CARNIVAL COMING.

Advance Announcement of the Jones-Adams Congress of Novelities and Exposition Shows.

Monday, Oct. 2nd, marks the date of the opening of the great Jones-Adams Congress of Novelities and Exposition shows at Greenville, N. C. under the auspices of the Red Men and Firemen. Much credit must be bestowed upon the Red Men and Firemen of Greenville for securing this great attraction for their carnival. The Jones Adams shows have a reputation exceeding any organization of its kind as to cleanliness, honesty and fair dealings with all in whom they come in contact, presenting to the public nothing but moral and up-to-date attractions, which have won for them a reputation second to none in the carnival world. Onward, upward has been their motto, and today their name is heralded from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and well may the citizens of Greenville be thankful that this great attraction has been secured, and no expense will be spared to make this one of the greatest gala weeks in Greenville's history.

Complimentary to Greenville Young Lady.

A beautiful dance was given Wednesday night at Cleveland Springs in honor of Miss Janie Brown, the charming visitor of Miss Lelia Suttle. BAD NEGRO WITH GUN

Shoots and Seriously Wounds a Woman.

On Wednesday afternoon Sam Brown, colored, who has frequently figured in the courts for sundry disorders, went to the house of Flora Blangler, colored, on Cotanch street below King's stables. Sam had tanked up on about enough of bad whiskey to make him a fool. He had some words with the woman about some clothes she had taken to laundry for him, when he drew a pistol and began shooting at her. Four shots were fired, one of them striking the woman in the hip and making a serious wound. Sam was arrested and placed in jail to await development of the injury caused by the wound.

"SPOKE THE TRUTH FOR ONCE."

That is What One Lawyer Said About Another.

There was a three cornered case in progress in court, the solicitor prosecuting two defendants each of whom had a lawyer. To make the case appear as good as possible for his client, each lawyer must say as much as he could against the other defendant.

The first lawyer was closing his speech and his finishing sentence was "Gentlemen of the jury, if you consider the evidence carefully you must say that my client is guilty."

Seeing the smile on the faces of the jurors as he was taking his seat, the error flashed to his mind and he turned and said "I mean not guilty."

"He spoke the truth for once," said the next lawyer as he arose to make his speech. "My friend labored hard to convince you gentlemen of the jury to the contrary, but his conscience so hurt him that he had to admit the truth and tell you his client is guilty."

These are some of the little passing shots one hears in court.

Scientifically Constructed. ULTRA, A Shoe for Women.

THE ULTRA SHOE for women is made with careful reference to the most minute details and so perfected in its numerous styles that there is no other woman's shoe on the market selling at the price the Ultra does, its superior, if its equal.

Here is the fundamental basis of a perfect shoe. We employ our own expert designers, and every Ultra Shoe is made over almost scientifically constructed to meet the closest variations of width and size in woman's footwear. The Ultra Shoe meets every requirement of the many whims of womanship.

We carry DORCH SHOE, for men, in Oxfords, Tans, etc

STATE NEWS.

Gaines Wingham, a young man of Greensboro, stepped off a train at High Point to speak to some relatives, and in attempting to get back on the train after it had started fell with one leg under the car and his left foot was cut off.

Otto Ostwait, a 9-year-old boy at Troutmans, while playing around his father's gin was caught by a belt and crushed to death.

The Supreme court has decided against W. R. Murray, of Durham, the man who killed his uncle, was convicted of manslaughter, sentenced to two years on the roads and appealed to the higher court.

Car Load of Nails.

Baker and Hart received a car load of nails today. This is the first solid car load of nails that has ever been shipped here and it speaks well for the enterprise and growing business of this popular hardware firm.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Friday, probably showery tonight on the coast.

The rain fell Wednesday night was about 1 1/2 inches.

The days and nights are now of equal length.

Some of our streets look like small rivers every time a heavy rain comes.

That was a tremendous rain Wednesday night, and people caught out had a wet time getting home.

EMINENT EDUCATOR'S ENDORSEMENT.

STATE NORMAL AND INDUSTRIAL COLLEGE

Presidents Office.
Greensboro, N. C., August 24, 1905.

Greensboro Life Insurance Company,
Greensboro, N. C.

Gentlemen:

Enclosed you will find a remittance for the full annual premium on my policy in your company, and with it I wish to send my congratulations upon the extraordinary record of the company during the first month of its life.

I have taken out this policy for three reasons:

1. Because I believe in the substantial business men who are backing the company.
2. Because I like the form of the Income Indemnity Policy.
3. Because I desire very much to encourage, so far as I am able to do so, the building up of strong insurance companies in North Carolina, in order that we may send less of our capital through insurance companies to build up other sections of the country instead of our own.

Very truly yours,
CHARLES D. McIVER.

