OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

There are at present more than 25 cases of pneumonia and several cases of grippe among the children of the Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville. Only one death has occurred but half a dozen children are now considered critically ill. The school has been temporarily suspended.

Asheville, N. C., March 16.—A special to The Gazette News this afternoon says that news has just been received at Bryson City to the effect that a fire this morning destroyed W. J. Oliver's warehouse and commissary at Bushnell. The buildings destroyed contained general railroad supplies for the camps on the new road from Maryville, Tenn., to Bushnell. The estimated loss is $10,000.

Washington, N. C., March 17.—This afternoon about 5 o'clock, while drinking in O. B. Wynn's bar room on Water street, Henry Duggin and Frank Moore, both colored, became involved in a quarrel. In the difficulty which ensued Duggin drew a knife and stabbed Moore in the left breast a little above the heart, cutting an artery. Moore was taken into a nearby store where he died a few minutes later. Duggin was caught by a policeman and landed in jail.

High Point, N. C., March 17.—It was learned here yesterday afternoon that Mr. Alvin Parker, while in the office of the Snow Lumber Company doing some work the night before, was the victim of an attempted assassination. A pistol ball plowed its way through a glass striking a blind and glancing off. The course was on a direct level with Mr. Parker's head, and had it not struck the blind it is thought would have killed him. The matter was kept quiet for some time in the hope that a clue could be secured.

Wilson, N. C. March 17.—New developments appeared this morning in the brick mason's strike, when Will Kittrell, a Wilson negro, was arraigned before Mayor Herring charged with conspiracy. The evidence was very conclusive that he was the author of a letter written to Tom Hawkins, of Henderson, a non-union mason, which letter warned him that he must leave Wilson by night, that he could not live here. The writing in the letter compared with that of Kittrell's appear to be the same. Kittrell was bound over to court.

Norfolk, Va., March 17.—Through absent-mindedness, according to the statement of Chief of Police Boush, H. W. Norman, cashier of the Bank of Hertford, N. C., is out $500 in cold cash. Thursday Cashier Norman came to Norfolk to secure $500 in small paper bills in exchange for greenbacks of larger denominations. He was accommodated at one of the local banks. The bills were put up in $50 packages. These Mr. Norman put in a small handbag he had with him. He left the bank with the "grip," but when he reached home it had disappeared. He did not remember having it on the train with him. He had left it somewhere in Norfolk.

Railroad Bridge Across Pamlico.

Washington, D. C. March 17.—A delegation from Washington, N. C., headed by Mayor Stewart, called at the war department today to confer with General Mackenzie, chief of engineers, relative to the construction of a railroad bridge across the Pamlico river at Washington. The Raleigh & Pamlico desires to put a span bridge at the point named, and chances are that authority to do so will be granted by the war department. General Mackenzie will announce his decision early next week. After the conference today he said his visitors had made out a strong case.

A Chinese Belief.

The Chinese believe that a man, a frog and a hare dwell in the moon, and the last named animal constantly appears in their art and in that of Japan, painted upon the disk of a lunar orb. Nearly all over the world the hare is associated with the moon mythologically, and it is on this account that the rabbit has so much to do with Easter.

Riddles With Answers.

There is a thing that nothing is,
And yet it has name;
'Tis sometimes tall and sometimes short,
It joins our walk, it joins our sport
And plays at every game.
(A shadow.)
Altho I am but twenty six,
I change to millions, too;
And while I cannot speak a word,
I tell all that people do.
(The alphabet.)

Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Martha A. Moore, who died Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. I. Fleming, four miles from Greenville, was held here Sunday afternoon from the Episcopal church. Rev. W. E. Cox conducted the service.

New Jersey, the cradle of trusts, has turned against them; is trying to oust the biggest of all its children, the Standard Oil Company. This is base ingratitude, after pocketing millions in fees for incorporating trusts.—Farm, Stock and Home.

The weather did not change more than six times today.

