IN THE BLOSSOMS BY AND BY.

Don't you mind the blizzard
When it howls around the sky—
There'll be a bird a singin'
In the blossoms by-an' by!

Don't you mind the trouble
When it's breathin' out a sigh—
Joy'll set the light to dancin'
In the blossoms by an'-by!

An' we'll reach the pleasant pastures,
An' Heaven won't seem so high,
For our dreams will breathe it
In the blossoms by-an' by—

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

John G. Tarwater, of Warrenton, committed suicide by shooting himself.

Superior court in Durham came to an end Tuesday because of the death of Judge G. S. Ferguson's
mother which occurred at Waynesville. She was 95 years old and leaves 196 living descendants.

Mrs. Josephine Hardy, aged 76 years, and mother of H. B.
Hardy, died Tuesday at the latter's home in Raleigh. It has been only ten days since Mr. Hardy lost his wife, and his friends throughout the state sympathize with him
in this double affliction.

T. K. Bruner, secretary of the State board of agriculture, is authority for the statement that Governor Glenn will, late in February or early in March, issue a call for a convention to be held in Raleigh
to be attended by representatives from all organizations and institutions interested in the immigration movement.

SUPERIOR COURT.

List of the Cases Tried.

Joe Simpkins, assault with deadly weapon, pleads guilty, fined $5
and costs.

J. H. Kittrell and J. H. Wilson, assault with deadly weapon, both guilty, fined $5 each and costs.

Charlie Joyner, carrying concealed weapon, pleads guilty, fined $20 and costs.

One divorce was granted, and judgment was entered in another of the wreck cases against the Atlantic Coast Line which had been compromised.

The grand jury having completed its work was discharged for the term. Judge Long complimented them for their efficiency and thanked them for the assistance
they have rendered the court.

France And Venezuela.

Paris, January 24.—President
Loubet presided today at a cabinet
counsel held in the Elysee Palace at which Premier Rouvier announced that he had received a communication from Ambassador Jusserand to the effect that the United States does not consider a French naval demonstration against Venezuela to be a violation of the Monroe doctrine. France, it is pointed out, thus has her hands
free, but the situation is unchanged for the moment, as the council will not take decisive action until the report of M. Taigny, the former charge d'affaires.

LOVITT'S SLAYERS ON TRIAL.

JERRY COBB SURRENDERS TO OFFICERS AT FARMVILLE.

He and Sylvester Barrett Placed on Trial.

Jerry Cobb, the other negro against whom the grand jury found a true bill for murder, for the killing of Constable W. J. Lovitt near Farmville, Saturday night,
on Wednesday surrendered himself to officers at Farmville. Officer T.
H. Smith brought Cobb, and two other negroes as witnesses in the case, to Greenville, reaching here a little past 5 o'clock. Cobb was immediately arraigned before Judge Long, and as the trial for Barrett had already been set for this morning both were included together.

There was a large crowd in the court room this morning when the case was called.

Mr. F. G. James appeared with Solicitor L. I. Moore for the State and Col. I. A. Sugg, Messrs. F. C.
Harding and Julius Brown represented the defendants. Counsel for defense asked for severance of the case given them separate trials, but this was not granted and the selection of the jury began. The regular jurors for the week were first called and five of them accepted. The venire of forty was then called. Out of these the other seven were chosen leaving the venire two short of being exhausted.

The jury as empanelled consisted of Jesse Tyson, H. A. Paramore, Henry Edwards, Charles Dudley,
J. F. Boyd, Jr., J. H. Byrum, J.
M. Williams, A. B. Kittrell, J. C.
Stocks, James Harrington, J. R.
Jenkins and J. I. James.

The first witness called was
DR. J. E. NOBLES

I examined body said to be that Walter Lovitt, at his father's home near Farmville, Sunday afternoon.
Found wound in upper part of abdomen about four inches above
seavel, about a inch in diameter, wound ragged to right of middle line and almost horizontal. Witness extracted shot from wound which were exhibited. They are No. 4 shot. Hemorrhage resulting from wound caused death. Some fragments of clothing were also found in wound. The shot was fired at near range.

Cross examination—I was called there by coroner. These ten shot are all I extracted from wound,
they came from in and around liver; no shot went entirely through body. It was clear, solid wound, nearly round, inch or little more in diameter. I know no particulars of the killing. The wound was from a gun almost against body.

