A CALL TO BUSINESS MEN.

During the several months just past Greenville, as a town, has gathered new life from various sources. This fact is made manifest by the establishment of a National Bank with fifty thousand dollars capital, by the continuing demand for business houses and residences, by the erection of many new buildings from the humble cottages to a magnificent house of worship at a cost of twenty thousand dollars; and by the increase in the value of real estate within the corporate limits.

While the above facts indicate a strong and healthy industrial growth free of hazard or risk, all the citizens of the community should take an active interest in the affairs of the community that this condition may grow strong and reach, enthuse and inspire with confidence every man, woman and child in the town. And to obtain this end some medium must be used, and for that purpose no more effective medium than the Merchants Association can be had, which association is open to the business men of the county, and its aim is to build up the industrial interests of the town and county.

Just a few matters that may be considered by this association and developed in such way as to benefit every business interest: The Raleigh and Pamlico Sound railroad has not located its machine shops. Why not work together to secure it for Greenville? Fire insurance rates have not been revised since the establishment of our water system. Would it not be well to inquire into that matter? Certainly the risk is not as great as formerly. Also, the time merchants in our sister towns are reaching out dangerously near Greenville for their business. Can't Greenville increase her facilities to overcome this system? Gentlemen, let's come together in one body and exchange views and act for the town.

—FRANK WOOTEN.

Location for Bank.

A temporary location has been secured for the National Bank. It is the room in the Proctor building, or postoffice block, in which Mr. L. Hooker has been conducting a pool room. Mr. Hooker had a lease on the store, and to get possession of this it was necessary to purchase his outfit. As early as practical the bank may erect its own building.

Terrible Work of Tornado.

Mobile, Ala., March 3.—Information reached Mobile by telephone, all telegraph wires being down, that a destructive tornado visited Meridan, Miss., at 6:30 o'clock last evening killing 21 white persons and over 100 negroes and damaging property to the extent of $1,500,000. There were also scores of persons seriously injured by being caught in the wreckage of houses. The tornado caught the city on the southwest and traveled to the northeast, expending itself in two suburbs where many negroes were killed and injured, a whole tenement district being wiped out.

THE WEATHER

Fair, and continued cold tonight Tuesday partly cloudy.

THE SHIP SUBSIDY STEAL.

We always preferred to refer to the measure of the "ship subsidy steal" rather than the ship subsidy bill; for it is generally understood that it is largely a scheme to pay a political debt out of the public treasury—Chairman Mark Hanna having promised the ship builders and ship owners this "plum" in recognition of contributions to the Republican campaign fund in 1896. It is gratifying, together with five Republicans—and the names of these five ought to be remembered as on a roll of honor: Burkett, Dolliver, La Follette, Spooner and Warner—voted against the subsidy. If we understand the spirit of democracy it is directly opposed to the policy of subsidies. An industry that cannot stand on its own feet has no right to ask that other industries be taxed to keep it alive. But we still hope that in the House there is enough patriotism (or at least enough fear of the people) to keep this ship subsidy bill forever off our statute books.

Buying a Home.

As a general rule it is at best poor policy for a young man to burden himself with debt. And this rule is especially applicable where the debt is incurred because of a mode of life beyond the means of a person who should be content to wait for advancing years and greater earning capacity to enable him to possess the luxuries he craves.

But in one instance the rule should be waived. Interest is cheaper—far cheaper—than rent, and when a man has been able to save a considerable portion of the cost of a home it is the part of wisdom for him to augment his savings by a loan and build or buy himself a home, trusting to good fortune and his power to save, to enable him to gradually repay it.

A man who owns his home is both a happier man and a better citizen than he who is bound by no local ties; and few incentives can more strongly or successfully impress upon the mind the necessity for saving with the result that a home is soon paid for, and more important still a habit is formed which through life will prove a most valuable asset.—Greensboro Industrial News.

CAPTURED WITH BLOOD HOUNDS.

Negro Robs Store And is Run Down.

On Saturday night the store of Mr. Joseph Moore, about 10 miles from Kinston and just over the line in Jones county, was robbed. Sunday morning Mr. W. C. Hines received a telephone message from Kinston to go over with his blood hounds.

