THE DANCE

One of the Season's Most Delightful Events.

One of the most successful and enjoyable social occasions of the year was given Friday night in Perkins' Hall it being a subscription dance given by the young men of Greenville. The hall was beautifully decorated with evergreens, over which hung festoons of red and white, and in the centre of the hall hung two large, many colored, Japanese parasols, draped with red, white and blue flags and lit by Japanese lanterns.

Dancing began promptly at 10 o'clock, music being by Levin's Orchestra, of Raleigh.

Sixteen numbers were danced, after which all participating marched to the Carolina club rooms where a delightful supper was served. This supper and the profuse decorations of the dining rooms were managed by a committee of the ladies of Greenville headed by Mrs. Herbert White, and the club is to be congratulated at its good fortune in procuring such able management for this, perhaps the most enjoyable feature of the evening. Red and white were the predominating colors in the decorations of the dining rooms. The walls were festooned with paper hangings of red and white which were joined in the centre of the room, where hung an enormous bunch of rich red flowers. The tables were set in the shape of the letter A, and more than one hundred enjoyed the bounteous supper served, which was in the reception room next to the dining rooms, the orchestra playing many beautiful selections in the meantime.

After supper the dancers returned to the hall and the german was danced until 3:30 when the familiar and much beloved tune of "Dixie" ending with "Home Sweet Home" announced the close of a very delightful occasion.

Greenville was delighted to welcome on this occasion many visitors from the surrounding towns and their presence added much to the beauty and pleasure of the dance. The success of this dance is due in a large measure to the able management of Walter Wilson, Jr., who led the dance, assisted by Miss Janie Brown, both of Greenville. Others dancing were:

R. B. Wiggins, of Boston, Miss Mary Watson Gottlieb, of Baltimore; J. D. Garden, Miss Sallie Cotten, of Cottontale; Harry Skinner, Jr. Miss Alice White, of Greensboro; W. E. MR. HOOKER ENTERTAINS.

Delightful Dinner to His Friends.

W. E. Hooker entertained a number of his friends at a dinner party Thursday evening, Nov. 9th from 6 to 9 o'clock at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Flanagan on Evans street. The house was exquisitely decorated with palms, ferns and chrysanthemums, while beautifully lighted candelabras illumined the whole scene.

After being received very cordially by Mr. and Mrs. Flanagan in their own hospitable way, dinner was announced. The dining room decorations were of American Beauties roses tastefully arranged on the table and banked in profusion in front of and on the mantle. Each plate was placed a bouquet of pink La France roses and Marten hair ferns for the guests. Dinner was elegantly served in six very dainty courses.

Mr. Hooker proved himself an ideal host. Those present were Miss Irma Cobb with W. E. Hooker, Miss Nina James with Will Hunter, of Kinston, Miss Alice White, of Greensboro, with Lewis Scoggins; Miss Benna Sprull, of Columbia, with Tom Moore; Frank Webb, of Kinston, with Miss Nancy Coward; Miss Lizzie Jones with Tom Hooker. It was indeed a happy occasion.

The investigation going on at Greensboro discloses the names of big state officials among the patrons of "Old Nick."

President McIver, of the Normal and Industrial college, is about to get trampled on or get in the mud. A Greensboro street has been named for him.

Just because they made good runs in Pennsylvania and Ohio is no reason that either of the gentlemen will make good presidential timber.

It is regretted by the brethren and others throughout the state that Editor J. P. Caldwell, of the Charlotte Observer, is quite ill with pneumonia.

The Western North Carolina conference at Greensboro adopted a resolution condemning Mormonism and memorializing congress to reject Reed Smoot from that body.

Chicago people must have decided to quit patronizing the beef packers of that city. At any rate they have declared against the use of toothpicks and toothpicks will certainly be needed if they eat some of that beef.

The weekly Tar Heel, the other much talked off Republican paper to be started at Greensboro, has at last made good. The first issue has made its appearance 16 pages in size. The paper takes President Roosevelt for its model of Republicanism and says it "will give allegiance to policies that have enlisted his strenuous support."

