AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

AYDEN, N. C., Feb. 13, 1906. Misses Hennie Brown, Alyce Taylor, Mary Long Whitehurst, Julia Bready, Delia Smith, Helen Quinerly, Mrs. F. G. Buhmann, Prof. Covington and G. B. Prescott attended the teachers' meeting in Greenville Saturday.

Mrs. McLawhorn returned from a visit to Hanrahan yesterday.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Alexander died yesterday morning at the home of its parents in this place. It was quite young.

Amos Tyson has accepted a position as clerk with F. G. Buhmann & Co.

There were services in the Missionary Baptist church Sunday morning and night by the pastor. In the afternoon Rev. B. W. Spilman delivered one of his famous lectures to a large audience.

W. L. Brownin, who has been with the progressive firm of F. G. Buhmann & Co. for a long while, has resigned his position and returned to his home in Jamesville. Mr. Brownin is an excellent gentleman and has many warm friends in Ayden.

S. M. Smith and J. T. Dixon, two prominent farmers from the Farmville section, were pleasant visitors last week.

In response to a message announcing the death of his uncle, Sheriff Hodges, in Washington, Staniel Hodges left here Saturday to be present at the funeral. He returned Sunday evening.

Paul Buhmann, who has been home on a furlough, left Sunday to join his command in the Marine service at Newport, N. J., from which point he will sail on a three years cruise.

The continued rains are proving a serious hindrance to the farmers in their preparation for the coming crop.

Last week E. E. Dail & Co. bought a country ham that weighed 54½ pounds. They paid 12½¢ per pound or a total of $6 71½ for the ham.

Prof. W. H. Bagdale was a caller last week. Under his supervision it does somehow seem our graded school must either needs lots of attention or else he is determined it shall rank with the best. We all appreciate the interest shown and the oftener he comes no doubt the better the results.

J. W. Smith handed us the following which he says was delivered by Judge afterward Gov. Ellis, passing sentence on John Tilghman who killed his uncle in 1850: "It is the sentence of the law and the court doth award that you, John Tilghman, be taken hence to the common jail of Craven county and there kept in close confinement until Saturday the 14th day of June, 1850, then between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. you be taken by the sheriff of Craven county to the place of public execution and there hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may the Lord have mercy upon you." This Mr. Smith says is something near, but not entirely like, the sentence of the present day.

THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION

The Formal Opening is Set For April 26th, 1907.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 12.—The formal opening of the Jamestown Exposition has been set for April 26, 1907, instead of May 13, 1907, as originally planned. It was on April 26th, 1607, that the English settlers in the London company first debarked at Cape Henry, Va., and in the desire fittingly to celebrate the 300th anniversary of that event as well as the ter centennial of the settlement at Jamestown, May 13, is found the reason for changing the date of the formal opening. The celebration of the landing anniversary, May 13, will be made the occasion of a monster celebration, which will be the great event of the exposition.

Better Pay Up.

Sheriff Tucker gives notice and publishes the list of appointments for his last round to collect taxes due for last year. Those who fail to pay may expect cost to be added and their property advertised for sale. The sheriff also has to make certificate of all white men who fail to pay by May first may be debarred from voting in the next election. No white man should lose his vote through failure to pay his poll tax.

At Perkins' Opera House Tonight.

The ladies of the Methodist and Episcopal churches will have a Valentine party at the Perkins' opera house tonight. All sorts of great amusements have been provided.

Menu as follows:

Oysters, Crackers and Olives
Turkey, Chichea Salad, beaten Biscuits,
Ice Cream and Cake,
Coffee.

Come spend an enjoyable evening.

Miss Alice Twenty Two.

Washington, Feb. 12.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained a large party of friends at the White House tonight to celebrate Miss Alice Roosevelt's twenty-second birthday. Many of Miss Roosevelt's younger friends attended, and Mr. Longworth was able to be present.

Following the dinner there was a musical.

Over Two Inches Rain.

Mr. C. V. York, who is the observer of the government river gauge here, tells us that for the twenty-four hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning the rain fall was 2.006 inches. This was the heaviest rain fall since the heavy rain of last July.

The clearing weather ought to bring out a good attendance at the Valentine party tonight.

When it comes to desirable location and nearness to the business section of the town, Sam White's property in South Greenville can't be beat. You better see him if you want a lot before the price goes up.