A little more care among the skaters would cause fewer falls.

And we've all got wheels in our heads—or rather on our feet.

There are a number of cases of measles among the children in town.

We did not get any snow out of it, but the weather is mean enough otherwise.

The civil term of Superior court began this morning, Judge B. F. Long presiding.

The Rev. Dr. Clayton will preach in the Universalist church Tuesday night, the 20th inst, at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited.

THIS IS FEASIBLE.

Representative Small, of North Carolina, yesterday introduced a bill providing that $3,000,000 of the money hereafter arising from the sale of public lands, which would otherwise become a part of the reclamation fund, may be used to construct a comprehensive system of drainage of the Dismal Swamp in Virginia and North Carolina.

When questioned about his bill, Mr. Small said: "I noticed the Senate passed a bill a few days ago reported by Senator Hansbrough, of North Dakota, to use a million dollars of the reclamation fund to drain six counties in his State. I was not aware that the reclamation fund could be turned to such a practical use. The Dismal Swamp is more capable of being drained and reclaimed than the North Dakota lands. The surface of Drummond Lake in the centre of the swamp is at least eight feet above the level of the country surrounding Norfolk, so you see it will admit of drainage.

"My bill," said Mr. Small, "provides that the money shall be expended under the supervision of the Secretary of Agriculture, and that all the expense of such construction for a period of not exceeding ten years shall be assessed against the lands to be drained in proportion to the benefits thereto.

"The Dismal Swamp was formerly about forty miles by twenty-five miles in area, but part thereof has been reclaimed by reason of the construction and operation of what is known as 'the Dismal Swamp Canal,' which intersects the edge of the swamp. In the centre of the swamp is Lake Drummond, made famous in the closing days of the last century by a famous poem.

"The surface of Lake Drummond is several feet higher than that of the Elizabeth river, upon which Norfolk is situated, and the surface of the swamp has also a higher level than the city of Norfolk, therefore, it is practicable to drain it.

"The drainage of this swamp would open up thousands of acres of the most fertile lands in the country, which fertility would continue undiminished for generations to come. No more inviting returns could be found than from the investment of this money."—Washington Post.

The average price paid white school teachers in North Carolina is $29.63. New Hanover leads with $40 a month, but it has only fourteen outside of Wilmington. Wilson county comes next with $36.79; Robeson is third with $36.36; Pitt fourth with $36.36; and Wake next with $34.35. Do these highest figures for a term of a little more than five months indicate that teachers are paid more than they earn?—Raleigh News and Observer.

There is nothing a woman will believe quicker than when you tell her she has brains, unless it is beauty.

GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings of Interest Over the Country.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 17.—Heri Johann Most, the anarchist, died today of erysipelas.

Baltimore, March 17.—Snow, which started about midnight on Thursday and continued until 3 a. m. yesterday, covered the ground to a depth of four inches. Baltimoreans who retired early were greatly surprised to see, upon arising, the streets and roofs covered with the white mantle. During the day, however, most of it melted.

Shreveport, La., March 17.—To a head on collision between two freight trains of the Louisville and Arkansas Railroad at Long Springs, La., this morning one trainman was killed and four others injured, two fatally. An order had been issued for one of the trains to take a siding, which order, it is said, was overlooked, resulting in the collision.

Pueblo, Col., March 17.—Thirty-five persons were crushed or burned to death early in a head-on collision of two passenger trains near Acobe, Col., on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, and nearly a score of the victims were incinerated beyond identification by a fire that destroyed the wrecked coaches. More than a score were injured, but all will probably recover.

Cleveland, O., March 17.—Charles M. Traver, former president of the First National Bank of Connaught, Ohio, and O. C. Lillie, of the same institution, pleaded guilty before Judge Taylor, of the United States circuit court here today to one of the indictments charging them with misapplying the funds of the bank. They were then sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary to six years imprisonment each.

Sufficient.

