A LITTLE BOY'S CONSCIENCE.

There was once a dear little, queer little boy
With a mother kind and true,
Who tried to impress on this dear little man,
That doing right was the very best plan.
In the wisest way she knew.

She told this dear little, queer little boy
Of the conscience that dwelt within
That would pain him when he had been unkind.

And throb and ache, when he did not mind
Her warnings, and keep from sin.

One day this dear little, queer little boy
Watched his mother out of sight,
Then he ate a mince pie out of its shell,
Two-thirds of a cake, and a glass of ale,
Though he knew it was not right.

Then soon the dear little, queer little boy
Felt sad, O, very sad,
And he cried, "Bring the ginger, hurry quick
For my conscience hurts me so bad."

MAN AT THE PLOW.

Just a thought in recognition of a fellow who seldom gets into the newspapers. He doesn't make much news. He knows mighty little about the "city ways" of making money. He has a fine liking for clean financial methods and a hearty scorn for all that is crooked. Perhaps it is his manner of living that makes him want to be honest. Let that man see a problem play, one of those things that serves to satisfy the jaded appetite of metropolitan people, and you'll find a splash of red on his tanned cheek, and he will wonder how it is possible for women to be present. Tell him about bribery and stock jobbing and franchise-stealing and a few of the thousand forms of gouging the public and you will jar his faith in the natural goodness of humanity.

Just now this type of good American citizen is following a plow. It is hard work. It puts a big ache in the back and callous on the hands. It destroys the complexion. It calls for brown overalls and perspiration. The man is happy in his work. He whistles as he trudges along in the furrow. He clucks to the horse and finds joy in the freedom of his life. He doesn't go into raptures over green fields and singing brooks and songs of birds. They are a routine; but he loves them just the same. But he feeds the world. He makes existence possible. He is the head of the procession in which are marching the doctor, the lawyer, the banker, the idler. He is the fountain head of wealth and prosperity. He is the creditor of humanity.—Atlanta Journal.

"Can you name any Southern men who would make good Presidents?" asked a newspaper man of a well-posted man. "Yes, I know of quite a number: Governor Heyward, of South Carolina; Dr. Paul Barringer, of Charlottesville, Va.; Dr. George T. Winston, of Raleigh; D. A. Tompkins, of Charlotte; Hoke Smith, of Atlanta; former Governor Montague, of Virginia; Hon. Charles B. Aycock, of Goldsboro, and plenty of others. It is erroneous for our own people to think that we could not shine as we did in the days of Southern Presidents. We have the men if they only could get there. The people run this country. The President should be a manager of great affairs, and the South has such men."—Charlotte Observer.

WORK FOR YOUR ROUTE.

Have You 2,000 Pieces a Month?

Beginning on the first mail day in April, which is next Monday, the rural carriers will begin to count the pieces of mail they carry. This count is made under instructions from the department and will cover the three months of April, May and June. Those carriers who average 2,000 pieces or more a month will be continued and those who fall under 2,000 pieces may have the service on their routes reduced to three times a week or less; and some routes, where the service is not appreciated, may be cut out altogether.

We hope that not a single route in Pitt county will have to be cut down or discontinued because of not coming up to required number of pieces of mail handled, and none will be if the people along the routes interest themselves in it. The Daily Reflector goes out six times a week and every daily subscriber on a route means 26 pieces of mail a month. Since the agitation began one country route has increased from four to twenty daily subscribers, and other routes have had good increase.

While the carriers are counting the pieces of mail handled let every patron of every route do his best to get his neighbors to take more papers. Four new subscribers to The Reflector entitles the person sending them in to his own paper free, and in addition to that there will be a prize to the one sending in the most names by April 15th.

His Prize.

A Pittsburg widower, while away from home on a business trip met and married a lady who, though famed for her goodness of heart, would be spoken of even by her friends as "plain." The man believed that she would be a kind mother to his two children, however, and as she was also possessed of a fair amount of this world's goods, was not inclined to expect the beauty of the peach in a potato.

After his marriage he telegraphed to the children.

"Have won a prize. Am married. Will be home tomorrow."

When the bride and groom arrived the children were watching at the door, and at sight of their future mother gave a little gasp of consternation.

The second child, a boy, nudged his sister and whispered:

"Say, Nell, that must have been the consolation prize that pa got!"—Harper's Weekly.

THE WEATHER

Rain tonight, colder in extreme western portion, warmer in southeastern portion. Friday fair in western, rain in eastern portion, colder.

