AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

AYDEN, N. C., Jan. 30, 1906.—

All of the parties hanged in Pitt county since the late civil war, and as far back as we can remember, were from the Farmville section;—Needham Evans and Dick Graham immediately after said war for the cruel murder of Mr. Willis Britley; sometime in the '80's Ivin Long for killing Moses Barrett; in the '90's Elijah Joyner who so cruelly and maliciously murdered young Turnage, and now Sylvester Barrett must pay the penalty of his crime with his life for the killing of an officer of the law. All of the above were of the colored race and the evidence at their trial was of a most conclusive character. This does not and should not reflect upon the Farmville section, for that section for intelligence, morality and high regard for good law and good order cannot be excelled. We simply write as a matter of fact, and perhaps it may be of interest.

Mr. Joseph Smith, of whom we wrote sometime ago as having been gored by a vicious bull, has since died. Up to last Friday there was every indication that he would recover, but Saturday he took a sudden change and died in a short while.

F. Lilly left Friday for Norfolk where he went to carry Mrs. Lilly to the hospital for an operation. The many friends of this most estimable lady sincerely hope the operation may be successful and that her speedy restoration to good health may at once result.

Mrs. A. B. Forrest came up yesterday from a visit to friends in Kinston.

Major Smith and B. S. Sumrell have gone to Tillery on business.

J. F. Stokes, of Winterville, was here Monday.

Misses Emma Kittrell, Winterville and Evelyn Thomas, of La Grange, are visiting Mrs. T. W. Hart.

The protracted meeting in the Methodist church still continues. Several have made professions and signified their purpose of joining some of the various churches. Great interest is manifest and large audiences are in attendance at every service. The good already accomplished is incalculable and future prospects very encouraging.

Large quantities of eggs are shipped from this point daily, and still the price ranks in the "higher up." The poor man and the egg are not at par.

We want everybody to keep a lookout in the Ayden department for some of the best offers from the business men of Ayden.

Running fast horses seems to be a favorite past time with several of our citizens on West Railroad street just now.

Miss Ida Glenn Edwards spent Monday in Greenville.

J. R. Smith & Bro. inform us their new brick block will be two stories. If so, what a blessing! Ayden will then have an opportunity for a town hall and the various secret orders can be better accommodated. This is a long needed necessity and we are sure will be highly appreciated by our people.

Dr. Dixon went to Greenville on the 4 p. m. and returned on the 6 p. m. train yesterday. How is that for convenience? He had ample time for his business and was placed to but little trouble. There is one consolation right now, if we can't walk, we can ride.

Miss Carrie Brown, of Greenville, after visiting Miss Ethel Price near here, returned to her home Monday evening.

They do say Lil Cannon is the smiling-est little man in town.

Excuses for Accepting Evils.

If special thought or attention is given to it, the investigator will be surprised to note the number and character of excuses made for every day vices, and further the persons who will offer, or at least accept excuses, for indulgence of vices.

Probably greatest of all is the vice of liquor drinking. The average person, and this includes professing Christians, will declare it to be a necessary evil, as though any evil could be so classed. But a necessary, which means that drinkers are always provided with excuses, the sale of liquor has possibly as strong advocates in its favor among those who are church members, as may be found outside of the church.

Those who will favor high license or dispensary, will argue that, men are going to drink whiskey, and such being the case, why do they not get the local benefit from the vice, as to permit or force the whiskey drinker to send away, and give the outsider the benefit of the trade? On its face it looks plausible, but at best it is only an excuse for accepting an evil, and giving it so-called respectable recognition.

The young man is excused if he wishes to sow his "wild oats," as the crop is called. The fact that character may receive a stain which may never be wiped out, that a sin may become so fastened, that it can not be shaken off, that passions may be cultivated to grow a crop that can never be harvested and destroyed, these are all excused by really well meaning people, and yet those who may so lightly excuse the follies of young manhood, will at the same time acknowledge the evils of them, the dangers that follow in their pathway, dangers which often lead to quick destruction.

It is this too easy offering excuses for every vice, and the equally easy acceptance of evil, where it does not appear to injure anyone, except the person entering upon it, creates evil, when instead all vices should be boldly declared evil, and inimical to man and society, therefore dangerous to accept in any degree, if such a course should be pursued, then the world is likely to grow better, and the so-called little vices will be checked, and prevented from developing into evils which ruin men and work destruction upon society.—New Bern Journal.

STAND FIRM.

Jordan's Advice to Cotton Holders.

