RAILROAD MERGER.

Eastern North Carolina Affected.

Norfolk, Va., March 26.—The entire properties of the Norfolk & Southern railroad, running from Norfolk through eastern North Carolina, and the Virginia Carolina Coast railroad, which recently began the construction of a new railway line from Norfolk to Beaufort, N. C., and their lumber interests, are to be merged with an authorized capital of $25,000,000 in bonds and $25,000,000 in stock.

The railroad merger will give a total trackage of 600 miles and the lumber merger will make a total of 18 miles with an output of 150,000,000 feet annually. There will be 600,000 acres of timber land owned in fee and a timber stumpage of four trillion feet.

The railroad merger means the taking of the Suffolk & Carolina, running between Suffolk, Va., Elizabeth City, N. C. and Edenton, N. C., the Pamlico, Oriental & Western, running from New Bern to Bayboro, N. C., all of the Norfolk & Southern branch lines between Norfolk and Edenton, together with its Pamlico division through Mackey's Ferry to Belhaven and thence on to Plymouth and Washington; and the leases of the Atlantic & North Carolina railroad, running between Beaufort, Morehead City and Goldsboro, N. C.

THE MAN AND HIS LABORS.

"In your story of today, you say that David Bennett Hill is a man without a wife, without a vice and without a pastime," said the observant citizen to an Observer reporter yesterday.

"Yes, that is his present condition."

"I think that is pitiful," continued the citizen. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is as old as the hills. So many men know how to labor and, while young, they think little of rest, but there will come a day when the toiling slaves must rest, or die long before their allotted time. I have heard it said that John Sharpe Williams, one of the most brilliant men of the age, has no pastime, no way of recreation. A friend asked him one day, why such a fine fellow, with so much sense, should drink and get on little tears, and his frank reply was that he had no other way to rest. That may seem absurd to pure water drinkers but I have seen many such men. The greatest of men should learn to rest as well as work. Take Grover Cleveland, Teddy Roosevelt, John Burroughs, Leon Tolstoi and other great men of the time. There is no man of the century who has turned out more good work than Roosevelt, and he has hunted and romped with men of all nations.

"Every man should have a pastime. Rest and diversion are conducive to good habits and longevity."—Charlotte Observer.

One seldom realizes how much worse the world is growing until he hears two old settlers exchanging reminiscences.

GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings of Interest Over the Country.

Valdosta, Ga., March 26.—News was received here to day of the death of John Brant, 81 years old, at his home at Nashville, Berrien county, as the result of injuries inflicted by his son, Bob Brant, aged 37 years. The report says that the younger man, under the influence of liquor, on Saturday night, attacked and abused his father, and left him for dead. Bob Brant defied arrest, but finally was overpowered and lodged in jail, with the charge of murder against him.

Milton, Fla., March 26.—William Davidson, Jr., a well-known and popular citizen, deliberately laid his head on the rail just as the east-bound Louisville & Nashville passenger train pulled out from the station last night, and was decapitated. No cause is known for the rash act.

Runge, Tex., March 26.—Near Couchs eight miles south of here, a Mexican named Ramon overtook a vehicle containing two young women and a little boy yesterday. Ramon climbed into the rear of the buggy and cut the throat of one of the women, causing instant death. The horse became frightened and began to run, whereupon Ramon drew a revolver and shot the other woman dead. Jealousy prompted the deed.

Jefferson, Texas, Mar. 26.—J. R. Bennett, aged 65 years, was shot and instantly killed and his son, Eugene, fatally wounded by Jeff Saunders, a merchant, on the depot platform here this afternoon. A previous disagreement, it is told was revived when the men met. The younger Bennett was shot first and while his father stepped over to assist him he was killed, four bullets entering his body. The parties are well to do and reside at Narwood, near Jefferson, Tex.

Everett, Mass., March 26.—Less than three hours before the time set for wedding today, Pansy E. Townsend was shot and mortally wounded by her father, Joseph P. Townsend, in their home in this city. Townsend then ended his own life with a bullet. Miss Townsend was to have been married to Francis E. Perry, of Fort Myers, Fla., at 6 o'clock tonight at the People's Temple, Boston.

Cotton Association.

