

"RED Letters," "Blue Signs"

Markdownwits Reduction Ophobia and Salesfever, These ailments are common with most retailers at the closing of the season, but with some of Greenville's retailers it has become "epidemic." Just think of a store selling at cost the whole year. Markdownwits affect the patients pump, veracity—they can't tell the truth.

Reductionphobia develops a mania for talking "hot air" and the germ is in some stores in Greenville all the year-round.

Salesfever creates a reckless gathering of "flotsom and jetsom," stuff of inferior qualities, no matter what its antecedents, most of it prepared for the store with Red Signs and Markdownwits.

A Veritable Boarding House Hash.

We shall expect our methods to hold.

We are neither reformers nor philanthropists, and for young fellows, rather than old-fashioned. But we are determined to build up this store on principle statements based on facts and values and Merchandise beyond any competition.

Newspaper space is too expensive to use for "JOKES."

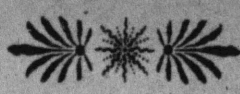

Our little comparisons, such as reference to the "Merchandise diseases" are very serious statements, and we take this method of calling the attention of the most critical and intelligent purchasing public to these abuses.

It is high time for better business methods any how. This store has demonstrated that to-day, did yesterday, and shall to-morrow.

We are never "over stocked," because we do not buy merchandise because it is cheap.

It must be good or it will not be admitted in this store. We reduce every week, yes every day, if we think it necessary. The new goods are here. Now for a general shake-up all along the line.

WE ARE HERE TO SELL GOODS.

One Negro Shoots Another.

Goldsboro, N. C., Sept. 27.—People who were on Walnut street at that early hour saw an exciting scene when one negro pulled a pistol from his pocket and fired at his antagonist about 7 o'clock this morning. The ball took effect in the shoulder of the negro, and will not possibly do more than make an ugly wound. The negro who did the shooting, known as Slew Maek, darted through an alley and made his escape as soon as he fired his gun. He did not wait to find out the effects of his attack. The negro who was shot was taken to the office of Dr. Theo L. Ginn, where his wound was attended to and he was afterward sent home. The two negroes had been quarrelling over some woman, and had been at enmity for some time. When they met on the street this morning the quarrell was renewed and the shooting took place.

Found Yellow Fever.

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 28.—A physician here received a letter from a trained nurse he had sent to Millboro, a cotton mill settlement, near Asheboro, Randolph county, saying there were several cases of yellow fever there, and it was the last letter she would be allowed to mail.

The nurse went there two weeks ago to nurse what was supposed to be an epidemic of typhoid fever. She writes that there were no many deaths that expert examination was made, resulting in discovering yellow fever. It is believed here that the disease is hemorrhagic fever.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight with rain in southern portion, warmer on the southern coast. Saturday rain cooler in the interior.

IT IS GREAT.

Fine Show on Tuesday Night.

Everybody in town is talking about the gigantic event to be given on Tuesday night when one hundred and twenty-five people will delight a big audience at the Masonic temple with an opera that is full of lively music and pretty girls. The fancy dances are beautiful and the cast is executing them to perfection. The opera house is going to be packed from pit to dome and the audience is going to be delighted.

All the scenes to be given are now running in New York and will be reproductions of Fantasia—The Silver Slipper—The Circus on the Mars, running at the Hippodrome—Busy Izzy; and many others. Its going to be great. The sale of seats will open at Coward & Wooten's tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, 50 cents and no extra charge for reserving. Better get them promptly at 9 o'clock.

New Wholesale Firm.

The Cobb & Long Co., composed of Chas. Cobb and Jas. Long, will do a wholesale grocery business in the building now nearing completion on Dickinson Ave. Both are good business men.

The Cuban surplus is said to be the result of over-taxation. That's queer. So is our deficit.

AYDEN ITEMS.

AYDEN, N. C., Sept. 29, 1905.

Uncle John Hart and Uncle Mose Jess Sumrell have been off some twenty miles on a big fishing frolic. After three whole days laboriously spent they have returned and a catfish, two mullets and three redfins is what they showed up. But they had a good time. For the first time in a long while we saw a copy of the Free Will Baptist, yesterday, not that it is not regularly published but because we have not been so fortunate as to get hold of a copy. We were struck with its decided improvement, printed on the best of paper, good legible print and edited in a manner most creditable indeed makes it a paper well worth the reading and one this community and the denomination it represents justly proud of it. We have always admired it and esteem it a privilege to get hold of a copy now any then.