After all, how near, one to the other, are all parts of the world! Modern inventions have brought into close relations widely separated people and made them better acquainted. Fast trains invade regions which a few years ago were impenetrable. Industrial improvement, the inspiration that promotes useful inventions, and the self sacrificing spirit that seeks the amelioration of human misery, are the three fundamental conditions on which the progress of today is based, and which must occupy the mind of man in the future. The field of industrial improvement is so vast that there is practically no limit to the probabilities of inventive achievement. Notwithstanding the triumphs of the beginning of the new century, there is not an invention in use today that is not capable of improvement and serve but as an index to what may be done in the future. Honesty buys and sells things; dishonesty steals and keeps them.

The statement is made that Tammany spent a million dollars in the recent New York city election. That was certainly blowing it in.

Cause For Thanks.

The people of our land should certainly be thankful for one thing if nothing more, and that is the results of the elections in many parts of this country. Never was there such an uprising of the element of our citizens with the avowed purpose of crushing the spirit of bossism, of routing corrupt office holders from office, and of inaugurating a regime of decency and pure government.

It had come to a pass where something had to be done to rid the country of corruption, and the voters did it. There has been scarcely any election where partisan prejudice was so thoroughly discarded and where the people arose en masse and demanded a change.

The result of the Philadelphia election is almost impossible to believe, so vehement was the blow delivered to the corruptionists. We give the following paragraph from the Washington Post, which is one of the most conservative and reliable newspapers in the country, in our opinion, in regard to the reform:

"Never in the history of the country has civic virtue asserted itself with greater force than in elections of yesterday. Never has bossism in political machinery received so many and so severe blows. Party lines disappeared, and the masses of the voters ranged themselves as reformers and not as partisans."—Charlotte News.

Awful Tragedy in Perquimans

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 9.—A special to the Virginian Pilot says Helen Hope, who, last night was married to Randolph C. Johnson at Perquimans, N. C., was found dead in her bridal chamber this morning with a pistol in her hand and bullet wound through her head. Johnson was lying across the bed dead with three bullets in his head and body. Johnson had loved Miss Hope since her early childhood. He was 28 years old and she but 17. After their wedding Wednesday night, a large supper and dance followed and about midnight the couple drove to the home which the groom had prepared. Their non-appearance about the house in the morning caused inquiry and when the door of the bridal chamber was broken in, the woman was found lying in a pool of blood before her dresser with a pistol in her hand and her brains oozing from the wound in her head. Johnson's wounds were in the left breast, the left temple and a grazing wound on the cheek. Either of the first two would have proved fatal. No motive for the tragedy can be learned.

Two Dyspeptics
If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated. Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

Dollar bottle holds 30 times as much as the trial, or 25 cent size.

Makes digestion and assimilation perfect. Makes new red blood and bone. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. A tonic for the sick and weak. 36 cents, Tea or Tablets.

SIGNS OF GOOD BREEDING.

Forms of Etiquette That All People Should Observe.

A bow should always be returned even though one may be mistaken for some one else, and to give the cut direct is a discourtesy of which no person of good breeding should be guilty. It is perfectly easy to acknowledge a salutation with such dignity but brevity of glance as to plainly show that one does not care to have anything but a very formal acquaintance with the person spoken to.

A man always raises his hat when presented to a woman or to another man. He should also raise it when meeting or taking leave of a woman, when she first speaks to him for whatever reason, when he offers his services in any way, even though she may be a stranger to him, such as when entering an elevator where women are present or in opening a door for a woman to pass through. In fact, a man cannot be too careful in showing this little act of courtesy whenever the least apology would be in order, says the Philadelphia Press.

A man always lifts his hat when a woman under his escort receives some courtesy from a stranger or if she bows to a person that he is not acquainted with. He also raises his hat upon recognizing an acquaintance who has a woman with him whom he does not know. A man should be as particular in bowing to his mother, father or sister when meeting them on the street or in taking leave of them as he would be with his friends or formal acquaintances.