By request we publish the following telegram, sent from Atlanta Monday by Harvie Jordan to a party here, on the cotton situation:

"Recent depression unwarranted and result of extreme bearish speculation. Spot situation strong as ever. Dry goods much higher proportionately than spots. Consumption unprecedented. If spot holders stand firm they will win. Patience and persistence imperative."

Protest Against Appropriation to Virginia Exposition Because Negroes Can't Sit Down to Table With Whites.

Boston, Jan. 29.—A delegation of colored citizens of the state called upon the chairman of the committee of Federal relations of the state legislature today and protested against the appropriation of any money by the state for an exhibition at the Jamestown Exposition in 1907 as recommended by Governor Curtis Guild, until the state obtains from the commonwealth of Virginia a promise that all citizens of Massachusetts, whatever their race or color shall receive the same treatment at the exposition.

It is claimed that at the St. Louis Exposition colored people were served food at one place and members of the white race at another, and that members of the black race were otherwise discriminated against.

The South Can Take Care of Itself.

The South is wealthy enough now, in our opinion, to attend to all her educational needs. The Ogden movement and others of a similar nature are doubtless inspired by good motives but many people think the South can get along better without assistance of this kind in educational or other matters. It is much the same with religious and philanthropic movements. Many people in other sections look upon the South as a kind of wilderness and they feel that missionaries should be sent here as to other places. The people of other sections, however good their motives may be, do not understand the South and the Southern people and often do more harm than good by trying to help the South solve her problems. Their discussion of the "negro problem," for instance, show that they do not understand conditions here.—Winston Sentinel.

A Short Way With Duns.

In former times, when the high-land chieftains were not so prompt in their payment, a tradesman from the low country, impatient for his money, found, with some difficulty, the way to one of their castles. Arriving at night, he had his supper and was put to bed. On looking out in the morning he observed opposite to his window a man hanging on a tree. Asking a servant the reason of it, he was told he was a Glasgow merchant who had the impudence to come here and dun the laird. The tradesman, immediately calling for his boots, went off without unfolding his errand. The laird had caused the effigy of a man to be hung up in the night and instructed his servants what to say, which had the desired effect.—Scottish American.

The Apple.

The apple is such a common fruit that very few persons are familiar with its remarkably efficacious medicinal properties. Every one ought to know that the very best thing he can do is to eat apples just before retiring for the night. Persons uninitiated in the mysteries of the fruit are liable to throw up their hands in horror at the visions of dyspepsia which such a suggestion may summon up, but no harm can come even to a delicate system by the eating of a ripe apple before going to bed. The apple is an excellent brain food, because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than any other fruit.

A Horrible Fate.

Some Frenchmen were boasting of their "affairs of honor" when one of them declared that he had inflicted upon an antagonist the most dreadful fate that a duelist had ever met.

"How was it?" asked everybody.
"I was at a hotel, and I chanced to insult a total stranger. It turned out that he was a fencing master.

"One or the other of us," he declared in fearful wrath, "will no longer live out of this room alive!"

"So let it be!" I shouted in response, and then I rushed out of the room, locked the door behind me and left him there to die!"

Why Not Own a Home?

REAL ESTATE IN GREENVILLE IS A
Safe investment.

Secure a Good Location while there is an opportunity to do so at Reasonable Prices and on Easy Terms.

I have devided that splendid property, just east of the town limits in South Greenville, into convenient lots for home-seekers and will sell them on easy terms. There is no better location for homes anywhere around Greenville. High elevation, level, and convenient, being only a few minutes walk from the business part of town. This property is just outside the corporate limits, yet those who reside there will have the benefit of the graded school, and be as near to the churches, and depot and postoffice as are the people in many parts of the town, being only three hundred yards from Five Points, nice neighborhood adjacent to the property. Talk it over with me and let me show you these desirable lots. No better time than NOW to buy. Greenville will grow rapidly in the next few years and property will be higher. Catch the opportunity before it is too late.

Survival of the Fitter.

A fitter who squeezed into a boiler at the railroad station at Crewe, England, apparently increased in size while inside, for he could not get out. The engine was obviously not of the kind known as triple expansion, and a problem of the most serious order faced the other employees. At first it was proposed to get up steam and drive him through the safety valve in the ordinary way. His previous good character, however, and the possession of a large family secured him a reprieve. The boiler was taken to pieces, the incident ending, according to a London journal, in the "survival of the fitter."

The Truth Breaks Out.

