WINTERVILLE NOTES

Interesting Items from Our Hustling Neighbor.

WINTERVILLE, N. C. Jan. 31, 1906.

Rev. T. H. King filled his regular appointment here last Sunday and Sunday night, and gave us an excellent sermon each time.

Good work always reaps its reward, for Miss Katie Smith, of Fremont, came down Saturday night to enter the Winterville High school. The Winterville High school is known all over the state for its excellent work.

All days in Winterville are large days, but the largest day will be on the 17th of next May when Gov. E. B. Glenn will deliver the address for Winterville High school. Gov. Glenn is one of the best public speakers of the state, and one of the best, if not the best, governors that North Carolina has ever had. He looks out for the people he is serving, and to put it in his own words he says that "My greatest desire is to make North Carolina a good governor." We congratulate the Winterville High school on having secured such a man as Gov. Glenn for that day. Prof. Lineberry is always looking out for the best interest of his pupils and knows the kind of men to select on such an occasion.

Miss Lyde Roberson, who is teaching at Tripp's chapel, came over Sunday and spent the day with Miss Minnie Cox.

C. A. Fair, of Ayden, was in town Tuesday evening. Mr. Fair seems always to be feeling good, and shows it by the way he moves. We are always glad to see him in town.

J. L. Hobgood, a very prosperous farmer was in town Tuesday evening.

J. F. Harrington went to Greenville Tuesday evening.

Do not forget the date, Friday night Feb. 2, in the W. H. S. chapel, Mr. Spilman will lecture. Be sure to come.

"It is coming" a moving picture show Thursday night Feb. 1st, in the chapel of W. H. S. Be sure to come and see it.

Jones Court Adjourned.

Jones court, which convened Monday morning in special term, was adjourned for the term immediately after because of the absence, through illness, of so many of the litigants and their attorneys and witnesses. It was deemed better by the judge to adjourn the court than hold the attendants for several days waiting for those who could not attend at the beginning of the week.

Several attorneys from the New Bern bar counsel in important cases, were sick, and could not be present at the opening of the court as also were quite a number of witnesses and some litigants, so Judge Long dismissed those present and adjourned court. The term was a special one week term for the trial of civil cases.—Kinston Free Press.

Last week the shows had good crowds with bad weather every night. Wonder how the prayer meetings will be with good weather tonight.

METHODIST LADIES AT WORK

Hold Delightful and Successful Baby Show.

The good women of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church are thoroughly enthused with the desire that work on the handsome new church building progress rapidly, and with their energy and skill so concentrated, the completion of this beautiful structure is a certainty during this year.

Already much has been done to raise money in the way of musicals, box parties, and many other enjoyable occasions, and the ladies are to be heartily congratulated on the large amounts that have been procured by their untiring effort and will.

On Tuesday afternoon a delightful baby show was held at Perkins' opera house. The day was a lovely one and the little folk, every one deserving a prize for beauty and sweetness, were there promptly and soon after the refreshments were served, voting was progressing with much interest. A large number of babies were entered for the contest, the entrance fee being ten cents, and voting was steady until near the close of the ballots, when interest greatly increased and excitement ran high.

When the ballots were closed and counted it was found that Miss Mary Catherine Cheaves had received the highest number of votes for being the prettiest baby under two years old, while Miss Margaret Cousins had received the highest number for being the prettiest one present over two years old. In both instances the prize was a handsome finger ring which was awarded promptly.

The excellent manner in which the little ones behaved deserves special mention. Every little child present seemed to realize that the contest was going on, and that behavior was an issue. So pleasant was the occasion of the baby show that the ladies are contemplating holding another within a few weeks. F. M. HORNADAY,

Meeting of Cotton Association.

There will be a meeting of the Pitt County Branch of the Cotton Growers Association in the court house at Greenville, on Monday, Feb'y. 5, at eleven o'clock. All cotton growers, business and professional men interested are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Hon. C. C. Moore, president of the North Carolina Division Southern Cotton Association is invited to be with us. Come out, we wish your help.

JORDAN DEMANDS ITS PUBLICATION.

