The Ghost That Walked.

Was Mr. Irving right in his interpretation of Quin's objection to playing the Ghost in "Hamlet," because he did not like to "shiver behind," as alluding to the fact that he wore armor only in front? Would it not rather refer to the long wait behind the scenes, because the Ghost does not appear between Act I. Scene 5, and Act III., Scene 5? And thereby hangs a tale. The late John Ryder, when playing the Ghost at the Princess's would change his clothes in the interval and go out into Oxford street to buy, perhaps a bun. Kean, who was nothing if not respectable, disliked this and issued a decree that members of his company should retain their costumes during the performance of a play. Next night the door-keeper of the pit entrance was startled by a sound which reminded him of the arrival of the Commendatore at Don Giovanni's supper. In a moment he was horror-stricken to see the Ghost of Hamlet's father, armed at the point exactly, cap-a-pie, pass his wicket and vanish into Oxford street. Bus drivers and passers-by saw with amazement the armed figure cross the road and enter the public house opposite. There the sepulchral visitant, in a hollow voice, demanded a pint of stout, lifted his beaver up, drank it and stalked back to the theatre. It is said that Kean gracefully gave way after this. When even graveyards yawn, surely stage managers may wink.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Junior Order Cannot Have Orphan Home.

Winston-Salem, N. C., May 10.—State Secretary S. F. Vance today received a report from the law committee of the National Council Junior Order United American Mechanics on the amendments to the State constitution as passed at the last meeting of the North Carolina council in Salisbury last February. In its report the national committee approves article 2, section 2, making Junior Past Sattte councillor and State treasurer, members of the executive board, but disapproved and declares the amendment to article 5, section 2, increasing the per capita tax for the purpose of building and maintaining an orphan's home in the State illegal and unconstitutional. It appears that the building and maintaining of an orphan's home is unconstitutional from the fact that it is not one of the objects of the order and the members cannot be taxed to pay anything that is not in the objects of the order. The National Council has for one of its objects the building and maintaining of a national orphan's home, and can therefore tax the State councils for such purposes.

An Old Drum.

Mr. Oliver Smith brought with him to the veterans' reunion Thursday an old drum that saw service through through the civil war. With a look of much satisfaction he beat it a-coming and a-going. One man remarked "Oliver may get to heaven, but he will never be happier than he is with that drum."

ODD FELLOWS GRAND LODGE.

Establish Home for Aged Members.

The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows held an interesting session at Goldsboro this week. The principal event was the dedication of a home for aged and infirm brethren of the order, this home being in connection with the orphanage at Goldsboro.

The following officers of the Grand Lodge were elected:

Grand Master, T. M. Stevens, of Durham; deputy grand master, Perrin Busbee, of Raleigh; grand warden, H. M. Shaw, of Oxford; grand secretary, B. H. Wooddel, of Raleigh; grand treasurer, B. J. Jones, of Wilmington; trustee of the orphanage home for five years, N. J. Jacobi, of Wilmington.

The grand lodge meets next year at Elizabeth City.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings Over the State.

The report comes from Wilmington that the strawberry crop this year is fifty-per cent larger than last.

The sheriff informs us that every white man in Greene county qualified himself to vote by paying his poll tax by May 1, 1906—Greene County Standard.

The town of Salem contains to follow old customs. The commissioners of that quaint old town are advertising for bidders for the offices of chief of police, night watchman and lamp lighter.

Annihilation.

