WINTERVILLE NOTES

Interesting Items from Our Hustling Neighbor.

WINTERVILLE, N. C. Mar. 14, 1906.

Mrs. J. L. Jackson is visiting her mother this week at Conetoe.

Miss Maud Holiday, of Grimesland, is visiting this week at H. P. Kittrell's.

Mrs. L. A. Sparks and Miss Sarah Taylor returned Sunday night from Baltimore, where they have been to purchase their spring and summer goods.

Roy McLawhon was a visitor in town Sunday.

The Winterville High School keeps drawing them in, as Misses Lillian Thomas and Ella Woollard of Stokes, entered school here Monday morning. The people know a good thing when they see it, and therefore they patronize the Winterville High School.

J. F. Harrington returned Sunday night from Baltimore, where he has been buying his spring and summer goods. Look out for a nice lot of them now at Harrington, Barber & Co's.

M. G. Bryan returned Tuesday night from Norfolk where he has been with his son, who has just entered a business college there.

The Pitt County Oil Company is shipping cottonseed meal by the car load.

Miss Lela Roach, who is a student of the Winterville High School, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, who live near Cox Mill. She was also accompanied by Misses Hattie Kittrell and Lala Chapman.

Much is being added to the looks of the Winterville High School campus by setting out shade trees, magnolias, evergreens and many different kinds of shrubbery. While it has always been a beauty it is becoming now most beautiful.

John Stokes is in town this week talking insurance.

THE SOUTH.

The South is making tremendous strides in manufacturing. The capital of $257,000,000 invested in mills and factories in 1880 has increased to $1,500,000,000 in 1905. The value of its products of manufactures grew from $457,000,000 in the former year to $1,750,000,000 in the latter. The value of its exports of all sorts, which was $261,000,000 in 1880, was $555,000,000 in 1905. But, of course, most of its products are consumed in the United States and do not count in these figures. Its railway mileage in the quarter of a century has jumped from 20,000 to 60,000 miles, its farm products from $660,000,000 to $1,750,000,000, and the assessed value of its property from $3,000,000,000 to $6,500,000,000.—Leslies.

THE WEATHER

Rain tonight, colder in western portion. Thursday fair in western, clearing in eastern portion, colder.

TEACHERS' MEETING.

For The Reflector.

The teachers' meeting held last Saturday morning was quite interesting and helpful. A large number of teachers and visitors were present, and all enjoyed and were benefitted by the programme.

The opening exercises, consisting of the hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," a reading of the twenty-fourth Psalm and a prayer, were conducted by Rev. J. E. Ayscue. The ministers of the town have greatly encouraged the teachers of the county by assisting in their meetings.

The "Round Table Talk" on geography was conducted by Prof. G. E. Lineberry. Several extemporaneous talks on that subject were made by members of the association, which were interesting and to the point. Prof. Lineberry discussed and elaborated thoughts suggested to him, and when the discussion was over the important subject of How to Teach Geography had been made simple, and all felt a strong desire to teach this particular branch better than ever before. If every county in the state had a teachers' association, and such strong, faithful educational leaders as Pitt county has, geography and every other branch would be taught with a clearer understanding of its principles and with more earnestness and zeal, and North Carolina would not long remain so near the bottom of the list in education.

Prof. Everett, a former teacher of this county, and now a teacher in another county, made a short talk, which was greatly enjoyed.

Prof. W. B. Dove, also a former member of the association, made an interesting and encouraging talk to his former co-laborers.

Of course Prof. Ragsdale did his part, guiding the affairs of the association, and speaking a cheering word now and then.

At twelve thirty the meeting adjourned, after which a social half hour was enjoyed by the teachers.

Let none of us miss the good things in store for the next meeting April the fourteenth.

Dora A. Hornaday, Reporter.

RESOLUTIONS.

Adopted By Covenant Lodge I. O. O. F.

2nd. That Brother Parker by his upright and noble life, by his devotion to the principles of the order which he loved, by his life consecrated to the service of his Lord and Master, and by his devotion shown to his family and friends, won the respect and esteem of all who knew him and although his work on earth is ended and we shall see him here no more, we believe the influence of his noble life will be felt for years to come, and the world will be better by reason of his having lived in it.

