ATTACKED WITH HATCHET.

Negro Murderously Assaults Lady Postmaster. The Negro is Lynched.

New Bern, N. C., Aug. 25.—While Mrs. G. T. Eubanks, the postmaster at Clarks, a place eight miles west of this city, was in the office attending to her duties, a negro man, John Moore, entered the office and demanded money. On Mrs. Eubanks refusal to give him any money, the negro struck her in the face and on the head with a hatchet, inflicting wounds which are very dangerous and may prove fatal. Mrs. Eubanks made an outcry; her husband came to her rescue, capturing the negro. He bound his hands with ropes, and shot gun in hand brought the negro to New Bern and turned him over to the sheriff. John Moore is now in jail. It is supposed he comes from Greenville, N. C.

THESEQUEL.

New Bern, N. C., Aug. 28.—Saturday night at one o'clock a mob of about 100 masked men came in town and demanded the jail keys. They overpowered the jailor and took the negro from the prison, proceeding to Neuse river bridge where they hung him to the draw and riddled his body with bullets.

Efforts were made by the officers to prevent the lynching. The naval reserves were called out but too late to prevent the mob from carrying out its purpose.

Mrs. Eubanks is living and may recover, but will be disfigured for life by the blow the negro gave her with the hatchet.

TWO LADIES IN ACCIDENT.

Horse Dodges and Throws Them From Buggy.

Miss Lillian Nobles was coming to town this afternoon, from her home six miles in the country, bringing Mrs. Bettie Harrison who had been visiting her mother. While they were on the dam leading to the river bridge the horse became frightened at a negro girl climbing up the side of the dam. The horse dodged, cutting the wheels on one side of the buggy over the edge of the dam and throwing both the ladies out. Miss Nobles was not injured, but Mrs. Harrison fell on a stake and was painfully hurt. The harness was broken so as to free the horse from the buggy and the animal ran a short distance before stopping.

Homicide at Kinston.

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 28.—A homicide occurred here about midnight on Saturday night. Elbert Albritton, a young negro man, was the victim and Harry Watson, also colored, is in jail charged with committing the crime. There are said to be eye witnesses to the tragedy, but Watson denies that he is guilty. The coroner's jury late Sunday afternoon rendered a verdict that Albritton's death was due to a pistol shot wound. Albritton was found dead on the street Sunday morning.

Popular Man and Popular Shoe

W. O. Shannon, representative of the Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co., of Lynchburg, Va., is in town waiting on his trade. Mr. Shannon is one of the most popular salesmen who comes this way, as is also his famous Dixie Girl shoe for which he takes large orders every time he comes around.

Dr. Nobles Doing Well.

Dr. J. E. Nobles, who went to Norfolk last Friday for treatment in the hospital for appendicitis, was operated upon soon after arrival there and is reported to be getting along well. This is good news to his host of friends at home.

FOUND A BLIND TIGER.

Conducted by a Woman Near the River.

Saturday night there was a difficulty between some of the white women of ill repute inhabiting quarters in the vicinity of the wharf. Annie Smith assaulted and beat Harriet Taylor. This naturally made the Taylor woman mad, and in her talking about the matter she also told that the Smith woman was selling whiskey. Chief of Police Smith went to investigate and found the charge well founded. The Smith woman, finding she was caught, admitted that she had had twenty-four bottles of whiskey. Capt. Smith saw some of the empty bottles and they bore the label of Smith Paul, Washington, N. C. The woman said the whiskey was sent up to her Saturday. She was before Mayor Wooten this morning under two warrants, one for the assault and one for whiskey selling. She was bound over to Superior court in both cases, justified bond in the sum of $200 being required in each. Inability to give these bonds was a passport to jail.

"Pleasant Home Surroundings"

Mr. P. C. Cooke, Asheville, N. C., writing of the Bingham school of Mebane, says,

"We all note such a decided improvement in my brother, Eugene, that I take it my duty to express to you and your associates my sincere gratitude that he has been so carefully trained and well cared for. It was with some reluctance that I entered Eugene at the age of fourteen. However, the just and kind discipline, the pleasant home surroundings and the excellent boarding department prompts me to the opinion that it is better to start a boy with you at an early age. In the regular study hours insisted upon, there is a training which is superb. I am glad to see that much stress is put upon the study of the Bible. We note a decided improvement in his hand writing, and it is my present intention to send Eugene's younger brother with him next session."

Bright Future in Ministry.