They tell us one of our town commissioners dreamed he had been away on a visit and during his absence the chief of police had filled up all the holes and death pits in the streets and on the walks of Ayden and when he realized it was a fact a great wail went up from his bosom that his heart was broken and Joe Blow would have nothing now to growl about, alas! alas! can it be?

F. T. Carr, of Willow Greene, was selling cotton on our market Wednesday.

There was the greatest influx of drummers to leave here on the morning train yesterday we have seen for some considerable length of time.

The store of Cannon & Tyson is are gular advertising encyclopaedia A. A. Forbes, of Greenville, was in town Tuesday.

W. E. Hooks has been to and returned from Greensboro during the week. He is the busiest and most successful insurance man we know.

Mrs. Ed Mumford who has been visiting relatives in and around Ayden for several weeks returned to her home in Morganton Wednesday. She was accompanied by Miss Annie Mumford who will visit up in the mountains until after Christmas.

Miss Ella Rasberry, of Grifton, came up Wednesday morning to visit Mrs. M. E. Cason.

L. H. Witherington has been on a business trip to Goldsboro.

W. J. Wyatt, of Raleigh, is out at G. E. Jackson's.

Rt. Rev. Robert Strange, D. D., Bishop of the diocese, will conduct service and preach at the Episcopal church here on Sunday, Oct. 1st, at 7:45 p. m. All are cordially invited, and it is hoped that a large congregation will be present.

It is pleasing news to all in this community to learn the condition of George Worthington is much improved. Mr. Worthington has been confined at his home something more than eight weeks with typhoid fever and at times his recovery has been despaired of, now that he is on the road to recovery is gratifying to all who knew him.

M. F. Frizzelle, of near here, left Tuesday morning for Philadelphia where he will enter the University of Pennsylvania and take up a special course in medicine.

Miss Venie Tripp is on a visit in Winterville.

There are now some prospects of our people getting some benefit from the new phone system started some months ago. Work has been resumed, and all hope to a finish.

Dr. J. W. Perkins has been a frequent visitor in Ayden this week.

J. J. Edwards went to Hookerton yesterday and will return today.

Elias Tuinage, of Ormondville, was here yesterday.

Robert Worthington went to Greenville Thursday.

W. C. Jackson spent Thursday night with his mother in the country.

We are indebted to our young friend Guy Hemby for courtesies concerning the paper.

Mrs. C. A. Fair, little Miss Letba and Master Edgar Fair have come home from their summer vacation up in the New England states.

GREENVILLE GRADED SCHOOL.

In view of the fact that the graded school will begin another year's work Monday, Oct. 2nd, I wish to urge upon every good citizen of Greenville the importance of giving his or her support toward making the year's work mean what it ought to mean in promoting the highest, the best, and the most permanent good of the town.

In the past the enrollment has been good, but not as large as might have been, and will not be until every boy and girl for whom it is possible will take advantage of the facilities so wisely provided by a generous public. The remedy for this evil is largely in the hands of the people, and I earnestly beg of them to join with us and help to place every child in school. The public schools are not created for the special benefit of any child or set of children. Nor are they in any sense designed to be a charitable institution. It is true that they are charitable in their results to thousands who would never without them enjoy the blessings of an education. And my earnest prayer is that they may be made more charitable to a greater number. They are instituted by the state on the sound economic basis of public investment for public safety, peace, and prosperity, and as they conserve this end only do they meet the measure of their requirements. In order to do this the children must be placed in them and if possible kept there. I realize fully that many are kept away because their scant earnings are necessary to the support of a widowed mother or an afflicted father, upon whom the hand of misfortune has been heavily laid. In the name of charity I ask you, whom God has blessed bountifully with this world's goods, if you know of such an one go to his rescue and save him from the curse of ignorance to a life of usefulness and honor to the state and society. Others are not able to buy books. Help to them would be a cup of cold water to God's little ones, and if you give it you shall not lose your reward. A still larger number of those who are harder to reach remain out of school through indifference, because they do not appreciate the value and importance of education. To them I would simply say the United States census shows that the educated man or woman stands 500 opportunities for success to every one for an uneducated man or an uneducated woman. The thing that is today chaining North Carolina at the very foot of the list for illiteracy among her white people is the lack of a good hearty sentiment for education, but with thanks to the zeal and devotion of her consecrated teachers and leaders she is arising like a giant out of her slumbers, and we see for her the dawn of a better day; and the question that comes home to all is, can we afford to lag behind in this movement for better things? We all have sung and talked our love for a state that we do love. Henceforth let us do something for her that will prove our faith by our works. Therefore in the name of the state for whose betterment the schools are created, I ask you, if you know of a child who through indifference fails to attend to use your influence or get some one who can to urge and constrain him to go to school, and you will be the means of saving to the state a useful citizen who may be a diamond in the rough. All this is said not in disparagement of our schools and their usefulness, which are doing a noble work, but because of an earnest desire to see them grow and increase daily in usefulness and power. Nor do I mean to transfer to you a responsibility that you may consider a duty devolving upon the teachers and school authorities. It is a great work in which every man, woman and child in Greenville who loves his town and state ought to be interested, and I only ask your assistance. Frequently a word from you will have more weight because they must feel the sincerity and unselfishness of your motives. Will you speak it and aid us in an honest effort to promote the greatest success of your schools? I believe you will.

