The hostess in her charming and pleasing manner met all the guests in the front hall and ushered them in the parlor where many beautiful vocal and instrumental selections were rendered. Must Keep of the Track.

Local authorities of the South ern Railway are taking effective steps toward enforcing the ordinance which punishes unauthorized people for walking on or near the railway tracks and are having warrants served on a number of men who persist in using the tracks as a public highway. It is estimated that a thousand people traverses the tracks between the depot and coal chute daily, and the presence of so many trespassers is naturally confusing to engineers and trainmen, who have to keep a constant outlook in order to avoid accidents. Two ten dollar fines were assessed by Mayor Murphy last Friday in cases of this kind.—Greensboro Patriot.

AYDEN ITEMS.

AYDEN, N. C., Sept. 1, 1905.

An Honest Man—A stranger some five years ago, passing through this country, found himself in straits and applied to Mr. Azor McLawhorn for a five dollar loan which was very generously granted. Since that time Mr. McLawhorn had heard nothing from his stranger friend. When the train came in Monday evening a gentleman alighted and made inquiries for Mr. McLawhorn, being told he lived several miles in the country he at once repaired to the livery stables, secured team and driver and to the home of his benefactor he went and there he paid the loan in full with interest in ample measure. Who says all honest men are dead?

The Winterville correspondent seems to take exception at the fact that we published the item concerning two brothers in black having had a difficulty in that town. We intended no reflection and regret our article being so construed, therefore tender an apology and feel sure we are already forgiven. When the lovely city of Winterville shall have extended its corporate limits five miles further out and honored our little hamlet as one of its suburban connects, certainly that occasion will be to us a delightful incident and until then if our immediate vicinity shall be so blessed as to add a few more hundred to its already increasing population we will rest content to allow New York and Jacksonville to back in the sunlight of their own greatness.

A Bold Robbery—Sometime Wednesday night a robber, or robbers, broke into the window at the rear end of the store of J. W. Moore and stole 12 or 15 watches, 2 pistols, a quantity of valuable jewelry and right much other merchandise. Mr. Moore has not yet been able to ascertain the extent of his loss, but it is no small amount. This is the first robbery that has occurred here in several years and our people are right much wrought up over the occurrence. There is no clue.

Miss Nannie Frizzelle and a lady friend came on the train Monday and left at once for Ormondsville.

Why does Barnes Sumrell smile so long and loud? Answer. They tell us it is a beautiful young lady at his home.

Right many colored people went to Greenville from here yesterday in regard to the adjustment of damages incurred in the recent wreck at Bruce.

B. E. Willoughby, of Beaver Dam, has been visiting O. L. Tyson.

Mrs. M. C. Holton came on yesterday's train from a visit to relatives in New Bern.

Mrs. Carney, the mother of our townsman, T. B. Carney, died at the residence of her son here Thursday at 5 o'clock a. m. and was buried in the afternoon in the cemetery. Mrs. Carney was a very old lady and died from paralysis and old age. She was highly esteemed and will be greatly missed by those who knew her. We extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

Eleven bales of new cotton were sold on this market yesterday at 10 1/2 and 10 1/4.

We will bet our best looks THE REFLECTOR has the youngest and prettiest reporter in the state.

Mount Vesuvius is doing some spouting, too, along about peace times

Japan's position reminds us of the fellow who sues the company—ask for a big thing but get what you can.

Notwithstanding the outcome of the peace negotiations, Russia can never make the world believe Japan did not whip her.

Right at the beginning of the season they are trying to scare people by saying oysters take typhoid fever around with them in their shells.

The Durham Sun is being congratulated upon beginning a new volume. The Sun is bright enough every day to deserve congratulations Coincident with the peace agreement was the earthquake shock at Portsmouth, N. H. There were other places also at which the announcement caused a jolt.

The Western Union Telegraph Co's messenger boys, at Charlotte, have gone out on a strike for higher wages. The boys are early taking on to the ways of grown folks.

They never get too old to marry, as is evidenced by a recent wedding in Wilkes county in which the groom is 80 years old and the bride 75. Neither of them ever married before and their relatives say they ran away this time.

