TEACHERS MEETING.

Pretty Weather and Large Attendance.

There was pretty weather for the meeting of the county teachers' association today and it brought out a large attendance. An interesting program was carried out, full report of which will be given later by the association reporter.

This was also the time for awarding medals and prizes, and this added much to the interest of the exercises.

The annual Octavia Grimes medal for the best paper on Pitt county history, was won by Miss Estelle Jones and presented by Mr. H. W. Whedbee.

The medal offered by Mr. L. C. Arthur for best paper on Educational Progress in Pitt county was won by Miss Bessie Mooring and presented by Hon. J. L. Fleming.

Mr. A. G. Cox offered a gold pen for second best historical paper which was won by Miss Lela Boach and presented by Mr. P. S. Cotton.

THE REFLECTOR offered a gold pen for second best paper on educational progress in the county which was won by Clarence Barnhill and presented by Mr. S. C. Wooten.

All the presentation speeches were exceptionally good. THE REFLECTOR hopes to publish the papers that won the prizes so our readers may have the pleasure of reading them.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Upon the Death of Mrs. J. C. Tyson.

An all wise Providence has permitted the dark shadow of Death to hover over a happy home in our midst and take from it a devoted wife and loving mother. On December 31st, the spirit of Mrs. Lizzie Tyson was called from earth, leaving a home deluged in sorrow, and the hearts of relatives and friends bowed in grief.

In loving remembrance the Woman's Missionary Society and Ladies' Aid Society of the Memorial Baptist church of Greenville, in both of which she was an active member, do resolve:

1st. That in the death of Mrs. Tyson these societies have lost a member whose love and friendship we prized, and one whose help and sympathy in our work was always cheerfully given.

2nd. That while we cannot understand why she should be taken in the prime of life, yet we know our Heavenly Father doeth all things well and we bow in humble submission to His will.

3rd. That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the husband, children and relatives of our departed friend and pray God's blessing upon them.

4th. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and also be placed upon the records of both our societies.

Mrs. E. B. Higgs,
Mrs. J. W. Bryan,
Mrs. D. J. Whichard. } Com.

Never Returns.

Money sent out of the county for articles that can be purchased by our home merchants never comes back any more. It doesn't help build up the community, or pay taxes, or build roads, sidewalks or schools, houses, or churches, or other public improvements. It is a rank injustice to our business men who advertise, and spend their money here and the few cents saved by sending outside—if any money is saved—is just that much contributed toward a fund to blast your own community and depreciate your own property. It is a suicidal policy to send out of town for what you can purchase at home.—Oxford Ledger.

Valentine Party.

The ladies of the Episcopal and Methodist churches will have their Valentine party in Perkins' opera house Thursday instead of Wednesday as announced before. Special amusements and refreshments have been provided for the children in the afternoon. A good supper will be served, beginning at six o'clock, and their will be several unusual attractions for the older people at night.

SERVICES TOMORROW.

Baptist Church

The usual Sunday school and preaching services will be held tomorrow.

Christian Church

At the Christian church, tomorrow, the services will be as follows: Ten a. m. Bible school; 11 a. m. preaching service; 2:00 Junior Society of Christian Endeavor; 6:45 p. m. Senior Society of Christian Endeavor; 7:30 p. m. preaching service. All are cordially invited to these services. Strangers made welcome.

H. H. Moore, Minister.

Methodist Church.

The services at the Methodist church Sunday, the 11th, will be of unusual interest and every member is earnestly requested to attend that service tomorrow.

Sunday School at 9:30.

The Sunday school of this denomination, we are informed, is doing a splendid work. It is largely attended and on the increase. Among other plans for the years work it has undertaken to provide the furniture for the Sunday school room in the new church. We trust the whole community will be liberal in response to the work of the children.

Preaching at 11 a. m. by the pastor. After the sermon there will be a church conference at which the question of resuming work on the new church will be considered. We sincerely hope every member, who can do so, will attend this conference and that it will be unanimously decided to go forward with the work. Surely our Methodist friends will not consent to allow that splendid building to remain long in its unfinished condition.

We hope to see them occupying it before the end of the year. It will be an ornament to our growing town and all our people ought to be glad to contribute to its construction.

Danger of a Boom.

"I see danger ahead for some of our smaller towns," said a man of property and standing, who tarried here for an hour or two, yesterday, "and I wish something could be done to correct certain things that are going on. There seems to be a real estate boom in most of our villages. Land values have jumped up 50 per cent. within the last year.

"Now, in some instances this is all right, but in others it is wrong. If this continues the State must have more people. Where are they to come from? Evidently every town in the state is expecting a great influx from somewhere, but from exactly where, no one seems to know. Without more population real estate values cannot remain high. Yes, I am afraid that we are moving ahead too rapidly. Fictitious values are what we must fight against, for if depressions come, and they are sure to come, we will suffer greatly if we go too fast."—Charlotte Observer.