Another Lot Deal.

J. B. White has purchased the southern half of the Methodist church lot, on Greene street, and will build a residence there.

Test of Grace on Rollers.

The skating rink Friday night will test the grace of the lady skaters. The most graceful will get a free ticket for a week's skating. There will no doubt be a large number of both skaters and spectators present.

FORBES-ANDERSON.

A Quiet Home Marriage.

At 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of the bride in South Greenville, two of our popular young people were married, Rev. J. A. Hornaday of the Methodist church officiating. It being a quiet home wedding only a few friends were present.

As the soft strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were rendered by Miss Rosa Hooker, Mr. Charles Heber Forbes and Miss Lena Anderson entered the parlor and were made man and wife in a most solemn and impressive manner. The bride was tastefully gowned in spotless white silk.

A large circle of friends wish the couple every joy in life.

COXVILLE ITEMS.

Coxville, N. C., March 28, 1906

Sunday was a very disagreeable day and many were disappointed as it prevented them from attending church.

Mrs. C. A. Tucker, who lives near Greenville, has been down on a visit to her father, Arch Cox.

Miss Maggie Wilson, of Centerville, is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. C. C. Cox.

Miss Eva Stokes, of Stokesboro, is visiting her brother, C. L. Stokes.

Miss Kate Chapman, who has been teaching at Gardner's X Road, has returned to her home in Winterville. Her school closed Friday.

Misses Lizzie Burney and Lydia Chapman spent Wednesday night with Miss Lillie Corey.

C. L. and J. G. Stokes went to Ayden today.

A. L. Tripp, of Ayden, passed through this section Friday, representing the Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Miss Verna Causey, of Vanceboro, is spending the week with Miss Lillie Corey.

The Ayden Lumber Co. have been hauling right much fertilizers the past week for the farmers of this community.

Miss Annie Henderson, of Camden county, is spending sometime with her sister, Mrs. Umphlett, at the camps.

Frank Stokes and Marshall Anderson were visitors at N. B. Corey's Sunday.

Claud Burney and Herbert Corey went to Ayden today.

C. L. Stokes is having a phone put in at his store.

Prof. Ragsdale To Respond.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, superintendent of public schools of Pitt, has accepted an invitation to deliver the response to the address of welcome to the Teachers' Assembly, which meets in Raleigh June 12-15th, the welcome address to be made by Mr. Joseph G. Brown. Mr. Ragsdale is an eloquent speaker, and his reply to Mr. Brown's address, which is sure to be a gem, will be a bright and happy one.—Raleigh News and Observer.

County Commissioners will meet next Monday.

Knights of Pythias meet tonight.

GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings of Interest Over the Country.

New York, March 28.—Brodie L. Duke, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer of Durham, N. C., today obtained a decree of absolute divorce from his wife, Alice Webb Duke, whom he married in this city December 19, 1904.

Johnstown, Pa. March 28.—The fire which broke out in the business section of this city shortly after last midnight destroyed four large business structures and caused a loss of over half million of dollars. Wm. Campbell, a fireman was caught under a falling wall and probably fatally injured.

New York, March 28.—Mrs. Emiline Rigen, and aged feeble woman who conducted a little milliner store in Jersey City, lost her life today in an effort to save her money when the store caught fire. A fireman who entered the blazing store found the lifeless body of Mrs. Rigen lying on the counter with one hand in the cash drawer.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28.—An explosion of benzine today resulted in a fire which wiped out the main portion of the Roman Catholic church of St. Francis Xavier, and destroyed the hat factory of Henry H. Roelofs and Company, at 24th and Green streets, entailing an estimated loss of $20,000 on the factory and $100,000 on the church edifice, partly covered by insurance.

St. Paul, Minn. March 28.—Six men were murdered in Minneapolis in a fight at midnight on Tenth avenue, South. Following the fight, eight men ran from a building, and the police thought that the fight was over, and that all had escaped. This morning, in a room in the place, four bodies were found, and later, in the basement, two more bodies were discovered, all terribly cut with knives. There is no trace of the murderers.

Norfolk, Va., March 28.—Capt. E. W. Jones, of the Virginia National Guard, convicted of the murder of Maud Cameron Robinson, formerly of Selma, N. C., whose head it was alleged he almost severed with a razor which he afterwards used in cutting his own throat, was today taken to Richmond to begin his prison sentence of eighteen years. His dishonorable dismissal by Governor Swanson from the military service of the State reached here several days ago.

