MUST STAND FOR SOMETHING PEOPLE BELIEVE IN.

First of all, let a man stand for something the people believe in—then it matters little whether he hail from New York, Nebraska or Texas.

If there is one thing more than another in Mr. Parker's address worth remembering, it is the sentence that "no attempt on our part to enter into competition with the Republican party can hope to command success or so restore character to our party that it may again attain power." If Judge Parker had tried to give in one sentence the cause of his own humiliating defeat, he could not have succeeded better. Trying to court the favor of the corporation element, standing for no definite, vital policy, it looked as if he were trying to make the Democratic party an insipid imitation of the Republican—and the result everybody knows. Now, however, if Mr. Roosevelt is beaten by the Hanna-Aldrich element, in his own party, the independent vote next time will almost certainly turn to the Democratic party. Then with a candidate, neither so colorless as Parker nor so radical as Hearst, whether he came from the South or the North, there would be a chance for that party success about which Judge Parker is so strangely supposed to be qualified to speak.—Progressive Farmer.

BETTER BE CAREFUL.

The expressions of Theodore Price, the great cotton man of New York, about the coming cotton crop, may prove to be a hurtful influence. He has given it out as his opinion that the world will need from this year's cotton crop in the South twelve million bales. This declaration following the final report of the Census Bureau that the present crop was less than eleven million bales, may have a tendency to cause farmers to be a little more liberal in their cotton acreage. But this should not be the case. Acreage should be held down below what it was in 1904; and if this is done and there should be a good demand for a 12,000,000 bale crop, the price will be all the higher next fall and the cotton farmer all the more independent for his small crop. Hold down the acreage, no matter what Mr. Price says.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Rockefeller's income is $55.63 every minute of the year. It is equal to a tax of 33 1-3 cents per annum on every man, woman and child in the United States. And it was derived mainly by illegal tax on all consumers of oil through unlawful rebates and other short cuts that sent his competitors into bankruptcy and denied them the reward of their labors.—Raleigh News and Observer.

If the town would take dirt from some of the high places on the streets and fill some of the low places with it there would be fewer mud holes.

DOINGS AT GRIFTON.

"Vanderbilt" Tells of Its Attractions, and Talks of Some Other Things.

Grifton, N. C., March 30.—Since I wrote you before I see that the general government has taken cognizance of a lynching bee in the State of Tennessee and I have given this matter a very deep thought. I said to myself, says I, can't there be a remedy for this evil? And I think I can holler "eureka," I've found it. And what do you reckon on it is? Why it's "just as easy as falling off a log." Jess so! yes sur, viz: If Judge Lynch would turn his attention to the Almighty defenders of these "human beasts" and hang a few of the slyster lawyers who go out of their way through the technical meshes of the law to build a reputation upon such cases, then we would not have many more of these occurrences by mob violence, because the delay of justice brought about by these slysters would then be done away with.

The skating rink at this place seems to be all the go for the young folks, and the old folks, big folks, little folks, and folks that is folks, who seem to be on the go pretty well—on the skates. Sometimes some fellow what thinks he has got the art down fine, gets careless and then it is the skates takes advantage of him, which causes him to suddenly make up his mind that he will pay his respects to the floor, when he finds his attention not reciprocated, and he rises up with wounded feelings, some more, some less. And if you see one of these "ole big fat fellows" walking around with a very red face, and blushing all in his hair, you may know he's been there—to the rink.

The town authorities are having a good many shade trees set out along the streets in town and now if they will mulch and water them in dry season in three years it will be a nice place for the paradise birds to perch on their leafy branches and fill the air with their melodious warblings—Selah. And then there is "suppen" else I am here to tell you about. Grifton can boast of as good, pure, healthy water as any, if not better than any other town in the State. If you don't believe it, come and stay a while and you will be convinced. You may take a bucketful from the pump on Monday morning and it will be good for Sunday following for dinner. If you don't go to the "dispense" and if you do, the water will keep a month, just for your special benefit! How you know, Vanderbilt? "Kase I bin dar." Eh, er, hush your fuss.