LEE SHELBURN ENTERTAINS.

Reported for Reflector.

Lee Shelburn entertained Friday night at the handsome residence of his parents on Fifth street. The house was a scene of beauty. Lee Shelburn and Johnnie Bagwell received at the front door. After many delightful games Miss Mary Shelburn brought in a very interesting contest which was enjoyed by everyone. There were many who drew for the prize but Miss Lillian Burch being the lucky one, was awarded a very nice book. After the contest the guests were ushered into the dining room where delicious refreshments were served. Those present were, Misses Mary Smith, Mattie Moye King, Susie Warren, Lucille Cobb, Lillian Burch, Mary Shelburn, Messrs. Rascom Wilson, John Bagwell, Carl Wilson, Norman Warren, Willie Wilson and Lee Shelburn.

Compulsory education has been defeated in the South Carolina legislature by the narrow margin on one vote. It is a significant fact that the cotton mill managers favored the bill. This is exactly contradictory of some of the sensational stories of "white child salvery in the South," which we have seen printed from time to time. The bill was defeated on the ground that it would mean dangerous interference by the State with the rights of parents in the control of their own children. The cotton-mill men contended the proposed law would relieve their committees of the evil and danger of children too young to enter the mills but left running loose about the streets because their parents are too careless and neglectful to see that they attend the schools provided for them. About most large mill villages there is a class of squaw men who put their families in the mill and live in idleness on the earnings of their women and children. It was felt, however, that not even to reach this class could the State adopt the principle of requiring parents to send children to schools whether they wish to do so or not.—Durham Sun.

THE READING DESK.

It Was Used In Churches as Early as the Seventh Century.

Lecterns, or reading desks, came into use at an early date. There is frequent mention of them in ancient writings and representations of them in ancient vignettes. They were placed in the center of choirs in large ecclesiastical buildings as early as the seventh century, and the choristers were arranged in rows on the right and left of them. They are of various forms, but the eagle is introduced in a very large number. With outspread wings and mounted on a stem at a convenient height for a reader, this grand bird from an early date was made to serve the purpose of supporting the framework on which the large and heavy volumes used in the services were placed. There was probably some reference in the thoughts of those who first used them to the fact that the eagle soared to the most elevated regions and therefore in a fanciful way would be likely to carry the words of the readers or choristers nearer to heaven than they might otherwise ascend.

In some instances the inclined framework on the back of the bird was made to accommodate two books, one above the other, and furnished with movable brackets to light the reader. Frequently the eagle is represented standing on an orb and sometimes on a dragon, and the base of the stem on which it is placed is often raised on lions. A more simple form without the introduction of the eagle consists of an inclined book board raised to a convenient height on a stem. Next to this are examples that have two slanting book boards, which meet at their upper edges like a roof, and there are others with clever groupings of four desks or book boards. These are generally made of oak or some other hard wood. They nearly all turn on pivots, and some of them are enriched with much carving. Sometimes the eagle is of wood and the framework of iron. In the handsomest examples base, stem, bird and book board are of polished brass.—Chambers' Journal.

Old English Inns.

There is a discussion in the English papers as to which is the oldest inn in England. A writer in the Estates Magazine thinks the Ostrich, at Colnbrook, Middlesex, is one of the oldest. There is every reason to believe it has been in existence 700 years and even then took the place of an earlier inn, burned down by Henry I. in consequence of the misdeeds of the tenant. The story of the Seven Stars, in Manchester, can be traced clearly back to 1356. Its existence as a licensed house dates down to that year. Among the relics of the Seven Stars is an old clock which has stood at the top of the staircase for more than 200 years.

Rossetti and Whistler.

Once Rossetti asked Whistler how he liked a sketch he had made for a picture. "It has good points," was the answer. "Go ahead with it." A few weeks later he was asked about the picture. "Doing famously," said Rossetti. "I've ordered a stunning frame for it." Some time later Mr. Whistler saw the canvas, framed, but still virgin of paint brush or paint. "You've done nothing to it," said Mr. Whistler. "No," replied Rossetti, "but I've written a sonnet on the subject if you would care to hear it." When the recitation was over Mr. Whistler said, "Rossetti, take out the canvas and put the sonnet in the frame."

A Horn Curiosity.

