

THE WHITE HOUSE WEDDING.

MISS ALICE ROOSEVELT BECOMES THE BRIDE OF CONGRESSMAN LONGWORTH.

Ceremony Performed at Noon Today Amid Splendid Surroundings. Many Nationalities Represented, Immense Display of Presents, Couple Leave for the South.

Washington, D. C., February 17.—No social event in the history of this country has ever attracted as much interest in all sections of the country and among all classes of the population, as the wedding of Alice Roosevelt, eldest daughter of President Roosevelt, to Congressman Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio. The popularity of Miss Roosevelt's father, coupled with the undeniable fact that all the world loves a lover, particularly if that lover is the daughter of the chief executive of the country and has endeared herself by her naturalness and Democratic ways, has made the wedding of Miss Roosevelt a national event in the full sense of the word. The wedding came quite near being considered an international event, and, to some extent, has assumed that character, although President Roosevelt, with true Democratic spirit, tried his best to prevent it.

For many weeks the preparations for the joyful event at the White House had been going on, and, during the last few days, an incredible amount of work had been done in the line of decorating the various rooms and arranging matters for the reception of the large number invited guests. But, after all, a great deal remained to be done during the last few hours preceding the ceremony. From early morning there was feverish activity in all parts of the White House. The florists and decorators put the finishing touches upon their work begun yesterday.

The beginning of the ceremony had been set for high noon, but the first carriages with guests began to arrive shortly after eleven o'clock, and when the noon hour approached, there was an uninterrupted line of carriages depositing their occupants at the hospitable door of the White House. It was a brilliant assemblage which filled the magnificently decorated rooms. Women in beautiful gowns, men of distinguished appearance, in military uniforms, the rich garb of the diplomatic corps or the less picturesque costume prescribed for ordinary civilians at noonday functions of this character, crowded the space reserved for the invited guests and awaited patiently the beginning of the ceremony.

A few minutes before noon Bishop Satterlee, of Washington, and the Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, who were to perform the ceremony, arrived in the East room and took their places within the enclosure of white ribbons, forming a barrier around the floral altar. A few minutes later the bridegroom, accompanied by his best man, Mr. Thomas Nelson Perkins, entered the room and took their positions at the side of the altar, where they awaited the arrival of

At the stroke of twelve the Marine band in the lobby began to play the wedding march from Wagner's "Lohengrin," and at the same moment the bridal party started in two columns toward the East room.

The bride leaned on her father's arm and walked with stately and dignified steps. Mrs. Roosevelt walked with her son Kermit, Miss Ethel with her brother Archibald and the baby of the family, Quentin, was conducted by his cousin, William S. Cowles, Jr., the only son of Capt. and Mrs. William S. Cowles. Mrs. George C. Lee, the venerable grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. William S. Cowles walked together and were followed by the other members of the Lee, Roosevelt and Longworth families, who had come from all parts of the country to attend the wedding.

The eight ushers selected by the bridegroom awaited the bridal party at the foot of the stairs and preceded them to the East room, where they arranged themselves, four on each side, forming an aisle. They held white ribbons in such a way that they formed an arch, beneath which the bridal party marched toward the altar. The ushers were Quincy Adams Shaw, of Boston; Frederick Wintrop, of New York; Francis R. Bangs, of Boston; Guy Norman, of Boston; B. A. Wallingford, of Cincinnati; Laiz Anderson, of Washington, D. C.; the Vicomte Charles de Chambrun and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., the eldest son of the President.

The wedding ceremony was conducted in accordance with the ritual of the Episcopal church, Bishop Satterlee officiating and the Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith assisting in the ceremony. During the progress of the ceremony the boy's choir of St. John's Church sang a number of sacred selections, including Mr. Longworth's favorite, "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death," from "Elijah," and a selection from the Song of Solomon, "My Beloved Cometh."

When the critical moment arrived and Bishop Satterlee asked the all-important question, the bride answered with a firm and clearly audible "I will." The answer of the bridegroom, although undoubtedly also in the affirmative, was by no means as audible as the answer of his fair life partner.