W. B. DOVE,
Supt. Graded School.

Greenville seems determined to see some big shows without going to the state fair; the only difference, the pumpkins will be absent.

It is said that Governor Montague did not spend any money in his contest for the Senate in Virginia. The returns were ample evidence of this fact.

The President is very busy just now preparing his message to congress. Here's hoping that that body will not snub him as bad as it did before.

Mr. Rockefeller says that a young man has a much better chance now to make more money than he ever could. The old man must have had John D., Jr., in mind when he used the above remark.

Mr. Roosevelt has rose up to say that "Nature has furnished us with these bountiful crops." Still, there are some little bob tailed republicans in this state who would have you think that the Republican party should have credit for good crops.

It is a hard matter for the man who wants office to keep from showing it and still harder for him to keep from showing his sore spot after his defeat.

Never in the way, no trouble to carry, easy to take, pleasant and never failing in results are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills are a certain guarantee against headache, biliousness, torpid liver, and all of the ills resulting from constipation. They tonic and strengthen the liver. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

Colonel Bryan long ago declared that a syndicate of big insurance companies had a great deal to do with his defeat for the Presidency. It seems that the policy of the insurance companies is to insure the defeat of every candidate that doesn't stand for their way of doing business—Wilmington Star.

The pills that act as a tonic, and not as a drastic purge, are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cure Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Jaundice, etc. Early Risers are small and easy to take and easy to act. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

"Savoyard" the Washington Post's brilliant writer on political topics, says that John Sharp Williams is the greatest constructive statesman in this country today. Yet he is the man whom Mr. W. R. Hearst and others of his faction are trying to defeat for re-election as minority leader in the house. However, a good many people long ago lost faith in Mr. Hearst's Democracy.—Winston Sentinel.

After a hearty meal a dose of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will prevent an attack of indigestion. Kodol is a thorough digestant and a guaranteed cure for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gas on the Stomach, Weak Heart, Sour Risings, Bad Breath and all Stomach troubles. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

The salve that heals without a scar is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. No remedy effects such speedy relief. It draws out inflammation, soothes, cools and heals all cuts, burns and bruises. A sure cure for Piles and skin diseases. DeWitt's is the only genuine Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of counterfeits, they are dangerous. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

A bad thing about taking your son into your own business is he finds out a lot about your estate if you don't want him to know.

For sunburn, tetter and all skin and scalp diseases, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has no equal. It is a certain cure for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles. I will draw the fire out of a burn and heal without leaving a scar. Boils, old sores, carbuncles, etc., are quickly cured by the use of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Accept no substitute as they are often dangerous and undertaken. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

A woman calls it economical if she saves enough money when she is shopping to pay her carfare home.

There is no way to maintain the health and strength of mind and body except by nourishment. There is no way to nourish except through the stomach. The stomach must be kept healthy, pure and sweet or the strength will let down and disease will set up. No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, sour rising, rifting, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles that are curable are quickly cured by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

THE NORMAN PEASANT.

He is Shrewd and Economical and Evasive in His Answers.