Rivers, who works on a newspaper, had been trying to make arrangements for a trip to Kansas City.

He was routed out of bed at midnight to answer a telephone call, and this was the subsequent conversation:

"Hello!"

"Hello! That you, Rivers?"

"Yes."

"This is Brooks, down at the office. There's a telegram here for you."

"Open it and read it to me, will you?"

After a short pause the conversation was resumed.

"It's from the general passenger agent of the X, Y, and Z. railway, and it says, 'I regret to say'—"

"That's enough, Brooks. You don't need to read any more. Good night."—Chicago Tribune.

Love and Marriage.

Yet, depend upon it, as you grow older you will see more and more instances and proofs of the reality and the depth of the love of husbands and wives for each other in the most ordinary, commonplace couples. I have heard of marriages where love has died out from some canker of selfishness or worldliness at its heart, but I have oftener seen unexpected proofs of a love stronger than death in all sorts of people in whom I had never before discovered any signs of sentiment or romance. —Sir Edward Strachey.

Some people imagine that cunning and wisdom are synonyms, but cunning is as plentiful as wisdom is scarce.

When a man goes home with a package that his wife thinks is candy it is a sign if it is a box of arts.

Indigestion is much of a habit. Don't get the habit. Take a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after eating and you will quit belching, puffing, palpitating and frowning. Kodol Digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by John L. Wooten.

A man can always marry an heiress in a novel

It pours the oil of life into your system. It warms you up and starts the life blood circulating. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain does. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Wooten's Drug Store

The best safeguard against headache, constipation and liver troubles is DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Keep a vial of these famous little pills in the house and take a dose at bed time when you feel that the stomach and bowels need cleansing. They don't gripe. Sold by John L. Wooten.

What a woman likes about having an allowance is she always has an excuse for not being able to pay her bills with it.

Have you pains in the back, inflammation of any kind, rheumatism, fainting spells, indigestion or constipation, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea makes you well, keeps you well. 35 cents. Wooten's Drug Store.

The best way to rid the system of a cold is to evacuate the bowels. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar acts as a pleasant, yet effectual cathartic on the bowels. It clears the head, cuts the phlegm out of the throat, strengthens the bronchial tubes, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough etc. Sold by John L. Wooten.

The same woman that calls her fatness plumpness thinks her red hair is golden.

If you are troubled with Piles and can't find a cure, try Witch Hazel Salve but be sure you get that made by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. It is the Original. If you have used Witch Hazel Salve without being relieved it is probable that you got hold of one of the many worthless counterfeits that are sold on the reputation of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.

Have you weakness of any kind—stomach, back, or any organs of the body? Don't dope yourself with ordinary medicine. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is the supreme curative power. 35 cents. Wooten's Drug Store.

There is nothing a woman will believe quicker than when you tell her she has brains, unless it is beauty.

Don't frown—look pleasant. If you are suffering from indigestion or sour stomach, take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hon. Jake Moore, of Atlanta, Ga. says: "I suffered more than 20 years with indigestion. A friend recommended Kodol. It relieved me in one day and I now enjoy better health than for many years. Kodol digests what you eat, relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach, belching, etc. Sold by John L. Wooten.

It always makes a woman mad not to have anybody calling when a telegram arrives.

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Cough Syrup, the best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Coughs, etc. Tastes good and harmless. Sold by John L. Wooten.

AMUSING BLUNDERS.

Some Quer Slips That Have Been Made by Famous Writers.

The writer of an article in the Yorkshire Post recalls some amusing literary blunders. Translators contribute largely to the list of mistakes, and the inspired lack of accuracy of our Gallic neighbors when dealing with things English is proverbial. Victor Hugo in "Les Trauilles de la Mer" translates "the Firth of Forth" by the words "Premier des quatre." Then there is the priceless translation that gave Ciber's play, "Love's Last Shift," the title "La Dernière Chemise de l'Amour."