Miss Alice Roosevelt looked lovely in her magnificent bridal costume. The gown was cut in Princess style, which is particularly becoming to the slender and graceful figure of the bride. It was of pearl white satin, showing a design of roses outlined in silver thread on a plain background. The skirt was plain and tight fitting around the hips and waist, with no trimming whatever. The bodice was tight fitting as far as the bust, where it draped softly in crosswise folds, the fronts fastening in alternate tabs, showing a vest of soft tulle, which began at the end of the yoke. The transparent yoke was of real rose point lace, an heirloom of the Lee family. The sleeves were of elbow length, being finished with soft ruffles of the same lace. The train, fully three yards long, began at the shoulders, was of heavy white broche, lined with plain white satin and finished on the sides and at the bottom with ruches of chiffon.

The bridal veil, another family heirloom, was of soft tulle, falling almost to the bottom of the train. It was held by a spray of orange blossoms falling loosely over the coiffure. The bride carried no flowers, but only a small, ivory bound prayer book, the same which her mother carried at her wedding.

Miss Roosevelt had originally intended to use for her bridal dress some of the magnificent satins, brocades and other costly materials which had been presented to her by the Empress Dowager of China, and other Oriental potentates, whom she had visited during her trip last year. She changed her plans, however, upon the suggestion of the President, who called her attention to the fact that it would be more appropriate for her to select for her bridal dress only materials of American manufacture.

Nearly every one of these presents had had more than one opportunity in his life to attend social functions on a princely scale and to revel in the beauty of magnificent decorations at weddings or big State functions. Nevertheless all were struck by the exquisite beauty of the decorative arrangements carried out in every detail at this wedding. The quiet elegance of the East room and the other rooms and corridors formed a suitable background for the truly artistic decorations of the interior. Enormous quantities of the richest and most beautiful flowers, ferns, palms and other green plants were employed with such consummate skill that a most pleasing effect was produced, noble and rich, yet unobtrusive and artistically perfect in its harmony.

It is extremely doubtful whether any bride who was not a princess of royal blood was ever so overwhelmed with wedding presents as Mrs. Longworth.

For weeks wedding gifts of every description have been flowing into the White House, until the library was actually filled with the gifts. They came from every part of the United States, from every corner of the world and varied in value from a few dollars to a king's ransom.

One of the most beautiful presents sent to the bride of the White House by one of the foreign governments is a fine gobelin, the wedding gift of the French Republic, through its president. It is a piece of tapestry, two feet wide and four feet long. The design is very handsome and is a reproduction of a painting by Ehrman of Strassburg, an Alsatian artist, renowned during the middle part of the last century.

Emperor William's gift to the bride was a handsome bracelet, artistically wrought in gold and jeweled.

The Empress Dowager of China sent a curiously wrought treasure chest, covered with beautiful carvings and filled with costly silks, satins, brocades, ivory carvings, lacquers, etc.

The king and queen of Italy sent a fine piece of mosaic from the Government Mosaic Works in Venice.

The Cuban Republic sent a magnificent gift in the form of a collar of pearls valued at more than $25,000.

Nothing gave stronger proof of the popularity of the bride than the fact that the wedding presents sent to her from all parts of the world were by no means all sent by wealthy people or the heads of governments. Many of the gifts came from comparatively poor people, farmers in some of the Western states, artisans and others not richly endowed with worldly goods. From those sources the bride has received enough vituals to feed a good sized family for a year. Among the gifts were potatoes, all kinds of vegetables and fruit, pumpkins, eggs, and even coal in generous quantities.

Among the countless gifts from wealthy friends of the Roosevelt family is a large silver pitcher, three feet high, which Mr. James Stillman had made to order by a New York firm.

Two other superb gifts came from the Ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid and from the Secretary of State and Mrs. Root. The ambassador's present is a beautiful and costly dog collar of pearls and diamonds, while that of Secretary Root is a beautiful emerald chain.