Atlanta, Ga., March 28.—Corporal Tanner speaking yesterday for the union soldier and General Carr speaking today for the Confederate soldier carried the convention of the Blue and Grey off its feet. Both spoke to standing room only. Mrs. John B. Gordon left her seat to congratulate each. These were two superb efforts. General Carr has already been invited to speak his address on the anniversary of the U. S. G and Army Post of Brooklyn, N. Y., in April. The convention is an astonishing success. The greatest enthusiasm and good will prevails.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Salisbury has closed a date with Nordica.

A 13-year-old boy robbed the postoffice at Olin and was sent to jail.

Courty Treasurer Paschal Lunsford, of Durham county, aged 60 years, died Tuesday night. He had been treasurer for 20 years.

Raeford, N. C., March 28.—Miss Jeanet Mayo, a school girl attending the institute from near Tarboro, died of the measles and heart failure.

After an illness that came suddenly and which quickly ended life, young Douglass Oids, son of Col. Fred A. Oids, died yesterday morning at Southern Pines where he had been taken for treatment.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Wilmington, N. C., March 28.—Because he laughed in his mother's face while she was in court testifying that he had cursed and abused her outrageously on the day before, Justice Bornemann placed a fine of $25 and costs upon Robert Smith, a colored youth. In default of the fine, Smith went to the roads for thirty days.

Attorney General Moody ought to be thankful that he escaped getting indicted himself.

REAL SEA SERPENTS.

Giant Ribbon Fish With Red Plumes and Heavy Manes.

An interesting form of the sea serpent is the so called ribbon fish, several specimens of which the writer has seen on the shores of Santa Catalina island. This creature is one of the most beautiful of all fishes. It resembles a white or silver ribbon slashed with black. A long fin extends its entire length, and over the head form a number of plumes or pompons of a vivid red that in long specimens might easily be taken for a mane waving to and fro.

That this delicate ribbon fish attains a very large size is generally believed, as good sized specimens have been captured. Some years ago a fisherman was hauling a net on the coast of Scotland when it was found that some heavy weight was holding the net back. Additional help was obtained, and a dozen men finally hauled in a monster fish, which was estimated to weigh 800 pounds. It was a gigantic ribbon fish, thirty feet or more in length, so long and heavy that it required the efforts of half a dozen men to carry it along the deck.

It was a veritable sea serpent, and extending from its head were tall, deep red or scarlet plumes, like fins, which formed a sort of mane, frequently described as being seen on the typical sea serpent. If these fishes attain a length of thirty feet there is no reason why they may not exceed this, and it is very possible that some of the "sea serpents" which have been observed at various times were gigantic ribbon fishes, which came up from the deep sea and moved along with undulating motion at the surface. One of the most remarkable as well as gigantic animals of the deep sea is the giant squid, a favorite tidbit of the sperm whale.

The size to which these animals grow, their strength and their hideous appearance place them on a par with many of the weird and grotesque creatures of a past age. The squid undoubtedly attains a length of nearly if not over 100 feet.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

To Make Paper Pads.

Very many persons would like to know how to pad sheets of paper so as to make tablets, but do not understand the proper composition for putting on the edges. The following recipe is vouched for by competent authority; Glue, four pounds; glycerin, two pounds; linseed oil, one-half pound; sugar, one-quarter pound; aniline dyes in sufficient quantity to color. The glue is softened by soaking it in a little cold water, then dissolved, together with the sugar, in the glycerin by aid of heat over a water bath. To this the dyes are added, after which the oil is well stirred. It is used hot. Another composition of a somewhat similar nature is prepared as follows: Glue, a pound; glycerin, four ounces; glucose sirup, about two tablespoonfuls; tannin, one-tenth of an ounce. Give the compositions an hour or more in which to dry or set before cutting or handling the pads.

Wanted Double Allowance.
An army surgeon relates the story of a soldier who had been in the hospital and kept on low diet for quite awhile. Naturally he yearned for a good square meal.

One morning the doctor found him so much better that it seemed his longing appetite could be safely gratified.

"Could you eat a small chicken today, my man?" the surgeon inquired.

"Indeed, I could, sir," eagerly responded the patient.

"And what would you like to have it stuffed with?"

"Well, sir," replied the hungry soldier, "I should like it stuffed with another."—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE PORCUPINE.

He is Noted Chiefly For His Sluggishness and Stupidity.