I think our town can sport more widows and widowers than any other "accursed" place the size of it in "Norf Carliny." We have about 500 inhabitants and every tenth one is either an old maid, or young maid, widow or widower. Now dis is nuff for dis time.

VANDERBILT.

THE WEATHER

Rain tonight, Saturday fair. Colder tonight on the coast, somewhat colder Saturday.

IS IT YOU?

Some one's selfish, some one's lazy;
Is it you?
Some one's sense of right is hazy;
Is it you?
Some folks live a life of ease,
Doing largely as they please—
Drifting idly with the breeze;
Is it you?
Some one hopes success will find him;
Is it you?
Some one looks proudly behind him;
Is it you?
Some one's full of good advice,
Seems to think it rather nice,
In a has-been's paradise—
Is it you?
Some one trusts to luck for winning;
Is it you?
Some one craves a new beginning;
Is it you?
Some one says: "I never had Such a chance as Jones' lad."
Some one's likewise quite a cad—
Is it you?
Some one's terribly mistaken;
Is it you?
Some one sadly will awaken;
Is it you?
Some one's working on the plan
That a masterful "I can",
Doesn't help to make the man—
Is it you?
Some one yet may "make a killing";
And it's you
Some one needs but to be willing,
And it's you.
Some one better set his jaw,
Cease to be a man of straw,
Get some sand into his craw—
And it's you.

CLARK-SUGG.

A Surprise Afternoon Wedding.

A 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of Col. I. A. Sugg, in South Greenville, his daughter, Miss Jessie Lee Sugg, and Mr. William Austin Clark, of Elizabethtown, were married by Rev. J. E. Ayscue.

Miss Sugg taught school at Elizabethtown, and it was there that Mr. Clark met and fell in love with her, and engagement followed courtship. After coming home from her school there last summer she did not go back to Elizabethtown to teach. On Wednesday Mr. Clark came here to see her, and the result of his visit is taking his bride home with him. The marriage took the friends of the bride by surprise, but a large circle of them extend best wishes.

Mr. Clark is Superior court clerk of Bladen county.

Sans Souci Club.

Reported for Reflector.

The Sans Souci Club was most delightfully entertained on Wednesday afternoon, March 28th, by Miss Bessie P. trick.

The meeting was called to order by the president. After discussing the business which was brought before the club, all present enjoyed an especially interesting program which had been carefully prepared. Miss Nell Skinner read a paper on the life of Whittier, after which Mrs. Haywood Dail delighted us with one of her best known selections, "Maud Muller." Mrs. Woodward read a very instructive paper on the life of Helen Hunt Jackson. After a motion was made to adjourn, the hostess served delightful refreshments.

We were very glad to have with us on this occasion as visitors Messames C. W. Harvey, R. W. King and Miss Mae Draper.

Final Rehearsal.

At the Baptist church tonight the choir will have its final rehearsal of music for the anniversary exercises Sunday. Every member of the choir is requested to be at the church by 7:30 o'clock.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

AYDEN, N. C., Mar. 30, 1906—

E. H. Hunsucker and Roy Cox, of Winterville, spent Tuesday night here.

G. M. Tucker and wife, who have been visiting here and in Greece county, left Wednesday for their home at Whitakers.

During the early hours of Tuesday morning the spirit of Mrs. Sarah Edwards, wife of Mr. E. S. Edwards, winged its flight to Him who gave it. Mrs. Edwards was an excellent lady, a consistent member of the Free Will Baptist church, and her demise is a source of serious regret to her very many friends. She leaves a husband, two daughters, one son and several grand children to whom we extend our sincerest sympathy. She was buried in Ayden cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

Mud—We see mud, we wade in mud, we dream of mud, we feel as if it is mud and if it ain't mud you may name us mud, indeed it is mud, not our name but the streets.

A. R. Holton left yesterday for a hospital in Washington, N. C.

Mrs. Cash and daughter, Miss May, went to Greenville yesterday.

Deputy Grand Chancellor Nutt, of Wilmington, is here in regard to a Pythian lodge to be instituted at this place next Tuesday evening.