Most of the members of the numerous Roosevelt clan have sent presents of silver and it is safe to say that in the aggregate there will be enough knives, forks and spoons of all kinds to stock a good sized store. Some the members of the Roosevelt clan have also sent jewelry, works of art, laces, bric a brac, and glassware.

The relatives and friends of Mr. Longworth also remembered the bride and sent her some handsome wedding presents.

The wedding luncheon and reception lasted until three o'clock, when Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth retired to prepare themselves for their departure on their wedding trip. An hour later the newly married couple was driven to the Pennsylvania station, where the special Pullman car "Republic," specially fitted up for the bridal trip, stood ready to receive them. Mrs. Longworth looked charming in her traveling gown of tan cloth, cut in princess style and with a short bolero jacket. The skirt was trimmed with folds of chiffon velvet of the same shade as the cloth. The upper part of the waist and the sleeves were tan chiffon and lace. The little coat was trimmed with bands of velvet. With this costume she wore a tri-cornered hat of tan velvet, with a bird of paradise at the side, fastened with a tortoise shell and silver buckle.

The final destination of the trip was carefully kept secret, but it is understood that the couple will go South, probably to Georgia and will pay a visit to the home of her mother. Later they intend to spend a week or more at Palm Beach, Fla.

The trip will only last about three weeks, as the session of Congress makes it necessary for Mr. Longworth to return to Washington. After the adjournment of Congress Mr. and Mrs. Longworth intend to go to Europe and spend some time in the capitals of the principal countries. It is expected that they will be presented at the various courts which they will visit, although the death of King Oscar of Denmark will somewhat interfere with the original plans of the trip. The European courts being in mourning, there will be little opportunity for the travelers to attend large court functions. They propose to spend considerable time in London and Paris, where both have many friends and relations.

Alice Roosevelt's "Twin" Marries.

New York, February 17.—Miss Madge Hogan, of this city, known among her friends as "Alice Roosevelt's twin," was married here today at high noon with William Holbroke, a private in Company E, eighth Infantry, stationed at Governor's Island. The peculiar soubriquet of Miss Hogan was given to her because, like Miss Roosevelt, she was born on February 11, 1884, and always had the greatest admiration for the latter. When Miss Hogan heard that Miss Roosevelt was to be married of February 17, she arranged with her intended to be married at the same time. The marriage took place at the home of Miss Hogan's parents in this city. Invitations had been sent to Miss Alice Roosevelt and Mr. Nicholas Longworth.

He Conquered Carlyle.

The Rev. Thomas Alexander, a Presbyterian minister long resident in Chelsea and well known as a brother Scot, was most anxious to know Carlyle, but had no opportunity of getting an introduction to him. One day in the King's road he saw Carlyle coming in his direction and took advantage of the opportunity by going up to the sage and saying, "Thomas Carlyle, I believe." Carlyle's reply was, "Tom Alexander, I know!" They became good friends, and later Mr. Alexander wrote to Carlyle for a subscription toward a school building fund, and Carlyle wrote back a refusal in doggerel, whereupon Mr. Alexander replied that if he did not send him £5 he would sell his poetry to a collector or publish it. The £5 was at once forthcoming.

Matchmaking Napoleon.

The first Napoleon was the greatest matchmaker that ever lived. After repeated refusals the doughty little soldier himself finally won the hand of Josephine and devoted his matrimonial instincts to the affairs of others. No excuse was admitted from a bachelor. To him who urged that he could not find a wife, "Be that my care," he said, and the same evening the affair would be arranged. The poor received dowries and trousseaux. One day by decree the emperor married off 6,000 soldiers at once. Another day his great court dignitaries were obliged en masse to find partners for better or for worse.

Yawning For Health.

A German expert on gymnastics announces that one need not go to a well known equipped gymnasium in search of a course of health giving exercises. Deep yawning practiced as a regular exercise is the cheapest and surest road to perfect health. We are still familiar with the theory that systematic deep breathing is an excellent thing for the lungs, and it is on similar grounds that yawning is recommended. The expansion of the breast bones and the stretching of the arms which accompany a whole-hearted yawn, together with the filling of the lungs, form a splendid daily exercise.