Mr. Hines left about 11 o'clock and reached Kinston at 4 p. m. where he was joined by officers and they went on to the scene of the robbery, reaching there two hours later. Though this was about eighteen hours after the robbery had been committed the dogs readily found a trail. This was followed for a mile and a half to the home of Tamar Jones, a colored woman. When Mr. Hines and the dogs reached the house Sam Jones, a son of this woman, tried to make his escape but was captured. The premises were searched and a lot of shoes, shirts, underwear, and other articles were found hid in a barn under some cotton seed. These were identified as goods stolen from Mr. Moore's store.

The negro, Sam Jones, was carried to Kinston and placed in jail. On the way he made a confession of the robbery and told how he broke in the store. Jones also said he had served two terms in the penitentiary and had been sent to the roads several times.

MR. JESSE PROCTOR DEAD.

Sudden Attack of Hemorrhage Ends His Life.

Mr. Jesse Proctor died at 12:30 o'clock Saturday night, at his home on Dickinson avenue, of hemorrhage. He was 61 years of age, and had long been a resident of Greenville following his vocation of brick mason.

Mr. Proctor's death was very sudden. He seemed in usual health up to the time of quitting work Saturday evening. After supper he wrote two letters to his absent children before retiring. About midnight he aroused his daughter, Miss Ellen, told her he was sick and asked her to go after one of the neighbors to get a doctor. Miss Ellen hurried out for this purpose and when she returned to her father's bedside he was dead.

Mr. Proctor is survived by three children, Mrs. C. E. Stafford, of Lakeland, Florida, Mr. Will Proctor, of Norfolk, and Miss Ellen Proctor who lived with him. His wife died some years ago.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock, service being conducted in the Episcopal church by Rev. W. E. Cox. The pall bearers were Messrs. W. L. Brown, J. S. Higgs, C. E. Bradley, E. C. Williams, H. B. Harris and E. H. Taft.

Calendars and Fans.

We can furnish the best to be had at lowest prices.

Elizabeth City, March 3.—A little girl three or four years of age the child of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Williams, well known people of Woodville, disappeared from her home Tuesday night; and though the surrounding country has been thoroughly searched by anxious neighbors and friends of the distressed parents, not the slightest clue to the little one's whereabouts has thus far been obtained.

Crushed.

The cigar girl in a Walnut street office building is red headed and is frequently teased about her hair by customers. She doesn't let them worry her, though, and usually gives them as good as they send. The other day a young man stepped up to the cigar case and touched the girl's hair with his finger. Drawing back his hand quickly, he began to shake it. "My!" he said. "I burned myself!" "Oh, no, you didn't," came from the girl. "You're away too green to burn." When the youth heard several men near by laugh he found he had pressing business outside.—Kansas City Times.

Charlemagne's Humor.

Charlemagne was in need of amusement.

"Why," they asked him, "do you have such a large number of court jesters in constant attendance on your royal person?"

"Because," he replied, with a right regal chuckle. "I could not earn the surname of 'The Great' were I not careful to keep my wits about me."

It is said that the courtiers died laughing.—Cleveland Leader.

Her Children.

A well known sculptor is responsible for the following story of the "scrub lady" who cares for his studio: "How many children have you, Mrs. O'Flarity?" he asked her one morning. "It's seven I have, sir," she replied, "four be the third wife of me second husband and three be the second wife of me first."

What this country needs is less enactment of laws and more enforcement.

Most men who are willing to do good are not in position to make good.

They never gripe or sicken but cleanse and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels. This is the universal verdict of the many thousands who use DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills relieve headache, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, torpid liver, sallow complexion, etc. Try Little Early Risers. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Scrub yourself daily, you're not clean inside. This means clean stomach, bowels, blood, liver, clean healthy tissue in every organ. Moral: Take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Wooten's Drug Store.

All old time Cough Syrups bind the bowels. This is wrong. A new idea was advanced two years ago in Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. This remedy acts on the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs and loosens the bowels at the same time. It expels all cold from the system. It clears the throat, strengthens the mucous membranes, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Old maids would be scarce and hard to find, Could they be made to see, How grace and beauty is combined By using Rocky Mountain Tea. —Wooten's drug store.

