BARACAS ENTERTAIN.

Delightful Evening at Home of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Bagwell.

On Thursday evening from 8:30 to 12 o'clock, at the handsome home of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Bag-well, on Fifth street, the Baraca class of the Baptist Sunday school delightfully entertained the officers and teachers and two of the young lady classes of the school.

Mrs. Bagwell had made ample preparation for the entertainment so that it might prove most pleasant to all present. The lawn and verandas were beautifully lighted with Japanese lanterns, and the house illumined and decorated.
Over an alcove window in the library was in large letters the motto "Welcome" and suspended beneath it was a large emblem of the Baraca class. There were numerous games and music was abundant during the evening.

A large ring suspended from the ceiling of the verand with a bell near the center afforded no end of amusement, the guests seeing who could throw small sacks of corn through the ring without striking the bell. The bell rang often.

An interesting guessing contest was provided by placing around the room twenty pictures cut from advertisements in newspapers and magazines, the contestants to view these pictures and guess what article each advertised. Miss Jamie Bryan handed in the highest number and was awarded the first prize, a pretty gold stick pin, which was presented by D. J.
Whichard. John Shelburn made the lowest record on the guessing and was awarded the "booby" prize, an A. B. C. book, which was presented by J. W. Bryan.

After the contest strips of paper were handed to the guests, those given the gentleman containing names of the presidents and those to the ladies the names of president's wives. Then they were told to find their partners and repair to the lawn where tables were arranged and ice cream and cake served.

Games were then resumed and pleasure was at its highest until the time for saying good night came. Many thanks were expressed to Dr. and Mrs. Bagwell and the members of the Baraca class for the evening so pleasantly spent.

Head Split Open in Fight.

Zack Lumley, a white pressman about 25 years old, was painfully injured yesterday afternoon at the Willard Bag factory by being struck over the head with an oar in the hands of Frank Cartwright, also white.

The fracas took place on the bottom floor of the bag factory.
From the testimony of eye witnesses it seems that the whole affair was the result of a discussion about some money transaction that occurred between the two. One word led to another until finally a vile oath was passed. Cartwright states that he acted in self-defence. He says Lumley seized a mallet and was coming toward him with the intention evidently of using it. Seeing this he took up an oar about four feet long and struck Lumley over the head. Bystanders state that he struck Lumley three or four times with the oar. The oar was finally broken, the break occurring about two feet from the end of the handle.—Wilmington Star.

Large Break.

The tobacco warehouses had tremendous sales today. Tobacco came in all last night and early this morning until the houses were filled. It keeps right on bringing good prices.

11 o'clock Thursday night. There always popular.

That was a rain sure enough while it lasted just before noon.

AYDEN ITEMS.

AYDEN, N. C., Aug. 25, 1905.

Everybody who hasn't got anything else to do has gone into the drumming business. Ain't they getting thick?

If yesterday wasn't the hottest day of the season, then call up the prophet and enlighten us on the subject. It was so hot down this way it seemed as if we could hear the very wind sizz. We have not read or heard of but one place hotter, and we certainly hope never to go there.

A little rain right now would surely prove conducive both to health and dry dust.

We regret very much that the health of our friend, Mr. Templeton, book-keeper for J. R. Smith & Bro., continues poor.

The merry-go-round man run-nis hobby horses yesterday and last night for the benefit of the Old Fellows' lodge at this place.

Miss Kate Wood, of LaGrange, who is here on a visit to the family of Dr. Jos. Dixon, lost a very handsome brooch last Wednesday evening. If anyone has found it, by returning it to Dr. Dixon their kindness will be very highly appreciated. The brooch was ornamented with a five dollar gold piece.

More improvement. The enterprising firm of J. R. Smith & Bro.
are having a table made 18 feet long, 5 feet wide and 7 feet high, with five shelves. This will be placed in the center of their store.
The shelves are so arranged as to be accessible from both sides and under it will be used as well as on top. This will be, when completed, a most convenient arrangement and will stand as a monument to the mechanical genius of our elev-er life and fire insurance agent, E. G. Cox, who drew the plan for it. The table will set due east and west parallel with the mammoth show case we wrote about some time ago, that is the largest in Eastern Carolina. This new piece of furniture will be called Junbo, until some one finds a more suitable name.

M. M. McKinnis is on a visit to friends in Grifton.

Mrs. G. F. Morrison and children are at Fortress Monroe with relatives.