His Farm Work.

A professor of the New York Law school was telling his students one day of the need that lawyers occasionally have for a little knowledge of agriculture. "I was reminded of this need once," he declared, "when a young attorney of this city told me about his plans for spending two or three days in the country next summer. 'I want to go to a farm,' the young attorney said, 'and for two or three days do a farm hand's work. I want to shovel hay.'"

They never gripe or sicken but cleanse and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels. This is the universal verdict of the many thousands who use DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills relieve headache, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, torpid liver, sallow complexion, etc. Try Little Early Risers. Sold by John L. Wooten.

In the game of life, as in a pocket game, the fellow who says nothing and saws wood is the one who picks up the chips

All old time Cough Syrups bind the bowels. This is wrong. A new idea was advanced two years ago in Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. This remedy acts on the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs and loosens the bowels at the same time. It expels all cold from the system. It clears the throat, strengthens the mucous membranes, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Sold by John L. Wooten.

It sometimes happens that a man's enemies with bad designs do him less harm than his friends with good intentions.

One Minute Cough Cure contains not an atom of any harmful drug, and it has been curing coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough so long that it has proven itself to be a tried and true friend to the many who use it. No need to fear of your child choking from croup with One Minute Cough Cure handy. Sold by John L. Wooten.

A man would have to work overtime all day to do all the things he tries to make his friends believe he does before breakfast.

Don't deceive yourself. If you have indigestion take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It will relieve you. Rev. W. E. Hocutt, South Mills, N. C. says: "I was troubled with chronic indigestion for several years; whatever I ate seemed to cause heartburn, sour stomach, fluttering of my heart, and general depression of mind and body. My druggist recommended Kodol, and it has relieved me. I can now eat anything and sleep soundly at night. Kodol Digests what you eat. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Don't think you've won the girl just because her father begins to call you by your first name. He may be contemplating a "touch."

A man who once had rough horny hands made them soft and smooth with Witch Hazel Salve, but he used the genuine—that bearing the name "E. C. DeWitt & Co, Chicago." For sores, boils, cuts, burns, bruises, etc., it has no equal, and affords almost immediate relief from blind bleeding, itching and protruding Piles. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Many a man would live happily with his mother-in-law if it were not for the interference of his wife

Just a little Kodol after meals will relieve that fullness, belching gas on stomach, and all other symptoms of indigestion. Kodol digests what you eat, and enables the stomach and digestive organs to perform their functions naturally. Sold by John L. Wooten.

AN EVENING OF PLEASURE.

Reported for Reflector.

Miss Susie and Norman Warren delightfully entertained a number of their friends on Friday evening Feb. 16, 1906.

The game of the evening was a guessing contest. Numerous words were distributed with separate cards, on which each one making the most words won the prize. Miss Mattie M. King having the largest number was given a large box of candy.

An evening of real pleasure was spent. Those present were, Misses Susie Warren, Lucille Cobb, Mattie M. King, Margaret Blow, Lillian Whitfield, Mary Smith, Mary Satterburn, Janie Bryan, Lillian Carr, Hennie Whichard, and Norman Warren, Willie Wilson, Cecil Cobb, Carl Wilson, Lee Shelburn and Bascom Wilson.

Miss Draper Entertain.

Miss Mae Draper was at home to a few of her friends from four to six Thursday afternoon. The evening was passed very pleasantly by playing games and other varied amusements.

Dainty refreshments were then served. After this the guests departed feeling deeply indebted to the hostess for such a delightful evening.

ELECTRIC POWER.

Reflector Presses Driven By Motor.

THE REFLECTOR has just had installed a 3 horse power electric motor to run its presses. Machinist R. L. Humber put in the shafting, pulleys and belting, while Superintendent J. A. Dunlap, of the water and light plants, looked after the electrical arrangement. The motor was purchased from the General Electric Co. through H. Harding the local agent. The adjustments were completed and power first turned on the presses Friday evening. While all the minor arrangements are not yet perfected, it is seen that the motor runs the presses beautifully.