Will Hold Half Million Bales for Thirteen Cents.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 12.—President Harvie Jordan, of the Southern Cotton Association, made the following announcement today:

"I have secured an engagement with a syndicate of Eastern capitalists, headed by E. R. Thomas, to take 500,000 bales of middling cotton from Southern planters at the minimum price of 13 cents a pound, delivered at interior points or the ports, by or before July 1, 1906, the deal to be closed as soon as option on the syndicate's requirements shall have been secured.

The agreement further provides for the taking of all cotton ready for market next August or September from the crop 1906 at the then market prices, to be not less than the minimum price fixed by the Southern Cotton Association. This agreement is not intended to affect holders, who are demanding a maximum of 15 cents at present. New York bankers are prepared to finance fully all Southern banks in assisting holders of cotton for higher prices. Option contracts will be forwarded upon application to all cotton growers."

Watermelon for Sunday Dinner.

Perhaps Mr. W. A. Caudle, of the vicinity of Peachland, was the only person in the United States who had watermelon for dinner last Sunday. While picking over his cotton late in the season Mr. Caudle discovered several nice watermelons in the patch. He cured the melons in cotton seed; and during the Christmas holidays he and his family ate all of them except the one that was eaten Sunday. The melons, Mr. Caudle says, were as sound and nice as any he ever saw.—Wadesboro Messenger.

THE WEATHER

Party cloudy tonight and Wednesday.

The sun is trying to stay out this afternoon, but we are almost afraid to tell it.

The town is trying to put coal cinders enough on the crossings of Dickinson avenue and Evans street for people to get over.

A. H. Critcher has moved into the large dwelling house next to the railroad, on Dickinson avenue, and will conduct a boarding house there.

Boys don't forget the Odd Fellows meeting tonight. Always something doing, visitors cordially invited. R. L. Carr, N. G. E. E. Griffin, Sec.

Alonzo Cherry, a well known colored man of this town who had been at work at Tillery for a few years, died there Monday and the remains were brought here on the evening train.

Even if everything and everybody in town does not meet with your approval, that doesn't relieve you of your duty of doing what you can for the good of the community.—Kinston Free Press.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

A colored church at Mockville caught fire during service Sunday and was destroyed.

Postmaster A. B. Hill, of Scotland Neck, aged 75 years, died suddenly Monday morning.

The annual meeting of the North Carolina Sunday School Association is to be held in Charlotte April 3, 4 and 5.

Near Greensboro Sunday morning a passenger train ran into an open switch and collided with an engine that stood on the siding. Both engines were demolished and the crews of both, five persons in all, were killed. None of the passengers were injured.

Easy-Going Judges Partly Responsible For Increase of Crime.

Some of the defendants on the criminal side of Iredell Superior court docket had heard that Judge Ward was pretty severe on offenders, and they awaited his coming with some trepidation. When Judge Council appeared in Judge Ward's stead the defendants aforesaid breathed a sigh of relief. While they didn't know Judge Council they had hopes.

Now they know him and they wonder what it was on which they based any hope of leniency. But it is judges like Judge Council, Judge Shaw, Judge Ward, Judge Long and others who give comfort to the lawabiding and give pause to criminals. We have had some of the easy-going judges in Iredell recently and one of the results is the biggest official docket at this term we have had in a long time.—Statesville Landmark.

Accident to Press.

An accident to THE REFLECTOR press right in the midst of Monday's edition caused the missing of the Southern mail and also made delivery around town very late, some not getting their papers until this morning. The carrier boys went out with what papers they had and supplied part of their routes, but had to wait for the press to be mended before they could get enough papers to finish. It took until well in the night to get the press to working. We regret this, but accidents will come sometimes.

No Hanging Friday.

Sylvester Barrett, who at the last term of Pitt Superior court was sentenced to be hanged on Friday, Feb. 16th, for the murder of Constable W. J. Lovie, of Farmville township, will not be executed on that date. An appeal was taken to Supreme court which stays the matter until that court passes upon it.

Rain and Wind.

Monday night's storm brought buckets, bowls, basins and kindred receptacles into requisition to catch the water coming through leaking roofs. And the high wind through the night blew down many fences. It was a storm that left its effects.

A BURNT CHILD DREADS FIRE.

People who are old enough to be reminiscent remember the day when the cotton growers thought they were ruined because cotton went down to 25 cents a pound. In those days it cost a pile of money to run a plantation, for everything was high and we doubt whether there was as much clear money in cotton as there is today. Old folks remember when the bagging and ties on cotton cost a little fortune and nearly every other expense in producing cotton in those days was proportionately high.