Reported for Reflector.

Miss Ethel Skinner delightfully entertained the T. J. Jarvis Chapter of the Daughters of Confederacy at her home Friday afternoon, 9th.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Mae Schultz and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

After all the business was over Miss Skinner entertained her guests with a very interesting contest concerning history. After each had tested her historical powers and several tied, the prize was awarded to Miss Jamie Bryan.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess after which the guests were delightfully entertained by several vocal selections by Miss Essie Whichard and instrumental selections by Misses Cobb, Burch, Skinner, Carr and Bryan.

It was dark before we realized it was time to bid our charming hostess farewell.

The next meeting will be with Miss Mary L. Smith, April 6th.

Wilson, N. C., March 13.—Wilkins Brothers, and D. J. Rose & Company, large contractors, stated tonight that the Wilson Union brick masons have gone on strike demanding a nine hour scale, while the contractors insist on ten hours with pay for extra hour.

THE BLOODHOUNDS WIN AGAIN.

This Time They were Used to Run a Man Down Near Hookerton.

Bloodhounds have again been vindicated. This time the scene of their triumph was Hookerton.

For a number of weeks someone has been trying to enter the residence of Mr. E. S. Edwards, a merchant of that place. Last Sunday night Mr. Edwards remained at home instead of attending church, as is his custom, and about 8 o'clock, heard noises indicating another attempt to enter. In getting his gun to ward off the expected intruder Mr. Edwards made some noise which caused the house breaker to flee. To pursue the fugitive bloodhounds were secured from Greenville, and at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon they were put on the track. They followed the track out of Mr. Edwards' yard to the home of Stacey DeMitt, a painter who has been doing work at Hookerton. The dogs went to the front door and they followed the track through the field and woods to Freeman's mill, where DeMitt and his wife were fishing. The dog ran up to DeMitt, smelled of him, and lay down in the water by his side. The chase occupied about two hours.

The citizens had no evidence except strong circumstantial and dog evidence against DeMitt, but they gave him twenty-four hours to get out of the neighborhood, which he proceeded to do. Several times recently Mrs. Edwards, who has been alone in the house with her infant child, has been terrorized by some unknown party attempting to break in the house.

The dogs used were the same ones that tracked the negro, Sam Jones, who confessed to robbing W. E. Moore & Bro's store near Cadez, ten days ago, and belongs to Mr. W. C. Hines at Greenville.—Kinston Free Press, 13th.

Just a Word for Mother.

Nobody earns his or her livelihood more honorably or more directly than the wife and mother of a family who does her duty. She is her husband's business partner in a phase of his life which is at least as vital to his interests as the outside one by which he makes his money under the eye of the world. If the couple are partners in a poor and struggling concern, the wife contributes as much to the general success by the work of her hands as the man does by his; if they are more fortunate, and prosperous, the woman's busy brain contriving and ruling in the household is earning by ear, expert, eager, expert and honorable exertion as good a livelihood as the husband is able to provide her with. The law holds good in the realms of wealth and luxury. The woman who creates and maintains eminent social position for her family is likely to be her husband's most important ally, and her share of all the benefits that they enjoy in common is not a mere gratuity, it does not come to her husband's bounty; it is her compensation for the services she does in advancing the interest of the alliance.—New York Sun

Champ Clark's Retort.

Champ Clark of Missouri was addressing the house of representatives on one occasion when a rash member interrupted him with some frivolous comment. Mr. Clark fairly shrieked up the man who had "butted in," winding up his scolding in this way: "Mr. Chairman, there was once a tenderfoot who struck the grizzly region looking for bears. He was all got up in the finest hunting garb, and his weapons were the newest that could be obtained. He had come to show the west how to kill grizzlies. He went forth one morning and never came back, and over his remains, they raised a stone which bore this epitaph: 'He whistled for the grizzly, and the grizzly came.'" — Kansas City Journal.

First Aid to the Injured.

On a rock strewn beach on the Cornish coast the fury of a violent storm was just abating. A vessel had gone to pieces on the rocks, and after a display of much heroism on the part of the villagers all the crew and passengers had been saved with the exception of one man. He had been washed ashore apparently drowned, and the new curate knelt at his side on the beach endeavoring to restore his circulation.

