THE GRUMBLER.

One particular variety of citizen who has sent courtesy in this shop is the grumbler. Whenever he sits down and begins to yawp, we tell him yes, that's so, but it might be worse. And here is a parable from the Charleston News and Courier: "One of the greatest misfortunes that can befall one is to have to pass one's life in the house with a constitutional grumbler." . . . "To those who are afflicted with this infirmity," says The News and Courier, "nothing is ever quite right, and their highest praise of anything is qualified by the Scotch expression, 'considering,' or its equivalent; and, by the way, that 'considering' means much more disparagement than one would imagine such an innocent looking word could convey. Of course, the weather furnishes the habitual grumbler with a fruitful source of complaint. Be the June day ever so 'rare,' he will find something wrong with it. It will either be too cool for the season, or too bright to last, and so he will predict rain before night. If the autumn be a dry one so as to be favorable for farmers having crops to harvest; he wishes for rain on account of a few plants he has set out in his little garden, and which he does not want the trouble of watering; or should the season be a wet one he grumbles about it preventing him from going shooting or playing golf, or because he has to take an umbrella whenever he goes out. Next to the weather his business furnishes a most prolific source of reasons for complaint. To ordinary observers he appears to be doing a flourishing business; but he assures you he is not doing enough to keep his family out of the alms house. Everyone else but he can get on. Anyway the town is going to the dogs, business of all kinds is dying out, the citizens have no enterprise, no public spirit. He is always on the point of selling out and going to a more alive place, where things are better managed, etc. But he never actually goes, and when he dies his executors find he has left a snug little fortune, and all made in the 'dead town' of which he complained so constantly."

This and much more our Charleston contemporary says about the grumbler, but what we have copied we consider a pretty fair size-up. There are men grumblers and women grumblers. Their lives are unhappy and their mission is to try to make the lives of all they come in contact with unhappy. What a bully thing it would be if all the grumblers set could be off into a colony by themselves—Charlotte Chronicle.

Danville, Va., March 21.—Mrs. Susan Dooley, an aged woman, lies dead at her home at Fall Creek, near this city, as the result of injuries alleged to have been inflicted by James Dooley, her son, who is now in the county jail at Chatham awaiting hearing by the grand jury on the charge of matricide.

COTTON ASSOCIATION AT FALKLAND.

Falkland, N. C. March 20th, 1906.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

A. A. Forbes, the county organizer of the Southern Cotton association, met the farmers of Falkland Saturday, the 17th at 2 p. m. After getting the crowd together he delivered an address which was very interesting and appropriate for the occasion, showing that the farmers should organize and come together as a body. Every other business of the world is organized. Shall the farmer lay dormant and be down trodden by trusts and combines or will he arise and demand a minimum price for his products? Which will you take, brother farmer? The farmer builds the towns and cities, feeds and clothes the world, and yet has no voice in fixing the price of his products made on the farm. Is this right, brother farmer? If it is not right, come and join us the 1st Saturday in April at 2 p. m. and let us talk over it and see if we can't apply a remedy.

After the speeches made by A. A. Forbes, R. E. Cotten and W. R. Williams, next in order was election officers for the ensuing year, as follows: J. H. Smith, president; F. G. Dupree, secretary and treasurer, delegates to confer with county meeting Wm. Smith and John S. Harriss.

Executive committee, W. M. Smith, John S. Harriss and Marcellus Smith. F. G. Dupree, Sec. and Treas.

THE LIST IS GROWING.

Greenville Will Have a Building and Loan Association.

The list of shares for a building and loan association in Greenville goes right on growing. In Wednesday's paper the number of shares reported was 215, and by the time the paper goes to press today the number has increased to 420. At this rate it will not take long for the list to reach a thousand shares, the number with which it is desired to start the organization. Those desiring to enter their names for shares can find the list at Reflector office.

Gritton to Be Represented.

The editor run down to Gritton Wednesday and made arrangements for a news service from that town. Gritton is a good town, situated in one of the best sections of the county, and has a number of as good business men as can be found anywhere. To have a part in The Reflector will be helpful in setting forth the many advantages of the town and letting the outside world know what is going on there. It is too important a town to keep its light hid.

A Mother's Love.