Percentage of Cotton Yet Unginned.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 30.—President Harvie Jordan, of the Southern Cotton Association, today gave out a statement in which he takes severely to task the Census Bureau at Washington for alleged shortcomings. He says in part:

"The action of Director North of the Census Bureau, in failing to make public all the information he secured from the ginners January 16 and his persistent refusal to do so, in face of repeated demands, is exciting considerable indignation throughout the South. Mr. North asked, January 16, all ginners for the following information:

"How many bales ginned for the season of 1905?"

"What is the average weight of bales ginned to date?"

"What is your estimate of the percentage of cotton remaining to be ginned?"

"The public received the result of the answers to the first question on January 23 in the statement that 9,998,111 bales had been ginned. The result of the other two inquiries have been withheld so far. I wired Mr. North as follows:

"For what purpose was average weight of bales and estimated amount of cotton to be ginned after January 15, suppressed in your recent ginner's report? As this is public official information, kindly wire me today the result of the estimates as shown.

"In reply to the above Mr. North sent the following:

"Average weight of bales will be made public as soon as can be compiled. Estimated amounts to be ginned were obtained and only approximately to enable census office to determine what counties must again be canvassed for final report and not for public use. Will be published if congress directs it. Resolution was introduced to that effect."

(Signed) "North, Director."
President Jordan says that 470,000 bales of the crop were ginned prior to September 1, and were counted in the commercial crop of 1904-'05, but have been made a part of the Census Bureau report of 9,998,111. Deducting the 470,000 bales from the published total of 9,998,111, leaves 9,528,111 to be counted in the crop of 1905-'06. Add to this 150,000 bales, and there still remains a crop under ten million bales. He says wide investigation shows that spot holders are not selling their cotton and that practically there is no cotton for sale in the face of the present depression.

Governor Glenn Coming.

Our Winterville correspondent states that Gov. E. B. Glenn will deliver the address at the close of Winterville High school on May 17th. This announcement will bring pleasure to the people of the county. Governor Glenn has many staunch friends among the people of Pitt and they are all glad to know that he is to visit the county and give them an opportunity of hearing him speak. The Winterville school deserves both thanks and congratulations on securing him.

TO REMOVE TOBACCO TAX.

Congressmen Claude and W. W. Kitchin Supporting Bill to Allow Farmers to Manufacture Their Own Tobacco Without Tax.

Thomas J. Pence in a special from Washington to The News and Observer sends the following which is of much importance to tobacco growers in this section:

"Representative Claude Kitchin has introduced in the house a resolution enacted by the last general assembly of North Carolina, urging the State delegation to support a bill, which gives to farmers the right to manufacture tobacco of their own growth without tax. In pursuance of this resolution Mr. W. W. Kitchin has introduced a bill, embodying the legislative demand, which reads as follows:

"That growers of tobacco shall have the right free from taxation to stem and hand twist or hand press or in any other way, and in any quantity, form, or shape, make and prepare for market any tobacco of their growth and to sell the same to any persons without license and without the payment of any tax thereon; and that said tobacco so prepared by the grower thereof shall not be subject to taxation under the internal revenue laws so long as it remains in the form and condition in which the grower prepared it, and that in such form and condition any person may buy, sell, or use the same without tax of license."

"While the Messrs. Kitchin represent possibly the two largest tobacco growing districts in the state, the entire delegation is very much in favor of such legislation, which, it is believed, will afford great relief to tobacco planters. The state delegation will give its earnest support to the measure."

The Conference at Algiciras.