"My friends," he said, turning to the villagers, "how do you usually proceed in these cases?"

As one man the simple folk replied:

"Search his pockets!" — Harper's Weekly.

The best way to rid the system of a cold is to evacuate the bowels. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar acts as a pleasant, yet effectual cathartic on the bowels. It clears the head, cuts the phlegm out of the throat, strengthens the bronchial tubes, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough etc. Sold by John L. Wooten.

If you have used Witch Hazel Salve without being relieved it is probable that you got hold of one of the many worthless counterfeits that are sold on the reputation of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.

Most men would rather have a measly political job and starve to death than to get a good living by work.

Don't frown—look pleasant. If you are suffering from indigestion or sour stomach, take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hon. Jase Moore, of Atlanta, Ga. says: "I suffered more than 20 years with indigestion. A friend recommended Kodol. It relieved me in one day and I now enjoy better health than for many years. Kodol digests what you eat, relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach, belching, etc. Sold by John L. Wooten."

The first questions to ask about a candidate for nomination this year are, Is he master of himself? Is his life clean? Does he keep sober? Does he wear the collar of any special interest? No man whose private life is not above criticism can be trusted to serve the people frithfully when tempted. Self-mastery is the first thing to require.—News and Observer.

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and cleanse the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Cough Syrup, the best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Coughs, etc. Tastes good and harmless. Sold by John L. Wooten.

CINDERELLA.

Her Story is Very Ancient and is in Sacred Hindoo Books.

The story of Cinderella is substantially the same as that told of Rhodopis and Psammitichus by Elian, who lived in Rome in the third century of the Christian era. The story as told by Elian is that while Rhodopis was bathing an eagle carried away one of her sandals and dropped it near the feet of Psammitichus, king of Egypt, who, like Cinderella's prince, was struck by its diminutive size, caused the maiden to be sought for and married her when found. Make the sandal a glass slipper and add the ugly sisters for the sake of contrast, and the stories are much the same. The glass slipper, by the way, is an acknowledged fiction, being in reality a mistranslation of "pantoufle en vair" (a fur slipper), and not "en verre."

This at all events is what is claimed by Perrault in his "Contes de Fees." Both these stories have doubtless a common origin, but it is necessary to go farther back in the history of literature to find it—to a people who lived in a period compared with which that of even Elian is quite modern. It is in the Vedas, the four sacred books of the Hindoos, that the origin is to be found.

After what has already been said it will not be surprising to learn that Cinderella is a dawn maiden, her sisters being the powers of darkness, who compel her to wait upon them, keeping her hidden from sight. The dawn maiden breaks from her bonds and captivates the sun, remaining with him for a time. But she cannot linger with him in the heavens. She can remain only until a certain hour. Once she lingers too long and, hurrying back, leaves on the path she has taken a token of her visit in the form of a fleecy cloud, which had borne her aloft when she left the regions of darkness. The sun, determined to find her, sends out his emissaries (the rays of light), but does not find her until she appears before him as the evening twilight. In the Vedas the prince is called Mitra, which is one of the names given to the sun.—London Globe.

An Inquisitive Miss.

Her nurse had fallen asleep, and a four-year-old girl toddled to the pulpit steps in a church and temporarily stopped the sermon by asking the clergyman: "Please, man, why do you get up there? Why don't you come down?" When a church warden gently led her back to her seat amid the tittering of the congregation she repeated her question, adding, "Can he see better?"

FRESH WATER IN THE SEA.

Obtained by Divers From Springs Overlaid by Salt Water.

The hottest region on the earth's surface is on the southwestern coast of Persia, on the border of the Persian gulf. For forty consecutive days in the months of July and August the mercury has been known to stand above 100 degrees in the shade, night and day, and to run up as high as 130 degrees in the afternoon. At Bahrein, in the center of the most torrid part of this most torrid belt, as though it were nature's intention to make the place as unbearable as possible, water from wells is something unknown. Great shafts have been sunk to a depth of 100, 200, 300 and even 500 feet, but always with the same result—no water.