J. F. CASE.

I was near scene of killing also
at house when body was examined.
It was Walter Lovitt's body. He was constable of Farmville township. I saw defendants Cobb and Barrett between sunset and dark Saturday evening. Was driving along road and saw them and others in road, they stopped us from passing at first. I got off wagon with shovel to push them out of way. They got the advantage of me, were also cursing. Cobb snatched shovel from me and began fighting with it, broke Mr. Smith's arm and knocked my thumb out of place. Cobb and Barrett had knife and pistol. I went back to Farmville. Saw Walter Lovitt

leave there to go after negroes. I was deputized and went on, also Dick Carr and Henry Lovitt. I drove by these and went to Jerry Cobb's house, knocked at door,
found no one, went back meeting others as far as Watt Parker's. I stopped there and Cobb and Barrett passed me walking side by side towards Farmville, saw no one else pass in same direction.
This was 25 or 50 steps from where shooting occurred.

[During the examination of this witness court took recess until 2:30
p. m.]

BURGLARY IN SECOND DEGREE.

Sentenced to 25 Years in Penitentiary.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday night
the jury in the case of Lon James Donald, on trial for burglary, returned a verdict of guilty in second degree. This case began Monday afternoon and was given to the jury just before adjournment of the court Tuesday evening and the verdict was reached Wednesday night.

When the verdict was rendered there was some discussion between counsel and the court as to whether the verdict should be accepted or set aside.

The defendant was represented in the trial by Col. I. A. Sugg, Messrs. Preston Cotteu and Stephen Wooten. The verdict as rendered by the jury was finally accepted.

This morning at the opening of court Judge Long sentenced Donald to 25 years in the state prison
at hard labor.

OPTIONS CLOSED.

Deeds Taken for Raleigh & Pamlico Depot Site.

The options taken recently upon property here on which to locate the depot for the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound railroad expired on Wednesday, and we are told by Mr. L. I. Moore who is interested in and acting for the railroad, that the options were closed and deeds taken for the property.

This property selected for the depot site is located on Dickinson avenue and extends back across Ninth street taking in the old Greenville warehouse site on Ninth and South Pitt streets. It is a splendid location for the depot.

Mr. Moore also tells us that work is being pushed rapidly on the construction of the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound road, and he thinks it will reach Greenville in twelve months.

Russell Sage dropped a cent on Broad way the other day. But the serious part of this anecdote is that after a search of only an hour
two, the grand old man walked on.
This is said to be the first money
your uncle has foolishly wasted
since 1847.—Times Dispatch.

PERSONAL MENTION.

was here today.

G. G. Fineman went up the road
this morning.

ton Wednesday evening.

den.

torney of the Atlantic Coast Line,

J. G. Moye.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Outterbridge

Mrs. C. J. Forbes, went to La-Grange, this morning to visit her daughter Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley.

THREATENED BY ANARCHISTS.

Governor Glenn Among Intended Victims.

Fred B. Warren wires the following to the Raleigh News and Observer:

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 24.— Fearing for several years to raise their heads because of a popular wrath that might adopt violent measures against them for causing the death of President McKinley, anarchists have again leagued together to threaten, blackmail and perhaps seek the lives of various officials in the United States. In three Western Pennsylvania was batches of anarchistic letters and literature were unearthed yesterday and today, among which were found letters suggesting the assassination of Governor Pennypacker,
of Pennsylvania; Governor Pattison of Ohio, and a dispatch to a sensational afternoon newspaper
includes the name of Governor Robert B. Glenn, of North Carolina, as one of the "marked" executors.

The sudden distribution of anarchistic literature in increased quantities is said to come from an organization known as the Liberto Sociologia, of 495 Madison avenue, Patterson, N. J., a city which has long been a hot-bed of anarchy.

The city was the scene of the notorious silk riots in which many persons were slain by anarchists
who were able to place the blame upon the silk operatives then on strike.

Two more murders were today
added to the Pennsylvania "Black Hand's" list of victims. In each instance the victim had refused to pay over money to black mailers.

In today's list of marked men
Governor Glenn's name is the only Southern executive mentioned.

It has got to be howling cold
once more.

Rain and warmer tonight and Friday.

This is just another of the change
in the weather.

The recent warm days started
some of the trees to budding.

GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings of Interest Over the Country.

In an automobile tournament at Ormond, Fla., the record was made of a mile in 321.5 seconds.

Gen. Joseph Wheeler, who is at the home of his sister in Brooklyn,
has a mild attack of pneumonia.