Our old school textbook told us that "all horns are not bones," and this is very true as far as the horn of the rhinoceros is concerned. That curious protuberance is nothing less than a collection or amalgamation of hairs, so interwoven and agglutinated that under the microscope it appears to be of composition similar to the pith of a cornstalk, except that the hairs are not so widely separated by the material that binds them together. In olden times royalty employed rhinoceros horns for drinking cups, the notion being that poison put into them would show itself by bubbling. There may have been a grain of truth in this, for it is known that the ancient poisons were all acids, and these would certainly decompose the horny structure of the cup very rapidly.

Cleanliness our Motto

Only experienced men employed. Opposite the drug store.

Weather a woman wants to trust a man depends not on how much he is to be trusted, but how much she likes him.

They never gripe or sicken but cleanse and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels. This is the universal verdict of the many thousands who use DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills relieve headache, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, torpid liver, sallow complexion, etc. Try Little Early Risers. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Some people try to hide their ignorance by saying that they are superstitious.

All old time Cough Syrups bind the bowels. This is wrong. A new idea was advanced two years ago in Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. This remedy acts on the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs and loosens the bowels at the same time. It expels all cold from the system. It clears the throat, strengthens the mucous membranes, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Our idea of a society man is one who neglects to say anything when he speaks.

One Minute Cough Cure contains not an atom of any harmful drug, and it has been curing coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough so long that it has proven itself to be a tried and true friend to the many who use it. No need to fear of your child choking from croup with One Minute Cough Cure handy. Sold by John L. Wooten.

The only will a man can exert with his own family is the one he writes for them with his lawyer.

Don't deceive yourself. If you have indigestion take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It will relieve you. Rev. W. E. Hocutt, South Mills, N. C., says: "I was troubled with chronic indigestion for several years; whatever I ate seemed to cause heartburn, sour stomach, fluttering of my heart, and general depression of mind and body. My druggist recommended Kodol, and it has relieved me. I can now eat anything and sleep soundly at night. Kodol Digests what you eat." Sold by John L. Wooten.

To many people mistake dignity for wisdom.

A man who once had rough horny hands made them soft and smooth with Witch Hazel Salve, but he used the genuine—that bearing the name "E. C. DeWitt & Co, Chicago." For sores, boils, cuts, buras, bruises, etc., it has no equal, and affords almost immediate relief from blind bleeding, itching and protruding Piles. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Success is doing a thing before some one else does it.

Just a little Kodol after meals will relieve that fullness, belching gas on stomach, and all other symptoms of indigestion. Kodol digests what you eat, and enables the stomach and digestive organs to perform their functions naturally. Sold by John L. Wooten.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent)

Washington, D. C. Feb. 9, 1906.

Somebody in the House Committee on Agriculture must have a grudge against the seed men of the country. There was a sudden call for information from the House the other day and it resulted in the revelation that a large number of the seed firms, not all of them it may be said for the reputation of the business, have been adulterating the seed sold to the farmer so that the wonder was that he ever got any of the forage crops he was expecting. It seems that last year when the seed appropriation was made, there was a provision inserted in the bill that the Department of Agriculture should buy samples of seeds in the open market and not only find out by examination which were adulterated but publish the names of the firms engaged in the business. This was not a very welcome task for the Department. It was the sort of publicity that would make enemies as well as friends and the two bulletins that were published were cut down to the least possible compass and were not given out to the newspaper men at all. Neither would the information sent to Congress have been given out if the department could have helped it. But there was a leak in the committee and the result was that the whole of the correspondence has gotten into print. There are hundreds of names of supposedly reputable firms. The adulteration of the samples runs all the way from a few per cent. to 98 per cent. The report shows also that tons of cheap worthless seeds are imported annually from Germany, Canada and the Argentine for the sole purpose of being mixed with the native grass seed and being sold as the pure product. As Kentucky blue grass seed costs 16 cents a pound and the Canada blue grass only 5 cents, there is profit in the transaction. The bur clover seed used to adulterate alfalfa is a by product of South American wool combing. The department even found small wire teeth of the carding machines in the samples, taking no Sherlock Holmes to tell where the seed had come from. Red clover and orchard grass were also included in the report. Out of 265 samples of the latter examined, there were 133 adulterated. Of the red clover, all the samples had been mixed with the seed of yellow trefoil. Of this there were imported in one year 250,000 pounds and it was of no use except as an adulterant. Sometimes the foreign seed had been sterilized before they were mixed with the forage seeds. This recalls the case of a brilliant contractor in the old days of the Agricultural Department who sold the department a car load or two of tomato seed for free distribution. None of them came up and it was discovered later that the seed were the refuse from canning factories and had all been boiled. Officials of the department don't like to hear this story, but it is true. The department's investigation so far has included only the four forage plants named, but the law requires all varieties of commercial seeds to be taken up in turn and if the farmers of the country will keep up the agitation, either there will be a lot more names of firms go on the departmental black list or there will be a regeneration in the seed business and some adulterating rascals driven out of business. It may be said that any one interested can get the names of the offending firms by writing to the Department. This will throw a little extra work on the officials, but that is what they are paid for.

