WINTERVILLE NOTES

Interesting Items from Our Hustling Neighbor.

WINTERVILLE, N. C. Jan. 13 1906.

The Bank of Winterville has begun doing business, as a sight draft was drawn on it this week. They will be ready for business in full in a few days.

G. G. Fineman has been in town this week.

John Nokes, of Greenville, was in town Friday evening.

Frank Carroll, one of the prosperous farmers of the Black Jack vicinity was in town Friday evening buying goods by the wholesale from A. W. Ange & Co.

Miss Olivia Cox, who is teaching at Grifton, came home Friday evening to spend Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. E. E. Cox.

J. R. Smith, of Ayden, was in town Friday evening. He is a member of the progressive firm of J. R. Smith & Bro., in Ayden, and he is always a welcome visitor to our town.

F. F. Tucker went to Greenville Thursday evening.

B. F. Manning & Co., are buying their spring goods now and will be ready to serve you when the season opens.

It looks like a broad mistake that the News and Observer made when they printed 145 for 440, for the library at the Winterville High school received 440 books at one time this session, and in place of 40 per cent. of the pupils being boarding pupils this year, it was that the school opened with 40 per cent. more boarding pupils than ever before.

Mrs. Anna Whitfield, of Robersonville, is visiting her father Bennett Speight, who lives near Reuston.

Miss Delia Smith, of Ayden, was in town Friday evening.

Miss Olivia Cox went to Greenville this morning to attend the teachers meeting.

Clyde Daughtey went to Greenville this morning.

Prof. G. E. Lineberry went to Greenville this morning to attend the teachers meeting.

Last Wednesday the students of Winterville High school, who are especially interested in instrumental music, organized "The Young Musicians' Perseverance club." They elected officers as follows: Miss Maud Mooring, president; Miss Rosabel Taylor, vice president; Miss Ward Moore, secretary; Miss Venitia Cox, librarian; and Misses Janie Kittrell and Clyde Harrison program committee. They selected for their motto, "Never give up the good begun, however hard, till it is done." They will meet every Wednesday and no doubt will do much to promote musical intelligence in every direction that pupils may learn to play without fear, to study with more definite purpose, to gain knowledge of the great composers, it will cause them to do their work with pleasure and to have higher ideals in music. This is only another mark that shows the progressive spirit of the school and the keen interest of the teachers in their work.

THE GOLDEN AGE.

A Magazine That All Should Have

The Golden Age is a new magazine designed to interest children and at the same time instruct them. Though published in New York it is really of North Carolina origin. Its North Carolina character is shown in the personnel of the publishing company, and in some of the contributors to the magazine.

OFFICERS OF THE COMPANY.

All the officers of the Junior Publishing, the proprietor and publisher of The Golden Age, are, with one exception, originally North Carolinians:

President, Supt. Jno. H. Haaren, of the New York City schools.

Vice President, David F. St. Clair, originally of Moore county, at one time editor of the Charlotte Chronicle, and later of Success magazine, New York.

Treasurer, Logan D. Howell, once superintendent of schools at Tarboro, later at Goldsboro, and afterwards at Raleigh.

Secretary, Frank C. Mebane, formerly of Buckingham county.

These, with Hayne Davis, formerly of Statesville, are the directors of the company.

CONTRIBUTORS.

The Golden Age is edited by Logan D. Howell. Among the contributors during 1906 will be: Ex-Governor Aycock.

Lieutenant-Governor Winston. President Potat, Wake Forest College.

Professor Cobb, of the University.

Professor Mims, of Trinity College.

Professor Burkett, of the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Superintendent Blair, of Wilmington.

THE FIRST NUMBER.

The first number has just been published. It presents the most attractive appearance of all the holiday magazines, containing many articles of especial interest to North Carolinians.

The front is ornamented with a picture in three colors, of the birth of Jesus. This picture is the work of Miss Caroline Fulghum, of the Goldsboro graded school.

The whole appearance of The Golden Age is handsome and artistic to a degree. It is liberally illustrated, and with pictures that appeal to children.

THE WORK OF BOYS AND GIRLS.