Chaucer in his tale of Troilus makes Pandarus refer to Robin Hood. One writer records the fact that Virgil placed Aeneas in a harbor which had no existence at that time, "the blunder being about the same as if a modern poet were to make Columbus pass through the Suez canal." Mediaeval romance teems with anachronisms, "Orlando Furioso," Ariosto's great poem, taking the prize for reckless disregard of chronology. In this work Charlemagne and Edward, king of England; Henry, duke of Clarence, and other mis-mated celebrities enjoy each other's company. The Moors are settled in Spain at least 300 years before the Saracens invited them, while Prester John, who died in 1202, and Constantine the Great, dead in 337, figure gayly in these daring pages.

Schiller in his "Piccolomini" refers to lightning conductors 150 years before they were invented, and Shakespeare, whose genius included a happy gift of inaccuracy, is generous in blunder. In "Julius Caesar" the clock, a luxury unknown to the Romans, is the subject of conversation between Brutus and Cassius. "Peace," says Brutus, "count the clock." Cassius: "The clock has stricken 3." It must have been several hundred years after the death of Caesar that striking clocks were invented. Cervantes is responsible for making the company at the Crescent tavern sit down twice to supper on the same evening, a jovial mistake that savors of hospitality and good cheer.

To Charles Dickens we owe gratitude for many a delicious blunder—to Mr. Squeers for setting his boys to work to hoe turnips in midwinter and to the girl, Tattycoram, in "Little Dorrit," who enters "with an iron box two feet square under her arm."

It was a Glasgow paper that described this unique shipping disaster: "The captain swam ashore, as did also the stewardess. She was insured for £3,000 and carried 200 tons of pig iron."

The suit brought by certain parties to have the lease of the Atlantic & North Carolina railroad annulled, was argued before Judge B. F.
Long at New Bern Saturday. There was a strong array of counsel on both sides. Judge Long, who is now holding court in Greenville, has the matter under consideration and will render his decision sometime this week.

A curious case has recently been decided in the Supreme Court of North Carolina. A dispensary had been established in a town in the State and the act under which it was operated provided that all profits therefrom should go into the town treasury. But in response to popular demand from the county the act was so amended as to provide that one half of the profits of all such dispensaries should be paid over to the county treasurer to be used in improving the public roads. The citizens of the town in question were up in arms against the amendment and the authorities forbade the town treasurer to pay any money received from the dispensary to the county treasurer. The case finally went to the Supreme Court and was decided in favor of the county.
The county paper in commenting on the decision says that it is reasonable to presume that the people of the county purchase half the liquor sold by the dispensary, and that as the whole county has to bear the expense of criminal prosecutions resulting from the sale of liquor, it is but fair that the county
should receive half the profits.
That seems to be good logic, if it is not good law.—Richmond Times Dispatch.

"CRAZES."

The prevalence of "crazes" is a peculiar fact, a psychological fact, if you please. The craze seems to get into the air and then a "ten rail fence" couldn't stop its progress. Just now the skating "craze" has taken possession of the country and in all the newspapers we find illusions to the fascinating sport. A skating rink manager in this city told us recently that the craze was so widespread that factories could scarcely supply the demand for skates, it being almost impossible to get enough for immediate use.

The skating craze now holds the boards; but it has just supplanted the bicycle craze. Not long ago nearly everybody "had wheels"—and most people rode them. Great factories were built up to supply the demand;
and the vast army of wheelmen gave no insignificant impetus to the demand for better roads.
Now the bicycle craze has died out; and the wheel is confined in its use largely to business purposes. In like manner we have the automobile craze, which is now coming down to a practical business basis.

So it is with other things used for pleasure, and later for business purposes. Then there are crazes of epidemics which are of a more purely intellectual nature. The panic is a craze. One man gets in hard luck or frightened, starts the movement and the others join in. So it is with social movements, the formation of societies and lodges, of political parties to adjust real or imaginary wrongs—and a good deal of the imaginary is always mixed in with the real.

