GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1905.

"Time And Tide Wait For No Man."

The flight of days, the whirling wheel of time will soon bring to us those cold brisk frosty penetrating days, "WINTER."

We have not allowed the wheels of progress to be clogged for one minute during the warm sultry days, "SUMMER," in our preparation for the days to come.

"IN A NUTSHELL WE ARE READY."

IN MEMORIAM.

The Patient Circle of the King's Daughters met in special session Tuesday evening, September 19th, at the residence of Mrs. E. A. Moye, Sr., whose death has caused deep sorrow in our midst.

Since the organization of the circle Mrs. Moye has ever been one of its most useful, efficient and generous members; answering with heart and soul into every movement for the betterment of the needy within her reach. In the meetings of the state conventions Mrs. Moye has taken active part in the deliberations of that larger body and her name has figured honorably on its rolls. The circle as a whole tender expressions of its deepest sympathy to the bereaved family where her loss will indeed be irreplaceable.

RETIRED IN GOOD ORDER

But it took twenty-five and costs, because there is lots of business being done at this time of court, but now and then it is speeded with a bit of good humor enough to make it interesting for the spectators.

It was Tuesday that a gentleman of color was upon the charge of carrying concealed weapons. The case had but one witness—the police officer of Grifton who started the case and saw him drop a pistol in front of the town—and rest the case.

Knowing that the affair took place last Christmas eve two years ago, counsel for the defense brought forward no testimony but arose to plead statute of limitation.

"When was this indictment begun, Mr. Solicitor?" was asked the prosecuting officer.

"Presentment was made at September term, 1904," was the prompt answer.

"That settles your client," remarked the court, addressing defendant's counsel. Then, after producing a character witness, the attorney offered some extenuation, stating that it was Christmas and his client was merely feeling the spirit of the occasion.

"But don't like the way such fellows fill up on spirits and try to take possession of these small towns," remarked the court.

"Beg your Honor's pardon, he was not taking possession but was evading," rejoined the counsel.

"Then he should have retired in good order," replied the court, "and I think it would be in order to let him try road service for 30 days."

"I hope your Honor will not give him so severe a penalty for his first offense," pleaded the counsel.

"I will let him pay a fine of $25 and see if he can retire in good order under that," was the judgment of the court.

GAVE THEM A SCARE.

Too Much Crowding Around the Bar and Jury Box.

Yes, sir, it is warm in the court room, and Judge Jones is making it still hotter for those fellows who get $20 and costs or 90 days on the roads. And he made a quartette of darkies think they were in a sweat box for a few minutes Tuesday.

There are times, especially if the court room is anything like full, that many crowd up in the case aisle and hang on the bar and jury box railing and the officers frequently have to order them back to seats.

"Bring them right this way!" Judge Jones commanded as he saw Sheriff Tucker with the bunch rounded up and forcing them through the entrance of the bar.

"What have those men been doing, sheriff?" asked the judge when the officer had lined them up before the bench.

"Your Honor, they were blocking the aisle and I told them several times to move back and they would not do so."

Turning to the quaking sons of Ham his Honor asked "Who do you think is running this court—the sheriff, the judge or yourself?" and with one accord they all began to make excuse.

The judge directed that the men be let go this time, but instructed the sheriff to bring up the next one who blocked the aisle or failed to obey orders, and he would let the offender try a while in jail. The lesson was a good one, and it goes without saying that there was no more trouble afterward.

Almost daily shipments are made of the beautiful buggies of the Hunsticker Carriage Company. Among the many orders received last night we noticed one from Siler City. These buggies have made quite a reputation in the rocks and hills of Chatham county but their excellent material and workmanship entitle them to this.

The very large music class made it necessary for the school to buy another piano and they very wisely selected a Stieff of that genial salesman, G. G. Fineman. The school is fortunate in securing so good a piano, but no pains are spared to furnish the best possible advantages and that accounts for the very large and growing patronage.

Mrs. C. H. Langston and daughter, Eva, were pleasant callers in town yesterday.

Mr. McNair of Tarboro, a special agent for Recysters Guano Co. of Norfolk, was here yesterday. This is one of the largest and best guano companies in the South and we are glad that Mr. McNair has arranged with our merchants to handle his goods the coming season.

Frank Carr, of Willow Green, was in town Monday and put his son, Sidney, in Winterville High school.

Monday evening Charlie Moye, a student of Winterville High school, while catching ball behind the bat was struck over the eye by a foul ball. We hope he is not seriously hurt.

Miss Bertha Kittrell was in town yesterday.

It seems that Winterville is to have a new bank as a new safe was purchased yesterday from the Barbers Safe Lock Co., Richmond, Va.

Our streets are alive with wagons and carts hauling cotton to the gin and lead to the mill. This fall has made an unusual reputation and is reaping its just reward.