An attractive feature of The Golden Age is the amateur department, stories written and illustrated by school boys and girls. The editor invites the young writers and artists to contribute to this department.

The stories may be true narratives of something the writer has seen or done, or a description of some interesting thing, place, or person, or they may be fiction. But everything must be original; no reproductions are wanted.

The pictures may be either drawings or photographs of anything interesting.

A VALUABLE PRESENT.

The Golden Age is the best present that can be given to a boy or girl.

USEFUL TO TEACHERS.

It is of value to teachers in that it supplies material for supplementary work in literature, English composition, history, geography, nature, music and civics.

THE PRICE.

Price $1.00 a year; 10 cents a copy. Miss Ophelia Howell, of Goldsboro, is now in Greenville canvassing for The Golden Age and will be glad to take your order.

QUINERLY SCHOOL BURNED.

Building And Contents Entirely Destroyed

About 11 o'clock Friday night the Quinerly school building, located about 4 miles from Grifton, was destroyed by fire, including all the school furniture and library. How the fire originated is a mystery, as the roof of the building was falling in when first discovered by people of the neighborhood. Nothing whatever could be saved from the building. The school had dismissed at the usual hour Friday afternoon, and the fires in the heaters had not been replenished since noon, so it was not thought any fire was left in the building.

The Quinerly school had about the best rural school building in the county, costing above $1,000, was well equipped and had a splendid library. Its destruction is a serious loss. Messrs. L. J. Chapman and J. P. Quinerly, two of the trustees, came to Greenville on the morning train to consult with County Superintendent W. H. Ragsdale about the matter, and the latter tells us that immediate arrangements will be made for the school to continue until the building can be replaced. The school has 64 pupils and is the pride of all that section.

A HARD JOB?

Yes, And We'll All See It When Its Done.

A man who loves a joke and always has an answer ready for the over inquisitive, got a chance to put in some of his work yesterday and came in to let us help him laugh over it. The joker happened to be standing on the corner while civil engineers were taking levels on the street near the court house. One of the want-to-know-it-all came along and asked "What are those fellows over there going to do to the court house?" "Oh, they are going to move it back fifteen feet further from the street to make more room for the new railroad to come through," was the reply he got. And the inquisitive fellow went on believing it, but added as he took a further look at the temple of justice "I'll bet its a right hard job to move it."

The Golden Age.

Miss Ophelia Howell, of Goldsboro, is here canvassing for The Golden Age. This is a new magazine, but from the Southern standpoint, is one of the best published. While Published in New York, it is practically a North Carolina enterprise, its corps of contributors and editors being chiefly in this State.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

A part of the building being erected for the Crystal Ice Company at Washington, collapsed Thursday. Four workmen narrowly escaped being caught under the falling wall.

A movement has been started at Greensboro to organize a $750,000 fire insurance company. Men from various parts of the state are interested in it.

The Piedmont Immigration society has been organized at Greensboro with representatives from ten counties.

Charlotte has had three fires during the past week.

Fulcher & Lewis are here with another boat load of nice fresh oysters.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday, with occasional rain.

CHANGE THE DATE.

And Give the Teachers Better Weather.

The teachers do have the luck of it in getting the dates for their meetings all mixed up with bad weather. If it keeps on this way second Saturdays will be looked on as altogether bad days. And those teachers who only see Greenville on the dates of meeting will be looking on us as having the worst mud hole on the top side of the earth. Lets change the date and see if we can't strike better weather for the meetings. On pretty days Greenville looks lots better than it does now.

SERVICES TOMORROW.

Christian Church.

At the Christian church tomorrow the services will be as follows: Ten a. m. Bible school; 11 a. m. preaching by the minister, subject: Some More Decrees of the Modern Gods. This is another installment of Sunday morning's sermon. Some folks objected very strongly to that sermon, one man said that we never did get so far off the track. Why? Because we stand for the absolute truth of God's Word. We will talk tomorrow about the chances of the "Moral Man" for salvation.

Junior Endeavor at 2 p. m. Senior Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. Preaching at 7:15, subject: The Church the hope of the Nation. The Nation must be regenerated. The infusion of new rich red life-blood must come from somewhere. Can the church furnish it?