One Minute Cough Cure contains not an atom of any harmful drug, and it has been curing coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough so long that it has proven itself to be a tried and true friend to the many who use. No need to fear of your child choking from croup with One Minute Cough Cure handy. Sold by John L. Wooten.

A woman worries until she gets wrinkles, then worries because she has them. If she takes Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea she would have neither. Bright, smiling face follows its use. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Wooten's drug store.

Don't deceive yourself. If you have indigestion take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It will relieve you. Rev. W. E. Hocutt, South Mills, N. C., says: "I was troubled with chronic indigestion for several years; whatever I ate seemed to cause heartburn, sour stomach, fluttering of my heart, and general depression of mind and body. My druggist recommended Kodol, and it has relieved me. I can now eat anything and sleep soundly at night. Kodol Digests what you eat. Sold by John L. Wooten.

A man who once had rough horny-hands made them soft and smooth with Witch Hazel Salve, but he used the genuine—that bearing the name "E. C. DeWitt & Co, Chicago." For sores, boils, cuts, burns, bruises, etc., it has no equal, and affords almost immediate relief from blind bleeding, itching and protruding Piles. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Just a little Kodol after meals will relieve that fullness, belching gas on stomach, and all other symptoms of indigestion. Kodol digests what you eat, and enables the stomach and digestive organs to perform their functions naturally. Sold by John L. Wooten.

A STORY OF TWO PAINTERS.

Did Vandyke and Hals Really Paint Each Other's Portrait?

There is a story related by Houbraken which may or may not be true that Vandyke, passing through Haarlem, where Hals lived, sent a messenger to seek him out and tell him that a stranger wished to see him and on Hals putting in an appearance asked him to paint his portrait, adding, however, that he had only two hours to spare for the sitting. Hals finished the portrait in that time, whereupon his sitter, observing that it seemed an easy matter to paint a portrait, requested that he be allowed to try to paint the artist. Hals soon recognized that his visitor was well skilled in the materials he was using. Great, however, was his surprise when he beheld the performance. He immediately embraced the stranger, at the same time crying out: "You are Vandyke! No one but he could do what you have just now done!"

Assuming the story to be true, how interesting it would be if the two portraits existed, that one might see what Frans Hals, accustomed to the heavier type of the Dutch burghers, made of the delicately refined features of Vandyke and how the latter, who always gave an air of aristocratic elegance to his portraits, acquitted himself with the bluff, jovial Hals, who was as much at home in a tavern as in a studio! For no two men could be more different, both in their points of view and in their methods, though they were alike in this one particular—that each was a most facile and skillful painter.—Charles H. Caffin in St. Nicholas.

The Punster and the Chemist.

"I want some consecrated lye," he said as he slowly entered the chemist's store.

"You mean concentrated lye," suggested the proprietor as he sweetly smiled upon the man.

"Well, maybe I do. It does nutmeg any difference, though. It's what I camphor anyway. What does it sulphur?"

"Twenty-five cents a can."

"Then you can give me a can."

"I have seldom cinnamon who thought himself as witty as you," said the chemist in a gingerly manner, feeling called upon to do a little punning himself.

"Well, that's not bad either," laughed the customer, with a sly, sly smile. "I ammonia novice at the business, though. I've soda good many puns that other punsters were credited with. However, I don't care a copper far as I am concerned. We have had a pleasant time, and I shall carraway."

But the chemist had gone to wait on another customer.—New York Press.

WHAT IS BROMONIA? (BROMOZONE.)

MONDAY MAR 5th, 1906.

They have gone far enough to arrest one of the Chicago bank wreckers.

So long as it is happening in Ohio the Northern papers are not throwing fits over it.

The G's come front in point of notoriety, Greensboro, N. C., and Gaffney, S. C., dividing the honors now.

Sometimes a fellow gets justice even in Greensboro. It was so in the two years on the roads given McMillan.

Raleigh's three telephone systems might fight it out among themselves, but the trouble is the people are paying for it.

The country at large cares little whether it is a sea level or a lock canal, but would like to see a move on toward building one of some kind.