There is an old legend that runs in this wise: At creation's dawn an angel came down to earth, and before returning looked about for something to carry back to heaven. There were three things that attracted the attention of the white winged messenger—a bouquet of sweet flowers that had been gathered from one of earth's fair and blooming gardens, the smile of a little baby that had been playing with a sun-beam and a mother's love. These three the angel carried away, but when he reached the pearly gates of paradise the flowers had withered—the baby's smile had vanished. Only the mother's love remained the same, and being found as pure and eternal as the waters that flowed by God's throne all the angels that ranged about exclaimed in unison: There is nothing on earth pure enough for heaven but a mother's love. This was a tribute containing a sublime thought. And through all the ages it has been human experience that the angels referred to in that faraway legend were not over-extravagant in the message which they passed out through the open window of the many "River of Gold."—Harvard (Ill.) Herald.

Struck By Train.

Mr. J. A. Mannin, who lives in Bethel township, was in Greenville Wednesday. In the afternoon he started home on foot, and about 3 miles from town sat down on a log near the railroad track. He was under the influence of liquor and did not notice a log train approaching.

Part of the train pulled by him when he got up and staggered in the way of one of the cars and was knocked down. He was brought back to town for medical attention and was found to be only a little bruised on one shoulder.

THE BEST.

[Requested.]

Sometime, when all life's lessons have been learned,
And sun and stars forevermore have set,
The things which our weak judgment have spurned,—
The things we which we grieved with lashes wet,—
Will flash before us out of life's dark night,
As stars shine out in deeper tints of blue;
And we shall see how all God's plans were right,
And how what seemed reproach was love most true.
And we shall see how, while we fret and sigh,
God's plans go on as best for you and me;
How, when we called, He answered not our cry.
Because His wisdom to the end could see;
And even as prudent parents disallow
Too much of sweet to crying babyhood,
So God, perhaps, is keeping from us now
Life's sweetest things, because it seemeth good.
And if, sometimes, commingled with life's wine
We find the wormwood, and rabel, and shrink,
Be sure a wiser hand than yours or mine
Pours out the lotion for our lips to drink;
If we could push ajar the gates of life
And stand within, and all God's workings see,
We could interpret all this doubt and strife,
And for each mystery could find a key.
But not to day; then be content, dear heart;
God's plans like lilies pure and white unfold,
We must not tear the close-shut leaves apart;
Time will reveal the calyxes of gold,
And if through patient toil we reach the land
Where tired feet, with sandals loosed, may rest,
Where we shall clearly know and understand
I know that we shall say, "God knew the best"

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Kinston likes street carnivals. That town is soon to have another one.

A Winston negro went to sleep with a half dollar in his mouth and swallowed it.

Again the fight is on in Weidon for a dispensary. A little over two years ago the question was voted on and defeated by a small majority.

The man Clark who killed another man in the depot at Raleigh during fair week and was sentenced to the roads of Wake county, made his escape but was captured later.

New Bern, N. C., March 21.—Five negro prisoners in Craven county jail made their escape this morning, four of whom are still at large. One of the criminals became repentant, came back and gave himself up.

New York, March 21.—Hattie Warren, a white woman, was lured to a resort frequently used by negroes in this city and there held a prisoner for more than five months, during which time she was subjected to the grossest indignities, according to the story told by the woman herself in the court of general sessions today.

The fun keeps right on at the skating rink.

The wind and sunshine together have dried the streets.

Next to clothes a woman gets the most satisfaction out of old love letters.

There is hardly anything as hard as being as nice to your wife's relatives as you expect them to be to you.

The more men fall in love with a girl the bigger her danger of becoming an old maid while she is trying to make her choice.

Hotel Bibles.

The proprietor of a newly furnished uptown hotel has given an order to a publishing house for 200 Bibles.

"I have been hearing a lot lately," he said, "about hotel guests going wrong because there were no Bibles in their rooms. Several years ago it was the practice of many hotels to include a Bible in the list of necessary furniture. Gradually the people who were back of the enterprise lost interest, and the books disappeared. It now seems that many persons, particularly commercial travelers, complain of missing them. Frequently they read a chapter before going to bed just to drive away the blues, but now they never get a chance to look inside a Bible. That being the case, it shall not be said that any man stopping at my house is driven to perdition for the want of a Bible."—New York Sun.

Seriously Ill.