(Signed)

"EVERYBODY ADIRES A WINNER"

The policies issued by the GREENSBORO LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY appeal to and are bought by intelligent and far-seeing people. This is why the business of the company is growing at the rate of more than $100,000.00 a week. Since beginning business—on July 22nd, or seven weeks ago—the company has written an aggregate of more than

THURSDAY, SEPT. 21, 1905.

Linemen have a way of getting up in the world. They can climb a pole when there is no other means of ascent.

The northern insurance companies might work a good scheme by letting it be known on which side they will make campaign contributions next time.

The weather man must be taking a vacation and leaving the janitor to do the guessing for him. The predictions have lately been dismal failures.

Talking about what building and loan associations will do for a town, Charlotte now has buildings under way that will call for an outlay of a million dollars.

The investigation relative to back taxes due the city of Durham by corporations is leading to amicable adjustment. That is better than having a wrangle over it.

The only way some folks can attract attention at all is by wearing squeaky shoes.—Staunton (Va.) Leader.

Oh, no. Look at the Dukes with their divorce proceedings.

The managers of the state fair are having a handsome gold key made, purporting to be a key to the city of Raleigh, to be presented to President Roosevelt on the occasion of his visit Oct. 19th. The president's coming to North Carolina will be a great event.

The People Will Revolt

The "standpatters" accuse the Cummins men of disturbing the harmony of the republican party, but as a matter of fact Governor Cummins is pursuing the only course that can give permanent strength to his party. It is an insult to the intelligence of the people to say that they will long support a party dominated by the corporations. If agitation for reform endangers a party temporarily, the ignoring of known evils threatens the very life of a political organization.—Ex.

The Important Question.

Two men were disputing over their respective churches. Finally one called a neighbor who was passing and asked his opinion as to which was the only church in which to be saved. "Well," said he, "my son and I have hauled wheat to the same mill nigh on to forty years. Now, there are two roads that lead from our place to the mill—one's the valley road, t'other takes over the hill. And never yet, friends, has the miller asked me which road I took, but he always asks: "Is your wheat good?"—Kansas City Journal.

A New Editorial Type Needed.

The type founders ought to go to work and get up something new for the editorial pages of the Atlanta papers. The ordinary black faced type they use served its purpose at first, but has now become monotonous. Diamond, we believe, is the smallest type made. If the foundries could turn out a size three times smaller and induce the Atlanta papers to set up their editorials in it, they might be doing a public service, for then the editorials would be no more recognizable under the coating of ink than the candidates of the respective papers are under their coating of mud. It would only be necessary for the words "Ring Organ," "Railroad Passes," "Corporation Lawyer," and a few other such complimentary expressions, to appear up boldly at frequent intervals among the otherwise unreadable type and the sense of it all could be easily grasped. This is thrown out as a suggestion by the adoption of which the readers of the Atlanta papers might be saved a good deal of agony during the long-distance campaign now on in Georgia.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Must Be Stopped.

The people of North Carolina will approve the action of the faculty of the A. and M. College in dismissing two cadets who have been guilty of unbecoming conduct in brutally hazing some Freshmen. The faculty is determined that blacking and maltreating Freshmen shall obtain no permanent foothold in this institution.

Rowdism must not be tolerated in any institution in North Carolina. There is but one way to stamp it out and that is to refuse to permit any student practising it to remain in the college. The spirit of hazing, which is unrestrained at many institutions, is promptly dealt with at the A. and M. College, and its faculty are united in the resolve to root it out. They do not seek to deny that there is any hazing or to avoid publicity. They meet the issue as it arises and the public knows the full extent of the evil. That is the best course to the complete eradication of the barbarous practises.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Only a Passing Thought.

"Haven't you ever thought of going to work?" asked the farmer's wife of Sauntering Sam. "Yess'm," replied the veteran tramp. "I thought of it once—but I was deeleery at de time."—Cleveland Plain Dealer

The Star does not favor a parcels post system that would allow twenty-five pounds of merchandise to be carried by mail to any point in the United States for twenty five cents. But it does favor some remedial measure by which the exactions of the Express companies of the country may be modified.—Wilmington Star.

If people did not know who it was made that big donation to the University of Chicago, they can guess pretty well now. The price of oil has been raised twice in the last week. The higher grades are up five cents and the lower four above what the prices were last Tuesday.—Wilmington Messenger.

A smart Mississippi negro has found a way to turn the prejudice of white men against his race to financial account. The plan of this man, as reported by the United States Civil Service Commission, is to take civil service examinations for clerkships in the Postoffices of various small cities. Upon receiving an appointment he goes to the town, where of course he finds an intense opposition among the whites to his employment. He suavely bows to the will of his white neighbors, protests that he accepted the place under a misunderstanding, and that he would not think of trying to remain where his presence would be so offensive to the superior race, but he has been put to considerable expense, and can ill afford to lose the money. Of course the whites promptly make up a purse for such a polite and considerate negro, and he goes on to another town to repeat the trick.—Ex.