That was an interesting occasion in Raleigh when several prominent people of Rhode Island came to return a flag captured from a North Carolina company during the civil war.

Every town has its croaker, and has less use for him than any other class of citizen. The man who is given to speaking disparagingly and running down everything ought to follow the example of the ground hog—go in his hole and stay there.

One has to strain a point to have sympathy for the man who keeps money about his home and gets robbed. Such robberies are read about almost every day. In this age when the country is full of banks, even the small towns having them, people ought to put their money in bank and not be taking such risks. Around the house or even in the pockets is no place to be keeping money except what is needed for handy change.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

Twice defeated, William Jennings Bryan still stands out clear and strong. The pet aversion of penny a-liners, he is unwounded and in high good humor. He has been called visionary, wild, head-strong, unsound, blind and daft, but the people do not believe a word of it. The combined power of the corporations and money kings have hurled their shafts at him but they have fallen harmless at his feet. We do not know that Bryan will ever be President—we think not—but he is as big as any of them, and will hold his own.—Charity and Education.

THE SAHARA ONCE DENSELY POPULATED.

In studying the geological history of this region, Gautier found evidence that it was once rainless and was truly a desert, the gradual desiccation advancing from the Sudan. Then the era of permanent drought and complete desert conditions gradually came to an end. Today a rain belt is creeping up from the Sudan and is extending farther and farther north into the desert. This new epoch may continue for hundreds of years.

But the most startling testimony which Gautier found was absolute proof that long before the present age of rainfall, in what is known as the Neolithic or later Stone Age, a very large population inhabited this part of the Sahara. He found there graves scattered over the grassy plain; he found many hundreds of their drawings on the rocks, where they had pictured animal forms and other objects. He discovered the flattened stones which they had used for grinding grain. These millstones show that agriculture was then developed in that region, and that the grinding of grain into flour indicates considerable advance of civilization. Here and there were many arrow points, axes of polished stone, and other implements. It was many hundreds of years ago that human beings inhabited this region, but, as time is reckoned in geological epochs, thousands of farmers were tilling this part of the Sahara at a comparatively recent period. They were finally driven back into the Sudan by the increasing drought, and the world forgot that this region had ever been inhabited by man.—From "Three Unarmed Men Cross the Sahara," by Cyrus C. Adams, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for March.

IMPORTANCE OF ADVERTISING.

Advertising underlies any business on earth except robbery. If you have anything to sell you must advertise it, and the man without advertising is the man without any real foundation for his business. The railroads have discovered this, and the fact that a great system of railroads decided that it was wise is an indorsement of the idea.—George H. Daniels.

An advertisement stating that an expert tailor was wanted at High Point was answered by a Norwegian tailor living in New York, who agreed to accept the place for a certain sum per week, which was agreed on. But when the Norwegian arrived in High Point and found that his employer—to be was a negro he was indignant and refused to work. He was given a job at Danville by a white man.

"More money is spent for potatoes in one county in my State every year than changed hands in our trade with the Philippines in 1009," declared Senator Hale, of Maine, after he had subjected Secretary Taft for nearly an hour to an examination regarding the industrial and political conditions of the islands. Sure. Let go of the Philippines and let the country have some peace of mind. Benevolent assimilation is not what it has been represented as being anyway.—Greensboro Telegram.

Less cotton, more corn and two crops a year of small grain and pea hay—how would this do for the farmer's platform?—Charlotte Chronicle.

BASHFUL HAWTHORNE.

The Great Author Avoided Company and Loved Seclusion.

The habit of seclusion was a distinct trait in the family of Nathaniel Hawthorne. One person, however, writes Mrs. Davis in "Bits of Gossip," had no mind to encourage this habit in the great novelist. This was Miss Elizabeth Peabody, Mrs. Hawthorne's sister. It was her mission, she felt, to bring the great novelist out from solitudes where he walked apart to the broad ways of common sense. Mrs. Davis happened to be present at her grand and last coup to this end and describes it as follows:

One evening I was with Mrs. Hawthorne in the little parlor in Concord when the children brought in their father. Suddenly Miss Peabody appeared in the doorway. She lighted the lamp, went out and brought in more lamps and then sat down and waited, with an air of stern resolution.