J. J. Edwards is in Hookerton.
A. J. Manning, who several years ago was principal of the Carolina Institute at this place, is in town among friends.

L. H. Bell and wife, of Hobgood, after a week's visit to Mrs. O. C.
Nobles, have returned home.

Mrs. Ella Mason, of House, has been on a visit during the past week to her father, J. T. Smith, Sr.

Miss Kate Wood, of LaGrange, is spending the week with the family of Dr. Jos. Dixon.

Misses Flossie and Lola Hardy, of Kinston, left for their homes Tuesday evening after a very pleasant visit to Mrs. R. W. Smith here.

A large crowd greeted the Hatch
Bros.' excursion at this point
Wednesday morning.

Mrs. J. A. Davis and J. W.
Moore are at the Northern markets.
Mrs. Davis to purchase millinery and Mr. Moore a general line of merchandise.

Mrs. Charles Aldridge went to Greenville Wednesday.

Mrs. Jane Parker, of South Carolina, after a visit of some length to her daughter, Mrs. T. Ludford, near here, has returned to her home.

A. M. Moseley, the old standby of our cotton farmer friends, is back and ready to handle the fleecy staple. We are all pleased to see him.

FRIDAY, AUG. 25, 1905.

Just because Mr. Fife says it is a pack of lies don't make it so.

It's too bad that Raleigh hasn't got a hospital annexed to her jail.

Some times when a young man dreams that he is married he is only riding a wild night mare.

Don't the business men take to the suggestion of having a home coming week for the Pitt countians scattered abroad?

Possibly the next move Booker makes will be to look up some hair specialist. But no use. There's no rubbing the kinks out.

It is said that Japan is reaching for peace. From size of the pile of indemnity she is asking it looks like she is reaching out for everything in sight.

It is said that Paul Morton has painted Roosevelt. Well, turn about is fair play, for it has not been very long ago since Teddy whitewashed Tommy.

One reason why Russia thinks the war can hold out a little longer yet is possibly because that Oyama's army is about 7,000 miles from St. Petersburg.

Booker Washington is just a negro with possibly a streak of Anglo-Saxon blood running through his veins. Still there's no rubbing it out—Saratoga treated him white.

The other editors who have declared themselves candidates for governor in Georgia think no doubt that Smith and Howell have proved that neither of them is fit to be governor.

Booker Washington is above the majority negro as far as intellectual power goes, but he may yet be forced to gaze upon his finish as a useful man among his race. He is fast losing out.

Say! if the jail is too confining for Mr. Rogers and Mr. Sorrell, and that their health has been very much impaired by the confinement, what's the matter of sending them to the roads? This would afford plenty of fresh air and exercise for them.

Just a few words about immigration. There should be restriction and congress should study it very careful. The cost of transportation might be raised. But even this might not prove to be the right course to pursue, for it is possible that immigrants who are most undesirable as to health and character are the ones who would pay the most to enter this country. We favor the immigration movement, but there are some important problems to solve and the approaching congress should solve them.

The next time President Roosevelt asks a peace conference to hold its meetings in this country he will no doubt see to it that the sittings are not held during his vacation period. This has been about the busiest holiday any president of this country has ever had. We suppose, though, Mr. Roosevelt has thoroughly enjoyed the importance of the affairs which has fallen to his share. There is only one thing that has acted as a drawback to his pleasure in managing the peace negotiations, and that is that he can not be present at the meetings of the peace envoys and take part in the discussions. Can our readers imagine anything that would please Mr. Roosevelt better than to take part in the discussion over the demands Japan has laid before the commission. He would make some striking arguments and set forth some startling propositions were he allowed to take part in the proceedings.—Wilmington Messenger.

The great Elijah, sometimes vulgarly called Dowie, has decreed in the interest of the anti race-suicide movement that in Zion City each married couple shall once in each year report to him bringing for his inspection a new-born babe. Unless the "Prophet" is a prophet indeed and different from other men, he will not be able to tell one baby from another. What's going to prevent the same baby answering for several couples? Look out for some enterprising Yankee to go over there and hang out this sign: "New-born Babies for Rent." Babies of all sizes, shapes, sexes and colors. Guaranteed to squall continuously so that the Old Man will not be able to see any resemblance in its face to anybody else. Terms reasonable, but cash.—Charlotte Observer.

It is stated that the Chinese ladies have tired of their ideal of tiny feet and will discontinue the custom of deforming their feet by cramping them while girls. American women, however, will go right along compressing their waists out of shape.—Wilmington Star.