Writing of "A Corner in Normanly" in the Dejector, F. Berkeley Smith gives an interesting side light upon the real character of the Norman peasant. These ruddy old Norman farmers understand economy to a fineness, he says. It is the secret of their wealth. And thus when one morning I came across Pere Trebard munching a withered pear while he sunned himself beside the snag barn and asked the old man why he did not choose a good one from his fine crop, he exclaimed: "Ah, but, monsieur, we might sell it!"

The character of the shrewd Norman is interesting. Never will he give you a direct answer. A definite "yes" or "no" seems to have been expressly left out of his vocabulary. "It is a fine morning," I ventured to a grizzled old dealer in oxen. "It might be worse," he answered. "That's splendid cider of yours, Legrosjean."

"Some say it is," he retorted guardedly. Neither does the true Norman ever seem pleased or satisfied.

"Beautiful apples this year, Pere Mallet."

"Bah! They are so few," he replies gloomily, with a shrug of his shoulders. The next year the trees are bent under the weight of a rich crop, and you hail this rich old agriculturist as you pass his gateway.

"Plenty of cider this year, Pere Mallet, for you have surely enough apples," you say convincingly as the old peasant looks up from his work to bid you bon jour.

"They are so small," he groans, "it takes more time to pick them than they are worth."

Rheumatism in a Portrait.

The London Lancet is of the opinion that the earliest record of rheumatic nodules is to be found in a portrait of a lady about thirty years of age painted by Paolo Morando, otherwise known as Cavazzola, a Veronese painter who lived from 1486 to 1522.

The portrait is one of a collection left by Signor Morelli to the Academy of Bergamo. The hands attract attention at once, as seeming to be much older than the face. A strong light rests upon the left hand, which is in a central position.

"The abductor indicis and other interossei are strikingly wasted, the interphalangeal joints of the first two fingers are markedly enlarged, and there are typical rheumatic nodules over the head of the second phalanx of the index and over the proximal ends of both the proximal phalanges of the middle finger."

Through the mist of technicality the layman can discern the image of protracted suffering. If a complete list of the remedies recommended by her friends had accompanied the portrait the story would be told in full.

Needed Regulating.

The new cuckoo clock, which was supposed to strike only the hours, but occasionally added an extra performance gratis and had to be regulated in consequence, was a source of constant wonderment to small Marjorie—even more so, indeed, than the baby brother that had come to live with her about a month before.

One day baby brother's dinner did not apparently agree with him, and a fit of hiccoughs ensued. After a few moments' amazed contemplation of this strange phenomenon, finger in mouth and eyes riveted on the periodically convulsed countenance of the pink headed baby, the little girl sped away to give the alarm.

"Oh, daddy," she cried, almost breathless with excitement, "little bruvver's swallowed a cuckoo, an' he's striking hours an' hours an' 'tween times! You'd better come reg'late him, quick!"—New York Times.

Appreciated.

There are no people in the world so distinguished for courtesy as the people of Boston. A few days since a lady in that city, with her child, entered a Beacon street car and mentioned to the conductor that she desired to get out near Arlington street. No doubt astonished at the variety of cars and the many directions from which they came and went seemingly without regularity, she innocently remarked to the conductor as he landed her: "I'm very much obliged to you, I'm sure, but I'm afraid I've taken you out of your way!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Bitter Apology.

"Mary," said Mr. Thomas when a silence fraught with unpleasant meaning had followed his altercation with his young wife. "Yes?" said Mary interrogatively. "When a man and his wife have had a difference," said Mr. Thomas, with a judicial air, "and each considers the other at fault, which of the two do you think should make the first advance toward reconciliation?"

"The wiser of the two," said Mrs. Thomas promptly. "And so, my dear, I'll say at once that I am very sorry."

THE WELL DRESSED MAN

Should Consider with great forethought the suit he is to buy and the store he is to buy from for the coming season. His general appearance will depend largely upon the fit of his clothes, and the CLOTHES he wears.

Good Cloth: This is the foundation of your suit. Avoid those unreliable firms who deal in shoddy and pin your faith to GRIFFON Clothes.

Good Fit: This is one essential that you should exercise with more care than all others. A poor fitting suit is a poor piece of property. But it matters not how tall you are, how slim you are, how stout you are, how short you are, we have 'em to fit your form. A Griffon suit has the distinction of being distinctly stylish.

All the new things are here. At any price from $10.00 to $22.50. We will make it very interesting to you. Bring your shoulders with you.