Presently Mr. Emerson and his daughter appeared, then Louisa Alcott and her father, then two gray old clergymen, who were formally presented to Mr. Hawthorne, who now looked about him with terrified dismay. We saw other figures approaching in the road outside.

"What does this mean, Elizabeth?" Mrs. Hawthorne asked in an aside.

"I did it. I went around and asked a few people in to meet our friend here. I ordered some cake and lemonade too."

Her blue eyes glittered with triumph as Mrs. Hawthorne turned away. "They've been here two years," she whispered, "and nobody has met Mr. Hawthorne. People talk. It's ridiculous! There's no reason why Sophia should not go into society, so I just made an excuse of your visit to bring them in."

The little room was quite full when there rustled in a woman who came straight to Mr. Hawthorne. I never heard her name, but I knew her at sight as the intelligent questioner who crows you into idiocy by her fluent cleverness.

"So delighted to meet you at last!" she said, seating herself beside him. "I have always admired your books, Mr. Hawthorne. And now I want you to tell me all about your methods of work. I want to hear all about it."

But at that moment his wife came up and said that he was wanted outside, and he escaped. A few moments later I heard his steps on the floor overhead and knew that he was safe in the tower for the night.

Cheering Him Up.

"Ye-es," Mr. Billings said reluctantly in reply to his friend's remark that Mrs. Joyce was "an awfully sweet little woman." "So cheerful! Always sunny; always looking on the 'bright side!'" Billings' friend continued enthusiastically.

"There's such a thing as overdoing that 'bright side' business," said Billings. "The other night I was up there and Joyce—you know how absentminded he is—put the lighted end of his cigar in his mouth. He jumped three feet and was a little noisy for a minute. Right in the midst of it all Mrs. Joyce smiled blandly and said:

"How fortunate you were, dear, to discover it at once!"

To Put on Flesh.

Thin people should try to take life easily. Worry wears away the flesh, and the same remark applies to fits of temper, habitual jealousy, envy and all excitement. Thin people should avoid vinegar and pickles. Claret is not good for them. The articles of diet that help in fat formation are numerous. Among them are chocolate, cocoa, sugar, fat meat, milk, cream, stout, butter, fish cooked in oil, salads dressed with oil. Cod liver oil is fattening in itself, and it helps in the disposal of other foods. A person taking, say, one tablespoonful of cod liver oil every day will often put on a weight of flesh greater than that of the oil.

All Wore False Hair.

One evening during a friendly dance and while the company was in the midst of a lively quadrille a young gentleman (?) pulled a long hair plait out of his pocket and, holding it up, exclaimed, "Whose is this plait?" At this all the ladies present, by an involuntary impulse, put their hands to the back of their heads. The dodge had worked. Our wag had found out what he wanted to know.—Daily Journal.

SECRET BENEFACTORS.

Persons Who Give Liberally Without Disclosing Names.

Anonymous gifts to charities are common enough, but it may be news to readers that there is a section of the community who give largely and regularly and who have a positive dread of anybody in the world knowing that they have so disposed of a penny, says Tit-Bits.

Mr. Dibdin, the secretary of the National Lifeboat institution, informed the writer that he was going into his outer office one day when a man entered and inquired, "Is Mr. Dibdin in?" "Yes," said the official asked for. "Do you wish to see him?" "Oh, no," the stranger replied. "It will do just as well if you give this envelope into his own hands." And so saying he handed over the envelope and hurried out of the place. When it was opened it was found to contain a £1,000 bank note.

Another old man entered the office one evening some seventeen or eighteen years ago, remarking, "As I happened to be passing, having noticed the name outside, I thought I would look in and see if you were in want of money." The secretary assured him that the institution was constantly in need of money. Without producing any at that moment, the caller then proceeded to talk politics and asked for Mr. Dibdin's views on Mr. Balfour and other statesmen who were prominently before the public. The visitor appeared to agree heartily with all that the secretary said, and presently, as if to show his appreciation of these views, he produced a bank note and laid it on the desk.