Rev. R. R. Fleming, who during past month has been supplying for the Memorial Baptist church, closed his engagement Sunday and leaves today to take a vacation in the western part of the state before returning to Chicago University. His sermons during the month have been excellent and much enjoyed by the congregations. He is preparing himself thoroughly for his high calling and his prospects in the ministry are most promising.

B. Y. P. U. Officers.

On Sunday afternoon the Baptist Young People's Union elected J. W. Bryan as president, to succeed C. E. Lincoln who recently moved away. Mrs. B. E. Parham was elected secretary of the union. Interesting meetings are held each Sunday evening just before the regular hour for preaching.

He Deserves Success.

W. J. Turnage is generous with his bus. He takes the reporter of THE DAILY REFLECTOR from the train any time she wishes to go with him. He is very popular with the traveling men, and always is accommodating to our people when they need conveyances to the trains and steamers.

THE MATTER

The Greenville REFLECTOR turns itself toward Raleigh long enough to enquire:

"Say! if the jail is too confining for Mr. Rogers and Mr. Sorrell, and that their health has been very much impaired by the confinement, what's the matter of sending them to the roads? This would afford plenty of fresh air and exercise for them."

We beg to inform our friend that Wake county officials are in the habit of obeying the orders of the court, which in this instance was presided over by Judge W. R. Allen, and who expressly declared from the bench that he would not send these men to the roads.

And that's what's the matter "of" it—Raleigh Post.

Then it must have been the idea of the judge that they should stay where they are. So let the noise over it stop.

From the way the papers keep talking there must have been some bad eggs in that Charlotte encampment.

Not a cent, says the czar, while Japan says a billion. Plenty of margin between the two figures for a compromise.

The number of crimes committed in the last few days creates the impression that his Satonic Majesty has turned loose again.

The president's strenuousness is manifest in his persistent efforts to bring about peace, even in the face of gloomy prospects of success.

The dispatches say a schooner struck a bar in Massachusetts and went down. How about when a man strikes a bar and swallows a schooner? He is likely to go down, too.

It will give the president's feelings a jar for all his efforts in the peace matter to fail. The czar should have been more considerate, especially after the exuberant thanks he expressed when the president tendered his services.

The two revenue officers who some time ago made a vicious assault upon Editor R. A. Deal, of the Wilkesboro Chronicle, have been convicted in the Superior court. One of them got a sentence of six months in jail and the other three months.

Greenville should not stay behind the other progressive towns of the state. Lets get together and have a Pitt county home coming week. It will give old friends long separated a good opportunity for mingling together, besides be a big time for the town and county. The business men would do well to make a move in this direction.

Asheville is realizing the benefits that come from a city judiciously advertising its advantages and attractiveness. A recent census of the visitors shows that the city was entertaining 4,770 guests, who, at a low estimate, were turning loose $10,000 a day in the city. When you have a good thing it pays to let the balance of the world know it. Even a small town can profit by the example of Asheville. Such benefits come only through co operation and talking up the advantages of a town for all they are worth.

Those two revenue doodlers who made the assault on Editor Deal will have time to reflect on it in jail.

In the $20,000 damage suit tried at Greensboro last week—of Osborn against Leach and the Raleigh News and Observer, the jury returned a verdict for $4,000 against the two defendants. The court thought the verdict excessive and offered to reduce it fifty per cent. if the defendants would agree to that basis. This the defendants declined, arguing that the evidence showed that the plaintiff had suffered no damage whatever, and the case went to the Supreme court on appeal. On the first ballot half of the jurors voted for a verdict of one penny and costs.

Solicitors that prosecute and jurors that convict should keep their names off of petitions for executive clemency.—Durham Herald.

A first class man cannot afford to go to Congress for $5,000 a year. He is not willing to surrender freedom and affluence at home to take poverty and slavery at Washington. He prefers to make Senators than to being a Senator himself.—Louisville Courier Journal

It is to be considered that Japan is today in a position where she can enforce absolutely every demand she makes of Russia. Russia is not asked to give up anything she has possession of, save the indemnity. An indemnity is not more costly than war, and it is all that Russia has any choice about.—Louisville Post

In view of the dispensary agitation in South Carolina, The Charleston News and Courier has sent to Georgia for ammunition. It is found that "prohibition prohibits" in 103 counties in that state. Local option and county dispensaries without state control appear to solve the liquor question in Georgia.—Charlotte Chronicle

A reward of $50 has been offered by the governor for the arrest of a murderer in Pitt county. This looks like a small reward for the apprehension of a murderer, and yet it might be just as well not to offer any at all. If arrested and tried it is doubtful if the punishment would be any greater in proportion than the reward offered. Human life is mighty cheap in North Carolina.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

The Naval Intelligence Bureau at Washington has issued a revised table showing the naval strength of the seven chief nations of the world. The United States in total tonnage fourth, being outranked by Great Britain, France and Germany. This country stands fifth in the number of battleships, seventh in armored cruisers, fourth in cruisers above 6,000 tons, seventh in torpedo boats, sixth in torpedo boat destroyers and fifth in submarines. If any of us tremble over these standings below the top we may console ourselves, however, with the reflection that we stand first in marksmanship and quality of the men behind the guns and in two or three years we shall have doubled our number of battleships and have multiplied our big armored cruisers by six.—Elmira (N. Y.) Gazette.