Greenville had a bale of cotton of the new crop on August 24th, and the Scotland Neck Commonwealth says it was the first new bale reported anywhere in the state. We do not recall seeing mention of another bale as early as that.

Booker Washington's bump of pride must have felt jolted when a lady in a Fairfield, Iowa, hotel mis took him for a porter and asked him to bring her a pitcher of water. But the lady put on the healing balm by profuse apology when the error was called to her attention.

Petitions are being circulated in Durham asking the aldermen to call an election on the whiskey question. Durham already has prohibition but some of the people want a dispensary and the saloon element is helping the contention with the hope that they may slip in on a three cornered fight.

The Terms.

We find a very intelligent and concise statement in The Raleigh Post of the peace terms between Russia and Japan, which we transfer to our columns for the enlightenment of our readers. Summed up, the terms are as follows:

1. Russia recognizes Japanese preponderance in Korea, with the right to preserve order and to give military and financial advice to the Emperor; but to maintain the open door policy and to observe the territorial integrity of Korea.
2. Mutual evacuation of Manchuria.
3. Japan is to restore Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria, including civil administration.
4. Mutual obligations to respect in the future the territorial integrity and "administrative entity" of China and Manchuria, with equal opportunity. The open door for the industry and commerce of all nations.

5. Russia to retain the northern part of Sakhalin Island and Japan the southern part.

6. Russia surrenders to Japan its lease of the Liatung peninsula, including Port Arthur, Dalny and Blonde and Elliott Islands.

7. The surrender to China of the railway from Harbin to Port Arthur and Niuchwang, with the surrender of all privileges obtained under the concession of 1898.

8. Limiting the concession of 1896, under which the cut off road through northern Manchuria was built to connect the Trans Siberian and Ussuri line, but providing for the ownership and operation of the road by the Chinese Eastern; and providing further for the substitution in the future of Chinese imperial police for Russian railway guards.

9. Russia to pay about $350,000,000 for feeding Russian prisoners of war and for other charges, which debts can be liquidated without loss of national honor or self-respect.

10. Special fishery rights to citizens of Japan in waters of the Russian littoral from Vladivostok to the Bering Sea.

In addition, The Post thinks that many other details will appear in the treaty that will show more clearly the victory is Japan's from beginning to end. Our own idea of it is that the Bear will hereafter walk like a man with a guardian over him.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The South's Exports.

The South last year exported 41 per cent. of the value of the exports of the whole country—a total of $614,000,000.

Of course, the greater single commodity was cotton. Cotton to the value of $379,965,014 was sent to other countries; cotton seed oil, $15,125,082; cotton seed cake and meal, $13,897,178; naval stores, $16,106,643; phosphates, $6,086,274. Besides this, manufactured cotton goods, timber, tobacco, petroleum, grain, coal, cattle, iron and steel, etc., were exported.

The South is coming into her own industrially. She is developing her own resources. And the immediate future will see still further increases of such an astonishing nature that the world will be compelled to "sit up and take notice." It should not be long, at this rate, before quite half of the whole country's exports will be sent out from the South.—Atlanta Journal.

We have heard much about a reorganization of the Republican party in this state. If it proposes to reorganize by putting Mr. Marion Butler in a place of authority its last condition will be worse than its first. Winston Sentinel.

We want to suggest to the tobacco farmers that they make a great mistake by allowing the stalks to remain after the leaves are taken from them. They set out new leaves and sprouts that take as much from the land as an ordinary crop takes from it and for which they get no return to say nothing of the worms and insects which are harbored. The best thing to do is after the leaves are taken off and cured remove the stalks or plow them under and sow the land in field peas. In this way the land will be greatly improved and a good hay crop harvested.—Washington Progress.

Nothing on the Market Equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This fact is well known to druggists everywhere, and nine out of ten will give their customers this preparation when the best is asked for. Mr. Obe Witmer, a prominent druggist of Joplin, Mo., in a circular to his customer, says: "There is nothing on the market in the way of patent medicine which equals Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. We sell a d recommend this preparation." For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

A Warning to Mothers.

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If it does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by Jno. L. Wooten, druggist.

CHINESE NEW YEAR'S.

In San Francisco It is Rather an Important Event.