All the great powers, including the United States, are represented at this conference, the American delegates being Mr. Henry White, our ambassador to Italy, and Mr. S. R. Gummere, our minister to Morocco. Count von Tattenbach Askold, German minister to Morocco, heads the German delegation; M. Paul Revoil, ex-Governor of Algiers and formerly French minister to Morocco, leads the French delegation; the Marquis Visconti Venosta, former minister of Foreign Affairs, is at the head of the Italian members; Sir Arthur Nicolson heads the British delegation while Morocco is represented by a large delegation, at the head of which is the venerable Mohammed El Torres, the Moroccan Minister of Foreign Affairs, who is over eighty years of age. There is one Austrian delegate, who represents also the Vatican, and who will present on behalf of the Pope, a proposition for freedom of worship in Morocco. The representative of King Alfonso, the Duke of Almodovar, Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, was elected president of the conference. The first subject coming up for discussion was the question of contraband trade in arms across the Algerian-Moroccan border over-sea from France, Germany and Spain. It may be said in general that Germany concedes the special position of France, and that both agree to and contend for the "open door" in commerce. It is simply a question of who shall be permitted to police the country: France because of the nearness of her Algerian colony, which is the French contention, supported by England, Italy and Spain; or an international gendarmerie which is the German contention, supported by Austria and some of the smaller European nations. A reorganization of Moroccan finances is also a question which will come up for settlement. The conference opens with many protestations of peaceful intentions on the part of all participating.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for February.

Plants That Mimic Stones.

In South Africa a plant of the genus mesembryanthemum, growing on stony ground, so closely resembles a pebble that it has been picked up in mistake for a stone. Another species of the same plant growing on the hills around the Karro produces two leaves about as large as ducks' eggs, having a surface resembling weathered stone of a brownish gray color, tinted with green. These plants look like stones, but for a short time they put forth bright yellow flowers. Still another species of the same plant resembles the quartz pebbles among which it grows.

The Whale.

An English schoolboy gives his views regarding the whale: "The whale is not called a fish because it is so big, so it is called a creature. They eat cockles and worms and jellies. The whales swim in shoals, and they have a tarpoon at the end of their tails, when he moves his tail, with one blow he will smash the side of the ship. It has a very big head and two fins, or flappers, on one side of its body. Fishmongers catches whales and sail them. Some people eat whales with salt and piper and bread, and some with potatoes. If you keep a whales head under water he will die for want of breath."

Won His Check.

It is told of a well known humorous writer that in the early days of his career he sent some pieces to a certain comic paper, only to have them returned almost immediately. He sent them out a second time, and again they came back. Then the author sat down and wrote the following note to the editor, again sending his contribution:

Dear Sir—During your absence your office boy has been returning masterpieces, several of which I inclose. Trusting that you will remit at your earliest convenience, I am, etc.,

It is said that the editor remitted.

Queen Victoria's Wit.

In a biography of Leech, the painter, who at one time acted as drawing master to Queen Victoria, Mr. W. P. Frith relates an amusing story, illustrating her majesty's wit.

One day in the course of a lesson the queen let her pencil fall to the ground. Both master and pupil stooped at the same moment to pick it up, when, to the horror of Leech, there was a collision, the master's head striking that of his royal pupil. Before he could stammer out an apology, however, the queen, smiling, said:

"Well, Mr. Leech, if we bring our heads together in this way I ought to improve rapidly."

Reciprocity.

As the desire to give advice to all persons and upon all occasions seems to be natural to most human beings, the following story told of a well known woman writer may not be without interest: While speaking at a working girls' club a writer of successful novels asked the members how much they earned and advised them to put aside a certain amount each week from their wages. A few nights later the novelist's doorbell rang, and one of the members of the club presented herself. She had come to ask what the income of her late adviser was and to suggest what percentage of the same ought to be put in the bank.

TOO MUCH WORLTLINESS FOR REVIVALS.

The Raleigh News and Observer of last Sunday had an interesting editorial on "the need of a genuine revival of religion." That paper referred to the religious awakening that spread over Wales and a portion of England the past year, and said not a few leaders of the churches in America have hoped and prayed that the spirit would cross the ocean and the United States be made notable by a wide spread and genuine revival of religion. The same paper says that while here and there (in this country) there have been "protracted meetings" and "special services," there has been no universal revival—no such awakening as in times past caused business men to put business affairs second to their religious duties.

