THE NORTH CAROLINA TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY.

Next Session to be Held in Raleigh.

The next session of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly will be held in Raleigh, June 12 to 15, 1906. The executive committee of the assembly came to this decision a few days ago after receiving an invitation to meet there, extended to them by the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce.

The decision of the executive committee to meet in Raleigh will be good news to the teachers of the state. Everybody likes to go to Raleigh. Nowhere else can the teachers in so short a time or at so small an expense learn so much about North Carolina as in the capital city, where they can visit the capitol and the various departments of the state government.

In the State Museum can be found a fine display of the great and varied resources of the state, where lessons can be learned in North Carolina geography and in North Carolina history better than in all the books ever written. In the State library and in the library of the Supreme court will be found interesting and instructive lessons in the history of the State. There are more schools in Raleigh, with more teachers and more pupils, than in any other city in North Carolina. Among these are the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College, the North Carolina schools for the Deaf and Dumb and for the Blind, St. Mary's school, the Baptist University for Women and Peace Institute. Other places of interest are the North Carolina Hospital for the Insane, the State Penitentiary, the Soldiers' Home, the Methodist Orphanage, etc.

The executive committee was promised that ample accommodations at a rate of $1 a day in first-class boarding houses would be provided for as many as 2,000 teachers, and the railroads will offer the usual reduced rates. Six large and beautiful auditoriums will be placed at the disposal of the assembly.

Bird Law out March 1st. Laws in the New Code Are Now in Force.

According to the statutes of Revision of 1905, which are now in force, the season when quail may be taken or killed in the State ends on March 1st.

It is important that hunters should bear this in mind, as heretofore the season has not ended until the 15th of March. In the following counties there exceptions to this law, viz.: Alexander, Buncombe, Gaston, Mecklenburg, Henderson, Hyde, Iredell, Forsyth, Nash, Northampton, Burke, Union and Swain.

Further details regarding the game laws will be furnished upon application.

Lodges Growing.

All the fraternal orders of the town are having a healthy growth. There is seldom a meeting of any of the lodges but what new members are received. The fraternal spirit is strong here.

MEMORIAL DAY ORATOR.

Col. J. Bryan Grimes to Speak Here On Tenth of May.

Col. I. A. Sugg, one of the committee, has shown us a letter from Col. J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State and the honored son of the late Maj. Gen. Bryan Grimes, of Pitt county, accepting the invitation of the Bryan Grimes Camp of Confederate Veterans to address them on May 10th, next.

No more fitting selection could have been made. The young veterans must take the place of the old, and Col. Grimes is doing much for his county and state. We are proud of him.

Everybody should do their very best this year to honor the heroes of the gray. We know they will, and a real treat is in store from our splendid secretary of state who delivers the address on that occasion.

JR. COOKING CLUB.

Reported for Reflector:

The Jr. Cooking Club was delightfully entertained Saturday, the 17th, by Miss Mary Lucy Dupree, the president, Ruth Cobb, presiding.

New officers were elected for the next two months, as follows:

Marguerite Higgs president, Essie Whichard, secretary, and Myrtle Warren, vice president.

After the business was attended to the hostess had a very interesting guessing contest, Ruth Cobb being the lucky guesser was awarded a prize.

After the guessing was over refreshments were served which were much enjoyed by all.

The evening passed quickly and the club adjourned to meet Saturday, the 24th, with Florence Blow.

Those present were: Ruth Cobb, Bettie Pearl Fleming, Mary Lucy Dupree, Myrtle Warren, Essie Whichard, Hilda Critcher and Marguerite Higgs.

Farm Animals.

According to the Crop Reporter issued by the Department of Agriculture, there are in this State 180,433 horses, valued at $17,793,863; 166,394 mules, valued at $19,434,800; 696,476 cattle, valued at $11,828,352; 1,153,379 hogs, worth $5,536,219.

The State is not much of a sheep raiser, having only 219,571, valued at $590,654.

The total number of farm stock is 2,416,256, with an aggregate value of $55,184,393. It will also be observed that the mules are more valuable than the horse, although there is a less number.

All Wanted Papers.

Sunday papers with accounts of the wedding had a depreciating effect on church attendance Sunday night, a large number of people making a bee line home from the postoffice. The boys with papers to sell could not supply the demand there were so many eager purchasers.

THE WEATHER

Fair tonight, warmer in extreme western portion. Tuesday fair.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY AT SOUTHERN PINES, N. C.

Gov. R. B. Glenn to be Present.