Men shake hands with each other at introductions; women only when desiring to be especially cordial. A man, of course, always waits for the woman to offer her hand first, and if possible he should remove his glove before doing so if her hand is ungloved.

Women do not kiss each other when meeting and parting unless they are very close friends, and even then it is usually only done in private.

When acting as a woman's escort a man should pay all the fares and fees. When entering a street car or any vehicle he should allow the woman to precede him, assisting her as she does so. In leaving the car or cab he alights first, offering her assistance as she follows.

In all these forms of etiquette it is quite possible to at least lay the foundation for their correct observance when those under one's care are merely boys and girls. If they become accustomed to good form and good manners when young they will never dread the day when they must enter the more formal ways of society.

A Wonderful Tree.

In the basin of the Kongo river grows a species of tree of gigantic stature, called by the natives the moabi and belonging to the botanical family of the sapotaceae, which is very useful to man. The trunks of these trees at the height of a man's head above the ground are frequently eight or ten feet in diameter, and many of them rise from 80 to 115 feet before a branch puts out. The bark is exceedingly thick, as much as five or six inches in many cases, and it contains an abundance of milky juice which stiffens into a kind of gutta percha. The large seeds of the inedible fruit of the tree are very rich in a greasy substance that can be turned into soap, while the product derived from grinding the seeds and compressing them into cakes makes a valuable manure and can also be used as feed for cattle.

Columbus Liked Fridays.

Most of the principal events in the great voyage of Columbus happened on Fridays. On this day he weighed anchor and set forth upon his quest, and on a Friday he saw some tropical birds, the first indication of land ahead. On Friday, Oct. 12, 1492, he discovered land and planted the cross on the soil of the new world, and on the 15th of the following April, another Friday, he turned his course homeward. On the same day of the week he made his triumphant entry into Barcelona, and on other Fridays he set sail for Europe, discovered the Azores, was invited to Lisbon by the king of Portugal and returned to the port from whence he first set sail. Small wonder is it, then, that he considered Friday his fortunate day.

His Mistake.

A man went into a chemist's shop and bought a bottle of some patent stuff, which was advertised thus: "No more coughs, no more colds. One shilling the bottle." Three days later he went to the chemist, complaining that his throat was stopped up and that he could scarcely breathe. "I've drunk all that patent cough mixture," he said. "Drunk it!" yelled the chemist. "Why, that's an india rubber solution to put on the soles of your boots."—London Mail.

GREENVILLE, N. C.

"Or," Not "And."

People who have had a wide experience with the ordinary summer boarding house in a place where the season is short and hay must be made while the sun shines have learned not to expect too much. There are, however, certain limits beyond which economy seldom goes.

These limits are evidently unknown or disregarded in a mountain resort to which a meek Bostonian strayed.

On the morning after her arrival she seated herself at the breakfast table with the hope stirring in her heart of a meal more generous than the last night's supper. The neat, stern featured waitress brought her a small saucer of breakfast food and bent over her.

"We have Graham muffins or white biscuit, ham or eggs," she said, with a distinctness of articulation which left no doubt of her sincerity.

Clouds of Smoke.

The professor of painting has just entered the classroom, where smoking is strictly prohibited. Here he finds an art student holding in his hand a newly filled cherry wood pipe.

Professor (ironically) — What a queer paint brush you have got there! What are you going to do with it?

Student—Oh, I'm going to make clouds with it!—Paris Journal.

Why the Bell Tolls.

A gentleman who was traveling from the north had occasion to stop at a country village some fifty miles from London. Having a few hours to spare he went around inspecting the places of interest in the neighborhood to pass the time pleasantly away. About midday the bell of the village church began tolling. His curiosity being aroused, he stopped a boy who happened to be passing at the time and said, "Can you tell me, my little man, why that bell is tolling?" "Course I can," said the promising rustic, "cause the sexton's pulling the rope."—London Spare Moments.

Lighter Than.

"You say Atlas held up the world?"

"I did."

"Carried it on his shoulders?"