The Pitt County Branch of the Southern Cotton Association will hold its monthly meeting in Greenville next Monday. The farmers and business men of the county can show their interest in the movement by attending this meeting.

Fire at Statesville.

Judge B. F. Long, who is here holding court, received information this morning that a big fire occurred last night in the business section of his home town, Statesville. No definite particulars were given except that some property belonging to Judge Long was involved in the fire.

THOUGHT THAT BAD ENOUGH

Amusing Answer of Character Witness.

During the progress of a suit in court the defense was offering testimony to show the character of the plaintiff.

"Do you know the general character and reputation of the plaintiff?" asked counsel for the defense of a witness.

"Yes, sir," replied the witness.

"What is it?"

"Bad," was the positive answer.

"You may stand aside," said the counsel, indicating that he was through.

"Hold on there," interrupted counsel for the plaintiff as the witness was about to leave the stand. "His reputation is bad for what?"

"Well, he is said to be a lawyer," was the answer.

There were no more questions.

LADIES HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Two Fall Out of a Trap in Street.

Mrs. J. G. Moye had her mother, Mrs. J. T. Howard, of Conetoe, Mrs. D. E. House and the latter's mother Mrs. Susan Mayo, of Edgemont, out for a drive in her trap. Mrs. Moye was driving and Mrs. House occupied the front seat with her, while their mothers occupied the rear seat. As they were driving along Second street the rear seat of the trap broke from its fastenings and began slipping backward. One of the ladies on the seat screamed when those in front reached back in an effort to prevent them falling out. The timely aid of Mrs. Moye and Mrs. House did break the force of the fall, but Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Mayo both fell out in the sand. Fortunately they escaped with no worse injury than a few bruises, but for the time being it was a badly frightened quartette of ladies.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Robbers entered the store of J. T. McGee & Son, at the Hoskins Mill, four miles west of Charlotte, early yesterday morning, blew open the heavy steel safe in the office with nitro-glycerine, and escaped with their booty which amounted to $6 in pennies and an old gold watch; reward of $50 has been offered by Mr. McGee for the arrest and conviction of the guilty party or parties—Charlotte Observer.

A disastrous fire occurred in the business section of Fayetteville Monday night, the worst in the history of the city. The loss was about $200,000.

Salisbury, N. C. March 26.—Walter Anderson, a half Indian fourteen-year old, was shot and instantly killed at his home near this city this afternoon by a younger brother. The two boys were playing with a revolver when it was accidentally discharged and the ball went through the heart of young Anderson. No arrests have been made.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AT GRIFTON.

Reported for Reflector.

Grifton, N. C. Mar. 27, 1906.

Last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Garris, little Alice Susau Wingate, of Winterville, celebrated her eleventh birthday. From the hours of 6 to 9 were pleasant ones for the attendants. At the hour of 8 they were invited into the dining room where an elegant supper awaited them. The table was a scene of beauty, decorated with green and white, and laden with fruits and other good things delicious to the taste.

Miss Myrtle Garris most successfully managed the party for the little folks. When the hour of 9 arrived all left for their respective homes, expressing much gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Garris for their kindness during the evening.

We cordially invite little Susan to visit our town again.

MADE THE WORKS.

High Skill of a Young Jeweler.

Some days ago a Swiss watch was taken to the jewelry store of Griffin & Stewart to be repaired. An examination showed that some parts of the watch were lost, and the firm sent description and order for the missing parts to both New York and Philadelphia only to learn that such parts of a Swiss watch could not be had in this country, but would have to be imported. Determined not to be outdone in the matter, Mr. Lee Stewart, the junior member of the firm, went to work under the direction of Capt. Griffin and made the missing parts. The parts thus made fitted the watch precisely and it is now as good as a new one. Capt. Griffin says he never saw a better piece of work done by a jeweler. It speaks well for the skill of Mr. Stewart.

ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS.

If you can't speak the truth, keep a stiff upper jaw.

The day worker acquires more coin than the day dreamer.

When you are in a hurry for a thing how slow it travels.

An excuse never accomplishes all it is expected to accomplish.

A good joke on a friend wouldn't be worth a smile if on yourself.

Often "the coming man" has a little bill he would like to collect.

Ever notice this? If one thing goes right with you something else goes wrong.

In speaking of their troubles, the railroads can truly say that these things came to pass.