A Give Away.

Robbie's father, according to Lip-pincott's Magazine, had a friend call.

After they had chatted a few minutes the only cigar on the table was offered to the guest, so Robbie went upstairs for a fresh box. As the boy reached the top stair his father was startled to hear:

"Which kind, papa? Do you want those you smoke yourself or the kind you give away?"

Catching Turtles.

A curious mode of catching turtles is practiced in the West Indies. It consists in attaching a ring and a line to the tail of a species of sucker fish, which is then thrown overboard and immediately makes for the first turtle he can spy, to which he attaches himself very firmly by means of a sucking apparatus arranged on the top of his head. The fisherman then hauls both turtle and sucking fish in.

Wonderful Strength of the Beetle.

A noted entomologist who has been writing on the wonderful feats of strength as exhibited in the beetle family tells the following: "I selected a common blackwater beetle weighing 4.2 grains and found that he was able to carry a load of shot in a small bag, the whole weighing 8 1/4 ounces, or exactly 858 times the weight of the bug. If a man weighing 150 pounds could carry as much accordingly he could shoulder a forty-five ton locomotive and then chain a train of cars together and take the whole lot across the country at a five mile an hour gait."

SATURDAY, JAN. 13th, 1906

Wonder is Greensboro jealous of Charlotte having so many fires.

The bad roads now make need for all recruits the courts can send to work on them.

Mrs Chadwick appears again, this time on her way to the penitentiary to begin her ten years sentence.

Wonder if the Standard Oil Company is buying up all the timber lands it can get hold of with the idea of making the people take to oil for fuel.

The Wilmington Star invites advertisements for the North Pole. That is one of the bright ways the Star has, but we notice it does not offer a guarantee.

It is a waste of breath to abuse bad roads unless you are willing to do something to make them better. But the bad roads impose a heavy indirect tax on the people.

Mr Howell and Mr. Smith in their speeches can only give a "repetition" of what they have already said in their papers. Does not look like there is room for them to say anything new.

We notice that an ice factory in Washington is preparing to increase its output to fifty tons a day. If Washington affords such a demand as that for ice, we do not see why an ice factory in Greenville would not be a profitable enterprise.

Berkley, Va., has been annexed to Norfolk and has become a part of the latter city. The next step in that direction should be the annexation of Portsmouth. Norfolk is going to be the greatest seaport city on the Southern coast, and the consolidation of the several municipalities there that are only separated by a river would be a great step in that direction. They are practically one in point of location and ought to be one in name.

The man who is constantly looking for an "easy time" is not the kind who brings development and progress. There's no demand for that sort of a man, but there's plenty of places for the man who buckles down to work and puts forth his best effort and doesn't complain about not getting as much as he's worth. This reminds us, too, that the fellow who's worth the most and does the best work is not apt to make much complaint about his salary, but it's generally the fellow who merely "kills time" and draws his that makes the biggest noise about the value of his services. -Louisburg Progress.

The Strikes of a Prosperous Year

It is a sort of truism that strikes are concomitants or symptoms of prosperity rather than of industrial adversity. The theory is that men do not take serious risks on "a falling market," and that, as a rule demands for wage advances, shorter workdays, and other improvements are made upon employers when their profits are substantial and their trade prospects bright.

The year 1905 has been a prosperous one, and employment was abundant. Certain sections, especially in the South, have actually complained of a scarcity of labor in manufacturing industries. But the period of readjustment that a revival of activity ushers in must have been well advanced when the year opened, for the twelvemonth under review has been characterized by comparative freedom from warfare really disturbing a national production and enterprise.

Strike statistics, like other statistics, may be used in a loose, misleading way. There are strikes and strikes, and a few labor capital contests of one kind may be infinitely more significant—or ominous—than scores of strikes of another kind. To determine the place of the year 1905 in a philosophical history of the industrial and social movement, it is necessary to estimate, properly the character of the conflicts it witnessed, in addition to knowing their number and distribution.

According to the report of the secretary of the American Federation of Labor, there were 1,157 strikes during the year ended Oct. 31st. The record for the calendar year 1905 cannot be materially different.