The stomach must be kept healthy, pure and sweet or the strength will let down and disease will set up. No appetite, loss of strength; nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, sour rising, rifting, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles that are curable are quickly cured by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

They Appeal to Our Sympathies. The bilious and dyspeptic are constant sufferers and appeal to our sympathies. These tablets invigorate the stomach and liver and strengthen the digestion. They also regulate the bowels. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

Nothing on the Market Equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This fact is well known to druggists everywhere, and nine out of ten will give their customers this preparation when the best is asked for. Mr. Obe Witmer, a prominent druggist of Joplin, Mo., in a circular to his customer, says: "There is nothing on the market in the way of patent medicine which equals Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. We sell and recommend this preparation." For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

A Warning to Mothers.
Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If it does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

THE CAB IN LONDON.
It Had a Hard Time and Many Changes Before It Was a Success.

In the early part of the last century English travelers returning from the cities of Europe felt so disgusted with the stuffy, slow traveling hackney coaches of London that it was urged that an attempt be made to introduce the "cabriolet de place" used in Paris. In 1805 Mr. Rotch, acting with Mr. Bradshaw as joint proprietor, obtained licenses for nine cabriolets. This new vehicle was similar in appearance to the modern gig, carrying only one passenger inside and at the side of the driver. It was a financial failure. But in 1823 fuller licenses were given to twelve new vehicles, the driver having an outside seat and the vehicle carrying two passengers. The name cabriolet was soon reduced to "cab." In 1831 there were only 130 cabs in all London. These were known as the "coffin" cabs. In 1832 was invented the "back door" cab. In 1835 Joseph Aloysius Hansom drove into London on a quaint cab, designed by himself. This was the original "hansom cab."

Its body was almost square, and the wheels were seven feet six inches in height, a trifle taller than the vehicle itself. The driver sat on the roof at the front, with two doors beneath him, one on either side of his feet. This extraordinary cab began to ply for hire, much to the amusement of the drivers of the hackney coaches, "outrigger" and back door cabs. A few months later Hansom, who was financed by the inventor of the back door cab, reduced the size of the wheels of his vehicle and made several other alterations, with the result that it lost its cattle shed appearance.

Hansom's cab was a financial failure, but John Chapman put the driver's seat behind and generally improved the design until it became indistinguishable from the present hansom. His invention was patented in 1836, about the time that the first four wheeler was introduced.

South Sea Offerories.
Odds and ends, and as queer a collection as one could hope to see, are found among the offertory contributions of the natives of Bugotu, in the British Solomon Islands. It is no rare thing there for the minister to draw from the collection box a string of red beads, which, providing it measures the length of the arms outstretched, is coin of the realm equaling a florin, but strings of white beads of the same length are but as the insignificant three penny bit. Other articles among the collection on the last Bible Sunday in connection with the Melanesian Mission church were white armbands, each equal in value to a shilling; pieces of tortoise shell, a bamboo box, such as is used to carry lime for betel chewing; a fine string bag, and a piece of the native cloth in which the Bugotu women wrap their babies to protect them from the Melanesian insects.

A Night Shift Bee.
The old joke about the man who crossed his bees with lightning bugs, that they might see to work at night, appears to have been realized in India, where an unusually large species gather honey only in the nighttime.

There are many night blooming flowers in that country, and this bee apparently finds no difficulty in gathering its store, for it is recorded that the combs frequently reach a height of six feet.

It is not stated that the honey is of food value, and its use for human consumption is to be questioned, since many of the night flowering plants possess strongly narcotic properties.

Wouldn't Use Slang.
"I think it is shameful the way that girl spits slang," said a pretty girl to a friend. "My, if I twirled my talker the way she does my blooming old dad would dust my duds till dust was thicker than flies in fly time!"

"You betcher brass and serve you right!" replied the other young lady. "My parents are sunflowers of the same hue, and if I should make a raw crack in my conversation they would thrash the rosy cussidness out of my angelic anatomy quicker than chained lightning!" And they proceed to suck the juice out of a lemon through a stick of candy.—Kansas City Independent.

Hadn't Heard of That One.
The detective in the automobile stopped at a little repair shop by the roadside.

"Have you seen anything," he asked, "of a short, chunky fellow with a gray suit in a light touring car with no number on it?"

"Yes, sir," said the man behind the leather apron. "He stopped here about two hours ago to get a bolt tightened up."

"Did he give you any idea of where he was going?"