It is true that the cotton growers of those days "did keep on making it as the price went down" and the time was when the farmers planted all cotton and depended on buying their provisions and even the corn and hay which they fed to their stock. They had all their eggs in one basket—the old cotton basket—and disaster overtook the agricultural industry in the South. There is no telling how greatly the agricultural industry in the South was retarded by the unthinking agricultural policy, in those days, when the people were engaged in a fierce struggle to overcome the effects of war.

Our cotton growers should never go back into the old rut. Diversified crops and reduced acreage in cotton will keep our farmers from "going on the lien" again. There have been tough days with the cotton growers and it will be their fault if they again go around with a mortgage begging somebody to "carry" them from year to year.—Wilmington Star.

Twenty Burned to Death.

Portland, Ore., Monday, 12.—Twenty persons are believed to have perished and ten were injured in a fire which swept a district of frame buildings between Morrison, Alder, East Water streets and the river this morning. The district included several lodging houses. Of the dead, five bodies have been recovered. The fire broke out at 2:45 in the Mount Hood Saloon and burned with great rapidity. The buildings were built on pilings and the frame structures on both sides of the roadway were soon ablaze.

The fire attained such headway before an alarm was turned in that it could not be stayed. Most of the dead were in lodgings in Mount Hood saloon.

TWO GREAT ARTISTS.

The Difference Between the Work of Reynolds and Gainsborough.

The contrast between these two great artists, Reynolds and Gainsborough, is almost the difference between art and nature. Reynolds was learned in what other painters had done and had reduced his own art to a system. Gainsborough found almost everything for himself—never lost the simple, natural way of looking at things and people and painted not according to rule, but at the dictates of what he felt. Reynolds planned out his effects; Gainsborough painted on the spur of the impression which the subject aroused. Reynolds' art was based on safe, general principles. Gainsborough's was the fresh and spontaneous expression of his temperament—depending, that is to say, on feeling rather than on calculation. His temperament, or habit of mind, was dreamy and poetic, gentle and retiring, including a small range of experience. Reynolds, on the other hand, was a man of the world and of business capacity, intimate with Samuel Johnson, Oliver Goldsmith and other celebrities of the day; a man of knowledge and clever conversational power, whose pictures by their variety prove his versatility. Consequently when the Royal academy was established in 1768 he was elected president by acclamation and was knighted by George III., an honor that has ever since been bestowed on the holder of this office.

These two men were at the head of the group of portrait painters who in the latter part of the eighteenth century and in the early years of the succeeding one added luster to the new growth of art in England.—Charles H. Coffin in Cen-

A Prelate's Eloquence.

In 1104, when Henry I. was in Normandy, a prelate named Serlo preached so eloquently against the fashion of wearing long hair that the monarch and his courtiers were moved to tears. Taking advantage of the impression he had produced, the enthusiastic prelate whipped a pair of scissors out of his sleeves and cropped the whole congregation.

Muscat.
The interior of Muscat is particularly gloomy, the bazaars are narrow and dirty and roofed over with palm matting. They offer but little of interest, and if you are fond of the Arabian sweetmeat called halwa it is just as well not to watch it being made there, for niggers' feet are usually employed to stir it, and the knowledge of this is apt to spoil the flavor. Most of Muscat is now in ruins! There is also wanting in the town the feature which makes most Moslem towns picturesque—namely, the minaret. The mosques of the Ibadhieh sect are squalid and uninteresting. At first it is difficult to recognize them from the courtyard of an ordinary house, but by degrees the eye gets trained to identify a mosque by the tiny substitute for a minaret attached to each—namely, a sort of bell shaped cone about four feet high, which is placed above one corner of the inclosing wall.—Pearson's Weekly.

Birds In Egypt.

It is delightful to note the tameness of the birds of Egypt. They enter rooms and houses through windows and crevices left for ventilation, and once inside hop fearlessly about the floor picking up stray crumbs. A sparrow often perches on the corner of the table during the progress of a crowded hotel repast, and it is not uncommon to see them flitting across the ceiling of a drawing room. All birds, from the largest to the smallest, go unmolested unless they are definitely used for food. The great brown kite sits fearlessly on the roofs of Cairo hard by his cousin, the crow, which is not black, like our crow, but is black and gray and might easily be mistaken for a pigeon. Every large garden—at any rate in upper Egypt—has its owl frequenting a tall palm tree and hooting or whistling as nature guides it.—Cairo Letter.