Mamie Ruth, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Tunstall, is critically ill at the home of her parents. The malady is obscure and a consultation of local physicians will be held to determine the cause of her illness.

Mamie Ruth is very popular among her little friends and they earnestly hope that her difficulty will readily yield to treatment.

Bigger Than the Conquerors.
 A Venezuelan military attache at Paris had turned in a report upon the French army. He praised its organization and held it up as a desirable model for imitation by Venezuela. President Castro sent for the luckless officer.
 "You wrote this report glorifying the French army?"
 "Yes, excellency. It was a part of my duty."
 "But was the French army never beaten?"
 "Yes; it was defeated by the Germans in 1870."
 "And did the English never get the better of French troops?"
 "Certainly, excellency; at Waterloo."
 "But who was it that defeated both English and Germans combined? Was it not I, Cipriano Castro? You may go!"

A Hen or a Heagle!
 A certain celebrity found himself at a city banquet next to a portly alderman.
 "My grandfather knew Napoleon," said the latter to the distinguished guest. "The emperor gave him a lovely snuffbox. There is a hen on the lid."
 "Dear me!" replied the celebrity. "It is probably an eagle, not a hen."
 "No, it is a hen," persisted the alderman, producing the box from his pocket and proudly displaying the initial "N" of the emperor's name in brilliants on the lid.—London Telegraph.

Misplaced Sympathy.
 A French judge visiting England was riding in a London tram car when the conductor asked for his fare. The judge offered a sixpence and when he received fourpence change gave the conductor twopence, saying:
 "Here, my man, get yourself a glass of beer."
 A clergyman, sitting opposite, interposed:
 "Excuse me, sir, but is it wise to encourage drinking? I have not touched a glass of beer for years."
 "Poor man!" exclaimed the judge. "Take ze odder twopence."

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Cough Syrup, the best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Coughs, etc. Tastes good and harmless. Sold by John L. Wooten.

FIRST PHOTOGRAPHER.

Johann Schulze and the Sun Print He Produced.

The first photographer, Johann Heinrich Schulze—often spelled Schultze—was a professor of medicine in the University of Halle, and he wrote a great number of medical works, most of which are in the British museum library. He was born at Coblitz, in the duchy of Magdeburg, May 12, 1687. When at school and before he was ten years of age Corvinus, the priest of his native hamlet, was struck with his ability. Indeed, one day he found him in the garden studying a Greek Testament. His father was a poor tailor at Coblitz. In 1697 young Schulze was sent to the Royal Paedagogium at the University of Halle to continue his education.

In 1701 he began the study of oriental languages, and in 1704 he was admitted into the University of Halle as a student of medicine. He was trained by Professors Stahl, Richter and Eckebrecht. He at the same time gave some attention to antiquarian research and to rabbinic lore. In 1708 he accepted an appointment as teacher in the school of the university and worked in it for seven years, at the same time carrying on the study of several eastern dead languages. He then attracted the attention of Frederick Hoffman, the Boerhaave of Germany, who engaged him to aid him in his literary and medical work. He made so much progress that in two years he took the degree of doctor of medicine and shortly afterward began to obtain public reputation because of his medical writings. After his marriage in 1720 to a relative of Corvinus he was appointed professor of anatomy at the University of Altdorf.

In 1729 he was appointed professor of Greek and later on that of Arabic. The Prussian government in 1732 appointed him professor of elocution and antiquities at the University of Halle. In 1738 he was nominated a foreign member of the Academy of Sciences at St. Petersburg as successor to Bayer, and in 1737 he was professor of theology at Halle. He died Oct. 10, 1744. Schulze was the first to print an image of an object by the agency of light. In 1727 he poured nitrate of silver upon chalk, proving that its darkening in sunlight was due to light and not to heat. Then he printed upon the deposit the image of a piece of string tied round the containing glass. This was the first photograph ever taken in the world. Next he pasted printed matter round the glasses containing the deposits and photographed words and sentences.

Taking No Risks.
"Now, Johnnie, go and kiss your little sweetheart and make it up," said Johnnie's mother.
"No, I won't."
"Go and tell her how much you love her and how sorry you are."
"No, I won't. Pa says he got into a breach of promise case by telling a girl that and had to marry the old thing. I won't run any risks, I won't."—London Telegraph.