The figures are distinctly surprising at first sight, but one must bear in mind that the great majority of the strikes of any year wholly escape not only general, but even local, attention. It is somewhat reassuring to learn that not more than 107,000 working men and women were involved in the total number of strikes named. The inference from this idea of information coincides with the general impression that, in a comparative sense, to repeat, the year has been tolerably peaceful. It has been an extraordinary one, nevertheless, in the fundamental truths it has brought home to organized labor. It has taught the public many lessons, though the important strikes—those that were more than local issues—may be counted on the fingers of one hand.—From "The Strikes and Lockout of 1905," by Victor S. Yarros, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews.

Keep The Little Ones Out Of The Fire.

With the repeated warning in the way of accounts in the newspapers of horrible accidents resulting from people leaving their children alone in their houses it would seem that there would be an end of this species of criminal negligence on the part of parents, but at this season of the year there is frequent account of such accidents to the little ones. There is another class of accidents of his kind which occurs during this period of the year which, though not caused by the same gross carelessness as the other, still could be avoided in most cases if more care was observed by the grown people in care of the little ones. This is where children, in dressing or sitting around the fire, are allowed to become too careless of the danger of their clothes catching fire from the flames. Last week one small town in this state experienced two sad instances of this kind. In both cases two small children were burned to death as the result of their parents or those in charge of them not exercising proper precaution to keep the little ones from exposing their clothing to the flames in the fireplaces before which they were sitting. It may seem a trivial matter to caution parents against such danger, but danger it is and none can be too careful where there are little children around an open fireplace or a red hot stove.—Wilmington Messenger.

There is this much in favor of the farmers who hold their cotton: If it does not go as high as they hope it certainly does not look like it can go low enough to hurt them. You are not going to see any of the present crop sell below ten cents.

Greenville, N. C., Jan. 6, 1906, Messrs. Baker & Hart. Gentlemen: Please send me by bearer a bottle of liquid Veneer. I would be glad if you were to keep the article on hand all the time as it is undoubtedly the greatest polishing and cleaning device of today, besides that it creates a brilliancy unaccomplished by other preparations. It cuts fly spees and gummy substances where other oils will only do the work imperfectly.

Yours truly,

How Gowan's Pneumonia Cure Cures Colds, Sore Throat, Croup, Pneumonia—All of them Ills that Come from Colds—And the Reasons Why

When you have a cough or a pain in the chest, your cold is settling there—and this is very dangerous. Most of the deaths in winter begin just this way. Wherever your cold is centered, there you must apply the remedy. Either on your chest or throat. Now when you take an internal remedy it has to pass through the stomach. Often it wrecks your digestion and never gets to your lungs at all. Gowan's Pneumonia Cure is external. It penetrates—goes right in to the seat of the trouble, and soothes at once the irritated lungs or throat. It casts out the germs of cold, consumption, pneumonia—all evil germs. That is, it makes the lungs strong to cast these germs out.

READ THESE TWO LETTERS
"I will spare no pains to call the attention of my friends to this valuable medicine."
Mrs. J. R. GILL, Superintendent Male Orphan Asylum, Richmond, Va.
"I have used Gowan's Pneumonia Cure, and I think it is the best medicine in the world. I feel sure it saved my mother's life last fall."
F. O. LEAR, with Lipfert-Scales Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.
Gowan's is powerful, but also harmless. It is an absolute safeguard against croup. Every mother should keep a bottle in the house. Cure your cold, cough, chest pains—today. Immediate relief—sure cure in Gowan's. Large bottle, $1.00; croup size, 25 cents. Sent by mail, if desired.

LIFE IN WASHINGTON.

Congressman's Efforts to Save Part of His Salary.

To the average Kansan $5,000 a year looks like easy affluence. The fortunate person with an income of that dimension is popularly supposed to live at the intersection of Velvet avenue and Easy street. A congressman is esteemed a fortunate individual indeed, since he has a certain income of $5,000 a year and a position to which are attached various perquisites not allotted to those in the humbler walks of life. In this connection, therefore, the experience of a certain Kansas congressman who thought to save money from his salary is interesting.