There is cause for the dearth of religious interest in this country, and the fault is with the churches themselves. When the churches really want a genuine revival of religion, and are in earnest about it, it will come. But the churches today seem to have drifted from the idea that they are organizations of Christ's followers to save the souls of men by leading them to Him, and instead appear to be commercial societies. Save from the pulpit one hears little in these times of the need of salvation. At the church meetings and society meetings the uppermost thought is not how can we go out and bring a soul to Christ, but what can we do to make the most money.

The spirit of commercialism in the churches is crowding out the Holy Spirit. The churches are in competition with business and the members are in competition with society and with worldliness. It is too hard to distinguish between them. Go to the ball-room on Friday night and to the minstrel show on Saturday night, and you see many of the same people there who are partakers of the communion in the churches on Sunday. The bazaar, the festival, and sundry kinds of sales have a larger number of workers than do the prayer meetings and revival meetings.

When the members of the churches put aside worldliness and separate themselves from these things, and get to praying earnestly for a genuine revival of religion, the revival will not be long coming.

The Greenville REFLECTOR assures us that there will be a hanging in that town, which means that the negro under sentence of death has no money or influential friends.—Durham Herald.

Of course the Herald means to say that justice can be thwarted with money. And it is too often true.

One can hardly realize that the first month of the new year has gone.

This January has robbed March of its prestige of being the month of changeable weather.

The bears on the exchange are making a stiff fight to keep the price of cotton from going up. Spots are holding right along at a higher figure than futures.

THE REFLECTOR is not cognizant of any offense against the Charlotte Chronicle or Raleigh Times to make them withdraw their visits from this office. They must have whacked us off just so or lost us in the shuffle.

The Salisbury Post has been organized into a stock company and enlarged to eight pages. J. X. Rouche, a practical newspaper man who quit the business for awhile, comes back again and is now on the staff of the Post.

Is the Government really about to enter upon an era of reform? It was only a short while ago that the President called for a cutting down of the extravagance in the Government printing office. And now there is a proposition to stop the wages of two hundred unnecessary employes at the Norfolk navy yard.

Cassie Chadwick has accepted a position as "laundress" in the Ohio penitentiary. It is understood that the position is permanent.—Durham Sun.

It is to be hoped she will be good about it and bring in the wash on time.

Goldsboro has caught the right spirit and organized a building and loan association. Some of these days Greenville is going to take up that idea, but so far movement in that direction is slow. When wage earners get an opportunity of buying a home with the money they pay for rents the town will grow as never before, and it will make a class of citizens with more interest in the progress of the town from the fact that they are property owners and affected by the welfare of the town. Let us have the building and loan association.

Cotton Consumption.

The cotton mills of North and South Carolina, it is estimated, consume 56.8 per cent. of all the cotton spun in Southern mills. For the country, Massachusetts ranks first in the consumption of cotton and South Carolina second. The combined consumption of North and South Carolina exceeds that of Massachusetts by 170,844 bales.—Cotton.

A woman in Sterling, Ill., sued a man for $5,000 for kissing her. After the jury looked at her they cut down the price to $139.—Wilmington Star.

When a newspaper man commits suicide because of worry over money matters it shows that he was not cut out for the business.—Durham Herald.

Somehow a woman's temper is always very much in evidence just after she lost it.

To the Cotton Growers of North Carolina.

Every county cotton association president is requested to call a meeting of farmers at the court house of his county to be held Saturday, Feb. 3, at 11 o'clock a. m.

Every cotton grower, business and professional man, and all others interested in the general prosperity of North Carolina are cordially invited to attend this meeting, which will be the most important yet held in the new year. Business and professional men are in liberal sympathy with the tremendous cotton movement in the South, and they are desirous of encouraging the planters in their efforts to win their rights, and of co operating with them to achieve the objects of the Southern Cotton Association. We are working for their interests as well as for the welfare of the farmers. If we prosper, they prosper also.

Farmers, are you familiar with the cotton situation? Do you realize that we occupy ground which can be held only by our exerting ourselves earnestly, honestly, practically, and unanimously; and that if you go backward, this movement, which is for your emancipation from the treacherous markets controlled by gamblers and speculators, will be lost?