This serious drawback notwithstanding, a comparatively numerous population contrives to live there, thanks to copious springs which burst from the bottom of the gulf more than a mile from the shore. The water from these springs is obtained in a most curious and novel manner. Machadores (divers), whose sole occupation is that of furnishing the people of Bahrein with the life giving fluid, repair to that portion of the gulf where the springs are situated and bring away with them hundreds of bags full of the water each day. The water of the gulf where the springs burst forth is nearly 200 feet deep, but these machadores manage to fill their goatskin sacks by diving to the bottom and holding the mouths of the bags over fountain jets—this, too, without allowing the salt water of the gulf to mix with it. The source of these submarine fountains is thought to be in the hills of Osmond, 400 or 500 miles away. Being situated at the bottom of the gulf, it is a mystery how they were ever discovered, but the fact remains that they have been known since the dawn of history.

Scarcely What He Meant.

Landseer, says a biographer, was exceedingly fond of telling the following story of his meeting with the king of Portugal and the latter's unexpected greeting:

At one of the court balls Landseer attended, when the king of Portugal, who was also a guest, was made aware of the presence of the great animal painter he expressed his desire for an introduction. Landseer was presented accordingly, when the king in his imperfect English said:

"Oh, Mr. Landseer, I am delighted to make your acquaintance! I am so fond of beasts!"

WEDNESDAY MAR. 14th, 1906.

All talk and no work seems to be the way they are digging the canal. But they are drawing big salaries all the same.

The fruit crop prophets are coming on with their predictions. Not worth while to say too much until April gets a whack at it.

There ought to be much doing in Greenville during the coming summer in the building line. A building and loan association would help the cause.

The Greensboro fire department made a gallant fight at the fire in the Odell Hardware Co's. building, and the company showed its appreciation by a check for $200. That kind of encouragement counts.

The Lumberton Robesonian and Argus have been consolidated by the former purchasing the latter. This is better for all concerned. One paper well supported can accomplish much more for its community than two with a divided patronage that leaves both barely able to exist.

Charlotte is preparing to entertain the doctors handsomely when the North Carolina Medical Society meets there May 29-31. Among other things on the program is a $2,000 banquet. After going through that the doctors can take some of their own medicine for indigestion.

Charlotte is determined that Raleigh shall not get ahead of her in the way of drawing cards. That city is expecting a visit in a few days from Hon. Alton B. Parker, of New York, Democratic nominee for President in the last election, and former President Grover Cleveland has been invited to be the guest of honor at the 20th of May celebration.

Raleigh is going after the matter right to relieve the residents of the burden of having to support three telephone exchanges. The merchants of the city held a meeting and accepted one of the telephone systems—the one offering the lowest rate for service—and will discard the use of the other two systems. Telephones are good things, but three systems in the same town requiring the people to rent 'phones from all three in order to reach those desired is too much of a good thing.

NEGROES TO BLAME.

Southerners have been abused for their treatment of the negroes. To outsiders there appears no reason sufficient to incite an attack upon the negroes. When a riot or lynching takes place a lot of people in other sections take it as a matter of course that it was a premeditated and spontaneous move on the part of the whites with no previous advance by the other side.

This is not always the case. And while we do not believe in lynchings and mob-violence and have ever favored the law taking its course, still the negroes oftentimes bring the trouble on themselves. This was the case in the riot between whites and blacks only a day or so ago at Kilmer, near Mobile, Ala.

In this instance the negroes got together and began muttering and plotting against the whites. Finally the unrest developed into an attack. It is said that the first violence was done by a negro ex-convict. The result was that two hundred white men gathered to avenge the blood of an aged old white man who was shot in the back by the negroes.

Further developments will be watched with interest.

It does look as if the negroes would sometime learn the lesson that when they precipitate trouble between the races they always get the worst of it. It is usually the case that several of their number must pay the penalty for the foolishness of a few.

This is merely another example of the folly of the negroes, the aggressors.

It is all wrong. Mob-violence and rioting should not occur, and yet when they do the negro is usually the loser, though he appears to be unable to learn the lesson.—Charlotte News.