"Yes, sir."

"He must have been a remarkably strong man. No man could do that nowadays."

"But things are different now."

"In what way?"

"Well, you see, there was but a small part of the world discovered when he held it up."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Could Not Catch the Train.

There is a man in Enfield, Conn., who drives a carriage to and from the station for the accommodation (?) of the public. He is exceedingly slow, nearly always being a little behind time.

One day he was engaged to carry a lady to a train which it was very important she should catch. She watched and waited, with hat and coat on, until it was nearly train time. At last Mr. C. drove up, hurrying not an atom.

The lady's husband flew to the door and impatiently shouted: "What's the use of coming now? It's nearly train time!"

"Waal," drawled the immovable hackman, "if your wife has her things on and is ready to start, I reckon I can git her most there."—Boston Herald.

On Exhibition.

The social queen is languid and depressed this evening.

"Jane," she says to her maid, "what are my engagements for tonight?"

The maid enumerates them.

"Very well, you may send my $4,000 dinner gown to Mrs. Flubber's, my $1,500 gown and string of pearls to Mrs. Hurrup's, my lace ball gown to Mrs. Dancum's, my diamond coronet and stomacher to the theater and my applique velvet gown to the Gudness-Knose wedding. That's all people care to see nowadays. I'm going to bed with a headache, and if any one calls I'm not at home."—Chicago Tribune.

The Dean's Accent.

There are no difficulties of language to a man as tactful as a certain lord mayor of London, of whom St. James' Budget tells.

The eminent Dean Pigou was once invited to conduct a service in French at the chapel of the Hospital For Huguenots, South Hackney.

Previous to the day the dean wrote out in English a sermon on the "Revocation of the Edict of Nantes." Then with the aid of Mrs. Pigou, a sound French scholar, he translated the whole into French and preached on the day in that language.

Among the distinguished persons present was the lord mayor, who hastened to thank the dean at the close of service, adding:

"Though, sir, I do not know one word of French, I understood you perfectly."

Babylonian Schools.

Probably the average Babylonian child who has been dead for these 4,000 years could easily have passed the examinations for our modern primary schools in certain subjects. Eminent Babylonian explorers tell us that his multiplication table, which he had to commit to memory, extended to thirty times thirty, and he was easily conversant with two languages besides his own. The school rooms have been discovered, and we can examine the school books, the tablets with the arithmetic lessons still legible upon them.

HORSES & MULES.

We will keep a full stock of horses and mules on hand all the season. We are prepared to furnish you any kind of horse you want, draft horses, fine drivers and farm horses.

The Cosmopolitan

Woman's Home Companion

Many other publications are desirable, and you may prefer this or prefer that fiction and art publication, but the Review of Reviews is necessary. Substantial American men and women are going to keep up with the times and they are going to take the shortest cut which is the Review of Reviews.

A leading magazine for 18 years With the recent change of owner ship it has been improved. It is far better in every respect, and aims to be the best in the field. Every year or so there's one notable advance in the forward movement among the many magazines. This year it is the Cosmopolitan.

The Woman's Home Companion is for every member of the family. For our bright, earnest, cultured, home loving American woman it is an ideal entertainer and helper in a thousand congenial ways; but the fathers and brothers and sons join in its perusal by the fireside; children eagerly turn to the pages that are written for them.

The American Farmer is the leading Agricultural paper of the country, and pertains to farming, live stock and poultry raising. Every farmer should have it

BROWN'S HAVE GONE

But Blues and Greys are here to stay. The medium longcoat, with vent in back, single or double breasted is the coat that you should wear this season. It should be made with Military shoulders and to fit the body medium loose. We have it, made in all the new fabrics. Of course blacks and blues are good this season, yet a dark blue ground with a slight tint of green, makes an attractive suit. And greys, the have come to stay; everything will be grey next season.

PRICES, $7.50 TO $25.00

MAQUINETTE COATS—This coat is the only coat that well dressed should wear; this coat is light in weight, yet it gives you the comfort than a coat many times its weight.