Be careful what you do. Learn the conditions which effect this mighty crop. Then do your duty. If you plant more land in cotton this year than you did in 1905, you will sell your staple at a low price. But if you are wise, and remain loyal to the association, your cotton will bring you a living price and also a profitable one.

Farmers, this is your work and your opportunity. It is to support you and your family, to provide you with the necessities and comforts of life and to educate your children. It is for all the farmers. The tenants and one-horse farmers are wanted and needed in the association as much as the larger producers. The man behind the plow is the salvation of the State, and the hope of the Southland.

I shall endeavor to secure speakers for every meeting on the 3rd of February and these gentlemen will be thoroughly informed in regard to the cotton situation. They will speak facts, worth knowing and remembering. The leading farmers of your county will address you.

February the 3rd, is to be a grand rally day in the cotton growing counties of North Carolina.

Let the cotton growers turn out en masse, and sing:

"Long Live King Cotton."

President N. C. Div.
Southern Cotton Association.

A Bag of Gold Did Not Save Him.

Among those who are supposed to have perished when the Valencia went to pieces was J. B. Graham, a passenger and with him went a bag containing $1,500 in gold. Survivors of the wreck say that Graham frantically offered the bag of gold to any one who would place him on shore. But the others paid little heed to the pleadings of the man, and his gold lay on the broken deck, kicked under foot, no one bothering even to pick it up.

"It was one time when gold could not buy what was wanted," said one of the survivors, as he related the story on the steamship Topeka

"I'm coming into a safe harbor without a cent. Why, even this shirt I have on belongs to another man, and I have not even a hat"

Graham recently sold a mine in Alaska for $60,000.

GREENSBORO LIFE INSURANCE CO.

GREENSBORO, N. C.

CAPITAL $100,000.00

SURPLUS $25,000.00

During its first six months existence the company has demonstrated to the people of North Carolina that they not only save money by buying life insurance at home, but that the Greensboro life gives more protection than is afforded by other companies. The people of North Carolina believe so strongly in the Greensboro Life Insurance Company that they are giving it more business than any other company is writing in the State.

"THE BEST LIFE INSURANCE POLICY IN THE WORLD"

is the unanimous verdict of the people who have bought the Greensboro Life's superb INCOME INDEMNITY POLICY. This is the most satisfactory life insurance contract ever devised. It carries insurance to its logical conclusion by protecting both the insured's life and his earning power. It pays double insurance in case of accidental death, and in the event of total and permanent disability or incapacity, the policy becomes paid up and participates in the profits of the company. Dividends are guaranteed and may be used to reduce the number of annual premiums.

He Only Wanted the Insides.

A certain colonel's gardener was going through the woods belonging to his employer when he saw a man gathering nuts. As the colonel had given him strict orders that no one was to pick the nuts, the gardener said to the man:

"You'd have to clear out of this. I've orders to keep all these nuts for the colonel."

"It's all right," replied the man. "That's what I'm getting 'em for."

The gardener, satisfied, then passed on.

Meeting the same man a week after, he said:

"Look here! You were not getting those nuts for the colonel at all."

"I tell you I was," was the emphatic reply. "Do you think I was getting 'em for the shells? Not me."—London Mail.

Not at All Reckless.

"I hope, Flora, that you have seriously considered the matter," said a Scottish lady to her servant girl, who had "given notice" because she was to be married "that day two weeks."

"Oh, indeed I have, ma'am," was the reply. "I've been to two fortune tellers an' a clairvoyant an' looked in a sign book an' dreamed on a lock of his hair, an' I called on one of the astrologers, an' they all tell me to go ahead, ma'am. I'm not a person to marry reckless like, ma'am."

Don't Neglect This Wonderful Offer

Reviews of Reviews

Many other publications are desirable, and you may prefer this or prefer that fiction and art publication, but the Review of Reviews is necessary. Substantial American men and women are going to keep up with the times and they are going to take the shortest cut which is the Review of Reviews.

The Cosmopolitan

A leading magazine for 18 years. With the recent change of ownership it has been improved. It is far better in every respect, and aims to be the best in the field. Every year or so there's one notable advance in the forward movement among the many magazines. This year it is the Cosmopolitan.

