lippincott Publishing Co. was in our town Thursday and sold to the Winterville High school a set of 1905 edition of Chamber's Encyclopedia. This is a very valuable addition to the school library, which already contains more than eight hundred volumes.

Mrs. Richard Brown, nee Miss Minnie Clinard, of Oxford, is visiting at the home of Dr. B. T. Cox.

Wednesday evening Dr. B. T. Cox returned from Baltimore, but Mrs. Cox remained with her little daughter, Grace, who is receiving the pasteur treatment for hydrophobia.

Little Miss Irma Isabel Dawson is spending sometime with relatives here.

Misses Fannie and Lela Roach and Lizzie Burney, of Coxville, have been visiting friends and relatives in town.

Prof. Nye returned Thursday from a trip in Jones and other counties, where he found many pupils for the Winterville High school. In the evening he left for the eastern part of Pitt.

A. B. House, of near House, was a pleasant caller in our village Friday. He is a former student of Winterville High school and very pleasantly remembered here.

Many of our people attended the burial of W. C. Moyer Friday afternoon. He was once a student in the Winterville High school and is very kindly remembered by the teachers, pupils and the people of our village. We extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved ones. May they implicitly trust Him who alone is able to comfort.

Mrs. Polley Smith, who has been spending sometime with her granddaughter at Seven Springs, has returned. We are glad to have her back again.

Miss Oliv a Cox, who has been visiting relatives near Washington has come home.

Good Entertainment.

The entertainment given Friday evening at the opera house by the Imperial Motion Picture Company was good, the pictures were instructive as well as interesting. There was a barrel of fun for both young and old. The chase the old maid and a dozen girls gives the bachelor who advertised for a wife was the winning picture. We are sorry the attendance was so small. The entertainment was all that it was advertised to be.

A Seven Year Sentence.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 17.—Ed Hall, the negro who attempted a criminal assault on Mrs. Mack Auten, was this afternoon sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary. The case occupied about ten minutes. Just time enough for Mrs. Auten to give her testimony and Judge Osborne to submit. It did not go to the jury. Judge Cook sentenced Hall to 7 years in the penitentiary, saying that he never went the limit of the law and that on account of the negro's age he believed that would be the just punishment.

Excursion Next Wednesday.

Hatch Bros' excursion from Kinston to Norfolk on 23rd will be stopped at the bridge at Bruce, V., to give a chance to view the recent wreck. There is no need of any one being afraid to go because of the former accident.

SATURDAY, AUG. 19, 1905.

Say, Mr. Weather Man, what is this you are giving us?

The Russian bears are not dancing exactly to suit the Japanese organ grinders.

Here's hoping that there will be more leaks sprung in the government department large enough for some more grafters to fall through.

The Philadelphia physician who wants a divorce from his wife because he does not love her admits that he made a wrong diagnosis of his case.

The officials in New York say they are going to wipe out crime in Chinatown. It looks like they could do better work by starting right in the heart of the city.

If women succeed in having the word "obey" displaced from the marriage ceremony, they will have succeeded all round, for they displaced it in real life about the time the first knot was tied.

Russia is trying to make believe that she has always been a true friend to the United States. This won't go. We still have that big ditch to dig, with a hole in the treasury as big as a tunnel—and, we don't fancy the side that got licked no how.

The responsibility for the terrible wreck which occurred at Bruce, Va., Tuesday in which Mr. Ed Jolly and Walter Forbes were killed and several colored people besides a number wounded and injured should be determined and the proper punishment administered. There cannot be too much care exercised along railroads where thousands of people travel daily. The deepest sympathy is expressed here for the bereaved wife and mother.

Corruption at its Height.

The President continually talks about more laws for breaking trusts and regulating railroads. He will end in talk. If he will enforce half the laws we have against those whose quest is apparent to any one but a blind partisan, he will do his country a great service and pave the way for any needed legislation. The Sherman anti-trust law can be enforced and to do so will keep the government until the next election. There is a growing sentiment all over the country that the President is taking it all out in talk. The New York World thinks he lacks the courage to arrest one of the big violators of the laws. The few indictments that have been drawn and prosecuted have been against the little offenders. A cleaning out of the departments in Washington will keep the law officers busy and fill the prisons. The era of corruption growing out of the Spanish-American war is now at its height. Roosevelt should begin in Washington. There are more rascals there than Groff and Machen—Windsor Ledger.

The first bale of cotton for the 1905 season has appeared, and Morven, in Anson county, claims the honor. Ten fifty five was the price per pound it brought, and with the farmers of the South standing solidly together, ten cents a pound will be the minimum price for cotton. Harvie Jordan and the men with him are leading right, and the farmers should follow their advice. —News and Observer.

He Cured the Congregation.

Grown people, as well as children are sometimes given to turning their heads to observe every late comer at church, a lecture, or any place of meeting. One should always remember, however, that this is bad manners, as bad as to be late and thus annoy others.