A compress containing 9,500
bales of cotton, at Jackson, Miss., was destroyed by fire. The loss is placed at $750,000.

A dispatch from Cape Beale says
the steamer Valencia, of San Francisco, has been wrecked near there and one hundred people drowned.
Nine survivors have reached Cape
Beale lighthouse.

As to Cotton to the Acre.

We copied Thursday from the Lumber Edge correspondence of The Lumberton Robesonian the statement that last year Mr. N.
Shaw, of Robeson county, raised thirty bales of cotton on six acres.
The Observer has told of some large yields of cotton in this county, among others of one production of two bales on an acre. Now comes The Newton Enterprise and tells of Mr.
George Bolick, of Catawba, having made four bales of 425 pounds each on two and a half acres; and Catawba is further westward than any county in the State that grows any cotton at all. We all talk—and with good reason—of the great progress and improvement of North Carolina in all lines of endeavor, but the State is improving in nothing so much as in its agriculture. It has been but a few years since a bale of cotton to the acre—and then on small patches, specially prepared and cultivated—was regarded as extraordinary, and indeed it was.
Now it doesn't attract any attention,
and presently, if our farmers continue to improve their methods, it will be the common thing—not the rule, perhaps, but still common.— Charlotte Observer.

A POPULAR COMPANY.

They Delight Greenville People.

The little folks were delighted with the matinee given by the Corinne Runkel Co., in the opera house, Wednesday evening, as well as with the reception held by the company after the play in which refreshments were served.

"The Old Homestead" at night
was greeted by an immense audience, the largest of the engagement.

This closed the engagement of the Corinne Runkel Co., here.
They so pleased our people that they may expect a hearty welcome
if they come this way again.

Greenville Boy Promoted.

J. M. Taft, who has for some months been agent of the Atlantic Coast Line at Kingsboro, a little station between Tarboro and Rocky Mount, has been promoted to the agency for the same company at Gates. John is another of "our boys" who made his start in this office and is climbing upward on the ladder of success. We congratulate him.

G. W. and the Bible.

Joseph has a very exalted opinion of his grandmother's knowledge of all things and likewise of "the father of his country," about whom many stories have been woven to the youngster's delight. Not long ago an older brother—Joseph boasted of some four years—came rushing into the room with:

"Say, grandma, what was George Washington's politics?"

Grandma was busily planning a garment and paid little attention to the question, answering, with unusual dreaminess:

"Oh, I don't know."

Joseph stopped in his play and looked at her for a moment. Then he said:

"Don't know! Well, you ought to. You read your Bible enough."

—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Ruling Passion.

A dying miser sent for his solicitor and said:

"Now, begin, and I will dictate particulars."

"I give and bequeath," commenced the man of law.

"No, no," interrupted the testator. "I do nothing of the kind. I will never give and bequeath anything. I cannot do it."

"Well, then," suggested the attorney, after some consideration, "suppose you say, 'I lend until the last day?'"

"Yes, yes. That will do," eagerly rejoined the miser.—London Tit-Bits.

Ingratitude.

Grace, aged five, had just recovered from measles, when her small brother took the same complaint. Upon becoming convalescent he was one day sitting up in bed munching a sponge cake while his sister sat looking on. By various means she tried to induce him to part with a bit of the dainty, but the invalid took no notice. He ate steadily on until the last bits were disappearing, when Grace could stand it no longer. She exclaimed indignantly: "Just look at him! He won't give me a crumb. It was me that give him the measles!"

Perfection can only be attained in the physical by allowing Nature to appropriate and not dissipate her own resources. Catarrhs gripe, weaken—dissipate while DeWitt's Little Early Riser simply expel all putrid matter and bile, thus allowing the liver to assume normal activity. Good for the complexion. Sold by John L. Wooten.

N. B. Truth, St. Paul, June 31, '08—I've lived so long, I remember well when the Mississippi was a brook. My good health and long life came by taking Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents. Wooten's Drug Store.

Many a man smiles and says nothing is a lair.

For coughs and colds no remedy is equal to Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar—the Liquid Cold Cure. It is different from all others—better, because it expels all cold from the system by acting as a cathartic on the bowels. Gives strength to weak lungs. Affords immediate relief in Croup, Coughs, Colds, etc. Sold by John L. Wooten.

A little love, a little wealth,
A little home for you and me;
It's all I ask except good health,
Which comes with Rocky Mountain Tea.
Wooten's Drug Store.