It is a brilliant spectacle that the public is being treated to just at this time when a committee of the Senate of the United States is holding up the confirmation of a district attorney at the behest of a lot of whiskey distillers and dealers who know by experience that they cannot defraud the government while he is in office. This is exactly what is being done in the case of District Attorney Holton. No one opposes his confirmation except these very men, a number of whom have been given a taste of what he dispenses in the way of justice. Of course they do not come out in the open and fight him, but it is through them that confirmation is delayed and if any money is required to do it they are no doubt furnishing it. As a matter of fact the fight being made against him is one of the strongest testimonials to his worth as an officer. How much longer is this farce to be kept on the boards?—Greensboro Record.

The fear of taxes has been a great hindrance to progress. The dread of increasing taxes has often led to a toleration of conditions that could well be remedied. Now we are not in favor of extravagance or of burdensome taxes but we do believe that there is no better investment for any community, in many cases, than higher taxes. When people shall arrive at the point where they will object less to slight increase in taxes public improvements will be facilitated. It is well for the officials of any State, county or municipality to use strict economy but when improvements are needed money should be spent for such improvements. The last Legislature was criticized by some Republicans for spending money but they have never shown to the satisfaction of anybody that this money was not spent right.—Winston Sentinel.

Car of Bananas..

Folks around Greenville can live on bananas for a day or two. A man came in with a car load today and sold them at the depot at 50 cents a bunch. It was like buying „a pig in a bag," you passed up the price and took whatever the man handed out the car door. Some got bargains and some did not.

Friday Night, March 16th.

“Dora Thorne,” which will be seen at the Masonic opera house Friday night, is a dramatization of Bertha M Clay's famous novel. Messrs. Rowland and Clifford have given it a magnificent production. In speaking of it one critic says: “Dora Thorne” is a literary composition so unstudied and so faultlessly arranged that its success is not dependent upon melodramatic climaxes and situations. It stands in contrast to the average melodrama like the inspiring freshness and coolness of an autumn morning compared with the sultry and tempestuous summer heat.”

Governor Glenn, Attorney General Gilmer, Auditor Dixon, Superintendent Joyner, Chief Clerk Moody, representing Treasurer Lacy, Secretary Arrington and one or two newspaper men witnessed the destruction of the South Dakota and Schafer Brothers' bonds yesterday afternoon. There was $290,000 worth of them. All had been redeemed, duly cancelled, paid for and were burned. These were the last, and there are now none outstanding.—Raleigh News and Observer.

CLEAR YOUR MIND.

Get Rid of Unhealthy Thoughts and Radiate Gladness.

We should be appalled if we could see pass before us in vivid panorama the wrecks caused in a lifetime by cruel thought. A stab here, a thrust there, a malicious sarcasm, bitter irony, ungenerous criticism, a jealous, envious or revengeful thought, hatred and anger are all going out constantly from many a mind on deadly missions.

Servants have actually been made dishonest by other persons perpetually holding the suspicion that they were dishonest. This thought suggests dishonesty to the suspected perhaps for the first time and, being constantly held, takes root and grows and bears the fruit of theft. The old proverb, "If you have the name, you might as well have the game," is put into action many times. It is simply cruel to hold a suspicious thought of another until you have positive proof. That other person's mind is sacred. You have no right to invade it with your miserable thoughts and pictures of suspicion.

Many people scatter fear thoughts, doubt thoughts, failure thoughts, wherever they go, and these take root in minds that might otherwise be free from them and therefore happy, content and successful.

Be sure that when you hold an evil, unhealthy, discordant, deadly thought toward another something is wrong in your mind.

Learn to radiate joy, not stingily, not meanly, but generously. Fling out your gladness without reserve. Shed it in the home, on the street, on the car, in the store, everywhere, as the rose sheds its beauty and gives out its fragrance. When we learn that love thoughts heal, that they carry balm to wounds, that thoughts of harmony, of beauty and of truth always uplift and enable, that the opposite carry death and destruction and blight everywhere, we shall learn the secret of right living.—Success.

The Important Comma.