Sick headache results from a disordered condition of the stomach and is quickly cured by Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

They Appeal to Our Sympathies.
The bilious and dyspeptic are constant sufferers and appeal to our sympathies. There is not one of them, however, who may not be brought back to health and happiness by the use of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. These tablets invigorate the stomach and liver and strengthen the digestion. They also regulate the bowels. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

Nothing on the Market Equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This fact is well known to druggists everywhere, and nine out of ten will give their customers this preparation when the best is asked for. Mr. Obe Witmer, a prominent druggist of Joplin, Mo., in a circular to his customer, says: "There is nothing on the market in the way of patent medicine which equals Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. We sell a dozen and recommend this preparation." For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

A Warning to Mothers.
Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If it does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

ODD LITTLE MYSTERIES.

Queer Happenings Which Seem to Be Without Explanations.

Life is full of little inexplicable mysteries, says Pearson's Weekly. They occur every day and are passed by as being merely ordinary. Whenever the conversation turns on telepathy or the occult sciences there is always some one with a story of the mysterious to tell.

About ten years ago on a large open tract of land in the north of London (now fortunately covered with red brick villas) a number of boys were playing cricket. Suddenly there came a loud humming noise, like the combined droning of thousands of bees, and a great stone larger than a man's fist whizzed across the center of the pitch and imbedded itself in a bank. Almost immediately it was followed by another and then a third.

Although they waited in hiding for some time, there was no repetition of the mysterious missiles. The question then arose, Where could they have come from? The nearest house was quite 400 yards away, and a machine to have sent these large stones whirling at such a frightful pace over this distance would be rather an extraordinary article of furniture for a suburban villa. So the cause of this remarkable occurrence yet requires explanation.

In the same district a few years back four young men were seated in a room playing whist. Suddenly, just after midnight, the door, which had been latched, opened slowly until it had reached its fullest limit. In surprise the players looked up, but no one was standing in the doorway. Then, ere one of them could move, the door slowly closed itself again. Immediately one of the young men jumped up, pulled the door open and stared up and down the hall, but there was absolute silence and no one about.

Some years ago a gentleman was seated at a table busily writing. At the moment he was alone in the house. Suddenly he heard the patter of feet outside the door and then the sound of a dog barking. Going outside the room, he saw to his surprise that his dog had found its way from the garden into the house and for some reason was violently barking.

Crash! The room behind him was suddenly in darkness, and a smell of escaping gas pervaded the air. Directly he understood what had happened and hurried to seal up the broken pipe of the chandelier. The latter was lying in a thousand pieces on the floor.

But for the mysterious instinct that caused the dog to enter the house and attract this gentleman's attention he would probably have been killed by the falling chandelier, for he had been sitting directly beneath it.

Fully Explained.

"You say, madam," said a lawyer to a woman in the witness box, "that the defendant is a sort of relation of yours. Will you please explain what you mean by that—just how you are related to the defendant?"

"Well, it's just like this. His first wife's cousin and my second husband's first wife's aunt married brothers named Jones, and they were own cousins to my mother's own aunt. Then, again, his grandfather on his mother's side and my grandmother on my mother's side were second cousins, and his stepmother married my husband's stepfather after his father and my mother died, and his brother Joe and my husband's brother Henry married twin sisters. I ain't never figured out just how close related we are, but I've always looked on 'im as a sort of cousin."

To Ward Off Stings.

Hornets and bees are not so apt to sting a person if he keeps absolutely still, but this is not necessarily due to the fact that they do not see readily, but simply that they do not recognize an enemy in a perfectly stationary body. The accumulated intelligence of generations has shown them that still objects, like posts, stones or trees, are not enemies and that disturbance of their nests is always occasioned by objects having power of motion. It thus follows that if a hornet's nest be disturbed or if a wild bee's nest be agitated, danger of stinging is much less if the person keeps perfectly still.—St. Nicholas.