An event of interest to the veterans of the South will be the union meeting of the Blue and the Gray, which is to be held at Southern Pines, N. C., Saturday, February 24th. Among the guests of honor will be Gov. R. B. Glenn and Gen. Julian Carr. A number of others have signified their intention of being present and delegations will be in attendance from all parts of North Carolina as well as other nearby States and a large delegation of Union Veterans from different States will be present and this will no doubt be the most interesting soldiers reunion ever held in North Carolina, as it is the first time the Blue and the Gray have met in the Old North State. This reunion should be largely attended and it is hoped that the old veterans will all join in making this a memorable occasion. Southern Pines is a grand meeting place for its many hotels and boarding places will afford ample room for the accommodation of all who may visit Southern Pines aside from the interest which a reunion of veterans creates, there is much to interest visitors from all parts of the State, who will find in Southern Pines a wide-awake Yankee settlement as a number of the boys who wore the blue have made it their home and they will gladly extend a hearty welcome and greeting to those who were during the civil war their antagonists. Capt. A. M. Clarke of the Union Army and Capt. C. W. Shaw of Confederate Army of Southern Pines are the committees of arrangements for this event.

THE G. C. C. ENTERTAINS.

Reported for Reflector.

On Saturday afternoon Feb. 17, the Greenville Cooking Club met with Miss Lillian Whitefield at her home 111 Evans street.

As the guests entered they were ushered in the dressing room by Miss Mary Smith and then invited in the hall where hot chocolate was served by the hostess.

After all the business matters were over they were invited in the dining room where luscious dainties had been prepared by the guests for the hostess.

Then they were invited into the library where an amusing contest was brought in. Several tieing had to cut for the prize, Miss Susie Warren cutting the highest number was presented a very pretty brooch.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Mary Smith. As the clock was nearing six the guests departed declaring never to have spent a more enjoyable afternoon.

Those present were, Misses Lillian Whitefield, Hennie Whichard, Mary Smith, Mattie M. King, Susie Warren, Mary Shelburn and Lucille Cobb.

A Mecklenburg county negro accidentally cut off one of his big toes. He carried the toe in his pocket to a physician to get it sewed back on.

Warren Peyton and Mary Gray.

We learn from the Kinston Free Press that Mr. John Jenkins, of Jones county, said to be 105 years old, was burned to death a few days ago. He was an inveterate smoker, and when left alone in the house stooped over to light his pipe in the fireplace and fell, his clothing catching fire.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

The long drawn out Samuels case at Greensboro ended in conviction.

A suspender factory is a new enterprise to be established at Scotland Neck.

William C. Upchurch, the oldest citizens of Raleigh, died a few days ago at the age of 93.

By the collapse of a building being raised at Asheville one man was killed and three others seriously injured.

By a majority of one vote the aldermen of Asheville killed the proposed "Jim Crow" law for the street cars of that city.

From the Tarboro Southerner we learn that the mill property of Theodore Fountain at Logzetta, in Edgecombe county, was destroyed by fire Friday night. The property consisted of saw and planing mills and cotton ginnyery. The loss is $5,000 with no insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown but believed to be incendiary.

A LITTLE TOWN TO BE PROUD OF.

The entire State should feel proud of High Point. Think of it being the second furniture market in the world. Comprehend that with all its great volume of meaning. When you have an occasion, and you must often, to behold large establishment after large establishment crowded with furniture stop and realize that in the matter of supplying this furniture High Point, North Carolina, stands second on the list. The progress of this little town as a manufacturing place of this kind has indeed been rapid and marked and every North Carolinian has a right to be proud of it. There are about one hundred furniture factories in North Carolina and over half this number are located in High Point. This means that that little, but progressive town is giving employment to many and is sending to all parts of the United States furniture that bears the stamp of the Old North State — Wilmington Dispatch.

Discussing the wiseness of the ground hog, an old gentleman who has watched his prognostications for half a century or a little more, authorized the prediction that this will be the finest fruit year in the history of the country, provided the frost does not kill it, and that if the farmer will put from three to four inches of stable manure on his land, then turn it under with a plow about ten inches deep, and plant his crop in the ground instead of the moon, there will be the greatest crops ever known and that with this in view the farmer had right now just as well go to work cutting logs to build more barns to house his crops.

It would not be a bad idea to cut this out and paste it on the wall and see how it come out.—Greensboro Record.

A Keen Eyed Engineer.

An old engineer in the north of England was getting his sight tested by a doctor who lived in a house facing a large park. The doctor used to say to his patients, "Look over there and tell me what you can see." When the engineer learned that his sight was to be tested he arranged with his son to take his bicycle half a mile into the park and be oiling it. In due time the old man was led to the window, the doctor saying, as usual:

"What do you see?"

The old man, peering out, said, "I see a young man stooping beside his bicycle."

"Do you?" said the doctor. "I don't see anything at all."

"Nonsense," said the engineer.

"Why, he is oiling it."

The doctor took up a pair of field-glasses and plainly saw the same.

"Magnificent sight!" he said.

The engineer is still drawing his wages.—London Telegraph.

A Mixture of Colors.

"Funny thing happened in my town last week," said the man from up the creek.