The porcupine can hardly be said to have a home, but he uses a hollow tree as a tenement, or even a hole among the rocks. As warm weather approaches the female produces two or three young, which are of amazing size at birth, actually larger than the newborn cubs of a bear.

Their flesh is eaten by the Indians, but has never been liked by white men. The use of the quills in ornamentation by our Indians is well known, robes, garments, mocasins, pouches, weapon cases, baskets and everything else being ornamented with them by the squaws with great skill and often with truly artistic effect; but, as usual, the earliest methods and patterns, when the Indians used their own delicate dyes and sinew threads, were much better than are seen in these days of aniline colors and crude imitations of the white man's art. The longer quills of the European porcupine are turned into fancy penholders, and in India and Malaya they weave little baskets, etc., out of them, which are often as pretty as they are strange.

Reviewing his narrow life, the strongest impression left upon one's mind seems to be that of the creature's sluggishness and stupidity. These are perhaps concomitants, if not consequences, of its strictly vegetarian life, in which its tastes are so simple that it rarely seems to have to make the least exertion for food at any season of the year, and to its highly protected condition, which makes it careless of danger, and hence unvigilant and steadily inclined to sluggishness of mind as well as of body. It is not well for an animal to be too safe or too comfortable, for its mind grows rusty with disuse, or, if it never had use, lies inert, and the whole creature exists on a low plane. I do not know an animal of the American woods that is so well off and so uninteresting as the porcupine.—New York Post.

Peace Overtures.

There was blood in the eyes of the two suburban housewives as they glared daggers at one another over the whitewashed fence.

"As for you," hissed the one in the red knit jacket, "I don't know what I could say that would be sufficiently severe. I hate you!"

"And you," retorted the one in the blue shawl, "are really not worth wasting breath over. So there!"

There was a painful pause, and then the one in the knit jacket continued:

"I would say a great deal more were it not for your sweet little baby."

"Do—do you really think he is sweet?"

"I do, and I am not backward about saying it, although I despise my mother. He is the prettiest little boy in twenty blocks."

"Then—then let's make up. Neighbors shouldn't be enemies. I'll hand you a dish of stewed prunes over the fence."—Chicago News.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

It is amusing how some folks say things and when the newspapers get hold of it say that they did not say it.

Now there is talk of a fertilizer factory for Greenville. Let it come, factories of all kinds will help make the town grow.

The President has suggested that there can be a great saving of expenditures in the government printing office by cutting off useless publications. The Congressional Record should be among the first to be discontinued. It is not worth the blank paper it is printed on.

Every farmer and business man should bear in mind that the Pitt County Branch of the Southern Cotton Association meets next Monday, and show his interest by his attendance. Taking into consideration what the association has already done for the price of cotton should bring it the support of every one who wants to see the price higher.

STATE'S S. CONVENTION.

Meeting Will Be Held in Charlotte Next Week.

In Charlotte will be the meeting next week, April 3-5, in the Second Presbyterian church of the North Carolina Sunday School Convention. This association is founded on principles that work for both good citizenship and religion and the gathering of its leaders, therefore, means much for any city in which its meetings are held. The Sunday school association is the only organization that combines all the Protestant forces of the Christian religion. The meeting to be held next week is an occasion of the deepest significance and Charlotte Christian educators accordingly.

"For Christ and Our Country" is today the rallying cry of all Sunday school workers of America. This blending of patriotism and religion is to be symbolized in the decorations. The auditoriums of the Second Presbyterian church will be beautifully decorated with American and Conquest flags. This Conquest flag has been adopted by twenty of the State Sunday school associations as the new flag of the Christian religion. The Cross is the symbol and "By This Sign We Conquer" the motto of all the churches, irrespective of creed, that are working aggressively in Christian unity.

The colors of this country have been displayed generally at all of the state Sunday school conventions, and the committee in charge of the program for next week has decided to ask the co-operation of the public in placing in conspicuous places national and Conquest flags.

BUILDING AND LOAN.

Almost Ready to Organize Association.

Though the weather has been bad this week a few names have been added every day to the list of shares for a building and loan association in Greenville. There are already enough shares taken to organize a good company, but a few more are wanted, enough to swell the list to one thousand shares. This will make an association strong enough to loan out $1,000 each month, and that will mean a great deal for Greenville in the way of building new homes.