A BEAUTIFUL MARRIAGE.

Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. there was solemnized in the Missionary Baptist church in this place one of the most interesting and beautiful marriages that has occurred in the recollection of our oldest inhabitants. The interior of the church had been handsomely decorated with lovely flowers, hot house plants and other paraphernalia that presented an appearance, extremely captivating and charming to the eye. All that kind hearts and loving hands could do to make the occasion a happy one were not spared toward the purpose in view.

Promptly at the hour appointed in rhythmic touch with the sweet strains of the wedding march skillfully played by Miss Alyce Taylor Rev. T. H. King took his position beneath the lovely marriage bell gracefully suspended from the ceiling above, then came the bridal party preceded by the ushers, J. R. Smith, W. C. Jackson, R. H. Hunsucker and F. G. Buhmann as follows: James Galloway with Miss Helen Quinerly, J. W. Manning with Miss Clara Jolly, Heber Mumford with Miss Mimie Cox, Raymond Turnage with Miss Helen Galloway; then came the two lovely little flower girls Misses Beulah Mumford and Isabella Dawson. The groom entered with his best man John Carroll and the bride came in with her sister, Miss Daisy Mumford, taking position immediately facing the minister, Mr. Oscar Jolly and Miss Cornelia Mumford were in a very impressive ceremony made man and wife. Immediately after the marriage the bridal party with a host of friends repaired to the home of W. J. Mumford to partake of the wedding feast and tender congratulations to the happy pair. We offer

SHOT IN THE LEG.

Man Shot While Standing on the Railroad Platform at Lake Waccamaw.

A Mr. Joyner, an engineer of this city, was shot at Lake Waccamaw last night by an unknown negro. Mr. Joyner went to the station to board the train for Wilmington and while standing on the platform he was shot. The ball struck his right leg just below the knee. The wound was painful but not at all dangerous. He got on the train and came to Wilmington. Before reaching here the hospital was notified and when the train came in the ambulance was in waiting and he was carried to the James Walker Memorial hospital where the wound was dressed. He has not the slightest idea who it was that shot him other than that it was a negro. This makes the second person who has been shot in a somewhat similar manner during the past few days and both were brought to Wilmington on the midnight train. Mr. Joyner shot at the negro but did not hit him. Wilmington Messenger

While no initials are given, the engineer referred to in the above may be Mr. B. C. Joyner, who went from here to take a position with the railroad. While his headquarters are at Pinners Point, his run often takes him to Wilmington.

The weather man actually promises fair weather tomorrow. We hope he is right.

Mr. and Mrs. Jolly our sincerest wishes for their future happiness and may sunshine and pleasure always be theirs and their whole life be as pleasant as the day on which they pledged their troth.

Rev. W. L. Bilbro, of Dover, is here on a visit to his son.

THE PLATO FAD.

A new phenomenon is about to be witnessed in English life, says the London Express. Having tried palmistry, crystal gazing, Christian Science, bridge and party politics, society is about to study Plato. A dozen or so of the leading women of the aristocracy, including the Duchess of Sutherland and the Duchess of Marlborough, have formed a committee to organize the philosophic movement, and Dr. Emil Reich, the well known historian, who lectures in the London university, is to give a series of addresses at Claridge's hotel, to be followed by discussion, in which the peeresses will take part. It is expected that this will be merely the prelude to the formation of philosophic circles in other grades of society and that the study of Plato will before long become an established feature of London life.

Too Thin.

There is a representative in congress from the west who is exceedingly thin. Being a very good natured man, this representative always takes in good part any joking reference to his slenderness. Indeed he is not averse to a jest himself in that connection, as is illustrated by an incident that occurred in a street car in Washington.

It appears that just as the car was rounding a curve a burly citizen lurched forward and sat in the congressman's lap. He recovered himself quickly and began a profuse apology, when he was interrupted by the statesman's cheery "That's all right."

"But," added the congressman plaintively, "I wish, my friend, that you'd tell me whether you thought I was painted on the seat."—Harper's Weekly.

Biggest Mill in the World.