"Now, of course, doctor," said the man upon whose eye the operation had been performed, "I respect your skill highly and all that, but doesn't it seem, even to you, a little too much to charge $50 for doing a bit of work that occupied you about five minutes?"

"My good sir," said the great oculist, hastening to the defense of himself and his profession, "you don't realize that in acquiring the skill to perform such an operation in five minutes I have spoiled perhaps two bushels of eyes quite as valuable as yours!" — New York Times.

Two Compliments.

A lecturer used to tell of two compliments he had received, each of which was, as he said, a "gem" in its way. One day a friend met him on the street and said cheerfully: "I see that you lectured last night. Sorry I wasn't able to be there. Hope to hear your lecture when it passes into literature." This was different from the tribute paid him by a young man who, with a grave face and businesslike air, stepped up to the lecturer one night as he left the platform, shook his hand solemnly and remarked, with the air of one making a dry statement of facts, "I merely wished to say that you are my favorite writer and speaker," after which he bowed and abruptly disappeared.

A Rival to the Fish.

"Talk about mosquitoes," said an American, "why, when we were in latitude 30 degrees and longitude 75 degrees a host of mosquitoes settled on our rigging, and when they left us there wasn't a stitch of canvas left on the boat."

"Waal," said his friend, "that's strange, because when I was sailing in latitude 29 degrees and longitude 74 degrees a swarm of mosquitoes settled on our rigging, and every one of them had a pair of canvas breeches on. Same mosquitoes, no doubt!" — London Globe.

TUESDAY, JAN. 30th, 1906.

It is filling many a girl with envy to read about Miss Alice's forthcoming wedding presents.

First thing you know these fast running automobiles will just leave the ground and go flying through the air.

Down this way it was already discovered that Governor Glenn was a "marked man." Marked to make us a good governor.

Every time that hopes begin to rise that Uncle Sam will unload the Philippines on Japan something happens to crush those hopes to earth again.

Fortune will not run with Greene and Gayner all the time and they cannot hope that even a sick juror will long keep them from getting their deserts.

This promises to be a good year for Greenville, but it will be better if some of our men of capital will get a good building and loan association in operation.

Keep in mind that this is election year and you lose your right to vote unless your poll tax is paid. Do not say there is time enough to attend to this and put it off, but go pay your tax.

One of the perquisites of the Industrial News, the Republican daily, seems to have been the slated appointment of R. D. Douglas, editor of that paper, as postmaster at Greensboro. But when the time for appointment came C. A. Frazier got the plum and a row is on in consequence.

Our Ayden correspondent calls attention to the fact that every hanging that has taken place in Pitt county since the double one a few years after the civil war has come from Farmville township, and adds that this fact is no reflection on the people of that section. Certainly it is no reflection on them, but on the contrary it is to their credit. It shows that the people of Farmville are interested in bringing criminals to justice, and when a murder occurs they do not stop until there is evidence enough to convict. This can not be said of all sections of the county, for while numerous murders have occurred in various places, not a conviction in the first degree has followed, and the perpetrators have got off with a light imprisonment or go entirely unwhipped of justice.

Although a modern woman may make her own cloths she seldom boasts of it.

THE LADIES' AID.

We've put a fine addition on the good old church at home. It's just the latest killer, with a gallery and dome. It seats a thousand people—finest church in all the town. And when 'twas dedicated, why we planked ten thousand down; That is we paid five thousand—every deacon did his best— And the Ladies' Aid Society, it promised all the rest.

We've got an organ in the church—very finest in the land. It's got a thousand pipes or more, its melody is grand. And when we sit on cushioned pews and hear the master play. It carries us to realms of bliss unnumbered miles away. It cost a cool three thousand, and it's stood the hardest test; We'll pay a thousand on it—the Ladies' Aid the rest.

They'll give a hundred sociales, cantatas, too, and teas; They'll bake a thousand angel-cakes, and tons of cream they'll freeze; They'll beg and scrape and toil and sweat for seven years or more, And they'll start all o'er again, for a carpet for the floor No, it isn't just like digging out the money from your vest When the Ladies' Aid gets busy and says, "We'll pay the rest."

Of course we're proud of our big church from pulpit up to spire; It is the darling of our hearts, the crown of our desire. But when we see the sisters work to raise the cash that lacks. I sometimes feel the church is built on women's tired backs, And sometimes I can't help thinking when we reach the regions blest, That men will get the toll and sweat, and the Ladies' Aid the rest.