When you see two people who dislike you whispering together, doesn't it give you a funny feeling?

There are lots of people in the world who feel every time they part with a dollar as though they were having an operation performed.—Orange, Va. Observer.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY.

Memorial Baptist Church Next Sunday.

Neat programs have been printed of the anniversary exercises of Greenville Memorial Baptist church to be held next Sunday. The first Sunday in April comes nearest to the date of the organization of the church in March, 1827, hence the selection of that date for the anniversary exercises.

This is the first such anniversary to be held by the church, but it is proposed to hold them annually hereafter. The program for next Sunday shows that Dr. J. D. Huffman, a man greatly beloved in Greenville, will deliver the historical address. The musical part of the program also promises much of interest to all who are present.

The Baptists hope to make next Sunday a great day for the denomination here and it is expected that every member who can do so will be present. It will be a day devoted entirely to praise and worship, there being no other object connected with the services.

A cordial invitation is extended to everybody.

Herald Square Opera Company.

The Herald Square Opera Company made a decided hit at the opera house in this city Saturday night and Saturday afternoon. This company improves each year by the introduction of new songs, new fun and the newest finds in phenomenal singers.

Miss Leona Watson, prima donna, Martin Pache, tenor, Wilbur Cox and Frank Minor, comedians, and Elsie Gibson, one of the leading ladies, all came in for their full share of the generous applause of the audience.

Sunday morning at the First Methodist church Miss Watson sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," which was very much appreciated by all present. Sunday night, Elsie Gibson, (Mrs. Wilbur Cox) sang at the First Methodist church to an appreciative congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox remained over yesterday with friends and relatives in this city and joined the company last night at Eberton.—Athens, Ga., Banner, March 6th.

The Herald Square Opera Company will appear here April 13th and 14th.

INCEPTION OF PRINTING.

How Others Got Fame and Wealth From Gutenberg's Invention.

In Gutenberg's time the city of Prague was famous for its manufactures and mechanical inventions. In the books of the university several Gutenbergs are entered, and among them is John, who may reasonably be supposed to be our inventor. After the failure of his first printing press he seems to have returned to Prague for the purpose of improving himself in mechanical invention. But the history of his first printing press is interesting. He hired a room in Strassburg and proceeded to carry out his idea of multiplying block books by means of movable wooden type. These books were very numerous and in great demand, and Gutenberg's intention was to manufacture them in considerable quantity for sale at the approaching septennial fair at Aix-la-Chapelle. In order to conceal his purpose when his employment was inquired into he took advantage of a double meaning and said that he was manufacturing mirrors or looking glasses for sale at the fair, some of the block books being known as specula, such as the "Speculum Salvationis." Gutenberg borrowed money of a family named Dritzehn, and one of them entered into partnership with him.

At first Gutenberg taught the art of cutting and polishing gems, but Dritzehn and a friend of his, one Helmann, noticed that he worked in secret at some other art, but before Gutenberg would reveal it he required fresh terms, which were granted. The affairs of the partnership did not proceed well. Dritzehn died, and his relations in 1439 brought an action against Gutenberg for the recovery of the money advanced by them.

Gutenberg attempted to form his type by casting, but the casts were not sharp enough for printing. He consulted a worker in metals (Faust of Mayence), who at once saw the value of the invention and advanced money to Gutenberg on the strength of it. Faust's apprentice, Peter Schoeffer, overcame the difficulty, and his master made him his partner and son-in-law, and the two men, ignoring Gutenberg, appropriated his invention and thus obtained fame and wealth.—Notes and Queries.

Dying Thoughts of a Cowboy.

One day a party of townspeople were camping in the hills beside a raging river till it should be safe to cross. They saw a rough man struggling midstream with a very small chance of ever reaching shore. It was an exhausting time even for those who helplessly looked on. When the man at last saved himself and had been ministered unto, the psychologist of the party asked, "What were you thinking of while you were in such danger?"

"I thought," said the honest cowboy, "that I had $100 to my credit and did not want to die with all that money unspent."

Whereupon he forsook his job, gathered his little fortune, made for town and blew it all in ere thirty-six hours were past.—Boston Transcript.

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Cough Syrup, the best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Coughs, etc. Tastes good and harmless. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Disraeli's Hifalutin.