One Minute Cough Cure contains not an atom of any harmful drug, and it has been curing Coughs, Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough so long that it has proven itself to be a tried and true friend to the many who use it. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

It's so much easier to borrow trouble than to pay debts;

Men are judged by the company they keep, but it isn't as easy to size up a woman by her hat. Judge her by the amount of Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea she takes. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. Wooten's Drug Store.

A reasonable amount of food thoroughly digested and properly assimilated will always increase the strength. If your stomach is a "little off" Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest what you eat and enable the digestive organs to assimilate and transform all foods into tissue building blood. Kodol relieves Sour Stomach, Belching, Heart Burn and all forms of Indigestion. Palatable and strengthening. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Any man who has nothing to worry him occasionally doesn't know he is alive:

Don't let your face grow old, sallow, hollow and wrinkled. If you care at all for beauty, take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. Wooten's Drug Store.

The soothing and comforting effects of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, when applied to Piles, cuts, sores, boils, etc., subdues pain almost instantly. This Salve draws out the inflammation, reduces swelling and acts as a rubefacient, thus circulating the blood through the diseased parts permitting or aiding Nature to permanently remove the trouble entirely. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

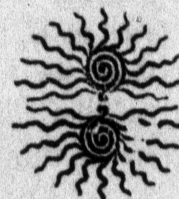

Indigestion is easily overcome by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, because this remedy digests what you eat and gives the stomach a rest—allows it to recuperate and grow strong again. Kodol relieves Indigestion, Belching of Gas, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, etc., and enables the digestive organs to transform all foods into the kind of rich red blood that makes health and strength. That Town Topics fellow in New York was good on a "scoop" when it came to dollars.

Many fires like that one at Jackson, Miss., will reduce the cotton crop to the high price basis.

Jacob Riis may think he is playing a strong card in suggesting President Roosevelt for a third term, but we do not believe the President will encourage it.

If Pitt county does not pull off a hanging it will perhaps be because it has caught the wrong man—Durham Herald.

Just watch us a little while until the result of the trial is announced.

In passing sentence Wednesday upon parties convicted of the illegal sale of whiskey, Judge Long said the record of this court has convinced him that bar rooms are a bad thing for Pitt county.

That Gaffney, S. C. woman whom squeraded in men's clothes around Kansas City, went the whole thing. She says she smoked, chewed, drank, and shaved to keep up appearances. That record beats many of the real article.

The Tenth the Minimum.

"Resolved, That we believe the Bible teaches that we should not give less than the tenth to the Lord's cause." Such is the resolution passed by the Baptist Ministers' Conference which met here this week. This will be an astonishing proposition to many who deem themselves as fairly liberal, but it is not strange doctrine to some, and there are some right here in Lumberton who live up to the principle, and it is these who make possible the forward steps in all good works. There is many a man in Robeson county that is banking the Lord's money or investing it in land or stocks. They will ask, can a man afford to give a tenth? But the real question is, can man afford to rob God? See Malachi.—Lumberton Argus.

One of the most encouraging reports in connection with the South is that just issued, showing the decrease in lynchings during the past year. There were only 65 in the South, the smallest number since 1885. Most of the victims were negroes, only five whites being in the list. Mississippi heads the list with 17. Georgia and Texas plays second, having had 11 each in the past year. North Carolina shows the much improved report of only one. While there were too many in the South and one too many in our State, still we are encouraged at the report. When rape is not committed in the South lynchings will practically cease and not until then. That this time may come speedily is our sincerest hope.—Charlotte News.

The Secular Press and Sunday School Lessons.

Within the past few years many papers of the secular press have introduced into their columns a study of the international Sunday School lesson. This is another indication that the managers of such papers not only have their own thoughts turned to the high and important truths of the Holy Scriptures, but that they desire to be instrumental in disseminating such truths amongst their readers. It indicates also that the readers of secular papers are glad to have at hand the literature which will help them in their weekly study of the Scriptures, and the publishers of papers have this as an added incentive to print such helpful comments on Bible texts. We believe that there are many evidences that the world is growing better. To be sure, we read more of crimes and ugly things than we did years ago, but our facilities of learning of such things are multiplying all the time—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

The Southern Cotton Association is getting to be a pretty good thing. We note that already it requires thirty bales of 10 cent cotton to pay the salary of the president of the North Carolina division, while the salaries of President Harvie Jordan and Mr. E. D. Smith, the National Organizer, each melts up the money from 100 bales. Secretary Cheatham's services command six bales a month, and there are numerous other expenses which it takes money to meet. All of which goes to show that the Southern Cotton Association is not sitting still and doing nothing—Gastonia Gazette.

