

WILKINSON'S CRAVENETTE RAIN COATS FOR LADIES AND OVERCOATS FOR MEN AND BOYS.

FORM FIFTY-TWO
"EFF-EFF"

Let us set you straight on the matter of Cravenette Overcoats. The most successful process for waterproofing a garment is that of Priestley's, and every Cravenette treated to their process bears their name, and when in addition to Priestley's Cravenette stamp an overcoat is identified with the label of Wilkinson the combination is one that insures not only a waterproof overcoat, but also an overcoat of fine fabric, with all the knocks of fashion and style that distinguish the "EFF EFF" Clothing people from the ordinary sort.

CARR-SKINNER.

A Beautiful Afternoon Marriage in Greenville.

"All the world loves a lover," and all the world takes keen interest in a popular young couple blighting their troth and embarking on life's matrimonial sea. If interest and abundant good wishes betoken a happy voyage, surely the one begun amid such beautiful surroundings today will be happy indeed.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in St. Paul's Episcopal church, was solemnized the marriage of Mr. Charles Stuart Carr and Miss Patti Sessions Skinner, an event that has been looked forward to for many days. Rev. W. E. Carr, rector of the church, was the officiating clergyman.

The church was exquisitely decorated, the color scheme being green and white with a touch of red. Over the center aisle were four arches of holly, while about the chancel were pyramids of potted flowers and palms with ropes of white. Above the altar was a wedding bell of holly leaves on white foundation.

Robert M. Rawls, of Tarboro, presided at the organ, playing Tannhauser's wedding march as the bridal party entered to their positions and Lohengrin's as they withdrew from the church. Just previous to the entrance of the bride and attendants Miss Nina James sang most sweetly "O Perfect Love."

The bride's maids, each dressed in white India silk and carrying bouquets of carnations, entered through the vestry room, and crossing the chancel passed up the side aisles to the vestibule where the groomsmen were in waiting. Then they passed in couples up the center aisle to the altar, the gentlemen immediately behind the ladies, in the following order:

Misses Dorothy Carr, of Castoria and Jerusha Whedbee, of Hartford; C. C. Skinner, of New York and A. T. Harper, of Goldsboro. Misses Sue Clark and Mabel Rawls, both of Tarboro; P. S. Cotten, of Greenville and Dr. L. C. Skinner, of Ayden.

Mrs. W. H. Dall, Jr., of Greenville and Miss Sallie Cotten, of Cottontale; W. H. Dall, Jr., and Frank Skinner.

Misses Winnie Skinner, of Greenville and Lalla Harper, of Wilson; W. E. Hooker and F. M. Wooten.

Maids of honor, Misses Margaret and Ethel Skinner, sisters of the bride.

Dame of honor, Mrs. E. B. Ficklen, sister of the bride, dressed in yellow net over taffeta and carrying a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. Charles Skinner. She wore a handsome going-away gown of gray chiffon cloth and carried a cluster of bride roses.

They were met at the altar by the groom with his best man, C. R. Harper, of Castoria, who entered through the vestry room. After the impressive ceremony the party retired from the church in couples.

The ushers were J. L. Little, E. B. Ficklen, R. J. Cobb and H. L. Carr.

The bride, noted for her beauty and charm, never looked more lovely than when she stood before the altar with him to whom she had given her love. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skinner and a social favorite.

Mr. Carr is teller of the Greenville Banking & Trust Co., and enjoys wide popularity both in business and social circles.

From 4 to 6 o'clock in the parlors of Hotel Macon a reception was given by the parents of the bride. Here the wedding presents were displayed, these being numerous and handsome. On the evening train the couple left for a bridal tour to Florida.

PRE-NUP TIAL RECEPTION.

Mrs. H. W. Whedbee entertained the Carr-Skinner bridal party Tuesday night. Mrs. J. M. Whedbee met the guest at the door and welcomed them in her gracious and cordial manner. Hot fruit punch was served from a large bowl in the hall by Mrs. H. W. Whedbee, assisted by Miss Rashin Whedbee, of Hartford, and never was a portion more gratefully received than was this hot punch by the guest, they having spent a larger part of the evening at the church rehearsing for the ceremony and the evening had proven a bit chilly. After the punch, oyster cocktail was served in the parlors by Mrs. J. W. Whedbee, followed by a three course luncheon. It was a delightful evening spent in a delightful home, and the merry party was loath to say good-night. Those present besides the bridal party whose names are mentioned elsewhere were Miss Ballard, of Franklington; Mrs. Chas. Parks; Mrs. Geo. Howard, of Tarboro; Miss Gottlieb, of Baltimore.

Save Time.

There will be busy days from now until Christmas. The shoppers who go out will be in a hurry, and the merchants will also be pressed for time. The proper thing for those who want Christmas trade is to tell the people through THE REFLECTOR so the customers will know just where to go when they start. Advertisements are time savers and money makers, especially when people get busy.

Bazaar Notice.

All who have received contributions for the Bazaar will please send them to the residence of Mrs. H. C. Hooker by twelve o'clock tomorrow. All members of the Ladies Aid society are earnestly requested to be present at a meeting of the society called by the president at 2 o'clock. The ladies are working day and night in their laudable efforts to make a success of the Bazaar. Entertainment and first class refreshments will be on the programme for every evening during the week, beginning Dec. 12th.

The snap in the weather will have the dead porkers coming in soon.

We are inclined to think the Ed. is away and the "Devil" on a spree. We, like our Oakley friend, were willing to submit to the medley of our items as we, too, like good company, but to put J. H. Fry one of our debaters as J. H. May was such a mistake that Mr Fry wouldn't know himself and "Thomasville" orphanage became the Thompson orphanage. Well what's in a name? We are still surviving and looking for another medley.