One night Mr. Disraeli was among the Churchills' guests, and an anecdote of his visit may be preserved. "I think," said Lord Randolph, discussing with his wife their party after it had broken up, "that Dizzy enjoyed himself. But how flowery and exaggerated is his language! When I asked him if he would have any more wine he replied, 'My dear Randolph, I have sipped your excellent champagne; I have drunk your good claret; I have tasted your delicious port—I will have no more.'" "Well," said Lady Randolph, laughing, "he sat next me, and I particularly remarked that he drank nothing but a little weak brandy and water."—From "Life of Randolph Churchill."

CLEAR YOUR MIND.

Get Rid of Unhealthy Thoughts and Radiate Gladness.

We should be appalled if we could see pass before us in vivid panorama the wrecks caused in a lifetime by cruel thought. A stab here, a thrust there, a malicious sarcasm, bitter irony, ungenerous criticism, a jealous, envious or revengeful thought, hatred and anger are all going out constantly from many a mind on deadly missions.

Servants have actually been made dishonest by other persons perpetually holding the suspicion that they were dishonest. This thought suggests dishonesty to the suspected perhaps for the first time and, being constantly held, takes root and grows and bears the fruit of theft. The old proverb, "If you have the name, you might as well have the game," is put into action many times. It is simply cruel to hold a suspicious thought of another until you have positive proof. That other person's mind is sacred. You have no right to invade it with your miserable thoughts and pictures of suspicion.

Many people scatter fear thoughts, doubt thoughts, failure thoughts, wherever they go, and these take root in minds that might otherwise be free from them and therefore happy, confident and successful.

Be sure that when you hold an evil, unhealthy, discordant, deadly thought toward another something is wrong in your mind.

Learn to radiate joy, not stingily, not meanly, but generously. Fling out your gladness without reserve. Shed it in the home, on the street, on the car, in the store, everywhere, as the rose sheds its beauty and gives out its fragrance. When we learn that love thoughts heal, that they carry balm to wounds, that thoughts of harmony, of beauty and of truth always uplift and ennoble, that the opposite carry death and destruction and blight everywhere, we shall learn the secret of right living.—Success.

Snakes and Eating.

Snakes in menageries often fast many months. Cases were recorded at the Paris museum of a rattlesnake which refused food twenty-six months and a python which fasted twenty-nine months. But the record belongs to a Japanese python which arrived in Paris in November, 1899. It died in April, 1902, after having refused food for two years, five months and three days. During that time its weight had decreased from seventy-five kilograms to twenty-seven.

Indignant.

It was the bailie's first day on the bench. When the first prisoner was brought before him he asked, "Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty!" replied the man promptly.

"Not guilty!" exclaimed the bailie. "Then what are ye daein' here? Tak' that man awa', polisman, an' bring in ane that is guilty, an' I'll gie him saxty days!"—London Standard.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach and digestive tract, nervous dyspepsia and catarrh of the stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.
MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

TO THE TRUSTEES OF The Greenville Christian Church.

Gentlemen:—
It's sound sense that we tell you. It will cost less dollars to paint your church with L. & M. Paint, because more painting is done with one gallon of L. & M. than with two gallons of other paints, and the L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes the L. & M. Paint wear like iron.

Any church will be given a liberal quantity free whenever they paint. 4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.

Actual cost L. & M. about $1.20 per gallon. J. E. Webb, Painter Hickory, N. C. writes, "Houses painted with L. & M. 15 years ago have not needed painting since."

WEDNESDAY MAR. 28th, 1906

When they have nothing else to do in the Philippines they get up a fight.

No doubt Russia feels that if the war could have kept on until now Japan would have been starved out.

The coal operators have got no kick about the strike of the miners, as they make the consumer pay the difference.

That Greensboro gold brick fellow has bobbed up again seeking pardon. Governor Glenn is big enough to set down on him.

As coal is to be much higher, the approach of warm weather will save the consumer having to pay the advanced price for a time at least.

Charlotte landed Judge Parker all right, but we have not seen the statement yet that former President Cleveland has accepted the invitation.

It is up to the man that owes poll tax for last year whether he will lose his right to vote. Failure to pay the tax before May will deprive him of this right.

