END OF CENTURY CLUB.

The End of the Century Book Club met Tuesday afternoon Dec. 19th, with Mrs. Harry Skinner. Her beautiful home never looked more attractive for the hostess more lovely than on this occasion.

Besides an unusually large number of members, the following invited guests were present:

Mesdames Cobb, Pritchard, Moseley, Summerell and White, of this place, Mrs. Jeffress, of Virginia, and Mrs. Bateman, of Winston.

All were pleased to welcome home the president who had been absent for several weeks.

The business of the club was quickly disposed of and the papers for the afternoon's literary program were read. They were "Fountain-bleau and Napoleon" by Mrs. Arthur; "Norway and Sweden" Mrs. Bowen; "Fords in Norway" by Mrs. Jeffress.

After the reading of these papers, refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. J. L. Wooten, January 9th, 1906.

The club at its last meeting passed the following resolutions.

That whereas Mrs. Rosa Quinerly, librarian, and her sister, Mrs. E. A. Moye, members of the club, have by a dispensation of Divine Providence been called on to mourn the loss by death of their esteemed father, Mr. Alfred Forbes,

Now therefore be it resolved that the members of the club through its committee appointed by the president do convey to Mrs. Moye and Mrs. Quinerly assurances of the club's affectionate sympathy in their loss and that the same be recorded in the minutes of the club.

SCHOOL GLOSING.

Splendid Exercises at Pactolus.

A large crowd gathered at Pactolus public school house on the night of Dec. 22nd to witness the Christmas exercises of their school. This school is taught this session by Miss Charlotte W. S. Ireland, of Faison, N. C. Miss Ireland is a graduate of the State Normal and is a young woman of fine accomplishments and culture. She is amiable and patient and is doing exceptionally fine work in her school. The entire district is delighted with her and with her work. Social in nature, pleasing in manner and consecrated to her work, she has won the hearts of all with whom she has come in contact.

The crowd gathered expecting that they would hear something good, but they had not even conceived that they would be so pleased by being so splendidly entertained by the exercises.

The program consisted of an address of welcome by little Ashley Speir, drills, tableaux, recitations, songs, etc.

Each pupil did his part so well that one could not be mentioned without mentioning all. There were several pieces that were unusually good. Among these were the address of welcome, "Old Father Christmas and Mother Goose and family," tableau "The Guardian Angel," tableau "Simply to the Cross I Cling."

The entertainment closed with old Santa Claus in perfection with all of his goodies which was much enjoyed.

Three premiums were given, one to Ashley Speir on his address of welcome, one to Mrytle James for a tableau scene and one to Guy Simpson for a recitation, "The Mouse in the Pie."

Miss Ireland deserves much praise for the elegant entertainment had and for the splendid work she is doing with the children. It is impossible to estimate the value of such a teacher and woman to any community.

Archbell Moore.

The following announcement have been issued:

Mrs. Fannie L. Moore requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter Penole to Mr. Collin Hughes Archbell on Wednesday morning January tenth nineteen hundred and six at eight o'clock at home Greenville, North Carolina. No cards sent in town.

Colored Man Killed.

Jim Mouse, a colored man who lived near Stokes, was killed a day or two ago. He was taking a loaded rifle out of a wagon, drawing the weapon to him by the muzzle, when it was discharged and the ball passed through his stomach. He was taken to the hospital in Washington and died in a few hours after reaching there.

PROGRAM.

Farmers' Institute

A farmers institute will be held in the court house, at Greenville, Saturday, January 6th, 1906. The morning session will open at 10:00 o'clock sharp, and afternoon session at 1:30.

The subjects for discussion are: "Soil improvement," by W. J. McLendon, Anson county; "The Improvement of Tobacco by Seed Selection," by W. W. Corby, U. S. Department of Agriculture; "Hog raising," by Dr. Tait Butler; "Cotton Culture," by W. J. McLendon.

The above program is given to indicate the nature of the Institute but it may be changed or added to, as those present desire. A question box will also be open, into which all are invited to put such questions as they desire discussed. A large number of intelligent questions means an interesting Institute, and special attention will be given to this feature.