On the banks of the Merrimac river at South Lawrence, Mass., the American Woolen company is building a mill which makes most other American buildings seem small in comparison. This one mill, is 1,900 feet—considerably over a third of a mile—in length. It has a width of 150 feet, is six stories in height and will cost $3,500,000.

This mill will give employment to 6,000 persons, and to save the time and strength of the thousands who will be employed on the upper floors escalators will be provided which will lift 4,000 of them to the fourth, fifth and sixth stories in five minutes. Engines of 10,000 horsepower will actuate the machinery, all transmission of power being by electricity.—Hartford Times.

After Two Months.

Bride—Are you sure you love me as much as ever?

Bridegroom—Perfectly. "And you will never, never love any one else?"

"Never."

"And there isn't anything you wouldn't do to make me happy?"

"Nothing—that is, of course, nothing within the bounds of reason."

"Humph! I thought so. I can see that you are getting tired of me. You've begun to reason."

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Cough Syrup, the best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Coughs, etc. Tastes good and harmless. Sold by John L. Wooten.

First Jiu Jitsu in England.

The talk of jiu jitsu in this country recalls a story told by Walpole of "a great amateur—nay, practitioner of boxing and wrestling"—who willingly imparted his knowledge to those who consulted him. A somewhat sedate peer visited the baronet one day and, walking with him in his garden, made the polite remark that he would like to see a specimen of his host's reputed skill, upon which the other "seized him suddenly from behind and threw him over his head." This is surely the earliest recorded instance of jiu jitsu in England and merited the superb reply of the wrestler to the infuriated peer: "My lord, this is a proof of my great friendship for you. This master stroke I have shown to no other person living."

CORPULENT HAMLET.

The Melancholy Dane as "Fat and Scant of Breath."

Few passages have caused more comment than the words of the queen in the fencing scene that Hamlet is "fat and scant of breath." For this Mr. Tree read "faint and scant of breath." Mr. Tree was not the first to make the suggestion. It originated with Mr. H. Wyeth of Winchester, who proposed it to Dr. Ingleby, who in turn communicated it as a fine reading to Mr. Aldis Wright, who on March 9, 1867, gave it publicity in Notes and Queries. The supposition was held on the authority of Roberts, the player, that Lowin, who was known to have acted Falstaff and King Henry VIII. and might consequently have been supposed to be inclined to corpulence, was the original Hamlet. In this case the use of the word "fat" would be justified and explained.

More recent evidence shows, however, the extreme probability that Burbadge was the first Hamlet. Burbadge himself was also stout, and might thus have justified the employment of the word. Mr. Sydney Lee, in "Dictionary of National Biography," favors the notion that "faint" should be read for "fat." Plahwe, in his "Hamlet, Prinz von Dannemark," would substitute "hot," and quotes an earlier line of the king speaking of having a chalice prepared for the combatants when they are "hot and dry." To all this I only answer that "fat" is the reading of all the folios and quartos. The safe and sensible rule at length adopted in Shakespearean criticism is that when a sentence has a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough and must be left as it stands. It is, moreover, I venture to think, the very word that Shakespeare intentionally used and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—London Spectator.

Honesty Best, After All.

Two hungry workmen on the tramp came to a village where lived a Catholic priest who was known to keep a good table.

"Mate," said one of them, "we shall get nothing there if he finds out that we are Protestants. I shall tell him I'm a Catholic."

"Do as you please," replied the other. "I shall tell the truth."

They knocked at the clergyman's door and asked for relief.

His reverence asked them, among other things, what confession they belonged to, and they replied as previously agreed. Then he bade them wait and went back into the house, returning soon afterward with a couple of plates, on one of which was roast duck and on the other a little boiled rice.

"Friend," he said, addressing the soi disant Catholic, "as it is fast day, I have nothing better to give you; but, as for you," he said, turning to the other, "being a heretic, you care nothing for fast days and may therefore eat meat."—London Mail.

FRIDAY MAR. 30th, 1906.

Though March has failed to give us much good weather April May do so.

March has been too busy giving us rain to do an over amount of blowing.