S. C. Whichard, from near Stokes, spent Monday here and placed his daughter, Miss Rosa, in Winterville High school.

Mrs. Chas. Kittrell, after spending several days in Grifton, returned home today.

Miss Myrtle Wilson's Funeral.

The funeral of Miss Myrtle Wilson, who died Tuesday morning, was held this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The services were held in the Baptist church, conducted by Rev. A. T. King of Richmond, assisted by Rev. J. E. Ayscue, pastor of the church. The pall bearers were T. M. Hooker, C. W. Harvey, J. D. Garden, Wiley Brown, W. H. Ragsdale, W. L. Brown, J. L. Carper and D. L. James.

There were a large number of exquisite floral tributes that attested the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Greensboro Life Insurance Company, Greensboro, N. C.

Gentlemen:

Enclosed you will find a remittance for the full annual premium on my policy in your company, and with it I wish to send my congratulations upon the extraordinary record of the company during the first month of its life.

I have taken out this policy for three reasons:

1. Because I believe in the substantial business men who are backing the company.
2. Because I like the form of the Income Indemnity Policy.
3. Because I desire very much to encourage, so far as I am able to do so, the building up of strong insurance companies in North Carolina, in order that we may send less of our capital through insurance companies to build up other sections of the country instead of our own.

Very truly yours,
CHARLES D. McIVER.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 20, 1905.

The sweet potato crop must be small in this section if the price is any indication.

It is about time that Col. Fairbrother was issuing another edition of the "Daily Tar Heel."

There are plenty of men who will refuse work, but take a delight in "working" their friends.

It looks like now that Judge Parker's charge last fall that the great trusts were in league with the Republicans is so.

Miss Ida Tarbell has been accused of knowing her own business. Mr. Rockefeller would be a happier man if she didn't also know his.

Forty-two years today the battle of Chicamauga was fought. The battle was begun on the 19th of September, 1863, and ended on the 20th.

It is said that Depew will not make any speeches in Ohio this fall. Undoubtedly those Ohio Republicans think they are loaded heavy enough without hitching on to Depew.

With the cotton crop estimated at 9,976,333 bales and the growing demand for cotton—greater than ever before—the price is bound to advance to 11 and 12 cents. Remember this Mr. Farmer.

The fact that Marshal Field paid the largest tax is not conclusive evidence that he is the richest man in America. It is only evidence that he came nearer telling the truth about his earthly possessions.

Recent developments in the New York insurance investigations are a complete vindication of the charge made by Judge Parker near the close of the last campaign that great trusts and corporations were contributing large sums to secure the election of Roosevelt.

The early opening of cotton is most significant. The government cotton report shows that the ginning receipts are much larger now than they were at the same time last year. This is not an indication that the yield is larger, for everybody knows that the yield is a great deal lighter than last year. In this section we learn that about three fourths of the crop is open. This early opening and the large ginning receipts may tend to keep down the price of cotton. Therefore, in our opinion, it will be wise to hold.

Kansas Grief.

The Fulton (Kan.) Gazette reports that a minister of that town was moved by the grief of a husband whose wife was to be buried and sought to commiserate him in the following manner: "My brother, I know that this is a great grief that has overtaken you, and though you are compelled to mourn the loss of this one who was your companion and partner in life I would console you with the assurance that there is another who sympathizes with you and seek to embrace you in the arms of unfeeling love." To this the bereaved man replied by asking, as he gazed through tears into the minister's face, "What's her name?"

H. A. Gray, J. B. Whitehurst and W. J. Jenkins made business calls in Greenville Monday.

H. S. Congleton, of Whichard, was a caller in our town Monday.

Very few from this section attended the yearly meeting at Hickory Grove Sunday. The neighborhood prepared for a large crowd. The rain disappointed us but the dinner could not be excelled. Greenville sent out several of her most clever and handsome gentlemen.

ORMONDSVILLE ITEMS

ORMONDSVILLE, Sept 19, 1905.

Miss Cora Grimsley, of Lizzie, entered school here this week.

H. C. Ormond and Raymond Turnage, of Ayden, came over Sunday.

Elias Turnage lost a very nice farm horse Tuesday morning.

Miss Margaret Ormond is visiting friends in Greenville this week.

Eld. R. I. Corbett baptized twelve candidates at Ballard's Bridge Sunday evening as the result of a recent meeting conducted at Piney Grove church.

The Ormondsville High School continues to increase in number, there being about 45 pupils on the roll, and others are expected soon.

David Elks, who has been extremely ill for near eight weeks, is very much improved. His relatives and friends are agreeably surprised at seeing him up again.

There were no services in the churches last Sunday, as it was one of those rainy days.