The Farmers' Institutes are held for the benefit of farmers, and none but strictly farming questions will be discussed. It is, therefore, especially desired that a large attendance of farmers be secured, and to this end you are urged to be present and to induce your neighbors to do the same.

TAIT BUTLER,

Director Farmers' Institutes

DAVID JARVIS DEAD.

Killed By Accident in Florida.

A telegram to Mrs. M. A. Jarvis, received this morning from Lakeland, Florida, brought the shocking news that her son, D. B. Jarvis, had been killed. The telegram was from another son, R. B. Jarvis, and the only particulars it contained was that David had been seriously hurt and died at 9:30 o'clock last night, and that the remains would reach here Saturday night. The sad news was a severe shock to the family, and the heart of every one goes out in sympathy to the mother and sisters in their great sorrow.

Both the boys were in the employment of the Atlantic Coast Line and held good positions in Florida with that company. David was 22 years of age, the youngest son, and had been in the railroad service about four months. His untimely death brings sorrow to many hearts.

SMALL FIRE.

Kitchen Burned This Morning.

About 8 o'clock this morning the ringing of the fire alarm put people bustling and hurrying out of their homes and places of business. It was caused by the burning of the kitchen at the home of Amos Elks, colored, on Pitt street. The fire was supposed to have started by sparks falling on the roof. The department responded promptly and soon had on a stream from the nearest hydrant and put the fire out. The kitchen was considerably damaged and the dwelling house was also slightly injured. The convenience of the water works saved the destruction of both these and perhaps other building.

"POSSUM AND TATERS."

Young Men Have a Feast Royal.

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the Christmas holidays was a 'possum supper given Christmas night by Mr. Jack Laughinghouse. The supper was served by Mr. Hines at his cafe, and never did a crowd of hungry, hearty men fare better or enjoy a festive occasion more. Along with the "possum and taters", came quail and all the side dishes, and for the only time during the evening the party was comparatively quiet, being otherwise employed.

After the supper Dr. Will Bernard, the toastmaster for the evening, in a few well chosen and appropriate remarks, thanked Mr. Laughinghouse for this bountiful hospitality, and then called on each member of the party for his views on the matter. Each one responded—expressing his appreciation, some by speaking, others by singing and a few were even moved to the poetic point. Each one's views were uniform in the expression of enjoyment and good fellowship, and in pronouncing Mr. Laughinghouse a model host. About midnight the party adjourned, after singing a few of the old Southern melodies, reminiscent in themselves of "possum and tater", of quail, and of the other good things so abundant in Dixie. Those present were:

Frank Wilson, Jack Garden, Harry Skinner Jr., W. S. Atkins, Dr. Will Bernard, Dr. Chas. Laughinghouse, R. O. Jeffress, Fleming Jeffress, Roy Flanagan, P. S. Cotten, Tom Hooker, A. M. Moseley and the host.

To Test Water.

A test for the purity of water, which can be easily applied and which gives a fair idea of the presence or absence of organic impurities, is made by using a solution of permanganate of potash in the proportion of one grain to two ounces of water. Use this test as follows: Take a long, clear glass, fill it with pure or distilled water and add to it as much of the testing solution as will tinge it pink. Then do exactly the same to a glass of the water you suspect and watch and compare the colors of the two samples. If the pink color does not disappear or if it does not turn brown in the suspected water you may conclude that it is safe to use it. If, on the other hand, it disappears quickly probably animal matter is present, and if slowly vegetable matter. In either case the water is not above suspicion.

Early Use of Tar and Feathers.

We learn from the English annals of the historian Hoveden, who was court chaplain to Henry III., that the old custom of tarring and feathering is one that dates back to the time of Richard the Lion Hearted. He tells us that this renowned king on setting out for the third crusade made this enactment, among others, for his fleet: "A robber who shall be convicted of theft shall have his head cropped after the fashion of a champion, and boiling pitch shall be poured thereon, and the feathers of a cushion shall be shaken out on him, so that he may be known, and at the first land at which the ship shall touch he shall be set on shore."

Get ready to swear off if you have been going the other way too much.

It is getting to the point of not looking so much like fifteen cents.