An interesting hearing has been going on before the House Committee on Agriculture on the transportation of live cattle by the railroads. The stock shippers are clamoring for an extension of the time that cattle may be carried on the roads without food or water. The Humane Society which is appearing on behalf of the suffering beasts is after a reduction. The limit of this foodless and waterless transportation is now fixed by law at 28 hours which as any man with a stomach will appreciate is entirely too long. The shippers of live stock want it extended to 36 hours to make a little more money of the stock. If they could, they would make the run just as long as it could be made without actually losing money on the weight of the stock over the amount saved in food and handling charges. The Society on the other hand claims that either the runs should be shortened or that the cars should be fitted with feeding and watering devices. There are plenty of expired patents for such cars on the market though of course the installation would cost something. There is the other alternative of moving the slaughter houses into the cattle country and doing away with the long transportation altogether. But this would mean extra expense to the Beef Trust which now makes the shipper pay the freight. It all resolves itself into a contest between humanity and greed. It may be that humanity will win but at the least the Humane Society is determined that there will be no extension of the railroad run and a compromise may be effected on that basis.

North Carolina People Caring for Themselves

"The sentiment in favor of Home Insurance Companies is stronger in North Carolina than in any other Southern State," was the remark made a few days ago by the representative of a Life Insurance Company who travels through the South. This fact speaks volumes for the future welfare of North Carolina and shows that our people are learning to care for themselves instead of relying upon others. They are caring for themselves in increasing numbers by buying from THE GREENSBORO LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE SUPERB HOME INDEMNITY POLICY.

Which is recognized as the best Life Insurance contract yet devised. The best evidence of the superiority of this contract is to be found in the fact that more North Carolina people are buying the Income Indemnity Policy than are buying the Policies of any other Company. This Policy costs no more than others, but it affords a great deal more protection. It pays double Insurance in case of accidental death and becomes fully paid up for life in the event of total permanent disability or incapacity. Dividends are guaranteed and may be used to reduce the number of Annual Premiums.

Ancestors.

Abraham Hayward, the famous Quarterly reviewer, once thought that he would like to have some ancestors, so he walked straight to a picture dealer's. Selecting a portrait of a cavalier in half armor with features not quite unlike his own, Mr. Hayward made a bid for it; but, deeming the price asked too high, he went his way. A few days later Mr. Hayward went to dine with Lord Houghton and was astonished to find the picture in the dining room. Seeing that it attracted his guest's attention, Lord Houghton said: "Very good picture that. Came into my hands in a curious way. Portrait of a Milnes of the commonwealth period, an ancestor of mine." "Ah, indeed!" said Mr. Hayward. "He was very near being an ancestor of mine."

Heat and Motion in 1642.

Professor Tyndall was envied for the happy title of his book, "Heat and Mode of Motion." It told the whole story. Sir W. R. Gowers, F. R. S., points out in Nature that as far back as 1642 a Dutch professor, Van der Linden, an eminent physician of his day, published in his "Medulla Medicinæ" the dictum "Calor est minutissimarum materiae partium motus in se reverberatus"—that is to say, the worthy doctor anticipated modern theory by two centuries in thinking that the heat of a body consisted in the vibration of its minutest particles. But possibly Van der Linden may have read Bacon, who long before had written, "Essential heat is motion and nothing else."—London Telegraph.

A Gibraltar Legend.

One of the stock of ancient legends relating to the rock of Gibraltar relates how a young Scotch subaltern was on guard duty with a brother officer when the latter in visiting the sentries fell over a precipice and was killed. When the survivor was relieved from duty he made the customary written report in the usual form, "Nothing extraordinary." And this brought the brigade major down upon him in a rage. "What! When your brother officer on duty with you has fallen down a precipice 400 feet high and been killed you report nothing extraordinary?" "Weel, sir," replied the Scot calmly, "I dinna think there's onything extraorinery in it, ava. If he had fa'en doon four hundred feet and not been killed—weel, I should hae ca'd that extraorinery."

His Blooming Mistake.

A countryman of Goethe recently gave an instance of the difficulty a foreigner has with the English language. He was invited to dinner soon after his arrival in England and was desirous of saying something in a very pleasant way and made use of the following expression: "Will you have the blooming kindness to," etc. He used it in the sense that the word "blooming" is used in German, as being something very charming and beautiful, little knowing what havoc slang has played with the word in England. He was absolutely at a loss to understand why everybody was so utterly horrified at what he thought was an extremely nice expression.—London Express.