One man don't want The Reflector to forget the thoroughfare to the depot because building and loan association is so much in mind now. That thoroughfare will be kept in mind.

The continued bad weather is giving business generally a black eye. The year is nearly one fourth gone and so far there has been very little opportunity for work. The farmers are badly behind in crop preparations.

The Wilmington Star hardly looks like its former self, but its improved appearance is delightful. To accommodate its growing business the Star has enlarged to eight pages. A new press and equipment are among its recent appliances. It grows better and brighter with age.

The Washington Post expresses the belief that the country will get 16 to 1 from the Republican party as quick as it will get the tariff reform. It depends. The Republican party once opposed the gold standard, but when it found out which way the cat was jumping, it jumped with t.—Greensboro Record.

A discouraged editor in a fit of desperation dashed off the following: "The wind bloweth the water floweth the farmer soweth and the subscriber oweth and the Lord knoweth that we are in need of our dues. So come a runnin' ere we go agunnin'; this thing of dunnin' gives us the blues."—Exchange.

WINTERVILLE NOTES

Interesting Items from Our Hustling Neighbor.

WINTERVILLE, N. C. Mar. 28, 1906.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, of Greenville, was in town Tuesday night. R. H. Hunsucker and R. T. Cox went to Ayden Tuesday night.

L. A. Hobgood was in town Tuesday morning.

Buck Bland spent Tuesday night with C. S. Smith.

J. R. Smith, of Ayden, was in town Tuesday morning.

Rev. T. H. King filled his regular appointment here Sunday, and preached excellent sermons morning and evening.

Do not forget the date, Friday night, March 30th, in the Winterville High School chapel a public debate will be given. Let every body come and bring some one with them.

Miss Georgie Joyner returned from Ayden Monday morning after spending Saturday and Sunday there with her friends.

Miss Mimie Cox is spending a few days in the country this week near Ayden. Guess we will know for what reason later.

B. K. Russell returned from Kinston Monday.

Rev. T. H. King and T. F. Taylor went to Hopewell Sunday afternoon, where Mr. King preached an excellent sermon to the people out there.

Rapid progress is being made in the residence of Mr. A. G. Cox in South Winterville. You can hear the noise of the carpenters now in Winterville in nearly every direction.

Joshua Manning made a business trip this week to Shelmerdine and surrounding vicinity.

Mr. J. D. Cox went to Shelmerdine Tuesday evening.

Misses Ida Mooring and Aley Moore spent a few days this week visiting their sisters, who are in school, and also their many other friends here, as they are former students of the Winterville High School, and have many friends here.

Miss Mamie Ives, who has been teaching at Oak City, came down Saturday evening and spent a day or so with Miss Addie Cox, and then returned to her home in New Bern. Miss Mamie will soon return to Martin county to teach again. She is well prepared for the work and makes an excellent teacher. She is a former student of the Winterville High School, and she is wished much success by her many friends here.

The Shortest Names.

Many years ago there was a shop kept in the Rue de Louvain, in Brussels, by Therese O, and there is a Mme. O living with her two children at Molenbeck, a suburb of the Belgian capital, according to the Buffalo Commercial. In the Rue de l'Angle, in the same commune, lives a Mr. O (with a circumflex accent), who is no relative of Mme. O. In 1866 among the Belgian recruits was a young man named O, who could not write and signed his name with a cross, yet he could so easily have learned to write his own name! In the department of Somme there is a village called Y, in the Zuyder zee there is a bay called Y and Amsterdam has the river Y. In the Chinese province of Honan there is a city called U, and in France there is a river and in Sweden a town rejoicing in the name of A.

He Got a "Yes."

Young Bleeter made a bet that he would pop the question to the haughty Miss de Vere and get "Yes" as his answer. He won his bet. "And when is the wedding to be?" asked the loser. "Oh," said Bleeter as he pocketed the money, "there isn't going to be any wedding. The question I put to Miss de Vere was, 'Would you rather remain single than accept me?'"

C-L-O-T-H-E-S

Every man and boy of taste desires to be well dressed upon EASTER above all days of the year. And to every such man, well fitting clothes add much to his general appearance. No Clothes made to day are so popular as the "GRIFFON BRAND" with men of recognized taste in matters of dress. The Styles are here, the Prices are here. Our Suits at $12.50, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00 and $22.00 have that air of superiety that suggests custom made. There's the same good values to be found in the Boys Department.