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

STILL AS A MOUSE.

An Animal Adage Not Based on the Facts in this Case.

Of all restless creatures on the face of the earth, the mouse can, when it will, be the liveliest. But do we not persist, we grown people, in gravely asking of a child that it shall be "as still as a mouse?" "Don't be as active or as noisy as a mouse" is what we should say to those young folk who willfully disturb our peace.

In all honor to the time worn adage, a sleeping mouse may be as still as other sleeping animals. We do not dispute it. But the mouse awake! The mouse in the wall at work, tooth and nail, to make a passageway into a human being's bedroom at dead of night! The mouse trying in vain to escape from the waste paper basket into which it is invariably attracted by curiosity, from which it can never find the way in silent haste! Are even the tamed mice still—unless sleeping? Was the mouse ever known to move slowly in crossing a floor? Did it ever gnaw in silence or tread softly over the papers and other rustling materials on which it delights to disport itself?

Stillness means more than vocal quiet. Yet the mouse, poor creature, can squeak when frightened or when hurt, and mice have been known to sing, as it is called. The adage, as we very well know, does not refer to the still, small voice of the mouse at all. It refers to the "still" ways which, we have conclusively proved, are not still. The quickness of the mouse helps it to escape its natural enemy, the cat. Nature is good to every creature. She has, of course, given the mouse a fair chance for life. The cat succeeds in catching its prey only by the exercise of the greatest watchfulness and by wonderful quickness, so cat and mouse are fairly matched. When does the mouse trot along at a slow rate of speed? Never. Is it willing, if awake, to stay still for any length of time in a given place? Never. Let us suppose that in a thoughtless moment the poet, Mr. Clement C. Moore, had happened to write:

"Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Every creature in stirring was still as a mouse."

The funny part of it is that we might even then have believed that he intended to show us a quiet house. How is it that an adage continues to mean to one's ear what the thinking brain has years ago shown to be untrue in fact?—Our Animal Friend.

Why She Wanted Work.

"There are a lot of queer people in this world," said the man in charge of the book department of a large store yesterday. "This morning a young woman came in here and applied for a position selling books. I explained that there was nothing I could give her. Then I said pleasantly: 'I'm awful sorry.' 'Oh,' she said, turning to go, 'you needn't be sorry. I really don't need the money. I simply wanted to work here so I could read the books.'"—Kansas City Times.

A Classical Encounter.

"Here I have been a supplicant at the throne of your heart for weeks," said the lovesick young man of Shakespearean tastes, who had been trying to win the affection of a Muscogee young woman, "and what boots it?" he concluded, with desperation. "I do," roared the young woman's irate father as he raised the young man on the toe of his No. 12 gently but firmly to the curbstone below.—Kansas City Journal.

A Little Bull.

It was an Irishman of course, though he had shed his accent from having been in this country for two generations. "By George!" he exclaimed, looking at a well known electrical sign on Canal street the other day. "If I were in the center of Africa and saw that sign I'd know at once I was in New Orleans!"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Needed All the Water.

In a little bayou so near the beach that the low tide rose and fell on the overgrown banks a "flat bottom," paddled by an old dandy, was shelved on a mud bank. The mud was too deep for him to get out and push, and his maneuvers with the paddle were proving less and less effectual.

In his exasperation he saw a woman stooping down at the landing some yards above to fill her pail from the stream. "Get out o' dat!" he called out angrily. "Ef ye takes a drop outen dis yere bayou till I gits aloof ag'in, I'll mek ye pay for it if I hev ter wade asho' ter do it!"

Could Not Wait on So Many.

The young man, says the New York Times, was of that peculiarly embarrassing age when the male voice changes. He had gone into a store and in a tone that was one moment a promising bass and the next a thin treble was ordering some collars. "One at a time!" the bewildered proprietor suddenly interjected. "One at a time, please!"

LETTER TO J. B. CHERRY.
Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir: People ask how many square feet a gallon will cover. Depends on condition of building.

There is a great deal of lying on this point. The stock claim of lying paints is 300 square feet, two coats. Let's lie, as a rule.

Devoe covers 300 to 500, our agents think. We think 300 too low and 500 too high; though doubtless, they both mean.

How much the other paints cover is equally doubtful; we guess 100 to 400.

The truth is found in another comparison. Devoe is all paint, true paint, strong paint, and full measure; the others in general are, at the best, diluted, adulterated and short measure. They cover according to body and measure. You can't paint with clay lime chalk sand barytes water or air—so body in them. Go by Devoe.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.