This is the week of weeks at the National capital. In all history there has not taken place a wedding in this country around which there centered more interest than the marriage of the President's daughter, Miss Alice Roosevelt, to Congressman Longworth, which occurs in the White House next Saturday noon, except it was when ex-President Grover Cleveland took to himself a bride when he was our Nation's President.

APOSTROPHE TO THE HOG.

You will never know the trouble and pleasure of life until you raise hogs. They are a bother and vexation to the spirit of man while they live, but bring joy and contentment to the soul of man when they die at hogkilling time. The American hog, however, is the dad-blamedest, split hooped, long-snouted busybody animal we ever saw. He can make a fellow madder than other animals that invest the premises. He will always squeal and muddy your pants when he knows you are trying to feed him. He will get in your garden through a knothole and destroy enough produce in three minutes to feed your wife and children for three months. He will pay no attention to wide open gate where you want him to go through, but will shovel out several cubic yards of dirt to make a hole into a place you don't want him to go. He is the biggest nuisance and most profitable on the farm. Ex.

GENERAL WHEELER'S FIRST MEETING WITH LEE.

General "Joe" Wheeler, a hero of two wars, and rich in years and fame, died before he had lived out the one ambition that remained in his heart. He wanted to write the history, that he had helped to make with his sword and as a legislator and pacificator of his country. He wished to close his career as a man of letters and especially as a historian.

With this purpose in view, about a week before his death he became a stockholder, a director and the historical editor of the Golden Age, a new magazine edited and published by Southern men in New York. He wrote his first article, his Recollections of West Point Fifty Years Ago, for the February number of this magazine, and died. The article is of especial interest as being the first effort of a noble purpose and the last effort of a noble man. But it is of itself of inherent interest. The famous cavalry commander describes his first meeting with General, then Colonel, Robert E. Lee, the Superintendent of the Military Academy. The following is a brief extract:

"I found my way to the door of the office of the Superintendent of the Academy. The Superintendent's orderly, whose duty it was to announce visitors, was for a moment absent, and being ignorant of military rules I knocked at the door. I heard the words 'come in.' As I entered, this remarkable man, Robert E. Lee, who afterwards became a renowned warrior, rose from his seat behind his desk, met me as I approached, and placing his hand upon my shoulder, said with a welcome smile: 'A young cadet who has come to report?' Never have I seen a form or face which so impressed me; his uniform was closely buttoned, showing his erect, well rounded and perfect figure; his manner was dignified and embodied modesty, kindness, benevolence and all the characteristics which convey the idea of purity and nobility. He was in his forty-ninth year, mustache faced, with slightly gray hair. At that time he was a captain of engineers, with brevet ranks of Major, Lieutenant Colonel and Colonel, which honors he won by courage and valuable service in the battles of Mexico. So highly regarded was he that the Army and War Department considered him the logical and certain successor of General Scott as commander of the army.

"In reply to the question I bowed to express the affirmative and after a few kind words he took me to the door of the office of the Adjutant, Lieutenant I. B. Fry, afterwards a prominent General, telling me that Lieutenant Fry would give me all instructions and directions. This kind, fatherly reception was different from my preconceived idea of military decorum; there was not a particle of austerity in the bearing of Colonel Lee or Lieutenant Fry."

The above is only a fortaste of this article, in addition to which there is a thrilling dramatic narrative of General Wheeler's campaign at Chickamauga, from the pen of one of his old troopers, Dr. John Allan Wyeth. With these two features the Golden Age will be of special interest to all Southern readers. Its subscription price is $1.00 per year. Published at 48 West Twenty-seventh street, New York.

An Irishman was sitting in an inn in County Mayo one day while it was raining furiously without. A nobleman's brougham drew up at the door of the hostelry. Blazoned on the panels of the doors were the arms of its owner, inscribed with the motto "Fides regnat ubique" (Faith reigns everywhere). "Pat," asked some one of the Irishman, "how do you translate that?" "Easy enough," Pat replied. "'Fides regnat ubique'—Faith, it rains everywhere."

Rain Coats

COPYRIGHT 1905 BY THE HOUSE OF KAPPENHEIMER

This is splendid weather for Ducks, Doctors and Rain Coats. Every prudent Man will buy a Rain Coat and get along without the Doctor and his bill. A Cravenette Rain Coat, if it is genuine, is a regular Fall Overcoat of Covert, fine Cheviot, or mixed Worsted, with the fabric chemically treated before the Tailor gets hold of it. The process doesn't hurt the cloth in any way, but helps it in most ways; makes it impervious, though not proof against a fire-hydrant. In short, a Gentleman's Rain Coat is both a luxury and a necessity. Rain Coats tailored and finished in the best style, known to Rain Coat makers, $10 to $25.