A certain business man thinks he has an exceedingly bright office boy, and nothing pleases him better than to tell how he acquired the young man's services. A short time ago he posted in his shop window a notice which read as follows: "Boy wanted about fourteen years." A lad of that age, with little that was prepossessing in his appearance, came into the office and stated that he had read the notice. "Well, do you think you would like to have the place, my boy?" asked the merchant, gazing patronizingly over the rims of his spectacles at the youth. "Yes," came the prompt answer; "I want the job, but I don't know that I can promise to keep it for the full fourteen years." Then the merchant remembered that he had left out a comma on his sign, but he told the boy he might have the place.—London King.

Slicing a Pineapple.

The toughness of pineapples is almost entirely eliminated by slicing the fruit up and down, from stem to blossom end, instead of through the core, as is usually done, says the National Magazine. Thrust a fork into the blossom end to hold the apple steady and slice until you come to the hard, pithy core, which can then be discarded. The trick was explained by an old pineapple grower and makes all the difference in the world in the tenderness of this fruit, which is usually hard and chippy when sliced with instead of against the grain.

His Audience.

Wendell Phillips, the famous orator, had an effective way of dealing with disturbances. Once, when he was interrupted by an unfriendly audience he stooped down and began talking in a low voice to the men at the reporters' table. Some of the auditors, becoming curious, called, "Louder!" Whereupon Phillips straightened himself up and exclaimed: "Go right on, gentlemen, with your noise. Through these pencils," pointing to the reporters, "I speak to 40,000,000 people."

OURS, NOT MINE.

A Simple Plan That Might Prevent Many Home Tragedies.

"It is mine."

"I tell you, you are mistaken; it is mine."

Divorce court.

Which is a terse way of putting the sad history of many a marriage disagreement over the things mine and thine and the domestic misery that follows.

The way to settle such a disagreement is for both parties to say, "It is ours."

Because of the struggle for mine and thine the records of history are rolled in blood, nations have fallen, barriers of hatred have been raised, brother has fought brother. Envy, dissension and division have come because men have contended for that which is not theirs, but "ours."

Organized selfishness in our day has manifested itself in the great corporation spiders that have spread their webs far and wide, controlling the avenues of approach, watching for victims with their many faceted eyes, gathering to themselves what is not theirs, but "ours."

The world is ours.

Sky and earth—ours.

Sunshine and shade—ours.

Flowers and birds—ours.

Fruits and fertile fields—ours.

And the Master of us all taught us to pray, "Our Father."

Ladies and gentlemen, everywhere is needed this doctrine of "ours"—in the family, city, state, nation, world.

The solution of all earth's problems is wrapped up in the one saying:

"Everything is ours."—Milwaukee Journal.

Better Blood.

In the home of a New England farmer there are two small heirs, bright little fellows, six and seven years old, named Will and Eugene. Like most other lads, both of them dislike work, especially "chores," and when these small services are required each frequently evinces a desire to have the other take the laboring oar. Once the family physician was calling at the house in attendance on the mother. As he was putting on his gloves to go away he ran a professional glance over the two youngsters.

"Mrs. Fuller," he remarked, "the younger of your two boys, Eugene, is more robust than Will. He has greater vitality. His blood is better."

About an hour later, as dusk was falling, the mother said: "Will, you must fill the wood box for morning. Fetch in four armfuls."

"I don't want to!" whined Will. "Make Gene go. His blood's better'n mine."—Youth's Companion.

Human Hair Market.

The human hair industry is a very active one in France, the departments most frequently visited by the hair merchants being those of Correze, Creuse, Allier, Cher, Dordogne and Haute Vienne. The average price given for a full, long head of hair is from 8 shillings to 25 shillings for the very best quality and color. The girls of the districts mentioned above, which are exceedingly poor, stipulate that their hair shall not be cut short in front and conceal the shorn appearance at the back by a draped colored handkerchief. The best shades of light and blond hair are obtained from Germany and Switzerland, and for these high prices are paid.—London Mail.

Britishers Do Not Flatter.

A Boston lady who had been received with much favor by the Folklore society in London rather questioned the sincerity of her warm reception and said she supposed, like the French people, the English flatter. "Not at all," was the protest of a London friend. "You need not consider it possible for an English person to flatter." And then she gave an instance. Some one looking at a painting said to the artist whose picture it was, "It isn't so bad, you know." "Now don't be fulsome," was the reply.—Boston Herald.