Aged, but Not Respected.

There used to live in Lynn, Mass., a well known wit named Darius Barry. One day he was in a grocery store, where they had recently purchased a new lot of butter. The grocer said, "Darius, take home some of that butter and see how you like it," which he did. A few days afterward he was in the store again, when the grocer said, "Darius, how did you like that butter?" "Well," said Darius, "when I'm as old as that butter I hope I shall be as strong."

Enforced Virtue.

"It's no use, Tommy," said Bob, after trying to open the pantry door. "Not one of the keys will fit, and so we don't get any of those preserves."

"Oh, yes, we will," said wise Tommy. "We will wait until mamma comes home and ask her for some for being such good boys."

BRUSSELS AND TAPESTRY.

The Difference Between These Two Carpets Explained.

By placing a brussels and tapestry carpet side by side a clearness and sharpness are noticed about the brussels carpet which are absent from the tapestry. In the latter there is a mistiness about the colors, and the pattern lacks that sharpness and delicacy which characterize the former. This is due to the process of manufacture. A brussels is a yarn dyed, and a tapestry may be described as a printed fabric, but the printing is done upon the yarn before the process of weaving.

The whole method of manufacture is most ingenious. In the making of a five frame brussels no fewer than 1,280 ends of face yarns are required for the weaving of one piece of standard quality, each frame consisting of 256 bobbins, and 256 ends only can come to the face at each pick of the pattern. Therefore 1,024 ends of yarn are hidden in the body of the fabric. There are many qualities of tapestry, but in the production of the standard quality only 216 ends of face yarn are required instead of 1,280, which shows at once that the brussels carpet has the great advantage of being thicker, softer and altogether a more durable cloth apart from other advantages which it possesses. There is a limitation in the number of colors used in a brussels. In tapestry there is no limit. In the brussels the whole of the colors used show a more or less striped appearance at the back of the fabric.

In a tapestry they do not show at the back at all. This fact is made use of by householders in purchasing carpets, this being about the only way the average person can tell the difference between them. In order to pass off tapestry as brussels some ingenious makers have resorted to the striping in a regular manner of the backs of the former. The striping effect in the latter is broken and irregular. A casual observation of the clearly defined character of a brussels pattern should enable a buyer to distinguish between the two fabrics.

The Uses of Evil.

"Say, ma wants two pounds of butter. She wants it just exactly like what you sent the day before yesterday, an' if it ain't that same kind she don't want any at all."

The small boy had bolted in, discharging himself abruptly of his errand, pausing now only for breath. But the grocer, taking down the order of a new customer, did not mind the interruption.

"You see, madam, how it goes," he said pleasantly. "My customers are particular, and it is my pleasure to get them exactly what they demand. Yes, sonny," blandly to the boy, "you shall be attended to at once."

"Ma says don't forget to send the same kind of butter," reiterated the boy. "Some of pop's relations has just come to visit, and ma says if they stay long it won't be her fault."

Looking Backward.

The superstition of the ill luck of looking backward or returning is a very ancient one, originating doubtless from Lot's wife, who "looked back from behind him" when he was led by an angel outside the doomed city of the plain. In Roberts' "Oriental Illustrations" it is stated to be "considered exceedingly unfortunate in Hindustan for men or women to look back when they leave their houses. Accordingly if a man goes out and leaves something behind him which his wife knows he will want she does not call him to turn or look back, but takes or sends it after him, and if some great emergency obliges him to look back he will not then proceed on the business he was about to transact."

Leisurely Perusal.

Uncle Josh—Land sakes! How did you ever come to buy that encyclopedia?

Uncle Silas—Well, I dunno exactly. A book agent came along an' I sorter—well, I bought it.

Uncle Josh—It'll take you all your life to read through it.

Uncle Silas—Well, yer don't have to do it all at once. You kin read it like you pay for it—in installments.—Brooklyn Life.

His Degree.

"Is young Binkley going to take a degree when he leaves college?" asked the man with the eagle eye.

"Yes, I hear they're going to give him the thirty-second degree, Fahrenheit," said the man with the incandescent whiskers.

"Thirty-second degree, Fahrenheit? I never heard of that honor!"

"Yes, he played freeze out so much that he failed in his exams."—Chicago Tribune.

The Time For Romance.

Bridegroom—Well, that umbrella is gone, and I'll have to get another one. We'll step into Biggs, Store & Co's.

Bride—Horror! No! Go to some little shop on a side street.

"Dear me! Why?"

"My darling, let's not spend our honeymoon waiting for change."—New York Weekly.