Chinese New Year's in San Francisco is almost as important an event as the regular Christmas New Year's. The Chinese in San Francisco form the largest colony of their people in any Christian city. Their New Year's comes on variable dates between the middle of January and February.

On that date the citizens of Chinatown in San Francisco celebrate joyously and have regular white men's parades. The narrow streets are thronged with whites and Mongolians, the latter dressed in their best silks.

It is part of the Chinaman's religion to pay up all debts on New Year's day and square his accounts. Not only that, but it is incumbent upon him to be as generous as his means will allow. Were he to pass a beggar without giving something he would find no peace for his conscience until the following New Year's day gave him the opportunity to atone.

The white beggars, organ grinders and loafers of San Francisco have learned this, and they observe the day more religiously than they observe the Christian holidays. On the morning of the great Chinese festival they go down to Chinatown and invade the narrow streets in battalions, wearing their most doleful expressions.

The Chinese, passing up and down the sidewalks, throw them coins, sometimes by handfuls. In California, it must be remembered, there are no pennies.

Sometimes a big merchant, a "first chop" man, comes along and gives to each mendicant he meets no less than half a dollar. Then there is a scramble of the lame and the blind, some of them collecting half a dozen times.—Exchange.

A Preferred Creditor.

A member of the commercial swindling fraternity lately called his creditors together and offered them in settlement his note for 2 shillings in the pound on their claims, payable in four months. His brother, one of the largest creditors, rather kicked, but the debtor took him aside and said:

"Do not make any objections, and I will make you a preferred creditor."

So the proposal was accepted by all.

Presently the preferred brother said:

"Well, I should like what is coming to me."

"Oh," was the reply, "you won't get anything; they won't any of them get anything."

"But I thought I was a preferred creditor?"

"So you are. These notes will not be paid when they come due, but it will take them four months to find out that they are not going to get anything. But you know it now. You see, you are preferred."—London Standard.

Tribute to a Mother.

Sir John Blundell Maple was never tired of telling his friends how much he owed to his mother. He used to say, "She was the cleverest woman I ever knew," and he often related the advice she gave him when as a boy he thought of being called to the bar. "If ever you were to become lord chancellor," she said, "you would have reached the end of all things in that profession. You would have such and such an income and such and such a position, which are already known to you. But if you go into business there is no limit to your opportunities." The boy chose his father's business and, as he often said, never forgot his mother's advice.—Exchange.

Badly Written Letters.

Comedies without number have resulted from badly written letters. Charles Kingsley one night when his wife was desperately ill received a note from Dean Stanley. He pored long over it. "I have every reason to believe," he said, "that it is a very kind letter of sympathy from Stanley. I am sure it is. Yet the only two words that I can even guess are 'heartless devil.'"

Lord Curzon once had a lucky escape because of his wretched writing. Sending off two letters, he put them into wrong envelopes and forwarded to a relative one which contained uncomplimentary references to the recipient. He received in reply a note saying, "Can't read a word of your four pages, but guess you want some money, you young rascal." And in the letter was a bank note.

A Gymnastic Marvel.

There are optical illusions of all varieties. Some are due to mirage, and some are not. A little boy who was drilling a squad of classmates at recess found difficulty in getting them to march properly.

"Lift your right leg!" he called.

"Lift your right leg!"

Things went very well until Patsy Hennessy forgot and lifted his left leg, which happened to be clad in trousers like those of the boy next him, who was obedient in holding up his right leg.

The drillmaster stopped aghast.

"You can't do that, Pat Hennessy!" he called. "You're holding up both legs!"

THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA.

Sailors Say There's No Luck in a Ship That Has Seen It.

New islands at times rise up from and fall back into the ocean. An island suddenly came to light off the coast of Sicily, remained for two months and as quickly disappeared. Sabrina, near the Azores, retired from public life before it was fairly charted. The gulf of Mexico has witnessed the advent and subsidence of small islands. These upheavals of the bed of the ocean suggest all sorts of mysteries connected with the unknown depths. An uncanny experience is related in the Fall Mail Magazine:

Our ship was out twenty-three days from Manila to the Sandwich Islands. It was a silent, dead black night. The lead showed deep sea. Suddenly we felt as if we had grounded. The mate suggested a sunken wreck, but the skipper stuck to the theory of earthquake. Subsequent events showed that he was right.