The absence of barrooms teaches its own lesson. Of course the dispensary had large sales and there was some drunkenness Christmas, as was expected, but there was so much less than in former years when barrooms existed that the difference is worthy of note.

They have had a pretty time in municipal circles at Greensboro this week. There was a meeting of the aldermen to elect a city attorney. In the midst of the proceedings half the members walked out and broke the quorum. The mayor called them to come back but they kept going, whereupon he ordered the chief of police to go bring them back. The chief went but did not bring them, his report being that the aldermen gave him the slip. Some resignations might be helpful to the city.

Optimism.

For gilded optimism we commend the man who penned the following advertisement. It appeared in the "want" columns of a South Carolina newspaper of recent date. We trust he will find his man.

"Above all, we want an honest man. No deadbeat, political agitators, persistent money borrowers, booze fighters or cigarette fiends need apply.

"Transients and those looking for a place to fill in the time are not wanted.

"Faithfulness, loyalty, willing spirit, one who is not particular as to the exact number of hours he puts in, will be appreciated and rewarded.

"Give references and full particulars in first letter—such as age, whether married or single; how much experience; where, when and by whom employed; why out of position or why a change is wanted; how soon a new place is desired. Send samples of work and late photo if possible.

"We might say that we wish to be entirely reasonable in our demands and that we don't expect to get an angel, but we do expect to find a young man with the most or all of the above points.

"We know he may be hard to find, but find him we will."

Total abstinence pays in some countries in different ways as well as in saving money and in guarantee against drinking to excess. No man who drinks at all can be certain that he will not sometimes drink to excess. Business men and great corporations in America put a premium upon sobriety. A Swiss life insurance company has agreed to insure members of a railroad men's temperance society for 4 per cent. less than the premiums charged to non-members; and a Swiss accident insurance company which for some time has made rebate of 10 per cent. total abstainers is so well satisfied with the result that it will make the rebate 15 per cent. after 1905.—Raleigh News and Observer.

THE DRUMMER'S RAISE.

It Was a Great Surprise For a Short Time Only.

In one of the New York hotels much frequented by mercantile travelers a knot of drummers were seated at gossip of the trade after dinner. "What has become of Johnes?" asked one. "Haven't you heard about him?" replied the man addressed. "Have you not heard of his rise and downfall? Well, it was this way:

"You all know Johnes was the best seller Smithson & Co. had. Donald & Rathbone offered him a bigger salary if he would come with them, and he succumbed. Johnes was foxy and demanded a written contract for five years, which they gave him. It was $1,000 a year and expenses. Well, the first trip Johnes made he ran up against hard luck. Everything seemed to go against him. When he got back he was ashamed to show up at the office. He had not made his salary, let alone his expenses; but, to his great surprise and gratification, his employers greeted him rapturously. 'We know how things go sometimes, Mr. Johnes,' they said, 'but never mind; we are perfectly satisfied with your work.' And they sent him on a trip down south.

"That trip was worse than the first. When he got back he went into the office prepared for a roasting. Before he could say a word the head of the firm said: 'My dear Mr. Johnes, we are delighted with the energy you have shown. It is true the returns have not been great, but we appreciate what you have done. As a reward for your industry we intend to raise your salary $500 a year. Hereafter you will be paid weekly at that rate. Good day.'

"Johnes nearly fainted and pinched himself to see if he was awake when he got outside the office. At the end of the week Johnes drew his salary, which was computed at the new rate, and signed the usual receipt. A few days later he received a letter from the firm saying that his services were no longer required. Johnes was thunderstruck. He hurried to the office, flourished his contract and demanded an explanation.

"Your contract is no longer valid," said the head of the firm blandly. "You broke it by accepting an increase of salary. Good day."

"Johnes is temporarily out of the business. He wants now to know whether that is good law or not. Is it?"

None of the assembled commercial travelers could tell him.—New York Press.

A Clever Rebuke.