They still went on talking politics, and in a little while the old gentleman brought out another bank note and laid it on top of the first one. Presently he added a third, fourth and fifth to the pile, and Mr. Dibdin, then coming to the conclusion that it was the politics that was doing it, kept on talking it as long as he could. Soon £2,000 worth of bank notes lay on the table, and then the caller, who declined to give his name, abruptly walked out of the office and has never been seen or heard of since by the officials of the institution.

The London Bible Woman's mission was fortunate to enjoy a somewhat similar experience once every year for several years. An elderly man walked into the office once annually and inquired what was the total amount of the mission's deficit. When he was informed of it he put down the money and walked out. From this source the mission received £8,000 in all, a single donation on one occasion being for as much as £3,000.

To Preserve Wire Ropes.

To preserve wire rope under water or underground add one bushel of fresh slacked lime to a barrel of mineral or vegetable tar, boil well and saturate the rope with the mixture hot. Too much care cannot be taken with the pulleys, sheaves and drums over which the ropes are run—that is, the grooves should be lined with well seasoned blocks of hard wood set on end or rubber, leather or some soft metal, the life of the rope being thus greatly lengthened and firmer adhesion secured than when the rope is operated over smooth and hard surfaces. The greater the diameter of sheaves, pulleys and drums the longer the rope will last.

Why Corn Pops.

When the grains of maize or Indian corn are gently roasted they burst with a pop and turn inside out. They are then known as popcorn. This popping is due to the evaporation of the oil contained in the kernel. Ordinary wheat does not pop so readily because the outer portion of the kernel is more porous and thus permits the escape of the oil as it evaporates. In the case of popcorn a great pressure is developed in the kernel by the confined oil, which is present in greater quantity, so that the kernel is suddenly exploded and reversed.

TO THE TRUSTEES OF The Greenville Christian Church.

Gentlemen:—

It's sound sense that we tell you. It will cost less dollars to paint your church with L. & M. Paint, because more painting is done with one gallon of L. & M. than with two gallons of other paints, and the L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes the L. & M. Paint wear like iron.

Any church will be given a liberal quantity free whenever they paint. 4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.

L. & M. costs only $1.20 per gallon. J. E. Webb, Painter Hickory, N. C. writes, "Houses painted with L. & M. 15 years ago have not needed painting since."

THE RALSTON

HEALTH SHOE!

Sho making has been developed on wooden teet--lasts--which know no "pinch" nor discomfort. The soft, yielding, tender flesh of a live foot has thus been compelled to inhabit an unnatural, ill-fitting and oftentimes unsanitary shoe. To be foot-tired is the average man's daily inheritance. And how much ill health can be traced to an ill-fitting shoe. When the foot is improperly shod the delight of walking is gone, and man's best friend,—his feet—refuse to him the comfort he should enjoy. A perfect walking shoe, one that keeps the foot always in good condition,—can such be had?

Ralston
HEALTH
Shoes $4.

The Latest Oxford College Pattern.

Extra large Eyelets.

Very Stylish

If you want something distinctive, individual, come and see this shoe.

This question brought into being the Ralston Health Shoe. Recognizing that the foot sole is a curve made by the twenty-six bones which form the heel, ball and toes, (a fact strangely ignored by shoemakers in the past) we evolved a construction method which places prime importance in last modeling.

Ralston lasts are anatomically correct and differ from all other makes. Ralston construction is a principal combining comfort, ease, service, style, fit and commonsense,—real quality in footwear, built into the shoes from the very start.

Shoes made on Ralston lasts are nature shoes, conforming to the natural foot, and because they need no "breaking-in" they never lose that charm and style for which Ralston shoes are famous,—and which cannot be obtained in other methods of manufacture.

In the selection of materials for Ralston shoes the World's best makers are searched and every bit of upper, top, or sole leather, linings and fittings must pass the Ralston test before acceptance. The same idea with our employees. Each and all must do his or her part according to the Ralston idea, whether it is cutting, stitching, lasting, making or finishing. The result is a shoe unrivalled in pleasure giving, service and abounding in comfort and style. Thus our immense factory with its army of happy, skillful employees is dedicated to the gospel of the foot salvation from cramped and unsuitable footwear. The Ralston Shoe cannot be duplicated at the price asked—$4.00—and as good a shoe is not made or sold for less.