"What was that?" asked the man from down the way.

"Black, a white man, and White, a black man, thought a fellow named Brown was pretty green and tried to sell him a gold brick. But Brown was well read, and he bluffed them both. In fact, he got all the money they had."

"And now?"

"And now Black and White are blue."

His Higher Power.

A United States senator was talking about a statesman whose great talents are coupled with an unusual mildness and gentleness of disposition.

"Poor fellow!" said the senator. "His wife henpecks him. When he was governor he had a page boy who stole some postage stamps, and the governor in his gentle way set out to give him a little religious admonition.

"Willie, he said, 'don't you know that there is a higher power always watching us?'"

"Yes, sir," said the page. "Who is it," the governor went on, "who sees and hears all we do and before whom even I am as a worm?"

"The missus, sir," said Willie."

RAILROADS, FACTORIES AND GOOD ROADS.

A well informed man remarked to THE REFLECTOR that within the next two years Greenville will have two more railroads than at present. By way of explanation he said that by the time named the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound road will be completed and trains running through from Raleigh to the sound. The other road will be a main line of the Atlantic Coast Line running from Wilmington to Norfolk via New Bern and Greenville. With such a prospect for Greenville in the near future it is no wonder that the town seems to be taking on new life and so many people are anxious to make investments here. Almost any investment made here now would be a safe one, for by the time the contemplated railroads are completed property will be much higher than at present.

It is a good time also for our people to be interesting themselves in manufacturing enterprises. Sites for factories can be secured along where the railroads will enter and run through portions of the town, and transportation facilities will be very convenient. Deals for such sites can be made to much better advantage now than by waiting until after the railroads are built. Greenville needs factories of various kinds, and the time is ripe for agitating them.

Another thing that the business men of Greenville ought to be interesting themselves in is the improvement of the public roads leading to the town. Every obstacle that hinders people in coming here to do their trading should be removed and there is no better way to attract them than by having good roads over which they can haul their produce to town and take back loads of merchandise.

Greenville should be awake to her opportunities. More railroads, factories and good county roads will make this a good town.

His pride gives the count a mighty poor foundation to stand on.

One thing even liberal advertising has not found is that lost Frying Pan Shoals light ship.

The farmers of Pitt county should bear in mind that they are not alone in this matter of organization. The spirit is abroad all over the State and throughout the South, and organization is in progress everywhere.

The farmers feed the world and they should at least have the right to fix the prices of their products. Thorough organization will put them in possession of this right.

A DAY CURRENT WILL HELP.

It is in the province of the Water and Light Commission of Greenville to give a great impetus to the establishing of small manufacturing enterprises here. It can be done by providing a day current for the town's electric plant. There are already a number of enterprises here that want power, and if current could be had in the day time many others would be established. We have talked with some of the commissioners and are glad to know they are considering plans for the day current. We hope they can see their way to put these plans in operation, for it will be a stimulus to the development of the town as well as enhance the revenue of the plant. The improvement of enterprises means that much more progress for the town.

The government appropriating $200,000 to fight the cattle-tick is going to give some other fellows a chance to line their pockets and make a report.

TEN RULES FOR EMPLOYEES.

Some Tips That Will Aid in a Young Man's Success in Life.

1. Take as much interest in your employer's business as if it were your own.
2. Do not expect to get all you can and give nothing. Do a little more work than is demanded.
3. Be prompt. Show that you have an interest in your work above a desire for an extra half hour in bed in the morning. You can't come down a half hour late every morning and impress your employer with the idea that you are a wide awake active man or woman with an interest in your work.
4. Do your work well today, you won't have to do any of it over tomorrow.
5. Be careful and willing. A sullen countenance is not pleasant to look upon by either an employer or a customer. Remember your pulling power with a customer is one of your assets. The reverse will be your loss. Be courteous. Do not thrust your own troubles and inharmonies upon those around you. It is a poor investment.
6. Be conscientious. Don't take too much interest in ball games, theatres, parties, etc., or you may find that you have not much time left to give to your work. Don't have a relative die too often. Funerals some times grow monotonous to an employer, during the baseball season or on matinee afternoons.
7. Do not make the same mistake twice.
8. Do not let your thoughts be always be wood-gathering if you expect to earn an increase of salary on pay day.
9. Do not shirk your work and be always thinking of the money side of the proposition. Give good value for the money you receive and you will be sure to succeed.
10. Put yourself in your employer's place and figure what kind of an employee you would hire to get the most out of your business. Then set yourself to try to be that employee. There is no short, easy road to success, but it is well worth traveling.—Charlotte Observer.

Remarkable Case.

A remarkable case is reported from the vicinity of Pelham, Caswell county. A negro boy, 15 years old, struck the side of a house—presumably at his home. The jar caused a gun to fall from a rack inside the house and explode. The load passed through the house, struck the boy in the eye and killed him;

Farmers.