A young man dwelling on the borderland of aristocracy, where, as George Eliot says, annexation becomes a burning question, was entertaining a group on a hotel piazza. With great freedom he swung into the conversation by their familiar abbreviations the names that decorate the society columns. At length a woman, gazing pensively out at sea from the depths of a shaker rocker, turned toward the young man and, bending over the arm, said: "My dear sir, you have buried a man who was alive on Friday. Such haste is not seemly. You have divorced a woman now happily wedded. This is premature. But when you marry my husband to another woman, I must reproach you. My dear sir, you should respect the law if not the gospel."

At the Spanish Court.

Christmas in Spain begins with the midnight mass, when the king and queen mother, accompanied by the grandees of the court, magnificently attired, go in state procession to the chapel royal of the palace in Madrid. On Christmas morning the king and court again attend mass in state, after which the day is spent in merrymaking. In the afternoon the adoration of the manger takes place, when a representation of the scene in Bethlehem is unveiled in the great hall of the palace. There is also a Christmas tree, from which Alfonso distributes gifts. Throughout the ensuing twelve days the court is all benevolence and gaiety, and every great institution in Madrid shares in the royal almsgiving. The festival closes Jan. 6.

The Dinner.

The great event of the old Christmas dinner four or five hundred years ago was the entry of the chief cook bearing the boar's head, garnished with rosemary.

A Christmas Pessimist.

A pessimist, I take it, is a grownup man whose cause is to prove the wicked doctrine that there is no Santa Claus.

Never in the way, no trouble to carry, easy to take, pleasant and never failing in results are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills are a certain guarantee against headache, biliousness, torpid liver and all of the ills resulting from constipation. They tonic and strengthen the liver. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

A coward is a man who knows he's wrong and refuses to admit it.

For sunburn, tetter and all skin and scalp diseases, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has no equal. It is a certain cure for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles. It will draw the fire out of a burn and heal without leaving a scar. Boils, old sores, carbuncles, etc., are quickly cured by the use of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Accept no substitute as they are often dangerous and undependable. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

Opportunity makes the man after the man has made the opportunity.

FOURTH STREET GREENVILLE N. C

Broken and Mended.

On swept the little red automobile that was built for two.

"You—you seem so quiet," whispered the beautiful girl anxiously. "Is there anything about this machine that is broken?"

"Yes," hissed the tall man at her side bitterly. "My heart."

Feeling remorseful at having jilted him so cruelly, the beautiful girl leaned over and added:

"Cheer up, George! If your heart is really broken we can stop at a repair shop."

"Nonsense! What kind of a repair shop could mend a broken heart?"

"Why, the parsonage, George!"
Twenty minutes later the "repair shop" was reached.—Chicago News.

How Pendulums Began to Swing.

Various dates have been given to the invention of the pendulum clock, which superseded the old time water clocks, but the story goes that Galilei, who lived from 1564 to 1642, when standing one day in the Metropolitan church of Pisa noticed a lamp which was hanging from the ceiling and which, having been moved by accident, continued for some time to swing backward and forward with some regularity. Noticing the path to and fro of its movements, Galilei was induced to think out the method, which is at once so simple and so certain, by which we can now measure time by means of the combination of wheels and pendulum.

Underhanded Methods.

"George," sharply demanded Mrs. Ferguson, "what was it you cut out of this paper?"

"It was this, Laura," responded Mr. Ferguson, promptly producing the clipping from his vest pocket and handing it over.

It was an article on the wastefulness and extravagance of housewives, and he knew, the designing wretch, that in no other way could he have succeeded in bringing it to Mrs. Ferguson's attention.

Substantial American men and women are going to keep up with the times and they are going to take the shortest cut which is the Review of Reviews.

The Cosmopolitan A leading magazine for 18 years With the recent change of ownership it has been improved. It is far better in every respect, and aims to be the best in the field. Every year or so there's one notable advance in the forward movement among the many magazines. This year it is the Cosmopolitan.

Woman's Home Companion The Woman's Home Companion is for every member of the family. For our bright, earnest, cultured, home loving American woman it is an ideal entertainer and helper in a thousand congenial ways; but the fathers and brothers and sons join in its perusal by the fireside; children eagerly turn to the pages that are written for them.

The American Farmer is the leading Agricultural paper of the country, and pertains to farming, live stock and poultry raising. Every farmer should have it