SOUTHERN CHIVALRY.

Many stories have been told of Southern chivalry, but the palm appears to go to a story told by a former governor of Kentucky while visiting in this city recently.

According to the narrator a genuine Kentucky colonel boarded a street car, which was very crowded, and somehow he stepped on the foot of a very pretty woman. Of course the woman expected the colonel to apologize just as did everybody else who heard her give a mouse-like squeal when the colonel's foot came down.

And she looked as though she expected an apology, but the colonel, divining her thought, doffed his hat and said: "Now, madam, I'm not going to apologize. When the good Lord was so gracious as to make women so beautiful and charming and with such wonderfully small feet that a man has to tramp on them to find them, then I don't think that an apology—"

The compliment was too graceful for the woman to resist, and all that followed was a smiling acknowledgment of the colonel's gallant speech. — Philadelphia Record.

NAMING RACE HORSES.

Many Turf Performers Called After People in Every Walk of Life.

From statistics compiled here is gleaned the interesting fact that many great turf performers have been oddly named for people in every walk of life. The best horse ever named for a policeman was Inspector B., a very brilliant race horse and famed in the stallion ranks as the sire of Endurance by Right. He was named as a compliment to Thomas Byrnes, who was then inspector of police in New York. The best horse ever named for a governor was Luke Blackburn, and Senator Bland was the best horse ever named for a United States senator. Hugh Penny won more races than any horse ever named for a jockey. The mighty Domino, the largest winning horse in American turf history, received his name from his color, being a black horse, and, as a consequence, was so called for the masquerade costume instead of the popular game, as many supposed.

Daily American and Enquirer were the best horses ever named for newspapers, and David Garrick was the most brilliant race horse that ever bore the name of an actor. Butterflies, the Futurity winner of 1894, was the best performer ever named for a play in this country, and Drake Carter was the most sensational horse ever named for a doctor. Iroquois, the only American bred winner of the English Derby and St. Leger, stands as the greatest performer ever named for an Indian chief, and Boston was by long odds the best horse ever named for a game of cards.

Lexington was the greatest horse ever named for a city or town and Kentucky the best horse named for a state. George Kinney and Joe Cotton were the two best horses ever named for men in the sporting class, and the noted Cleopatra was the best mare ever given a name in honor of a nun. Senator J. C. S. Blackburn had two horses named for him. One, a very high priced yearling, left the turf a maiden, while Joe Blackburn, by St. Martin, was a fairly good horse, winning twelve races during his career.—Kansas City Star.

Cleaning an Old Clock.

Have any of our readers a clock they value that seems to be near the end of its career of usefulness? Does it skip a beat now and then, and when it begins to strike seem to be in pain? Let me tell you what to do. Take a bit of cotton batting the size of a hen's egg, dip it in kerosene and place it on the floor of the clock, in the corner, shut the door of the clock and wait three or four days. Your clock will be like a new one—skip no more, it will strike as of old, and as you look inside you will find the cotton batting black with dust. The fumes of the oil loosen the particles of dust, and they fall, thus cleaning the clock. I have tried it with success.

CINDERELLA.

Her Story is Very Ancient and is in Sacred Hindoo Books.

The story of Cinderella is substantially the same as that told of Rhodopis and Psammitichus by Elian, who lived in Rome in the third century of the Christian era. The story as told by Elian is that while Rhodopis was bathing an eagle carried away one of her sandals and dropped it near the feet of Psammitichus, king of Egypt, who, like Cinderella's prince, was struck by its diminutive size, caused the maiden to be sought for and married her when found. Make the sandal a glass slipper and add the ugly sisters for the sake of contrast, and the stories are much the same. The glass slipper, by the way, is an acknowledged fiction, being in reality a mistranslation of "pantoufle en vair" (a fur slipper), and not "en verre."

This at all events is what is claimed by Perrault in his "Contes de Fees." Both these stories have doubtless a common origin, but it is necessary to go farther back in the history of literature to find it—to a people who lived in a period compared with which that of even Elian is quite modern. It is in the Vedas, the four sacred books of the Hindoos, that the origin is to be found.