Those who feel interested in seeing the motor and presses at work are invited to call in any evening after power is turned on from the municipal plant.

The difference between time, tide and woman is that first two wait for no man.

A CALL TO ALL.

President Moore Coming Next Saturday.

To the Cotton Farmers of Pitt County, Business men, Lawyers, Doctors and men of every other Profession or Calling who are Interested in the Prosperity of our Country:

You are earnestly invited and requested to attend a mass meeting to be held in the court house at 11 o'clock on Saturday, February 24. President C. C. Moore, of the North Carolina division of the Southern Cotton Growers Association, will be present and speak on the cotton situation, the most vital subject now confronting the Southern people.

In his letter President Moore says, "I want to see every farmer in your county on that day, I want to talk to the people who go to the cotton fields and who actually drive the mule that pulls the plow, and all others who are directly or indirectly interested in the price of cotton." Now let the public show their interest by their presence on that occasion.

R. B. COLTEN,
Pres. Pitt County Branch Southern Cotton Growers Association.

Rain Coats

COPYRIGHT 1905 BY THE HOUSE OF KUPPENHEIMER

This is splendid weather for Ducks, Doctors and Rain Coats. Every prudent Man will buy a Rain Coat and get along without the Doctor and his bill. A Cravenette Rain Coat, if it is genuine, is a regular Fall Overcoat of Covert, fine Cheviot, or mixed Worsted, with the fabric chemically treated before the Tailor gets hold of it. The process doesn't hurt the cloth in any way, but helps it in most ways; makes it impervious, though not proof against a fire-hydrant. In short, a Gentleman's Rain Coat is both a luxury and a necessity. Rain Coats tailored and finished in the best style, known to Rain Coat makers, $10 to $25.

Killed By Railroads.

Each year one in every ten trainmen in the United States (this term including engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen) is injured, and one in every 35 is killed. Two hundred and fifty men are killed and 2,800 are disabled in a average twelve month, while coupling or uncoupling cars. In the same length of time ninety-five persons are slain and 990 injured by being knocked from cars by bridges or other obstacles at the side of the track. On the other hand, only one passenger is killed in every 1,880,000 carried, and one hurt in every 97,000—Ex.

North Carolina People Caring for Themselves

"The sentiment in favor of Home Insurance Companies is stronger in North Carolina than in any other Southern State," was the remark made a few days ago by the representative of a Life Insurance Company who travels through the South. This fact speaks volumes for the future welfare of North Carolina and shows that our people are learning to care for themselves instead of relying upon others. They are caring for themselves in increasing numbers by buying from THE GREENSBORO LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE SUPERB INCOME INDEMNITY POLICY.

Which is recognized as the best Life Insurance contract yet devised. The best evidence of the superiority of this contract is to be found in the fact that more North Carolina people are buying the Income Indemnity Policy than are buying the Policies of any other Company. This Policy costs no more than others, but it affords a great deal more protection. It pays double Insurance in case of accidental death and becomes fully paid up for life in the event of total permanent disability or incapacity. Dividends are guaranteed and may be used to reduce the number of Annual Premiums.

Felt Insulted.

The beasts were passing in procession for the first time before Adam, that they might receive designations.

The lion was roaring, the tiger snarling and the elephant trumpeting terrifically.

"Why all that noise?" inquired the meek eyed gazelle, who hadn't made a sound.

"Do you expect us to hear ourselves called names without getting mad?" quickly replied the three at once.

Whereupon the gazelle admitted they were not without excuse for anger. — New Orleans Times-Demo.

Reviews of Reviews

Many other publications are desirable, and you may prefer this or prefer that fiction and art publication, but the Review of Reviews is necessary. Substantial American men and women are going to keep up with the times and they are going to take the shortest cut which is the Review of Reviews.