Speaker Cannon comes mighty near being the whole thing in Congress—at least thinks he is.

The fellow who kills somebody and then commits suicide at least saves his county the expense of a trial.

Of course the roads are bad, and they will be every time it rains until something is done to make them better.

If Perkins is as mean as his picture looks we are not surprised that he has been arrested on the charge of larceny.

They are arresting some of the big insurance fellows on the charge of larceny, but that does not necessarily mean conviction.

He may know his business, but we would like for Col. Ground Hog to cancel his engagements if he has any yet outstanding.

Encouraging home industries by patronizing them is one good way to help your town. How many things do you send off for that you could get here at-home?

The law requiring druggists who handle patent medicines containing a large percent of alcohol to take out government license goes in effect April 1st. No April fool about this.

Johnstown, Pa., plays in tough luck. Some years ago the town was nearly ruined and hundreds of lives lost by a flood from a breaking mill dam, and recently it has almost been swept away by fire.

That the American consuls in China are practicing corruption in office need occasion no surprise. Most of the government job holders are looking for the pickings, carrying out the idea that "public office is a public snap."

The Charlotte News thinks Asheville might discard wrestling matches and try bull fights. Morally speaking the bull fight might be no worse, but it comes under the ban of cruelty to animals. The dumb brute is driven into the fight, while the human brute goes into voluntarily. It is a little strange that refined people look on and applaud such things.

An optomist has said that the excessive rains are going to prove a blessing by making farm work so late that an over-crop of cotton can not be planted, the shortness correspondingly enhancing the price of what is made. Nothing like the old saying that everything happens for the best.

GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings of Interest Over the Country.

Lempster, N. H., March 29 — William Welch, who is said to be oldest surviving member of the union army in the civil war and the oldest member of the Masonic order in America, celebrated his 106th birthday here today.

Santa Cruz, Cal., March 29.— Henry Smith, a laborer on the Ocean Shore construction work, spilled some coal oil on his clothing while filling a tank on a steam shovel near Laguna. He went to close a furnace a few minutes later and his clothes immediately took fire, the flames enveloping his body. With great presence of mind, Smith ran for a nearby pond, into which he jumped and put out the flames.

New Orleans, March 29.—Maj. J. G. Hawkes, former commissioner of immigration of Louisiana, was run over by a street car today and killed. Maj. Hawkes distinguished himself with the Virginia Cavalry during the civil war and was one of the principal leaders in North Louisiana during reconstruction days. He was district attorney and member of the Legislature after the war.

Little Rock, Ark., March 20.—Incomplete returns from a majority of the seventy-five counties in the Democratic state primary yesterday show a lead of 2,000 for Senator James H. Berry over Governor Jefferson Davis in contest for the United States senatorship. Additional returns are awaited with great interest, as both sides are claiming a victory.

Dr. Joshua Taylor and J. J. Mason, of Washington, were here today.

Dr. J. D. Hufham, who is to deliver the historical address at the Memorial Baptist church Sunday, is expected to arrive this evening.

The New Port Sudan. Suakin, on the Red sea, has proved an unsatisfactory port and is to be superseded by a brand new rival which has been built up out of coral work and desert sand by the Egyptian authorities. The rival is Port Sudan, the latest addition to the cities of the British empire, and an enthusiast says that it is destined to be a place of magnitude and importance in the days when cotton shall have made it the New Orleans of the east. The place has hitherto been called Mersa Sheikh Barud. It is about 680 miles south of Suez and is capable of holding a dozen vessels of moderate size. The entrance is 600 feet across, and the land around is six feet above sea level.

Every man and boy of taste desires to be well dressed upon EASTER above all days of the year. And to every such man, well fitting clothes add much to his general appearance. No Clothes made to day are so popular as the "GRIFFON BRAND" with men of recognized taste in matters of dress. The Styles are here, the Prices are here. Our Suits at $12.50, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00 and $22.00 have that air of superiority that suggests custom made. There's the same good values to be found in the Boys Department.

Forehanded Boys.