A meeting will be called at an early day to perfect organization and it is desired to have as many shares as possible by that time. The list is at The Reflector office.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Directions For Shrinking New Flannel Before It is Made Up.

New flannel should always be shrunk or washed before it is made up, that it may cut out more accurately and that the grease which is used in manufacturing it may be extracted.

First cut off the list along the salvage edges of the whole piece. Then put it into warm (not boiling) water, without soap. Begin at one end of the piece and rub it with both hands till the other end is reached. This is to get out the grease and the blue with which new white flannel is always tinged. Then do the same through another water. Rinse it through a clean, lukewarm water, wring it lengthwise and stretch it well.

In hanging it out on a line do not suspend it in festoons, but spread it along the line straight and lengthwise. If dried in festoons the edges will be in great scallops, making it very difficult to cut out. It must be dried in the sun. When dry let it be stretched even, clapped with the hands and rolled up tightly and smoothly till wanted.

Garnish For Steaks.

Slice firm, mild flavored onions a quarter of an inch thick, lay the slices for three hours in weak salt water, rinse dry and drop in handfuls into deep fat, boiling hot, says Good Housekeeping. Watch them closely and skim out the minute they are browned and crisp. Drain on blotting paper, and either pile in a hot dish or use as a garnish. Potatoes cut lengthwise into straws, soaked and fried with the onions, help to make them among the best garnishes for a well broiled steak or good roast.

Removing Finger Rings.

When from any cause there is difficulty in slipping a ring over the finger joint pass the end of a piece of fine twine under the ring, pull an inch or so of the twine toward the hand and wind the rest of it around the finger upward nearly to the nail. Take hold of the end nearest the hand and unwind it gradually, when the ring will slide slowly off. If the experiment does not succeed the first time it should be tried again with a longer piece of string.

Toasted Bread and Bacon.

First cut the bacon thin, then cut as many slices of bread as there are pieces of bacon, leaving the bread nearly an inch larger all around than each slice of bacon. Trim off the hard crusts. Set the bread in a dripping pan, lay a slice of bacon upon each piece of bread and set in a hot oven, where it will cook in from two to six minutes. As soon as the bacon is well crisped transfer each slice to a hot plate.

To Clean Burned Dishes.

Baking dishes that become burned in the oven and plates and platters that become blackened with the food scorched upon them should not go through the tedious process of scraping. Simply put a little water and ashes in the dish and let it become warm, and the burned and discolored portions may be easily cleaned without injuring the dish.

Disinfecting a Water Cask.

Empty the cask, turn open end down and supported on one side so as to leave an opening. Place some sulphur in an old piece of iron and set fire to it and place beneath the cask. The fumes of the burning sulphur will do the disinfecting. Before using the cask again it would be well to coat the inside of the cask with fresh slacked lime.

A Laundry Hint.

Unless washed with great care black stockings will soon turn a greenish color. They should be washed with soap that is free from soda and rinsed in water to which a teaspoonful of vinegar has been added. When damp press them into shape, but do not iron, as heat tends to destroy the color.

Mildewed Linen.

Mildew can be removed from linen by a preparation of soft soap, powdered starch and salt, used in equal proportions and to which the juice of a lemon has been added. Paint both sides of the linen with this and put the linen out in the air until the stain is removed.

Soiled Linen.

When linen is much soiled or has been lying soiled too long a little pipeclay dissolved in hot water will clean it with half the amount of soap required without the pipeclay.

To Skin Tomatoes.

Instead of putting tomatoes into hot water to loosen the skin when peeling them, try rubbing the skin with the flat edge of the knife.

Kid Boots and Shoes.

A mixture of cream and ink is good for keeping kid boots or shoes in good order.

He Only Wanted the Insides.

A certain colonel's gardener was going through the woods belonging to his employer when he saw a man gathering nuts. As the colonel had given him strict orders that no one was to pick the nuts, the gardener said to the man:

"You'll have to clear out of this. I've orders to keep all these nuts for the colonel."

"It's all right," replied the man. "That's what I'm getting 'em for."

The gardener, satisfied, then passed on.

Meeting the same man a week after, he said:

"Look here! You were not getting those nuts for the colonel at all."

"I tell you I was," was the emphatic reply. "Do you think I was getting 'em for the shells? Not me."—London Mail.

THE FELLOWSHIP OF DOGS.

Always Hope For a Man Who is Fond of an Ordinary Cur.