TRINITY COLLEGE NOTES

TRINITY PARK, Jan. 29, 1906.—Dr Edwin Mims went to Baltimore last week, where he delivered an address to the Woman's College his subject being "The Life of Sidney Lanier."

It being in the midst of examination period, "cramming" is of course the order of the day. Some are striving for fancy grades, while others will be greatly relieved to find out they have made a passing grade.

Dr. Kilgo will begin a series of meetings on the evening of the 31st, in the association hall under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, Dr. Kilgo, being a very able and appealing man, will doubtless obtain bountiful results, as we all have to agree that there is a wide field for such work here, especially among the boys.

Trinity has a very notable baseball schedule this season, as we will play Harvard at Richmond, Va., Saturday, April 14th, and we also are to take a Southern trip, on which we play Georgia Tech. two games, also two games with Mercer University, and one with the University of Georgia. Besides these games, we are to play some splendid games in the State, and especially on the home diamond.

The friends of Trinity College will be glad to hear that "The Trinity Chronicle," a paper recently established by the two literary societies here, has met with such high approval, both among the present student body, and the graduate who feel so proud of their Alma Mater, when learning of progress Trinity has made in any branch.

Referring to the complaints which are seen in the State papers about the erroneous information which is conveyed by railroad bulletin boards, it is to be said that there is plenty of law on the subject—the trouble is that it is not enforced. The corporation commission legislated on the matter several years ago, making a regulation which required that these bulletin boards should speak the truth. Before the old station of the Southern Railway in Charlotte was torn down it had a splendid bulletin board which was carefully kept up with and was always accurate. We do not know how it is in the present temporary quarters. At Salisbury, too, a good and correct board has always been kept, unless there has been recent negligence, which we have never heard alleged. But at the smaller points in the State the law has been simply ignored, the original figures standing on the boards though the trains they indicate may be hours and hours late. The commission's regulation in this matter should be enforced; otherwise it would better be abrogated. —Charlotte Observer.

To the Cotton Growers of North Carolina.

Every county cotton association president is requested to call a meeting of farmers at the court house of his county to be held Saturday, Feb. 3, at 11 o'clock a. m.

Every cotton grower, business and professional man, and all others interested in the general prosperity of North Carolina are cordially invited to attend this meeting, which will be the most important yet held in the new year. Business and professional men are in liberal sympathy with the tremendous cotton movement in the South, and they are desirous of encouraging the planters in their efforts to win their rights, and of co operating with them to achieve the objects of the Southern Cotton Association. We are working for their interests as well as for the welfare of the farmers. If we prosper, they prosper also.

Farmers, are you familiar with the cotton situation? Do you realize that we occupy ground which can be held only by our exerting ourselves earnestly, honestly, practically, and unanimously; and that if you go backward, this movement, which is for your emancipation from the treacherous markets controlled by gamblers and speculators, will be lost?

Be careful what you do. Learn the conditions which effect this mighty crop. Then do your duty. If you plant more land in cotton this year than you did in 1905, you will sell your staple at a low price. But if you are wise, and remain loyal to the association, your cotton will bring you a living price and also a profitable one.

Farmers, this is your work and your opportunity. It is to support you and your family, to provide you with the necessities and comforts of life and to educate your children. It is for all the farmers. The tenants and one-horse farmers are wanted and needed in the association as much as the larger producers. The man behind the plow is the salvation of the State, and the hope of the Southland.

I shall endeavor to secure speakers for every meeting on the 3rd of February and these gentlemen will be thoroughly informed in regard to the cotton situation. They will speak facts, worth knowing and remembering. The leading farmers of your county will address you.

February the 3rd, is to be a grand rally day in the cotton growing counties of North Carolina.

Let the cotton growers turn out en masse, and sing:

"Long Live King Cotton."

CHARLES C. MOORE,
President N. C. Div.
Southern Cotton Association.

CAPITAL $100,000.00

SURPLUS $25,000.00

During its first six months existence the company has demonstrated to the people of North Carolina that they not only save money by buying life insurance at home, but that the Greensboro life gives more protection than is afforded by other companies. The people of North Carolina believe so strongly in the Greensboro Life Insurance Company that they are giving it more business than any other company is writing in the State.