A good many years ago, a certain Methodist minister in Alabama was so disturbed by this bad habit in his congregation that he cured both observers and observed in the following manner:

One Sabbath, being especially disturbed at the beginning of his discourse by several of the congregation turning to see the late arrivals, he said:

"Brethren and sisters, don't bother to look around any more; I'll tell you who comes in."

This he did, calling each name, much to the mortification of the tardy members, who thereupon mended their ways and removed the temptation that had assailed the early comers—Selected

New Swindle

Here's a brand new swindle which is being successfully worked on the farmers of southwest Michigan. A well dressed stranger stays all night with the intended victim and during the stay reports that he has lost a valuable diamond pin somewhere about the place. After searching for a half day he takes his leave, feeling badly about his loss, requests the family to keep a watch out for the pin, adding that he will pay $100 for its recovery. A few days after a bum appears on the place and accidentally shows a pin exactly like the one they have been looking for and casually remarked that he found it just outside the gate. After some dickering the pin is sold for $25, and sometimes $50. The farmer then writes to the address left by the stranger and asks him to bring his hundred and get his pin. He never comes as the bum was in the deal and the pin had cost only 20 cents.—Roanoke News

Women Who Should Never Marry.

The woman who proudly declares that she cannot hem a pocket handkerchief, never made up a bed in her life, and adds with a simper that she has "been in society ever since she was fifteen."

The woman who would rather nurse a pug dog than a baby.

The woman who thinks that men are angels.

The woman who would rather die than wear a hat two seasons old.

The woman who thinks that the cook and nurse can keep house.

The woman who expects a declaration of love three times a day.

The woman who buys ornaments for the drawing-room and borrows kitchen utensils from her neighbors; and who thinks table decorations are of more importance than good food.

The woman who wants things just because "other women" have them.—Raleigh Enterprise.

Winston says "nay" to the distilleries. You cannot come in. We are getting on nicely without you, "thank ye."

Hon. C. E. Watson thinks distilleries should be located in the "corn districts" and not in the towns and cities.—Littleton Herald. Amen.

The churches that do not quit giving while they build are the ones that will do to tie. Pastor Rich took a great mission collection last Sunday week, and Waynesville keeps right on increasing its contributions to the orphanage, and there are many others. Building a house is no excuse for withholding contributions to the Lord's cause.—Charity and Children.

The first solid train load of goods of one order ever shipped by a Southern factory passed through Greensboro Monday, containing the first installment of furniture for the Panama Canal, contracted for by the government with the White Furniture Company of Mebane. A United States inspector completed his examination of the goods Saturday, not a single article being condemned. The consignment is direct to Panama. The train is handsomely placarded, prominently billed and elaborately decorated.—Goldsboro Headlight.

A congress of farmers will be held in Richmond next month. We see it stated that North Carolina speakers will have an honorable part in this gathering, and there will be some fine things said, for we have some speakers who know how to farm, and talk to farmers—Durham Sun

OLD TOURNAINE.

As Rich In Historic Interest as In Natural Beauties.

Touraine is as rich in historic interest as it is in natural beauties. The house of Valois had a special liking for the banks of the Loire, and the great nobles of their court built near the royal residences their own chateaux—marvels of architectural grace, strength and beauty, but of which there is not a stone that is not cemented with blood, for the Valois lived in an atmosphere of intrigue, fraud and violence. They were always being conspired against, and they met plot with counter plot. If treason could not be met with force, a sudden surprise or a stab in the dark or the malignant skill of some Italian chemist laid to rest forever suspicions which might have been unfounded. It is but fair to state, however, that this was not often the case, for the nobles were turbulent and ambitious, and when not engaged in waging war openly or covertly with their sovereign, quarreled among themselves and led forth their retainers to surprise or besiege a neighboring castle. On the battlement of every donjon there was a watchman, day and night, ever on the lookout for the glint of arms in the valley below, and ready to his hand was a huge horn, one blast of which would alarm the garrison and bring them to the walls. A few feet below the watchman there dangled from a jutting beam the corpse of some poor wretch, and in the loathsome dungeons beneath the moat others were chained to the reeking walls, for every castellan had the right of administering "greater and lesser justice" and could dispose of the lives and liberties of his vassals as he deemed fit. He had other privileges also, some of which make us wonder why the revolution did not come some centuries earlier.—Frederick Lees in Architectural Record.

Calvinized.

One very hot day Dr. George E. Ellis, the historian, going to an informal dinner with a friend, wore a very comfortable but unfashionable thin coat and mania hat. A notoriously orthodox clergyman began to banter the Unitarian divine regarding his big straw hat, whereupon Dr. Ellis replied that he would not have a word said against that article of apparel, inasmuch as it had been a good friend of his for four years. "Why," exclaimed his friend, "how could it have lasted so long?" "Because it has been Calvinized," replied Dr. Ellis. The host, misunderstanding the word, inquired with amazement how the hat could be Calvinized. But Dr. Ellis, with a sly twinkle in his eye, looked straight at the orthodox minister as he replied: "I did not say 'Calvinized'—I said the hat had been Calvinized—dipped in brimstone."