A LIQUID COLD CURE AND LAXATIVE COUGH SYRUP

The Red Clover Blossom and the Honey Bee on Every Bottle.

"A Cold or a Cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard."

KENNEDY'S LAXATIVE HONEY AND TAR

Cures Colds by working them out of the system through a copious action of the bowels.

Cures Coughs by cleansing and strengthening the mucous membranes of the throat, chest, lungs and bronchial tubes.

For Croup, Whooping Cough, La Grippe, Influenza, Bronchitis, and all Coughs, Colds, Lung and Bronchial affections no remedy is equal to Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Children like it.

Put up in 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles at the Laboratory of E. O. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

Sold by John L. Wooten.

TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE Greenville Christian Church.

Gentlemen:—It is sound sense that we tell you.

It will cost less dollars to paint your church with L. & M. Paint, because more painting is done with one gallon of L. & M. than with two gallons of other paints, and the L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes the L. & M. Paint wear like iron.

Any church will be given a liberal quantity free whenever they paint. 4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.

Actual cost L. & M. about $1.20 per gallon.

J. E. Webb, Painter Hickory, N. C. writes, "Houses painted with L. & M. 15 years ago have not needed painting since."

Sold by H. L. Carr, Greenville, N. C.

Have you weakness of any kind—stomach, back, or any organs of the body? Don't dope yourself with ordinary medicine. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is the supreme curative power. 35 cents. Wooten's Drug Store.

If you are troubled with Piles and can't find a cure, try Witch Hazel Salve but be sure you get that made by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. It is the Original. If you have used Witch Hazel Salve without being relieved it is probable that you got hold of one of the many worthless counterfeits that are sold on the reputation of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.

THURSDAY MAR. 22th, 1906.

Yes, sir! Greenville is reaching the point of doing things.

Just now Raleigh is distancing the others in the way of sensations.

That canal is going to be a hole to pour money in for years to come.

We doubt if many people shed any tears when Blackburn walks the plank out of Congress.

They have not yet decided what kind of a canal is wanted, much less commenced work on it.

The way shares in abuilding and loan association are being subscribed for shows how easily Greenville can do a thing when she sets her head to it.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

(By an Occasional Contributor.)

Chairman Babcock has issued his annual statement that he can no longer serve as the head of the Republican Congressional Committee.

About the only people who have not complained as to Gen. Wood's methods at Dajo Hill are the Moros who were engaged on the other side.

Speaker Cannon is remarkably frank in saying that the joint statehood bill ought to be passed for purely political reasons.

An Ohio woman has left her husband because he talked in his sleep. Poor man. It probably was the only chance he had.

It is a question whether the Algeciras conferees themselves remember what it was they originally disagreed on.

Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission says he will have to decide whether the Supreme Court was right in the C & O. case before he goes to enforcing the decision.

The only trouble with Marcus Braun's numerous resignations seems to be that they do not last.

Judge Parker says there should be no objection to choosing a Presidential candidate from the South. His opinion would have more weight if he had not made such a bad guess on the last one.

Secretary Taft says he is too busy with the Panama canal to take that Supreme Court appointment. Now if there is any canal at Panama or even the beginning of one, the news of it had not percolated around in this direction.

A contemporary declares tentatively that "the revolution in Russia has just begun." Guess again. The revolution was old enough to vote last September.

Chili's cabinet has again resigned, thus putting her several laps ahead of her nearest competitor.

There is one thing to be said for old man Dowie. Nobody has yet heard him demand a vindication.

A Chicago clergyman is said to be in favor of sobering rooms for drunks. Is he making the way of the transgressor easy or simply running an opposition to the Turkish bath cure?

The absence of taint from the money which millionaire Yerkes left to New York City must be puzzling to men like Rockefeller and the reverend Mr. Gladden.

What, oh! what has become of that manifesto of Secretary Taft proclaiming that he was going to buy ships and things for the Panama canal outside of the United States?

In Bavaria the women clean the streets. It is only a few years back when trains were in fashion, that women performed the same work here

An Extraordinary Woman.

Dr. Abernethy, the famous Scotch surgeon, was a man of few words, but once he met his match in a woman. She called at his office in Edinburgh one day and showed a hand badly inflamed and swollen, when the following dialogue, opened by the doctor, took place:

"Burns?"