Our farmers are delayed very much in cotton picking, but the rain has gone and the sun shines again.

A Western Definition.

Gossip is a humming bird with eagle wings and a voice like a foghorn. It can be heard from Dan to Beersheba, and has caused more trouble than all the ticks, fleas, mosquitoes, coyotes, grass-hoppers, chinch bugs, rattlesnakes, sharks, sore toes, cyclones, earthquakes, blizzards, smallpox, yellow fever, gout and indigestion that this great United States have known or will know when the universe shuts up shop and begins the final invoice. In other words, it has got war and hell both backed up in the corner yelling for ice water.—Guernsey (Wyo.) Gazette.

If a large number of our merchants would take as much pains and energy in displaying their advertisements in their home papers as they do in displaying their goods in their show windows, they would see business hum in their stores as it never hummed before. It is a fact, they have only to put to the test.—Durham Sun.

The pills that act as a tonic, and not as a drastic purge, are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cure Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Jaundice, etc. Early Risers are small and easy to take and easy to act. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

The salve that heals without a scar is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. No remedy effects such speedy relief. It draws out inflammation, soothes, cools and heals all cuts, burns and bruises. A sure cure for Piles and skin diseases. DeWitt's is the only genuine Witch Hazel Salve. Be ware of counterfeits, they are dangerous. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

Never in the way, no trouble to carry, easy to take, pleasant and never failing in results are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills are a certain guarantee against headache, biliousness, torpid liver and all of the ills resulting from constipation. They tone and strengthen the liver. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

There is no way to maintain the health and strength of mind and body except by nourishment. There is no way to nourish except through the stomach. The stomach must be kept healthy, pure and sweet or the strength will let down and disease will set up. No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, sour rising, rifting, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles that are curable are quickly cured by the use of Kodo's Dyspepsia Cure. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

After a hearty meal a dose of Kodo's Dyspepsia Cure will prevent an attack of Indigestion. Kodo is a thorough digestant and a guaranteed cure for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gas on the Stomach, Weak Heart, Sour Risings, Bad Breath and all Stomach troubles. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

For sunburn, tetter and all skin and scalp diseases, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has no equal. It is a certain cure for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles. It will draw the fire out of a burn and heal without leaving a scar. Boils, old sores, carbuncles, etc., are quickly cured by the use of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Accept no substitute as they are often dangerous and undependable. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

BESSEMER'S DEVICE.

His Reward For It Came When He No Longer Wanted Money.

In an autobiography of Sir Henry Bessemer is told how, in 1833, when he was a youth of twenty, he learned that the British government was losing about $500,000 a year through the use of forged stamps. He set about finding a remedy. In nine months he discovered how to forge government stamps with the greatest ease. This was a risky bit of knowledge for a struggling young man who wanted money wherewith to get married to the girl of his choice. But young Bessemer, having invented forthwith the perforated stamp that is now known everywhere, went gayly to the government officials with the forgeries in his pocket to ask if they were genuine. When Sir Charles Presley passed them as genuine Bessemer remarked that he knew they were forgeries—"simply because I forged them myself." Then he suggested a remedy. It was accepted. Bessemer was offered the post of superintendent of stamps—for plant and staff must be reorganized—at $3,000 to $4,000 a year.

Young Bessemer went away happily to tell his good luck to the girl of his choice. He explained to her the situation, how old stamps had been picked off documents and used again and how he had invented an elaborate plan to remedy this. "But surely," said the young lady, "if all the stamps had a date put on them they could not at a future time be used without detection." This rather startled young Bessemer. But he devised a simple method of marking the date. The British government was delighted. The device was accepted. And, as no change of machinery or staff was needed, Bessemer was informed that no superintendent of stamps would be appointed. Thus he had deprived himself of a job.

Forty-five years later, after he had invented the "Bessemer process" of preparing iron and had made a great fortune, Bessemer wrote to Lord Beaconsfield, then prime minister, pointing out that he had saved the country millions without the reward of a penny. He no longer wanted money, but the government acknowledged the debt and paid it with a knighthood.

The Ideal Teacher.

Before all other qualifications the teacher's character is the fundamental requisite. That must be above reproach in all things. Milton's words about the poetic power are specially true in regard to the power to teach. "He who would not be frustrate," said the great poet, "of his hope to write well hereafter in laudable things must himself be a true poet." He who would not be frustrate of his hope to teach well at any time ought himself to be a lofty exemplar of the virtues he would impress upon his pupils. The teacher who stands before a class for hours every day ought to exert greater influence even than the clergyman who speaks from the pulpit one day in the week, and he ought at least to have an equally lofty character, known and recognized by all men. The teacher who is master of his subject and who has this nobility of character needs no help of artifices to assist him in governing his pupils; he has simply to be, and they obey.—Arthur Gilman in Atlantic.