"No, sir. He didn't seem to know himself. He was kind o' tangled up about the roads and wasn't certain which direction he wanted to take."

"In a quandary, was he?"

"Er—no. It didn't look like one. It was one of these dinky little runabouts."—Chicago Tribune.

Her Dilemma.
He—I detest ragtime!
She—I hate it!

"Then why don't you stop playing it long enough for me to tell you that I—why don't you listen?"

"I am listening. Go on."

"But I can't go on—to that ragtime."

"Oh, dear! And this ragtime is the only thing that will keep Aunt Susan out of the room!"

A Frequent Occurrence.
"I've been reading of a man who reached the age of fifty without being able to read. He met a woman and for her sake made a scholar of himself in three years."

"And I know a man who at middle life was a profound scholar. At the age of fifty he met a woman and for her sake made a fool of himself in three days!"—Cleveland Leader.

THE HOURS OF SLEEP.
A Rap at the "Early to Bed and Early to Rise" Adage.

One of the bugaboes of mundane existence is the "early to bed and early to rise" adage which has troubled the consciences of so many millions of people. That tantalizing old jingle about early rising making a man healthy, wealthy and wise is responsible for more misery in the world than all the other good behavior maxims and rules for success put together. But it is gratifying to observe that the present generation is not so complaisant in obeying the rule as the good but misguided men and women of yesterday. The early rising fad is not much in vogue now in the cities, and it will not be many years before the beneficent reform will take root in the country. The cause of this change of course is in the change from early to late hours in thickly settled localities. The urban population occupies its evenings in pleasurable pursuits and retires at an hour that is not in harmony with the advice that was inculcated daily in the minds of our grandmothers and grandfathers. Another great change is the increase of occupations that require night work, for in every large city there are thousands of men and women who work at night and sleep during the day. The theater is also an important factor in keeping people awake until midnight. In olden times there were not so many amusements and distractions in the daily life, and after our grandfathers finished their day's work there was nothing better to do than go to bed. In these days of rushing business and varied pleasures, however, humanity just begins to enjoy itself when "darkness falls from the wing of night," when the pale blue rays of the electric drill holes in the ebon atmosphere, and the noises of the downtown thoroughfares fall on the ear.—Rochester Post-Express.

Knew Solomon All Right.
A little girl who attended regularly a Sunday school where the international lessons were taught went one afternoon to the class of a playmate and heard catechism question for the first time in her life. She was asked several questions and was much mortified not to be able to answer them.

"Who was the first man?" No answer.

"Do you know who Noah was?" A shake of the head, and the question was passed on.

Finally the teacher said, "Did you ever hear about Solomon, dear?"

Here was an acquaintance at last, and the little girl's face broke into smiles.

"Oh, yes," she replied confidently; "I know him all the way through—Solomon Grundy, born on Monday! Want me to say the rest?"—New York Press.

The Regrettable Situation.
"My son," said the old man kindly, "go forth into the world and conquer it. Remember this, Self confidence is to be your sheet anchor."

And the young man went. After three years he returned, seedy and with a look of settled discouragement on his face.

"I am a false alarm," he announced gravely, in a tone of settled conviction.

"No!" roared the father. "What did I tell you about having self confidence?"

"I found," said the young man sadly, "that those who have the least excuse for self confidence have cornered the market in that commodity."—Baltimore American.

Colors For Mourning.
The following are the various colors used for mourning in different countries, together with the reasons given for the selection: Black expresses privation of light, worn throughout Europe and America; yellow, the scar and yellow leaf, Egypt, and Burma. In Brittany widows' caps among the peasants are yellow; purple and violet, to express royalty, mourning for the cardinals and kings of France. Violet is the mourning color of Turkey; white, emblem of "white handed hope," China; deep blue, Bokhara mourning. The significance of this selection is not known. Pale brown, the withered leaves, Persia. Grayish brown, earth, Ethiopia and Abyssinia.—Chicago News.

Battleship and Schooner Collide.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 24.—The little two masted schooner, N. S. Gallun, owned by the National Oil Company of New York and commanded by Capt. John Andrews, and with his son, William Andrews for a crew, was in collision with the battleship Kearsarge this afternoon off Point Judith in a thick fog, and it was only the prompt action of the crew of the battleship that prevented the schooner from going to the bottom. The whale boats were lowered from the Kearsarge and the two men were picked up. The schooner was patched up temporarily by the warship's mechanics and towed to Newport. The Kearsarge was not even scratched.