A Useful Member.

The small son of a clergyman who was noted for his tiresome sermons overheard two friends of his father saying how dry they were, and how hard it was to keep awake during them. The following Sunday, while the minister was preaching, he was astounded to see his son throwing pebbles at the congregation from the gallery. The clergyman frowned angrily at him, when the boy piped out in a clear treble voice: "It's all right, pop. You go on preaching; I'm keeping them awake."—Harper's Weekly.

His Slight Mistake.

"Do you remember, dear," he asked as they sat down on one of the rustic seats at the summer resort, "that I cut our initials on this tree, behind us three or four years ago?" "Why, no, George," she replied. "I don't remember that. Are you sure?" He arose, walked around the tree and inspected the bark closely. "Yes," he said, "it's the same tree, all right, but it was another girl."—Chicago Tribune.

Compensation Everywhere.

"Strange how nature equalizes all things," said the philosopher. "Nothing is lost in nature. What may be lacking here is given twofold there." "How about the loss of sleep?" remarked the novelist. "Just the point I was going to mention. The sleep lost over the writing of novels is frequently gained by those who attempt to read them."

Papa's Warning.

Daughter—This piano is really my very own, isn't it, papa? Father—Yes, my dear. "And when I marry I can take it with me—can I?" "Certainly, my child! But don't tell any one. It might spoil your chances."

Contradiction.

Witness—He looked me straight in the eye and— Lawyer—There, sir, you've flatly contradicted your former statement. Witness—How so? Lawyer—You said before that he bent his gaze on you, and now you'll please explain how he could look you straight in the eye with a bent gaze. Witness faints.

The following remarks on Tennyson were recently handed in on an examination paper by a schoolboy in an English literature class: "Lord Alfred Tennyson was a celebrated poet, and he wrote a lot of beautiful poems with long hair. His greatest poem is called 'The Idle King'. He was made a lord, but he was a good man and wrote many sad."—Harper's Weekly.

GRIMESLAND ITEMS

GRIMESLAND, N. C. Aug. 19.

With fairly good crops here about and with prospect of good prices, our town has aroused from its extreme dullness and misery during the summer months, and a spirit of good cheer and gaiety has been with us for the past few weeks.

Quite recently we have had many pretty visitors to our town in the persons of Miss Florida Avery, of Rocky Mount, and Miss Rebecca Knight, of Conetoe, who have been visiting Miss Lizzie Moore, Miss Lula Williams, who visited Miss Susie Moore, and others who came to make up a gay house party at the residence of W. M. Moore, Esq.

Our young townsmen also took a part in this house party and added no little to the enjoyment of our visitors.

W. S. and J. O. Galloway went to Greenville yesterday to look at the tobacco market.

L. E. Eiks went to Washington today.

J. O. Proctor and wife left for Baltimore yesterday morning.

There has been right much typhoid fever in this section but we are glad to say that it has somewhat abated.

Fred Knight, of Conetoe, spent last week with the family of Dr. Jones. Fred Jones returned home with him to spend a week or two.

Wm. Richardson, of Washington, D. C., has been with us for the past week talking insurance and delivering policies.

Miss Lena Harris is visiting here, stopping with her friends, Mrs. D. G. Moore and Mrs. C. M. Jones.

We were glad to see Grant Tyson, of Greenville, in town this week.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Mrs. W. C. Johnson returned from a visit to Dover this morning.

Hinton Prichard went to Rocky Mount this morning to attend a house party.

Miss Maud Evans, of Goldsboro, who has been here visiting her mother, returned home today.

Mrs. C. C. Thornton, of New Bern, who has been here for the last few days, returned home this morning.

Presbyterian Church.

Notice of services for Sunday: Preaching by the pastor, Rev. Frederick Viehe. Morning service at 11 o'clock. Service at night at 8:15. The public most cordially invited to attend.

His Punishment Assured.

The musical instrument seller had succeeded at last in working off a cheap fiddle on a customer at four times its value.

"Where shall I send it?" he inquired.

"To 914 — street. My flat is on the third floor."

The fiddle dealer's face fell. He had moved, with his family, the day before to the flat on the second floor of 914 — street on a three years' agreement.

Consideration.

De Long—I say, old man, when are you going to pay back the $10 I let you have six months ago?

Shortwad—Oh, in a few days. I would have paid it back long ago only I was afraid of hurting your feelings.

De Long—In what way?

Shortwad—I didn't want you to think I thought you needed the money.—Chicago News.

An Early Balloon Failure.

An English newspaper published on June 11, 1824, contained the following paragraph: "A Dr. Thornton has projected a balloon and solicited subscribers at 10 guineas ($50) each to patronize his scheme. He describes his new vehicle as having wings and a tail, worked by a steam engine and mechanical powers; made to ascend and descend at pleasure, to travel 100 miles within the hour in any direction and to carry letters and persons to any distance." The performance did not equal the promise.

Schoolboy's Estimate of Tennyson.