"Bruise."

"Poultice."

The next day the woman called again, and the dialogue was as follows:

"Better?"

"Worse."

"More poultice."

Two days later the woman made another call, and this conversation occurred:

"Better?"

"Well. Fee?"

"Nothing," exclaimed the doctor. "Most sensible woman I ever met."

A Phonetic Verdict.

In Mitchell versus Com., 106 Ky. 602, the jury rendered the following verdict: "Wee the jury agree and find the defendant guilty as charged in the indite and sess his fined at 100 dollars. Isaa Clouse." On objection to this as no verdict the court said, "We think it expresses, though only phonetically, the intention of the jury so that no one could be mistaken in regard to it." The ruling was evidently based on Lewis Carroll's maxim, "Take care of the sounds and the sense will take care of itself."—Law Notes.

The Philadelphia Record says:

"A poor man had better keep out of congress. Campaign expenses are heavy, and they come every two years. No man can go to congress without neglecting his law practice or his business. If he is a poor man he will probably lose his clients or his customers; a small business or practice will not support partners or managers. After a few years in congress nine men out of ten are beaten for re-nomination, and then if they have not a fortune or an established business to fall back on they will try to get some small salaried piece under the government, and may not be successful."

None will deny the truth of the above, and yet the number of comparatively poor men who run for Congress even with slight prospect of election, is large.—Charlotte Observer.

Strange, but True.

"I saw a curious thing the other day," said the favorite story teller at a party.

"Well, what was it? Is it a true story?" asked one of the listeners.

"Yes; perfectly true. I saw a duck swimming across a pond and a cat sitting on its tail."

"Indeed!" exclaimed another listener. "What sort of a duck was it? Any particular kind?"

"Yes; it was a diving duck. Strange to say, the duck dived."

For some moments there was silence; then a lady asked:

"And what became of the poor cat? Was it drowned, or did it only lose one of its nine lives?"

"No; it wasn't drowned," said the story teller. "You see, the duck dived in the middle of the pond, but the cat was sitting on its own tail on a wall close by."

"Lawn mower? Why, certainly. But what on earth can you want of a lawn mower at this time of the year?"

"I desire to thin down our velvet carpet in the nursery a little. The children are always losing their marbles in it."—London Answers.

Force of Habit.

A laughable story is told of an old miser who, being at the point of death, resolved to give all his money to a nephew at whose hands he had experienced some little kindness. "Sam," said he, for that was his nephew's name—"Sam, I am about to leave the world and to leave you all my money. You will then have $50,000. Only think! Yes, I feel weaker and weaker. I think I shall die in two hours. Oh, yes, Sam, I'm going! Give me 2 per cent, and you may take the money now!"

Some Definitions.

The following are gleaned from the definitions given by English school children:

Henry VIII. was brave, corpulent and cruel, he was frequently married to a widow, had an ulcer on his leg and great decision of character.

The septuagint was a committee of seventy men elected to revise the poems of Homer.

Simon de Montfort's father was a crusader, and from him he inherited religiousness, which was very useful to him afterward when he became archbishop of Canterbury.

The climate of Bombay is such that its inhabitants have to live elsewhere.

Etc. is a sign used to make believe you know more than you do.

At the Minstrels.

"What," asked Mr. Gilfithers, the eminent end man, "what is the difference between a phrenologist and a man who runs into a door in the dark?"

"I give it up," said Mr. Golsizzle, the other eminent end man, for they were cutting the show short that evening in order to catch an early train to the next one night stand.

"One knows the bumps and the other bumps the nose," explained Mr. Gilfithers.

Before the audience could reason it out Mr. Alphonse Rambolio, the celebrated counter tenor, was half way through his touching ballad, "I Never Cut No Ice With Her Until I Learned to Skate."—Judge.

Wonderful Strength of the Beetle.

A noted entomologist who has been writing on the wonderful feats of strength as exhibited in the beetle family tells the following: "I selected a common blackwater beetle weighing 4.2 grains and found that he was able to carry a load of shot in a small bag, the whole weighing 8 1/4 ounces, or exactly 858 times the weight of the bug. If a man weighing 150 pounds could carry as much accordingly he could shoulder a forty-five ton locomotive and then chain a train of cars together and take the whole lot across the country at a five mile an hour gait."