The executive committee of the North Carolina branch of the Southern Cotton Association authorized the appointment of four assistants as organizers in the State. Col. J. S. Cunningham, ex-president, was voted $250 reimbursement and $50 will also be spent in purchasing a token of appreciation for his services during his term which recently expired. The salary of the president was fixed at $125 per month, with expenses for office and secretary and treasurer, the fixing of whose salary is left to the president. More than $5,000 has been so far subscribed. The committee will hold a meeting at an early date to decide as to other matters. The permanent office of the secretary will be located at Raleigh. The secretary will be required to spend all his time looking after the details of that office.

Some of the Virginia papers are urging the passage of the bill pending in the Legislature providing for all executions to take place in the State prisons doing away with local hangings. The idea is a good one. We do not know, though, that it would work so well in this State as we have only one State's prison and that is such a distance from the extreme western and northwestern sections of the State. This would make some of the executions quite expensive to the State or the county, whichever had to foot the bills—Wilmington Messenger.

ANCIENT SHOES.

The First Footwear Was Probably of Reeds or Skins.

Nobody knows who was the first shoemaker. There must have been a time when everybody went barefooted, and the first shoes were probably made of woven reeds or skins. The original shoemaker doubtless sought comfort more than style.

The Celt, who at times wandered over moor or morass, at others over mountains, invented a shoe that suited his purpose exactly. A sole of heavy hides protected his feet from the sharp stones, while uppers or legs of lighter skins protected his ankles and legs from thorns and bushes. The buskin was so constructed that the water exuded from it as soon as the foot ceased to be immersed. In the modern shoe the idea is that water be kept out, not let out.

The Celtic buskin was tough and elastic and could be replaced wherever there were untanned skins at hand. Every Celt was his own shoemaker.

With the Norman conquest came the introduction into the British Isles of tanned leather, which had long been in use in Normandy, where it had been introduced by the Romans.

Shoes then began to take on style, and the styles have never been duplicated in later days. From close fitting shoes fashion went to long, pointed toes, which in time grew so long that they had to be fastened to the wearer's knees.

Shoes were gorgeous affairs in the middle ages. King Richard, the lion hearted, had his boots stamped with gold. John Lackland, his brother, wore boots spotted with golden circles, while Henry III. wore boots checkered with golden lines, every square of which was enriched with a lion. Cardinal Wolsey's shoes were

Of gold and stone precious
Costing many a thousand pounds.

Sir Walter Raleigh wore shoes studded with diamonds said to have cost £80,000. The gallants in Charles II's time wore their high boot tops turned down to the ankles, to show the gorgeous lace with which they were lined.—Indianapolis News.

When You Speak.

Bishop Brooks of Boston occasionally used to surprise those not intimately acquainted with him by sitting silently while conversation was going on around him briskly. The bishop explained his rather unwonted taciturnity by relating that on one occasion while seated in a railroad train opposite an intelligent looking man the latter seemed about to say something. "I beg your pardon," said the bishop, "were you about to make a remark?" "No," was the reply. "Oh, I thought you looked as if you were going to say something to me," answered the bishop apologetically. "Yes, I am said to be very deceptive that way. I used to say things and make remarks as soon as I thought them. I have often thought I had something to say and discovered after I had said it that I ought to have kept silent." And the bishop would conclude his story by saying, "I have found myself in the same position more than once, so I do not speak until I am reasonably sure that I have something to say."

FINISHED POETRY.

Hard Labor as Much as Fine Frenzy a Factor in Its Production.

There are yet some persons left who fancy that poetry is the product of a fine frenzy; that the poet genius awakes from a sublimated cataleptic trance to fill page after page with effortless beautitudes. A number of manuscript sheets of Longfellow's "Excelsior," which may be found in Harvard, should not only explode this theory, but give hope to many a discouraged amateur. As Longfellow first constructed the first verse of this poem it ran:

The shades of night were falling fast
As through an Alpine village passed
A youth who, as the peasants sang,
Responded in an unknown tongue,
"Excelsior."

This was manifestly weak, as the only obvious reason why the Alpine peasants sang was that they might afford a rhyme for the youth's response in an unknown tongue. A second trial at the verse, however, not only failed to improve it, but arranged it in such form that it is difficult to believe Longfellow guilty of the fault. The last two lines of the verse were made to read:

A youth who bore a pearl of price,
A banner with the strange device.