"THE BEST LIFE INSURANCE POLICY IN THE WORLD"

is the unanimous verdict of the people who have bought the Greensboro Life's superb INCOME INDEMNITY POLICY. This is the most satisfactory life insurance contract ever devised. It carries insurance to its logical conclusion by protecting both the insured's life and his earning power. It pays double insurance in case of accidental death, and in the event of total and permanent disability or incapacity, the policy becomes paid up and participates in the profits of the company. Dividends are guaranteed and may be used to reduce the number of annual premiums.

Woman's Home Companion

Many other publications are desirable, and you may prefer this or prefer that fiction and art publication, but the Review of Reviews is necessary. Substantial American men and women are going to keep up with the times and they are going to take the shortest cut which is the Review of Reviews.

A leading magazine for 18 years. With the recent change of ownership it has been improved. It is far better in every respect, and aims to be the best in the field. Every year or so there's one notable advance in the forward movement among the many magazines. This year it is the Cosmopolitan.

The Woman's Home Companion is for every member of the family. For our bright, earnest, cultured, home loving American woman it is an ideal entertainer and helper in a thousand congenial ways; but the fathers and brothers and sons join in its perusal by the fireside; children eagerly turn to the pages that are written for them.

The American Farmer is the leading Agricultural paper of the country, and pertains to farming, live stock and poultry raising. Every farmer should have it.

ONE SUIT FOR FIFTY.

But Is Made It Possible For These Indians To Vote.

"Talking about voting under difficulties," remarked a congressman from Minnesota a few days ago, "I remember in my state in former times there was a popular law that Indians who were clothed could vote. The woods were full of Indians, but suits of clothes were mighty scarce around there, especially with the Indians. Whenever there was no special interest in the election or it was all one way the ingenuity of man was not stirred up sufficiently to put two and two together in such a way as to get those Indians to vote, but one day votes were mighty valuable, and an energetic worker set out to get Indians.

"The red men were as thick as flies, but every last one of them had a blanket wrapped about him, and very few of them had ever had on the clothing of civilization. The proposition to let them vote if they wore clothes was made in order to encourage them in the ways of civilization and also with the idea that a man who had on clothes would be a pretty intelligent Indian.

"Well, the demand for votes stirred up one of the hard workers, and he got an old suit of clothes and took it to a hut near the voting precinct. One by one the Indians were brought in dressed up in the clothing of civilization and voted. As soon as an Indian had been voted he was hurried back to the hut and his clothing was transferred to another Indian. The idea spread, and other enterprising political workers set up the same kind of business. The number of Indians that could be voted with one suit of clothes was merely limited to the number of changes that could be made. Each suit of clothes was easily good to vote fifty Indians. The lightning change acts that were performed by the Indians would be an object lesson to lightning change artists on the stage."—Washington Star.

A SIGN OF CONVALESCENCE.

Why a Doctor Was Sure His Fair Patient Was Better.

"You are feeling better today, Mrs. M.?" said the trained nurse after she had finished making her patient comfortable for the day.

"Yes, Miss S., I really feel as if I were going to get well," said the invalid, lying back on her pillows with comfortable fatigue. Then, after a pause, "I know I must be looking like a fright!"

The nurse smiled to herself. She knew the signs of convalescence in her feminine patients so well.

"May I have a hand glass?" was Mrs. M.'s next remark. It was the first time she had asked for a mirror since her illness, and she looked at herself critically. "Yes, there is no doubt about it," she said plaintively. "I look hideous!"

"I think you are very pretty," remarked Miss S.

"Oh, do you honestly? You are not joking?" exclaimed her charge, with animation. And then a moment after: "Miss S., may I have Marie in to crimp my hair? I should so like to look nice for Dr. B.," meaning the eminent specialist who had been attending her, together with the family physician. "You see," she continued, "he never has seen me looking decent. I didn't care how I looked when I was feeling so ill. I know he thinks I'm an ugly woman."

So the maid was called and the hair arranged to milady's satisfaction.

"And now, Marie," directed her mistress, "get me out one of my best valenciennes dressing jackets—one with blue ribbons, or, no, don't you think, Miss S., that the pink ribbons give one a little more color?" The pink was decided on, and then Mrs. M. ordered the pillow slips changed, and a pair which were beautifully embroidered replaced them.

Shortly afterward the doctors were announced, and the great specialist came into the room with his confrere. He looked surprised and then gave a quizzical look at the nurse.

"I am going to bid you goodby, Mrs. M.," he said after a few formal questions.

"What do you mean, doctor?" queried the invalid.

He laughed. "When ribbons and crimps come into the sickroom," he answered, "my work is over. It is a sure sign that my services are no longer required."—New York Tribune.