These crazes, of course, affect business powerfully, and when not moderated by common sense the result is more than apt to be serious, not only to business, but to moral and intellectual development.

The two-legged sheep is not the only animal that strings out after a leader.—Kinston Free Press.

Self Consciousness and Genius.

"Anything like self consciousness is impossible in the supreme operation of genius," writes Henry M.
Alden in Harper's Magazine. "If the creator become soon or late the cynosure of all eyes, the recognition and response accorded him are inevitable but incidental. He has created a world whose wonders are the delight of all who behold, and when he has created it he may himself see that it is good. It is the veil of his personality; its only true revelation also. It is in that world he hides, as God is hidden in his creation.
The actual facts of his life, his individual opinions and habits, are to another generation insignificant except to idle curiosity."

Fortunes In Old String.

There is money in handling bits of old string and rope, and there are several large dealers in these commodities in London. Thousands of pounds are made by buying and selling old fishing nets alone, but this is a mere bagatelle to the cash that is turned over in handling old cordage at the docks. When it is stated that the cordage, not including the fitting, of a large sailing vessel costs from £2,000 to £3,000, and that this has to be constantly renewed, it will be seen that an enormous trade must be carried on in this particular department.—London Mail.

Doctors In Sweden.

Swedish doctors never send bills to their patients. Each patient pays what he deems just or is able to give.
The rich pay the physician liberally,
whether they have need of his services or not, if he has been once retained by them. The poor, if they possibly can, pay him a small sum,
and the very poor pay him nothing.
Yet he attends the poor as faithfully as he does the rich.

TO THE TRUSTEES OF The Greenville Christian Church.

Gentlemen:—
It's sound sense that we tell you. It will cost less dollars to paint your church with L. & M. Paint, because more painting is done with one gallon of L. & M. than with two gallons of other paints, and the L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes the L. & M. Paint wear like iron.
Any church will be given a liberal quantity free whenever they paint. 4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.
Actual cost L. & M. about $1.20 per gallon.

J. E. WINSLOW.

METHODS OF READING.

Rules Cannot Be Fixed, as Each Man Has His Own Standard.

"Men have curiously different notions on the subject of reading, and almost all the literary men have had something to say on the subject," said an observant man. "Emerson laid down three rules. He said: First, do not read a book that is not a year old; second, never read any but books that are famed; third, never read any book but what you like. But it is not likely that many persons can follow these rules. In the first place, it is quite impossible to observe anything like an arbitrary rule in the matter of reading. There is no reason why a good book should be a year old before we venture through its pages. If the book is good it is just as good in fresh print as it will be at any other time. Besides, books are printed so rapidly now that if we are to wait a year before reading a book after it comes out we should soon be very much behind the times. We could not talk to our friends about contemporary literature and would be classed as a back number. Emerson's second rule is worse than the first. All good books do not become famous. It is much easier for a bad book to blaze out and win popular attention. Besides, how shall we know whether a book is good or bad without reading it? The same point may be made as to the third rule. How shall we know whether we like a book or not without reading it? True enough, some men, like Carlyle, can skim a book and get a fairly good idea of it, but this is not a satisfactory way of measuring a book's value. I have but little confidence in the literary judgment of the skimmer. The fact is, after all, that every man must read according to his own notion. My friend may like one book; I like another. He may have one standard of literary excellence; I may have another, and so on. Rules for reading cannot be arbitrarily fixed. Human nature is too fickle and there is too much difference between the temperament of men to admit of any such thing."

He Didn't Go Shopping.

Wife—My dear, I need a little more of this stuff and some trimming to match. I wish you would drop into Bigg, Sale & Co.'s and get it.

Husband (a smart fellow)—Let me see. Oh, I know. That's the shop where they have so many pretty girls, isn't it?

"Y-e-s."