North Carolina People Caring for Themselves

"The sentiment in favor of Home Insurance Companies is stronger in North Carolina than in any other Southern State," was the remark made a few days ago by the representative of a Life Insurance Company who travels through the South. This fact speaks volumes for the future welfare of North Carolina and shows that our people are learning to care for themselves instead of relying upon others. They are caring for themselves in increasing numbers by buying from THE GREENSBORO LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE SUPERB INCOME INDEMNITY POLICY.

Which is recognized as the best Life Insurance contract yet devised. The best evidence of the superiority of this contract is to be found in the fact that more North Carolina people are buying the Income Indemnity Policy than are buying the Policies of any other Company. This Policy costs no more than others, but it affords a great deal more protection. It pays double Insurance in case of accidental death and becomes fully paid up for life in the event of total permanent disability or incapacity. Dividends are guaranteed and may be used to reduce the number of Annual Premiums.

Mexican Egg Test.

It is a common sight in the plaza to behold a stall woman who is selling 2 reals' worth of eggs pick them up one by one, put one end and then the other to her lips and hand them over to the customer, who repeats the same identical operation.

To the inexperienced onlooker it seems as if they were testing the extremities of the egg. As a matter of fact, they never touch the egg with the tongue.

The idea of the performance is that when an egg is fresh one end is distinctly colder than the other. The end which has the air chamber is the warmer of the two. The human lips are exceedingly sensitive to heat and cold, and even the novice at this form of egg testing promptly becomes a capable judge. If both ends of the egg reveal the same temperature that egg may be counted as bad, as it is a fairly good sign that the air chamber is broken and the contents spread equally within the shell.—Mexican Herald.

Pitt's Sarcasm.

In 1805 Pitt called a meeting of the British militia colonels to consider his additional force bill. Some objected to the clause which called them out under all circumstances and argued that this should not be "except in case of actual invasion." "Then," said Pitt, "it would be too late." Presently they came to another clause, when the same objectors insisted on the militia not being liable to be sent out of the kingdom. "Except, I suppose," said Pitt, with cruel sarcasm, "in case of actual invasion."

Reviews of Reviews

Many other publications are desirable, and you may prefer this or prefer that fiction and art publication, but the Review of Reviews is necessary. Substantial American men and women are going to keep up with the times and they are going to take the shortest cut which is the Review of Reviews.

The Cosmopolitan

A leading magazine for 18 years. With the recent change of ownership it has been improved. It is far better in every respect, and aims to be the best in the field. Every year or so there's one notable advance in the forward movement among the many magazines. This year it is the Cosmopolitan.

Woman's Home Companion

The Woman's Home Companion is for every member of the family. For our bright, earnest, cultured, home loving American woman it is an ideal entertainer and helper in a thousand congenial ways; but the fathers and brothers and sons join in its perusal by the fireside; children eagerly turn to the pages that are written for them.

The American Farmer is the leading Agricultural paper of the country, and pertinent to farming, live stock and poultry raising. Every farmer should have it.

you get all four of these papers with THE DAILY REFLECTOR a year for $5.00; or all four with THE EASTERN REFLECTOR a year for $3.00

THE REFLECTOR is Read By Everybody in reach, and it reaches people who have money to pay for what they want. If you have what they want advertise it and you are sure to get a part of their money.

Utopian Ideas.

The dictionaries do not seem to recognize the significance given to "politeness" in the following sentence of Young's preface to his "Satires."

"A writer in polite letters should be content with reputation, the private amusement he finds in his compositions, the good influence they have on his severer studies, that admission they give to his superiors and the possible good effect they may have on the public, or else he should join to his politeness some more lucrative qualification."

The ideal thus presented is appropriately attractive and romantic. Its defect is that harassing difficulty of attainment which is so prone to beset the aspirant after Utopian conditions.—London Notes and Queries.

Men and Their Hats.

"Well, well," remarked a leading hatter the other day, "everybody has smiled at the vanity of women as they take long and fond glances at their reflections in the store windows, but woman is not a marker for the ordinary man. The uglier a man is the longer it takes him to suit himself with a hat, and the oftener does he look into the glass while buying one. I have an unusually unprepossessing customer who would exhaust the patience of a Job. He came into the store the day after the styles arrived and consumed two hours and ten minutes in getting a hat that pleased him. The next day he returned the hat and had one made to order. This man is so ugly that nothing could improve his looks but a mask."—Philadelphia Record.