It is perhaps not true that in St.
Louis when the noon whistle blew a carpenter nailing shingles on a roof left his hammer suspended in the air at the upper end of a stroke and went to lunch, but Search Light voices for the following, which is along the same line:

While the American Library association was in session a number of members went to inspect a cotton mill. They were in the card room when the whistle blew for noon and saw the card room boys put up their work as if by magic and disappear.
"Do all the boys drop their tools the instant the whistle blows?" asked one of the visitors.

"No, not all," replied the foreman.
"The more orderly have their tools put away before that time."

Born Blind.

A great criminal lawyer in New York, Mr. B., has a rich and lovely client, who is famous for her extremely haughty manner.

This noted beauty had run down a poor old woman in her auto and was arrested.

"Oh, Mr. B., do you think you will be able to get me out of this?" she asked piteously.

"Yes, indeed," said he, with a twinkle in his eye. "I'll prove conclusively to the jury that from the hour of your birth you've never been able to see any worth less than $100,000."—Harper's Weekly.

Reed's Ride "Round the Horn."

Tom Reed, accompanied by William Bryant, a well known politician in Waltham, took a Watertown branch (Fitchburg railroad) train one evening for the Watch City, where he was booked to speak at a Republican rally. It was Reed's first experience going "around the horn." Stop after stop was made, and finally the brakeman sang out: "Bleachery! Bleachery! The next station is Chemistry!"

"Say, Bill," drawled Reed, "this train is taking a regular high school course."—Boston Herald.

His Sore Spot.

The passenger who had come into the street car last found himself regarding with some interest the exceedingly red nose of the man sitting opposite. The owner of the nose also appeared to find it out, for he leaned forward presently and said, with evident irritation:

"I know what you're lookin' at."

"I beg your pardon?"

"I say I know what you're lookin' at, and it ain't what you think it is at all. It's erysipelas. And what's more, it's none of your business anyhow!"

A Curious People.

That very curious race of "web footed," short legged Papuan dwarfs, the Agaiambos, is not quite extinct. Captain Barton, an official in New Guinea, tells of a visit he paid at the end of last year: "A rumor having reached Cape Nelson that these interesting folk had all been massacred, it was gratifying to find a few of them still extant. Six males and four females were seen and examined. They averred that they have no children living, and it seems likely that in a few years the tribe will have wholly died out."

Denmark's Dead Kings.

The early kings of Denmark are pillars of the church in an unusual sense. They were entombed in the Cathedral of Roskilde, which may be called the Danish Westminster abbey, where the late King Christian was buried last month. The roof is supported by large masonry pillars, and nearly every column is the tomb of a king. The dead monarchs were walled up in them in a standing posture, and they may figuratively be said to have been holding up the church itself for centuries.

MEDICINE IN THE KITCHEN.

Experiments have shown that drugs which are now used only in formally prescribed mixtures or pills are capable of introduction into the more welcome output of the domestic kitchen. It is often difficult when a medicine has to be taken frequently and over long periods of time to be sure that the patient does not grow careless or forgetful. If, however, instead of taking his pill after his daily meals, that pill were, without altering the taste of the dish and without losing its own efficacy, combined with the patient's dinner instead of preceding or following it, the physician's orders would be more consistently carried out by connivance on the part of the cook than they are with the cooperation of the druggist. Such a relegation of the dispenser's duties to the hands of the chef can only be achieved by familiarity on the part of the medical man with the work of both his subordinates.

No Waiters, No Tips, No Delays.

Ingenious automatic restaurants have recently been introduced in Berlin. Cabinets with glass fronts line the walls, and through these glass fronts are to be seen rows and rows of little elevators, with the slots and mechanism for working them. Shelves all around on the little elevators bring up hot soups, hot roasts, cold meats, pies, sandwiches, tea, coffee—in fact, whatever is on the menu, and that is changed daily. All the customer has to do is to decide what he wants, drop his coin in the little opening and await results. In less than a minute up comes his meal, raised by electricity from the kitchen in the basement, and it comes either steaming hot or ice cold, just as ordered, and clean, fresh and sweet, with no dirty handed waiter with black cuffs and greasy napkin to take your appetite away while handing it to you.—Technical World.