I have seen a few wretches in my day, but I never saw one so utterly lost to decency that he could not be flattered by the friendly attentions of a strange dog. There is a great lesson in that. No matter how superior we try to seem to ourselves and others, a small voice within us will not let us wholly forget what humbings we are. In the presence of our kind we are brazen. The calm gaze of a child sometimes shakes our self confidence. The knowing look of a dog shatters it. There is something in brute psychology that perplexes the intellect of man and disorganizes his intuition. Man is so made that what he cannot understand exercises greater influence over him than that which he can. In the presence of many phenomena he reveals himself openly and quite unconsciously. He is then no longer master of the fortifications of his soul. He drops his mask—his grotesque outer garb—his brazen shield falls to the ground, and he either cowardly retreats or succumbs without resistance.

There is some hope for the man who is capable of feeling ashamed in the presence of an honorable dog. That man has avenues open to him for advancement. His soul is still fit for expansion. His brain is something more than a dried nut. His heart has not turned entirely into a thing of rubber and valves. When a strange dog greets him he thinks better of himself. Unconsciously he reasons: "Villain that I am, I am not so bad after all as I might be. You can't fool a dog, and a dog is no hypocrite. Therefore I have good in me which he recognizes." The fellow is a little surprised at himself and not a little flattered. If a noble dog shows him marked favor he becomes "stuck up" almost immediately. If several dogs should display great preference and affection for his person he would soon become unendurable to society—quite too vain for association with men. Contrariwise, should dogs bark at him generally or perchance should one bite him he would not feel himself good enough to associate with snakes, but would forthwith get himself locked up as a victim of hysterical rabies, and if he had any pathetic kinfolk at large they would at once insist upon having the dog put to death.

For my own part I have learned a great deal from dogs. If I am natural, they set me the example in early childhood. If I am faithful to a friend through his disgrace and disaster I cannot deny that a dog revealed this nobility of character to me for the first time in my life. If I have gratitude, I saw it first in a dog. If I have enterprise, he did not neglect my early lessons. If I have initiative, so had my first dog friend. If I am affectionate, so was he. If I am patient in adversity and without arrogance in affluence I could not have acquired this poise of mind better from men than from dogs. If I am watchful over weakness entrusted to my care, if I am forgetful of self in guarding my beloved, if I have the courage of my convictions, if I have any heroic instincts I could have had no better teacher than a dog. Indeed the love of dogs, their association and example have filled my life with joy.—Culturist Magazine.

"I Trust You."

"I owe my salvation to three words you spoke," he wrote. "When all the world was against me you said, 'I trust you.'"

If every boy or girl who has made mistakes and gone astray could have such a friend a great many of them would return to a normal life. The feeling that somebody believes in us, trusts us—no matter what others believe or say—touches the heart. Criminals are sometimes totally reformed through the consciousness that somebody still believes in them, no matter how low they may have fallen. Could we realize how much this trust and confidence would do for a man when everything else has failed we should be more generous of our confidence in our fellows.

The American Paradise.

American women don't have large families, but they are very fond of their children. Too indulgent perhaps. America is the paradise of the young of both sexes and of women of all ages.—Mrs. Craigie in a London Interview.

If work ever degrades or kills,
it is mighty seldom. Fear of it probably kills more than the work itself. The want of it has killed many more than either.
The need of it to keep mind and body in order has debased more than all the rest combined.
Drudgery may kill. Overwork may kill. But wholesome work that has the heart in it is the best tonic that there is and the best blessing the world has ever known.—Buffalo Times.

Hated Be Forced Out of Jail.

Ever since the establishment of jails there has seemed to be a unanimous desire to keep on the outside of them, but Surry county has an exception to the rule in the person of Thomas Venable, who, when offered his liberty, actually refused to depart from the hospitality of Jailor Beamer, at Dobson.
Venable was serving a term of 30 days for contempt of court and on last Saturday Sheriff Davis received an order for his release. But Venable refused to "budge an inch," declaring that he wanted to fully understand the matter before going out into the cold and cheerless world. However, the same strong arm of the law that incarcerated him lanced him outside of prison bars.—Mt. Airy Leader

Change the Schedule.

A petition is being signed by nearly all our business men with those of Greenville, Grifton and other points, asking the Atlantic Coast Line to change the schedule of train No. 59 so that it will make connection at Hobgood with the train from Norfolk. This would enable people from Kinston and all intermediate points to go to Norfolk and other points this side and return the same day. Surely this would be a great advantage and we trust the change will be made.—Ayden Baptist.