"When I was elected," said the congressman in question, "I expected to save half my salary. It was my plan to put away $2,500 a year. I had a small family, we had modest tastes, and I had never had a great deal of money to spend. We had always lived economically—we had to. We went to Washington, my wife and I. We stopped the first day at an ordinary hotel. The fare was no better than we had at home, the furniture and carpets not particularly better than those in our own house. The conveniences could have been duplicated in the hotels of my home town. When I came to settle my bill I found I was paying for the accommodation at the rate of $8 a day.

"I have since tried all of the methods of living in Washington which had an economical turn of mind suggested—boarding, furnished and unfurnished apartments and detached houses. I find the result the same. Washington gets all my money. We do not attempt to splurge. We live as quietly and modestly as the average family in a small town. In going my errands to the departments I ride on the street cars. Our method of living is predicated on the street car basis. But I can't beat the Washington game. I spend all my salary on living expenses, and we are no better off financially than we were before I was elected to congress."

So far as financial returns are concerned, being in congress is no better than being head bookkeeper at the store or foreman at the shop. A salary of $1,000 in a small town buys ordinarily as much comfort and recreation as a salary of $5,000 in a city. It isn't what you get that matters. It is where you have to spend it.—Topeka Capital.

The Origin of Mrs. Grundy.

How many who daily use the name of Mrs. Grundy have any idea of her origin? It is generally believed that Dickens was somehow responsible for her, but a writer in the Dundee Advertiser points out that this is an utter mistake. The real creator of Mrs. Grundy was Thomas Morton, the dramatist (born 1764, died 1838), the father of the author of "Box and Cox," and she is referred to in his comedy, "Speed the Plow," which was first performed in 1798. Mrs. Grundy is not a character in that play. She is merely a mysterious personage whom Dame Ashfield, the farmer's wife, constantly quotes, much in the same way as Sairey Gamp alludes to Mrs. Harris.

Place For Valuables.

They were on their honeymoon. The big bridegroom was so proud of his little wife that he could not resist the temptation to take the hotel clerk into his confidence.

"Say," he whispered, leaning over the desk, "my wife is a jewel."

"In that case, sir," chuckled the hotel clerk, "I really cannot allow her to go up to the bridal suit."

The bridegroom gasped in astonishment.

"What! Can't let her go up into the bridal suit? Why not?"

"Because I will have to put her in the safe. That is the place for jewels."—Chicago News.

What He Said.

"You saw those walnuts?"

"I never saw a walnut."

"You must be blind. There were thousands of them."

"Very likely, but I never saw one."

"Why, look; I can see them from here."

"So can I."

"Just now you said you couldn't see one."

"Excuse me, I said nothing of the kind. What I said was that I never saw one. And I never do; I always use nutcrackers."

(BROMOZONE.)

Bromonia is a product as near capable of curing the majority of diseases as it is possible for Modern Science to produce. The use of Bromonia makes pure blood. Bromonia is not a miracle but simply the result of the scientific investigation of the greatest chemists of the present century. At the first symptoms of fatigue headache or backache, which are often the forerunners of disease, send for your physician if you will, but, if you take Bromonia, you may find that by the time he has answered your call, that the symptoms have disappeared.

Use Bromonia as directed. Live a temperate life. If you become ill while so doing, we will pay any reasonable doctor's bill on demand and proof of illness. We don't want you to invest a cent, however, until we have bought the first bottle for you. Fill in the coupon under this advertisement and mail it to us, taking care to write your name and address plainly, and we will send you without any cost to you whatever a full size package to try. We wish to extend to all our customers and friends very best wishes for a happy and prosperous NEW YEAR together with our sincere appreciation of their liberal patronage during the past season, which we shall endeavor to deserve.

We are now making preparation for the biggest year's business any firm in Eastern North Carolina has ever known. Leather, Cotton Goods, and Wool are advancing rapidly, therefore for the protection of our customers we are placing large orders as far in advance as the factories will accept them.

Our after Christmas clearing and stock adjusting sale will commence with the New Year. The holiday rushing has left us with broken lots, odd sizes and season goods such as the economical shopper is always on the lookout for. These goods will be sacrificed during this Great Clearance Sale and the prices will reach the lowest limit.