Result of The Watts Law.

All who supported the Watts law and all who doubted its wisdom will be interested in the figures in our Washington correspondence which show that there were 724 saloons in the State in June last compared to 1,185 two years ago when the Watts law went in operation. There are fewer now than in June. The whole sale dealers have decreased from 52 to 39. Two years ago there were more grain distilleries in operation in North Carolina than in any State in the Union. The number was 425. Today there are only 57 in actual operation. Fruit distilleries have been reduced from 442 to 298 in operation. When the Ward law goes into effect on the first of January the number will be still further reduced.

Attention is called to these figures as proof of the great progress that the cause of temperance is making. The improvement is even better than these figures show. There is cause in this for all advocates of temperance "to thank God and take courage."

Bishop Wilson's Indictment.

In his wonderfully strong sermon in Wilson on Sunday morning Bishop Wilson made a powerful indictment of the methods of the business and political world when he declared:

"Today Christianity, saintliness is excluded from legislative halls, and saintly men are discriminated against in business. When men of industry and commerce choose their agents, they do not select men of strong character as Christians, but they rather seek out men who disregard or evade the law, make compromises, who conduct their business policies upon pure secular lines with the sole view of increasing their wealth. Partisanship ranks higher than righteousness, and the elements of truth are shut out from the affairs of business men."

Recent exposures in the giant life insurance companies, the over-capitalization of trust and railroad companies, over the municipal corruption brought to light in Philadelphia and other great cities, the corrupt leakage in the Agricultural Department, the theft of the public lands, the conviction of United States Senators for fraud and wrong, the purchase of elections, the buying of franchises and legislation—these are some of the recent developments that warrant the saddening indictment preferred by the man of God—Raleigh News and Observer.

WEAK HEART'S. are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of Indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured. MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y. I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me. D. KAUBLE, Nevada, O.

IN THE RUINS OF POMPEII.

Evidences of the Commonness of Slavery Found on All Sides.
 Evidences of the commonness of slavery in the time of Pompeii's destruction are abundant on all sides in the ruins. The gladiators were a class of slaves trained for fighting, and some of the wall scribbles refer to their condition as one of slavery. Here is the translation of an advertisement painted on a wall near the amphitheater:
 "Twenty pairs of gladiators, paid by Decimus Lucretius Sallius Valens, prince in the time of Nero, the son of Decimus, will fight at Pompeii on the 11th, 13th and 14th of April.
 "There will be a proper hunting scene, and the awnings will be spread. Written by Clev-Emilius Clev, writer of inscriptions. Wrote this by moonlight."
 The gladiators' barracks were ample for the housing of 2,000 or 3,000 men, and it is a matter of record that at least 2,000 were engaged at one time in the life or death combats which stretched over a long festival. The actors in these murderous sports were "barbarians" from various parts of Europe or from Asia Minor and Africa.
 In the Naples museum is a bronze collar which was worn about the neck of a man whose skeleton was found in a Pompeian house cellar. On the collar are engraved in Latin these words: "I am a slave. Arrest me, because I am running away." I could not help thinking while looking at this ingenious and cruel substitute for a convict's dress that it was possible that the poor wretch who wore it may have been one of the descendants of the blond haired Britons brought home by Julius Caesar to grace his triumph 100 years before Pompeii disappeared beneath its pall of lava and ashes.
 In the Ghezzeq museum, Cairo, one may look upon the black and shriveled face of that Rameses whom we know as the Pharaoh of the Oppression. Mummies of other Egyptian kings, priests and people are common enough. These primeval men, who far antedated Pompeii and Rome, stand undecayed in our presence. But Pompeii presents the picture of an entire city resurrected from the dead, with all its appliances of life and means of pleasure, profit, comfort, luxury, vice and sustenance. The life is gone out forever, but the mummified city remains—a monument of human ingenuity and frailty.—Exchange.

One Thing at a Time.

Robert Jaggs' countenance was not at any time remarkable for indications of intellectual brilliance, but now, as he stood before the camera for the purpose of "being took," his expression was so inane that even the polite photographer was moved to protest.
 "You'll excuse me," he remarked, "but do you want this photograph for a beauty competition or an advertisement for a new rat poison? Because if it's for any other purpose you'd better try to look a trifle more pleasant."
 "That's just the trouble," exclaimed Robert. "You see, I've the misfortune to be a trifle bandy, and I'm trying to hold my knees so that it won't show. When I smile I forget all about my knees, and when I pay attention to my knees I forget to smile."—London Express.

The Height of Clouds.

The very highest clouds, those called cirrus and cirrostratus, rise to the average height of about 30,000 feet. A second class keep at a height of from 10,000 to 23,000 feet above the earth, while the lower clouds usually float at a height seldom exceeding 5,000 feet. In the case of the last mentioned class of clouds the lower surface may be at a height not exceeding 3,000 to 4,000 feet, while their towering summit will be removed from the earth by not less than 16,000 feet.

Wit in the Courtroom.

Thomas Flatty of Boston, the well known Irish lawyer and wit, was acting for the defense in a divorce case and during the cross examination of the plaintiff asked the following questions: "You wish to divorce this woman because she drinks?" "Yes, sir." "Do you drink yourself?" "That's my business," said the witness angrily, whereupon the lawyer, with face unmoved, asked one more question, "Have you any other business?"

Where Woman Is Lord.

In a tiny island called Minikol, off the southern coast of India, a most peculiar state of society exists, for woman is lord of all she surveys. The wife is the recognized head of the house. She owns it and everything in it, while anything that her husband, who works very hard, can earn goes to increase her wealth. Her husband belongs to her, too, and when she marries him she gives him her name instead of taking his.