Woman's Home Companion

The Woman's Home Companion is for every member of the family. For our bright, earnest, cultured, home loving American woman it is an ideal entertainer and helper in a thousand congenial ways; but the fathers and brothers and sons join in its perusal by the fireside; children eagerly turn to the pages that are written for them.

The American Farmer is the leading Agricultural paper of the country, and pertains to farming, live stock and poultry raising. Every farmer should have it.

REMEMBER

you get all four of these papers with THE DAILY REFLECTOR a year for $5.00, or all four with THE EASTERN REFLECTOR a year for $3.00

THE "CHILTERN HUNDREDS."

(An Ingenious Constitutional Fiction Practical In England.)

Government is full of "make believes." One of the fictions of the English system is that a member of parliament cannot resign his seat. But, although he is not allowed to resign, he may nevertheless retire from parliament at his pleasure. He asks to be appointed steward of the Chiltern hundreds. It is the theory of the British constitution that when a member of parliament accepts office under the crown he must obtain the consent of his constituents. Thus his seat is vacated, and he must be elected again after his appointment if he wishes to accept the new office.

A member who wishes to retire from parliament applies for this nominal office of steward of the Chiltern hundreds, is appointed, thereby vacates his seat and then immediately resigns his stewardship, so that the situation is vacant for the next member who wishes to retire.

A crown steward is custodian of one of the manors, hundreds or honors belonging to the royal demesne. The manors were Anglo-Saxon townships, and "hundreds" were collections of townships within a given shire. The abuses perpetrated by these stewards led to the reduction of their numbers until finally, under Charles II., nearly all the stewardships were abolished.

One of the few crown stewardships which survived was that of the three hundreds of Chiltern, in the county of Bucks. Through this region pass the Chiltern hills. From the earliest Norman times this property has been "in the hands of the lord the king."

In 1750 the "ingenious constitutional fiction," which is noted above, came into practice. In that year the stewardship of the Chiltern hundreds was conferred upon John Pitt, M. P., solely that he might vacate his seat. It has been constantly in use for that purpose ever since, and now the stewardships of the other crown manors have been applied in the same way at various times.—London Quarterly Review.

"FORBIDDEN."

The Word That Is Seen Most Frequently In Germany.

"Germany is the land of limitations," writes Jerome Hart in the Argonaut. "The word you see there most frequently is 'verboten'—'forbidden.' When you approach a railway station you see gigantic 'verbodens' stuck all over the station before you see anything else. It is forbidden to go down certain staircase. It is forbidden to go up a certain other one. It is forbidden to get out of the railway carriage on the side farthest from the platform. It is forbidden to get on or off of the railway carriage while it is in motion. It is forbidden to get out at all until you have given up your ausgang coupon and are discharged free. It is forbidden to stick your head out of the window. It is forbidden to throw bottles out of the window. It is forbidden to break the window. It is forbidden to sound the danger signal unless your life is in peril.

"When you have complied with all the regulations, been ticketed, punched, counted and have gone through the 'ausgang' you are apt to find a big sign, 'Durchgang Verboten'—'no thoroughfare'—owing to repairs. But if you try to go back through the 'ausgang,' whence you have just emerged, you will find that it is 'verboten.' You must go back into the station through some other 'eingang' and then go out again through some other 'ausgang.' All through the German speaking parts of Switzerland you find the German 'verboten' also prevails in railway stations and elsewhere.

"One day I heard an American woman in a restaurant carriage say to her husband as the train stopped, 'I wonder what the name of this station is?' 'Don't you see it there?' replied the husband. "'Guterschuppen'—that's the name of the station.' 'Is it, indeed?' placidly replied the wife. 'I've seen that same name on the last six stations we have passed, and I don't believe that even in Germany they would call six successive stations by the same name.' A well meaning German professor here leaned across the aisle and informed the lady that 'guterschuppen' meant 'freight shed.' Probably the professor was unmarried. After that a silence fell between the married pair."