There are not many even among the magazine poets of today who would consent to refer to a banner as "a pearl of price." But the poet had by this time three lines to his liking, and the substitution of "a youth who bore mid snow and ice" completed the verse as it has been read and spoken throughout the length and breadth of the land, all of which goes to show that the genius of the poet is in the conception and that the production of the poem, being quite another matter, lies solely in the direction of patient labor.

Convincing Evidence.

In the Afghan war of 1878 some British forces under the late Sir Montagu Gregory came upon the only Sikh temple in Afghanistan and heard the story of the laying of its cornerstone from a member of the gallant warrior tribe.

A Sikh who had saved the life of the ameer then reigning had received permission to erect a shrine. One of the native prophets was invited to be present at the laying of the cornerstone of the building; but, being unable to accept, he sent four bricks, one for each corner of the temple, and the message, "I will be with you in the spirit."

To make assurance doubly sure the prophet explained that by the sound of the rushing of horses through the air the people on the scene might time the arrival of himself and his disciples.

"Did you hear them?" inquired Sir Montagu at this point of the Sikh's recital.

"No, but I saw the bricks," replied the native, with perfect composure.

A Family Mix Up.

This always seemed to me a very funny story:

I married a widow who had a grownup daughter. My father visited us often, fell in love with my stepdaughter and married her. Thus he became my son-in-law, and my stepdaughter became my mother, because she was my father's wife. Soon after this my wife gave birth to a son, which of course was my father's son-in-law and my uncle, for he was the brother of my stepmother. My father's wife also became the mother of a son. He was of course my brother and also my grandchild, for he was the son of my daughter. Accordingly my wife was my grandmother, because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at once, and, as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather, I became my own grandfather. —Magazine of Fun.

Great Scheme.

When the young husband reached home he opened the parcel he was carrying and displayed a number of placards, some of which read "For Show" and others "For Use."
"There!" he exclaimed triumphantly. "I flatter myself that I have at last solved the problem."
"Solved the problem?" his wife repeated. "What in the world do you intend to do with those cards?"
"I am going to give them to you," he replied, "so that you can put them on the various sofa cushions about the house."

WOMEN AS HARD WORKERS.

Labor So Heavy That the Strongest Become Useless at Thirty.

In Warsaw I once saw a troop of women going back and forth from a building in process of construction, emptying hods of dirt and carrying in hods of brick or mortar. They were splendid women physically, with broad shoulders and hips, strong limbs and stout ankles, but they were all young, and when I inquired why it was the foreman said, "The work does for them in a very short time, and when they break down they are no longer of use to us." At thirty the women are already old and unfit for further usefulness to the purchasers of labor, so they sit at home like grandmothers, waiting the passing of their time. Indeed, throughout Poland and Russia one sees women bearing burdens which seem far beyond their strength.

In all the countries of Europe one sees them engaged in occupations of the most laborious kind. There is no more revolting sight than to see women doing the work of dumb animals. Here and there one sees a girl harnessed to a cart or pushing a heavily loaded wheelbarrow. On the canals and rivers everywhere women take turns with men in pushing with heavy poles or in pulling the long freighted canal boats. Here they are competing with navies on the railroad, and there serving as hodcarriers. Now and then one sees them in the coal pits and about the iron works. In certain industries there is no limit to their hours. On the boats, for instance, they must work both night and day to get the cargo to market. In this way women become beasts of burden and remain so until they are physically ruined. — Robert Hunter in Cosmopolitan.

Extreme Conservatism a Curse.

Among the civic virtues of North Carolinians, and there are many, our speakers and writers have referred for more than one hundred years to one particular characteristic with varying degrees of emphasis. I refer to our reputed conservatism. As frequent crimes against the individual and society have been committed in the name of liberty, as hypocrisy, dishonesty and license have often stalked abroad in the garb of religion, so have our shortcomings, delinquencies and political and economic errors generally found a ready excuse because of our alleged conservatism. A bright, if erratic, writer has recently defined a conservative as "a man who is too cowardly to fight and too fat to run." But seriously may it not be that the use of the term has degenerated until it has come to mean, not a holding on to the good until investigation and experience shall know something better, but simply a holding on to the old because it is old and a rejection of the new because of our indisposition to examine and our aversion to change?—Hon. John H. Small.