Daybreak revealed a low and misty sky. We lay as if becalmed in the midst of an oily sea, strangely discolored in patches. Suddenly the water trembled. I can use no other word. The ship rolled, and in the distance rose a huge, balloon shaped mass of vapor, steam or smoke. There was not the slightest sound, but a long line of chafing water stretched across the streaky calmness. Then the vapor settled over all, and we could hear but not see the seething and pouring water all about us. The captain ordered a bucketful to be drawn up. It was hot and smelled like gas works.

"H'm!" remarked the skipper as he sniffed it. "They're poking up a new continent. I wish we were out of it."

The air grew more oppressive every moment. The vessel gave a gentle side roll, and word was passed that we were aground. Over went the lead and came up covered with blue, oozy mud. We were wallowing in sludge, the darkness was pallid and the atmosphere suffocatingly close. Then the air was rent with reports awful to hear in that blackness. There were three of the deafening, roaring blasts, and all was again still.

When the light came, red and unnatural, a strange sight met our eyes. It was as if the bottom of the Pacific was laid bare. We were helpless in a sea of thick mud. The sulphur fumes were choking, and we had to take refuge below. Hour after hour we gasped, facing the probability of death by suffocation. Suddenly we felt that we were afloat. Whatever the bank of mud that held us, it had disappeared, and after a time we made our way out of the greasy spot.

When we reached Honolulu the crew deserted. "There's no luck in a ship that has seen the bottom of the sea," they said.

A Boy Bee Eater.

A boy bee eater is described by the Rev. Gilbert White as having lived in the neighborhood of Selborne. He was weakminded and is said to have passed the winter dozing by the fire in a half torpid state, but when the bees and wasps reappeared he also woke to active life and hunted them constantly for food. He had no fear of their stings, which, however, he extracted before sucking their bodies, as was his custom. He made himself a nuisance to the beekeepers about by robbing the hives of their inmates, even sometimes overturning the skeps for the sake of getting at the bees. Mr. White pictures this human bee eater as "lean, sallow and of cadaverous complexion," and says that he died before attaining manhood. His morbid appetite was therefore undoubtedly the outcome of disease.—London Globe.

A Queer Blunder.

Many queer blunders are attributed to Marshal MacMahon of France. It is related of him that once when he visited the military school of St. Cyr he encountered a negro cadet. The color of his skin at once attracted the worthy marshal, who said, with some surprise: "Vous etes negre, n'est-ce pas?" "Oui, M. le Marechal." "Ah, tres bien; continuez de l'etre." This might be rendered: "Ah, I see you are a negro." "Yes, M. le Marechal." Here the marshal paused. Not knowing what to say, he added: "Ah, that is well. Continue to be so!"

The Limit of Satisfaction.

There was an expression of extreme satisfaction on Miss Harbison's face as she was exhibiting her new gown to a number of friends the other day.

"My dear, you seem supremely satisfied with your dress," remarked some one.

"Well, why shouldn't I be?" replied Miss H. "It has been approved by the man I like best and condemned by the woman I hate most."

Ireland's Salt Mines.

Within a radius of less than three miles from Carrickfergus, Ireland, there are no fewer than twelve salt mines, although only about half of these are in operation at the present time. The rock which started at this point has been traced under the bed of the sea across the English channel, past the Isle of Man, until it ended in the salt cliffs of north Wales.

Let Common Sense Decide

Do you honestly believe, that coffee sold loose (in bulk), exposed to dust, germs and insects, passing through many hands (some of them not over-clean), "blended," you don't know how or by whom, is fit for your use? Of course you don't. But is another story. The green berries, selected by keen judges at the plantation, are skillfully roasted at our factories, where precautions you would not dream of are taken to secure perfect cleanliness, flavor, strength and uniformity.

From the time the coffee leaves the factory no hand touches it till it is opened in your kitchen.

This has made LION COFFEE the LEADER of ALL PACKAGE COFFEES.

Millions of American Homes welcome LION COFFEE daily. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity. "Quality survives all opposition."

(Sold only in 1 lb. packages. Lion-head on every package.) (Save your Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)