The Cosmopolitan

A leading magazine for 18 years. With the recent change of ownership it has been improved. It is far better in every respect, and aims to be the best in the field. Every year or so there's one notable advance in the forward movement among the many magazines. This year it is the Cosmopolitan.

Woman's Home Companion

The Woman's Home Companion is for every member of the family. For our bright, earnest, cultured, home loving American woman it is an ideal entertainer and helper in a thousand congenial ways; but the fathers and brothers and sons join in its perusal by the fireside; children eagerly turn to the pages that are written for them!

The American Farmer is the leading Agricultural paper of the country, and pertinent to farming, live stock and poultry raising. Every farmer should have it

THE CHEERFUL LIFE.

No Character is Complete Which Lacks Moral Sunshine.

It takes a great deal of sunshine to produce a perfect peach or a perfect rose. The sunshine will do what clouds cannot do. It is the sunshine that gives the inimitable tint of beauty to fruit and flower.

No character is complete which lacks moral sunshine. Many a man has failed because he was too serious, because he thought that life was too important and too short "to be trifled with," as he put it. But the fact is, the cheerful life is the healthy, productive life. Cheerfulness is as necessary to man as sunshine is to the flower. Nothing normal can be produced in darkness or in the shade. Fun is just as necessary to the normal life as water is to fish or as oil is to machinery.

Note it where we will, the smileless life—the life which has no brightness or sunshine, no humor or gladness—is morbid, sour, pessimistic. It is the joyous life, the cheerful, happy life that is helpful and inspiring. This is the sort of life the world wants. It has too many sour faces, too many vinegary countenances, too many criticsers, too much pessimism. It wants more sunshine, more optimism, more joy.

Is it not a pitiable thing to see people going through life peddling vinegar, radiating bitterness, criticizing, finding fault, seeing only the ugly, ignoring beauty, nagging, worrying, fretting and tearing down? Some people seem to have a genius for seeing the crooked, the ugly, the disagreeable. There are too many vinegar peddlers. We need more joy peddlers, more sunshine makers, people who ignore the ugly, the bitter, the crooked, but who see the world of beauty and perfection which God has made. We need the people who see the man and the woman that God made—pure, clean, sane and healthy—not the ugly, diseased, discordant, criticizing one that sin, wrong thinking and wrong living have made. A man becomes strong and creative when he sees his fellow men and the world as God made them—but those who look for the bad, the ugly, the crooked, are never creative. They are never producers. They are destroyers. They tear down.—Success Magazine.

Emma Abbott's Stage Kiss.

The following is a description by Eugene Field of Emma Abbott's stage kiss:

Aha, that kiss—that long, low, languishing, limpid, liquid, lingering kiss! 'Twas not a tender kiss, nor a studied kiss, nor an artistic kiss, nor a fervent kiss, nor a boisterous kiss, nor a paroxysmal kiss, nor a nervous kiss, nor a fraternal kiss, nor a gingerly kiss, nor a diffuse kiss, nor a concentrated kiss, nor a diffident kiss, nor a popgun kiss—'twas a calm, holy, ecstatic outbreaking of two fond and trusting hearts, an intermingling of two gentle souls sanctified by love, a communion of the intangible by tangible means, a blending of heart with heaven, in which the latter had a manifest preponderance.

Twelfth Night.

Jan. 6 is Twelfth Night. Of old this was a night of revels and feasting, and in foreign countries the peasants still make a feast on the evening of the day, walking in the fields and building bonfires, around which they drink their neighbors' healths and good fortunes for the coming year. The church feast is the Epiphany, and until the fourth century all the world of Christendom celebrated it as Christmas. The western church then transferred the date back twelve days. Twelfth Night cake is an ancient dish and is an invariable accompaniment of any festivity given in honor of the day. The cake is merely a rich mixture filled with raisins and nuts and is ornamented with twelve candles, representing the twelve apostles, although there were only eleven apostles to whom the manifestation of the Epiphany was made.—New York Post