After what has already been said it will not be surprising to learn that Cinderella is a dawn maiden, her sisters being the powers of darkness, who compel her to wait upon them, keeping her hidden from sight. The dawn maiden breaks from her bonds and captivates the sun, remaining with him for a time. But she cannot linger with him in the heavens. She can remain only until a certain hour. Once she lingers too long and, hurrying back, leaves on the path she has taken a token of her visit in the form of a fleecy cloud, which had borne her aloft when she left the regions of darkness. The sun, determined to find her, sends out his emissaries (the rays of light), but does not find her until she appears before him as the evening twilight. In the Vedas the prince is called Mitra, which is one of the names given to the sun.—London Globe.

A Frank Opinion.

A playwright was discussing a rather tiresome drama.

"It was such a drama," he said, "that a French playwright read before a committee of the French Society of Comedy.

"As the author plodded through his second act he heard an odd sound and looked up to see a man asleep and breathing heavily.

He frowned.
"Monsieur," he said; "monsieur, wake up. Please remember, monsieur, that I am reading this play to the committee in order to get its opinion. How can a man who is asleep give an opinion?"

"But the other answered gravely: "Sleep is an opinion."

ANIMAL STORIES.

Some of the Views and Superstitions of the Ancients.

The knowledge of animals and their habits which existed among the ancient Greeks and Romans was most fantastic.

Among other snakes described in the ancient natural histories, for example, was the basilisk, which Pliny called the "king of serpents." According to the description, it was six feet long, wore a white crest on its head and had a skin spotted with white. Such was the abundance of its venom, according to these reports, that it made the body shine all over. The air was poisoned where this vile reptile passed, and great plants were envenomed with its subtle and luminous fluid, while the birds in turn fell before the odor exhaled by the trees. But this monster was an easy prey to the weasel. The dragon was the largest of serpents and inhabited especially Ethiopia and Egypt. When he flew out of his cavern he furred the air with such violence that it gleamed with fire. His mouth was small, and it was not the wounds which it inflicted which made him so formidable, but the strangling power of his tail, which was capable of destroying even elephants.

It is interesting to notice that the mythical dragon was already evolving toward the boa constrictor. The real siren lived in Arabia and "was a sort of white serpent which ran so marvelously that most men say it flew."

Most of the facts which are recorded concerning birds are more accurate, for the sport of falconry only made men observers of their habits. Still there are a few strange myths concerning the eagle. He was said to seize his young in his talons and to make them fix their eyes on the burning rays of the sun. Those alone that could gaze without flinching were kept and nourished as worthy of life. "This is not cruelty," says the simple writer, "but judgment." The eagle had the power of renewing youth. Mounting higher and higher, till his plumes were burned by the sun, he fell into a fountain, where he bathed three times and was thoroughly rejuvenated.

The habits of the ostrich, an old book said, were regulated by a star named Virgil. When the star began to rise the astute bird laid its eggs, covered them with sand and left their hatching to the sun. Another remarkable thing was the influence which the chanticleer exercised over the king of beasts. His shrill crow put him in full flight—even Pliny says so—but to do this his plumage had to be pure white.

Infantile Reasoning.

The process of the youthful mind when it gets to logical deduction is apt to be fearful and wonderful, and the adult intellect is not always easily able to follow.

At a kindergarten class the teacher asked her pupils to give an example of a cylinder from some object which they had at home.

"Asparagus," one small boy responded very promptly.

"My mother had rhubarb," another said briskly, thus catching at half the cylinder idea and yet improving an opportunity to boast of something which his family enjoyed.

The third, overcome by the connection of ideas on the culinary side, lost sight of the original proposition altogether and cried out with the air of one who is not to be beaten:

"Well, my mother's going to make some root beer anyway!"

Of More Importance.

The shade of our great George Washington was again on earth. Naturally he was interviewed by the leading newspaper men.

"And if you were on earth now would you be cutting down cherry trees?" asked one.

"No," responded the great man. "If I were on earth in flesh I would be cutting down the salaries of politicians and appropriation bills."—St. Louis Republic.

At Short Range.

"It must be awful," said the typewriter boarder with the pompadour, "to be deceived by a false marriage."

"Well, I don't suppose it's any worse than being deceived by a real one," rejoined the landlady.

And her husband continued to give a correct imitation of a man trying to read a newspaper.