DYNAMITE FIENDS.

Mexicans Have Discovered That the Explosive Is a Dream Producer.

An American business man of Monterey who was on a visit a few days ago to a mining camp situated near the city was surprised and mystified to hear one Mexican miner say to his companion as they came from the depths of a mine:

"Come over to the cantina tonight and take some dynamite with me."

The American superintendent explained the invitation:

"That was not an invitation to take a drink of some new brand of liquor, as might be supposed," he said. "Those two Mexicans are dynamite fiends. They actually eat dynamite and get drunk on the dangerous substance."

It is a fact that many of the Mexican miners of the peon class are dynamite eaters. It is a vice that is rapidly spreading to all of the mining camps in Mexico. J. C. Ford, a prominent American mining man of the Guadalupe y Calvo district, said concerning this new habit:

"Users of dynamite soon learn that it is a powerful stimulant and that the effects of intoxication are pleasing while they last beyond the most excruciating phantasies of an opium dream. Dynamite is manufactured for the purpose of smashing things, and a tiny bit of it coursing through the veins smashes the whole end of care and blows dullness into atoms.

"The 'dynamiteur' usually is very dainty and exact in his method of going about the introduction of a high explosive into his system. The preferred way to do this is to cut off a small piece of 55 per cent 'dyna,' about the size of a pea. This is dissolved in a small glass of mes-cal or tequila, and the draft is quaffed down with a gusto that comes from pleasant anticipations. The performer of this trick then rolls in his blanket and stretches himself at length in the cool shade. It is said that very soon his nerves begin to tingle, and stranger dreams come to him than the weird visions induced by hasheesh.

"The amount of dynamite consumed at an ordinary camp by those addicted to taking it into their systems in the way above described is so large that it appreciably affects the quantity of that explosive required to carry on the regular work. There is a large and increasing number of people addicted to a vice that only the most imaginative of persons could have invented. It may not be assuming too much to state that eventually dynamite will be dispensed at saloons as much as are tobacco and alcoholic drinks and the 'dynamiteur' will be as distinct a class as the absintheur or ordinary boozier." — Monterey (Mexico) Letter in Denver News.

A Cat Story.

This is a true cat story. A certain cat, much petted and adored, is believed to understand language, he having repeatedly acted upon what was said to him, but he did far more and better. He obeyed literally. The man of the house is a great hunter. He loves to shoulder his gun and bring down small game, and one morning when he was setting forth for sport his wife called out, "If you will bring home a rabbit I will make a pie." The cat sat by, but said nothing. A few hours after, while the wife was busy with her sewing, the cat appeared by her side carrying a rabbit in his mouth, and then, dropping the "game" beside his mistress, began to sing and purr like a tin kettle on the fire. Nothing will convince the friends of this wonderful cat that he doesn't understand all that is said in his presence, and they are now really afraid to mention a want, as the dear fellow will think he must immediately gratify it, like another Marquis of Carabas.—Boston Herald

An Impossibility.

Two Irishmen were moving some kegs of powder when one noticed that the other was smoking, and the following conversation ensued:

"Look here! Ain't ye got any better sense than to be smoking whilst we're handling these 'ere kegs of powder? Don't you know that there was an explosion yesterday, which blew up a dozen men?"

"Faith, but that cud never happen here."

"Why not?"

"Eekase there's only two of us on this job."

GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings of Interest Over the Country.

Washington D. C., March 21.—Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by her sons, Archie and Quentin, and her daughter, Miss Ethel, and possibly by her son, Kermit, will leave Washington the latter part of next week for Florida. At some convenient port there, possibly Fernandina, they will go aboard the naval yacht Mayflower and make a cruise to the West Indies. It is expected the party will be absent ten days or two weeks.

Plaquemine, La., March 18.—Last night about 10 o'clock a lynching occurred on Bayou Plaquemine, about one mile below the town. Constable Walter Marionneaux and V. M. Patureau, a well-known citizen of the eighth ward, were on their way to the jail at this place with a negro named William Carr, whom they had arrested and charged with stealing and killing a yearling, when they were stopped at this point by a crowd of about 35 masked men, who overpowered them, and taking the prisoner, hanged him to the railroad bridge, which crosses the plantation canal at this point.