Jefferson Was Not Qualified.

As is generally known, the late Joseph Jefferson and ex-President Cleveland were boon companions. Shortly after Cleveland was elected president the second time a friend of Mr. Jefferson met him and said, "I hear that President Cleveland may appoint you to an ambassadorship."

"Where in the world did you hear that?" was the response. "I wouldn't accept it. Did the papers say anything about it?"

"Yes," his friend replied. "They say you may be appointed minister to Cape Cod."

"Wouldn't do," said Mr. Jefferson. "I don't speak the language."

—Boston Herald.

The Object.

"I want to put an ad. in your paper," said the weary looking man. "Make it, 'Wanted, a situation; any old job.'"

"Shall I say, 'money no object?'" suggested the clerk.

"No, make it 'object matrimony. If I could get acquainted with a decent job I'd be willing to marry it for life.'"

HOW MOROS MAKE FIRE.

Bamboo Stick, Bit of China and Tinder Their Apparatus.

The match has been said to be the greatest civilization of the world, but it has not yet completed its work. There are still tribes of barbarous and semibarbarous people who use nature's means for producing fire, either by friction with or without apparatus or the contact of two substances which produce a spark, as flint and steel.

The Moros use a method distinctive from other savage races and of interest not only for its uniqueness, but as showing the effect of environment on invention.

This apparatus consists of a bamboo stick, a bit of china and tinder. Cylindrical cases are also part of the device, one being a case for tobacco and the other a case for the china and tinder. The whole, connected with cords, is worn at the belt. To use the apparatus the native takes the bamboo firmly in his left hand and in his right holds the bit of china by the finger and thumb and on the thumb side pinches a bit of tinder. The edge of the china is then struck sharply down and along the bamboo, producing a bright and long spark, which catches in the tinder and ignites it. Very little practice is required to enable a novice to light a fire by this means. Obviously, when the apparatus was first devised, no china was available, and doubtless some sharp stone took its place. Now, however, bits of broken china such as are found in cheap eating houses are regarded as best for the purpose and universally used.

The thoughtful reader will at once draw an analogy between this means of fire making and the flint and steel of our own ancestors. In the eastern tropics, however, bamboo is the commonest of woods and so was doubtless observed many times to make a bright spark when struck where flint, in contact with metal, was seen once. In consequence after the first bright thinker had devised this way of using the spark the method held its popularity and obtains to this day, although the flint and steel is so much simpler, easier and more portable.

The philosophy of the device will at once be apparent. The sharp edge of the china scrapes off a bit of bamboo—not much, because the wood is hard and the outside has quite a glaze—but enough to be made incandescent by the friction of the stroke. The tinder catches this spark, and the desired flame is the result.—Scientific American.

An Ungracious Speech.

"That speech," said a congressman, meant a political address, "was ungracious. It reminds me of a Scot's speech to his wife."

"The Scot had married for the second time. His new mate was sentimental and a little morbid. She could not resist asking her husband now and then if he loved her better than he had loved her predecessor."

"She would say:

"Do I more than fill Jean's place in your heart, Jock?"

"Are ye sure ye're no' regrettin' Jean, laddie?"

"Jock, do ye loe me better nor her?"

"The man bore several of these examinations patiently. Then he ended them once for all with a gruff "Tak' ma word for it, Betty, if Jean was livin' ye wadna be here."

Red Hairs Fewest.

Fair haired persons have a greater number of hairs upon their heads than those with darker tincture, but a red headed person has the fewest hairs of all, since it is estimated that not more than thirty thousand hairs are to be found upon the average sized head. If one has black hair, the number is apt to run up to a hundred thousand, while a fair haired person boasts of half as many again.

This difference in number is due to the fact that blond hair is finer in quality than the dark tint, and more are required to cover the scalp, while a deep red hair is three times as great in diameter as black, and, besides being more vigorous on that account, is more easily kept in order.

The Cynic Is Respected.

One of the seeming waywardnesses of our human nature is the respect for a cynic that lurks in nearly every heart. The respect is not for his character, certainly not for his disposition, but it goes out to him as a man of intellect and is often disproportionate to his ability. To hear that a man is cynical is to accept him as of superior intelligence. There is a universal deference to what is universally deemed an unlovely and undesirable attitude of mind. The entrance of the cynic into the drawing room produces an air of expectant interest. His rancorous comments are received as admirable wit. So at least according to the contemporary novels of society; so even, though in a somewhat less obvious and artificial manner, according to one's own observation. We all find more interesting the person who discusses his friend's failings than him who dwells upon his friend's virtues. We do not like the cynic better, but we regard him as the more penetrating and the better informed.—Arthur Stanwood Pier in Atlantic.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.) (Save the Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)