"Yes, I remember. That blond girl at the trimming counter knows your tastes and will doubtless select just the sort of trimming you want—I mean the girl with the golden hair, alabaster skin, blue eyes and sweet little"—

"There are a number of things I want downtown. Never mind, dear. I'll go and get them myself."

A Personal Sermon.

A minister of the kirk of Scotland once discovered his wife asleep in the midst of his homily on the Sabbath. So, pausing in the steady and possibly somewhat monotonous flow of his oratory, he broke forth with this personal address, sharp and clear, but very deliberate:

Susan woke up with a start and rubbed her eyes, as did all the other dreamers in the edifice, whether asleep or awake.

"Susan," continued her clerical spouse, "I didna marry ye for yer wealth, sin' ye had none. And I didna marry ye for yer beauty. That the hail congregation can see. And if ye hae not grace I hae made but a sair bargain wi' ye!"

Brides in Spain.

In Spain a bride has no girl attendants to stand at the altar with her, but instead a "madrina," or godmother. Neither does she have a wedding cake or any festive departure after the ceremony. The wedded pair go quietly to their new home, where they remain until the following day, when they start on their honeymoon. Before leaving they pay a formal visit to their respective relatives.

EASIEST THING TO FIND.

You Can Even Find It Where It Does Not Exist.

The only thing that can easily be found where it does not exist is fault—that is, you can easily find it in others. But in yourself, though you be blackened with it, you can't see it so easily.

If the other fellow has a fault, and sometimes if he hasn't, you are quick to perceive it.

You incessantly find fault with the weather. It is either too warm or too cold, too wet or too dry, too sunny or too cloudy, and you have a good deal to say about it.

And the times never suit you. It's either hard times or else some other people are making too much money by the methods you don't know anything about and so don't approve. Deep in your subconsciousness you are quite sure that money making which you can't comprehend and can't imitate can't be honest.

And the government is all wrong, too, in your opinion. As a matter of fact, you may confess to yourself that you are unable to vote with real discrimination for county sheriff, but you do think you know all about running the national government and settling all international differences.

You may be loudly preaching for worldwide peace when you can't get along amicably with your own wife. You may not be able successfully to run a little corner grocery, but you think you know all about regulating the big trusts. You don't know what are the elements of failure in your own business affairs, but you think you know just exactly what are the faults of the great railroads.

The trouble with you is easily diagnosed. It is one of the most common disorders under the sun. You are "farsighted" in your mental vision. You see only the things that are beyond the reach of your hands and are blind to those that lie about you. You see the faults of the other fellow, but not your own.—Atlanta Journal.

The British Bulldog.

The Stockkeeper has been taking away the character of the British bulldog. In short, it has suggested that this much bepraised animal is no better than any other cur. Now, I am not concerned to defend the prize monstrosity bred for his bandy legs and wheezy chest and impossible upper jaw—or is it the lower one that is abnormal? Neither am I disposed to maintain that the British bulldog is now or that he ever was "a ferocious, bloodthirsty beast," but when you get away from this imaginary bulldog and the society specimen of the degenerate in dogs you may still find bulldogs of the old breed throughout the country, faithful and fearless as no other dog can claim to be—"real grit right through," as a Yankee once told me when he was carrying a specimen home to the west. I have seen the bulldog put to the test on many occasions, but I have never known one to show any lack of courage or any disposition to let go when he has once got hold, and I have never known one to be quarrelsome.—London Weekly.

He Couldn't Help Being Good.

A well known preacher recently spoke at a religious service in a jail. He noticed that one of the convicts seemed extraordinarily impressed. After the service he sought him out and continued the good work by remarking:

"My dear sir, I hope you will profit by my remarks just now and become a new man."

"Indeed I will," was the reply. "In fact, I promise you that I will never commit another crime, but will lead an exemplary life to my dying day."

"Good!" said the dominie. "But are you sure that you will be able to keep the promise?"

"Oh, yes," was the cheerful reply of the convict. "I'm in jail for life."
—Philadelphia Telegraph.