President Moore, of the State Cotton Association, will address the people in Greenville Saturday, Feb. 24th. There will also be a meeting of the county association Monday, March, 5th, at eleven o'clock. Every farmer in the county ought to be at both meetings. Come and help to resist the men who are robbing us of the fruit of our toil, and who are trying to make industrial slaves of our children.

Rain Coats

COPYRIGHT 1905 BY THE HOUSE OF HUPPENEHER

This is splendid weather for Ducks, Doctors and Rain Coats. Every prudent Man will buy a Rain Coat and get along without the Doctor and his bill. A Cravenette Rain Coat, if it is genuine, is a regular Fall Overcoat of Covert, fine Cheviot, or mixed Worsted, with the fabric chemically treated before the Tailor gets hold of it. The process doesn't hurt the cloth in any way, but helps it in most ways; makes it impervious, though not proof against a fire-hydrant. In short, a Gentleman's Rain Coat is both a luxury and a necessity. Rain Coats tailored and finished in the best style, known to Rain Coat makers, $10 to $25.

North Carolina People Caring for Themselves

"The sentiment in favor of Home Insurance Companies is stronger in North Carolina than in any other Southern State," was the remark made a few days ago by the representative of a Life Insurance Company who travels through the South. This fact speaks volumes for the future welfare of North Carolina and shows that our people are learning to care for themselves instead of relying upon others. They are caring for themselves in increasing numbers by buying from THE GREENSBORO LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE SUPERB INCOME INDEMNITY POLICY.

Which is recognized as the best Life Insurance contract yet devised. The best evidence of the superiority of this contract is to be found in the fact that more North Carolina people are buying the Income Indemnity Policy than are buying the Policies of any other Company. This Policy costs no more than others, but it affords a great deal more protection. It pays double Insurance in case of accidental death and becomes fully paid up for life in the event of total permanent disability or incapacity. Dividends are guaranteed and may be used to reduce the number of Annual Premiums.

"FRANCIS' FOLLY."

How a Young English Engineer Saved Lowell From a Flood.

The city of Lowell was saved from destruction in 1852 by the foresight of one young man. About 1835 a Lowell antiquarian named Uriah A. Boyden devoted much attention to investigating a tradition of a great flood in the Merrimac in 1785 and found an old man who remembered that his father marked the height of the water by driving a spike in an apple tree. Mr. Boyden persevered in his search until he found the tree in Tyngsboro, several miles above Lowell. Its trunk was hollow, and, entering it from below, he discovered the spike, its head wholly concealed by the bark, at a considerable distance above the ground. It showed that in 1785 the water had risen to a point thirteen and a half feet higher than the top of the dam at the mouth of the canal, which furnished the Lowell water power in 1835.

The engineer in charge of this power was James B. Francis, a young Englishman, who urged the directors of the corporation to provide against the recurrence of such a rise of water. His arguments prevailed, and he was allowed to construct two immense wing walls of masonry, diverging from the canal lock and inclosing the entire country between the canal and the river. Over the waterway he hung an immensely strong gate, weighing twenty tons, which was suspended by a wrought iron chain. A sledge and a cold chisel were placed in the care of the watchman for use when needed. The work was finished in 1850 and for two years was laughed at as "Francis' folly."

On the morning of April 22, 1852, the waters rose so high that the city of Lowell was threatened with destruction, and the young engineer was sent for. He rode to the dam without a saddle and hurriedly cut the chain, releasing the great gate. His work stood bravely, and the Boston Advertiser five days later said that if it had not been constructed "every vestige of the old guard gates would have been carried away and a mighty and uncontrollable river would have swept through the heart of Lowell, destroying everything in its course." A service of plate was presented to Mr. Francis, and during the remainder of his life he was one of Lowell's most honored citizens. For more than forty years he was agent of the corporation controlling the water power.

What a Laugh Does.

A physician says that there is not one remotest corner or little inlet of the minute blood vessels of the human body that does not feel some wavelet from the convulsions occasioned by good, hearty laughter. The life principle of the central man is shaken to the innermost depths, sending new tides of life and strength to the surface; thus materially tending to insure good health to the persons who indulge therein. The blood moves more rapidly and conveys a different impression to all the organs of the body, as it visits them on the particular mystic journey when the man is laughing, from what is done at other times. For this reason every good, hearty laugh in which a person indulges tends to lengthen his life, conveying, as it does, new and distinct stimulus to the vital forces.—London Standard.

The Attraction.

The assistant pastor of the church had been in charge of the service one Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, and he was greatly pleased when one of the women of the congregation said to him: "My sister and I always come out when you preach, Mr. —." He was about to express his appreciation of the compliment when his supposed admirer continued naively: "You see, when you preach it is easy to find seats." — New York Post.