Stevenson's Engravings.

It is not very generally known that Robert Louis Stevenson had artistic aspirations in more than one direction. He once while in Switzerland engraved on wood and printed a lot of crude but original and striking illustrations for certain little books which were given away to friends. The only complete set of these curious little books belongs to Mrs. Charles Fairchild of Boston. The blocks themselves are, it is believed, in the Boston museum.

Queer George Bernard Shaw.

Some one offered to send G. Bernard Shaw a box of game, but he replied that he would rather die than live at the price of bloodshed. So the anxious donor offered flowers. "Surely you must be fond of flowers, Mr. Shaw?" "So I am of children," he replied, "but I don't cut off their heads and stick them in pots about the room."

THE GYPSY MOTH.

How a Careless Frenchman's Experiments Led to Trouble.

On a certain ill omened day in 1869 a gentle breeze rippled through the streets of a quiet town in eastern Massachusetts. It left chimneys unharmed and hardly rippled a tree, yet if it had been a cyclone it could hardly have done more damage, for in a bare little frame tenement house on a side street stood Pandora's box full of troubles waiting to be spread broadcast over the land, and the breeze furnished the needed key. Presently the owner of the house and of Pandora's box, a Frenchman, known to his neighbors for his curious experiments in silk raising and for his absorption in the study of strange insects, was seen searching anxiously in the grass outside his window. People who saw him said that he seemed much disturbed at the failure of his quest. Well might he be, for he had just let loose one of the plagues of Egypt upon a fair and fertile land. He had lost "le zigsag," and the new world gained the gypsy moth.

Mr. Trouvelot, the silk grower of Medford, can hardly expect to have his name pleasantly remembered among his quondam townsmen and countrymen, but he should be given credit both for intelligence to foresee the consequences of his negligence and for the candor immediately to give notice of the danger to which the public was exposed. But his warning fell on deaf ears. No one realized that the pest, which is a nuisance rather than a danger in Europe, would gain such headway in a new home, and, freed from its hereditary enemies, was to devastate wherever it went. It would have been economy, if the future could have been foreseen, to appropriate $1,000,000 if need be to quarantine the whole neighborhood, to fell the trees, to raze the houses to the ground, to plow the fields under and leave that part of the town a desert. But no one rose to the emergency till it was too late.

An Innocent Accomplice.

Residents in a certain West End avenue block are surprised at the suddenly refractory disposition of the postman on that beat. Time was when he obligingly stopped and delivered letters to persons whom he met in the street. Nowadays all such requests are answered with a stubborn denial. About two weeks ago that neighborhood was thrilled with news of an elopement. Upon investigation it turned out that the match was made by means of a clandestine correspondence which was carried on with the postman's aid. The young man and woman in the case wrote the letters, but the postman handled at least half of them, and by allowing himself to be wheeled into giving them up to the young woman half a block away from her own door he prevented her family from finding out what was going on. The enraged parents are now denouncing him for complicity in the scheme, which accounts for his sudden reformation.—New York Post.

Mozart's Memory.

Mozart had a memory for music and for nothing else. On attending the papal mass at the Sistine chapel he was greatly impressed with the musical service and asked for a copy, but was told none could be given him, as the music was not allowed to go out. He went to the next service, listened attentively, went away and wrote down the whole from memory. When "Don Giovanni" was first performed there was not time to copy a part for the harpsichord, so Mozart conducted the entire opera, about three hours long, and played harpsichord accompaniments to the songs and choruses without a note of music to assist his memory.

The Word "Gentleman."

If the word is to be kept "for purposes of ceremony," let us be ceremonious on all occasions, and except where those we may be speaking of are behaving in plain opposition to the name let us hasten to Ascribe a virtue, if they have it not.

Thus if I were asked the time honored question:

When Adam delved and Eve span,
Who was then the "gentleman?"

I would reply: "Adam was the first 'gentleman' and remained so till the fall. But when he threw the blame on Eve he forfeited the title."