Anarchists, nihilists, red terrorists and their kind generally believe in destruction. They rebel against civilization, and would put an end to it. property, they declare, is robbery, and they would tear down and set fire to property indiscriminately. Their main dogma is dynamite, and their chief argument is the bombshell. Well, they have seen such destruction as they can never hope to accomplish—a great city laid in ashes, 300,000 people driven from their homes to starve, and hundreds of millions of the choicest valuables the hand of man can produce turned to dust and ashes. And now what gain have they in this awful carrying out of their designs? In what way are they advantaged that San Francisco has been annihilated? The terrible convulsion of nature, followed by fire, and even aided by the enforced use of dynamite—their own adopted agent of destruction—has wrought such havoc as the world has rarely witnessed, and if the extremists, revolutionists, &c., can see any profit in the disaster, either to themselves, to their alleged "cause," or to the "humanity" to which they profess devotion, it would be of some interest to learn of what they suppose this compensation consists. If they cannot show any such gain, let them hereafter hold their peace and never trouble neavous people by preaching dynamite and destruction from this time forth.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

Ayden, N. C. May 11, 1906.

The merry-go-round has departed. Before leaving however the proprietor very generally divided profits of the last night with the Knights of Pythias Lodge of this place, which amounted to $8. Our Pythian friends very highly appreciate this kindness and tender sincerest thanks.

The graded school closes its present session here tonight with an address from Prof J. B. Carlyle, of Wake Forest.

At a meeting of the new board of town commissioners Stencil Hodges was elected treasurer, and J. W. Alexander police for the current year.

The old soldiers of '61 & '65 were well represented from this point yesterday.

W. J. Boyd and W. E. Hooks two of our most progressive young men have formed a partnership for the conduct of a brokerage and insurance business. They are both wide awake and we bespeak for them success in the beginning.

The skating rink is a go, all necessary shares have been taken, lumber is now being hauled and within the next two weeks all will be complete.

A pretty young lady gave us a lovely flower one day this week. Since then we have been sporting proper and all the other girls say we are the only handsome sporting dandy in town. Oh, we get there.

Dane Cooper and Lonnie Highsmith, of Winterville, were here Wednesday.

Miss Mittie Garris has gone to Seven Springs for a short visit.

Lil Cannon is feeling bad, but the baby is progressing finely.

Dr. R. H. Phillips, of Grayson, county, Va., has located here for the practice of denistry. He is a graduate of Richmond college and has a practical experience of two years and comes among us highly recommended. Ayden and community has long needed such an acquisition and now it behoves our people to extend Dr. Phipps a liberal patronage.

E. G. Cox, J. J. Hines, Luther McLawhorn, J. J. Stroud and others from here have been attending the meeting of grand lodge of Odd Fellows in session at Goldsboro this week.

J. R. Turnage went to Greenville Wednesday.

Jesse Sugg, of Greenville, has been down this week concerning insurance.

Deputy Sheriff S. I. Dudley was here a short while Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Smith, of Winterville, is visiting her grand daughters, Mrs. F. G. Buhmann and Miss Isabella Dawson.

Rev. Z. Hinohara will lecture in the Methodist church in Ayden Tuesday evening, May 15th, 1906, at 8 p. m. His subject will be "Japan its people, its customs and its needs." Everybody invited to attend.

THE WEATHER

Fair and warmer tonight and Saturday.

PERSONAL MENTION

Of Those Going and Coming

O. L. Joyner went to Richmond this morning.

A. L. Blow went to Bethel this morning.

A. A. Andrews went to Tarboro this morning.

C. T. Munford returned from Norfolk Thursday evening.

Mrs. F. G. Whaley, of Shelmerdine, is visiting friends here.

E. E. Griffin returned from Goldsboro Thursday evening.

F. M. Hornaday and Rev. Z. Hinohara left this morning for New Bern.

Mrs. A. B. White and daughter, Mrs. J. P. Minitree, of Greensboro, came in Thursday evening to visit the former's son, H. A. White.

Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley and children, of LaGrange, came in Thursday evening to visit her mother, Mrs. Alfred Forbes.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale and B. J. Pulley went to Grifton Thursday evening to attend the closing of school, and returned this morning.

Dug Up Bones of British Soldiers.

While excavating for the foundations for the new Cramer building, in the rear of the county court house, yesterday morning, workmen dug up a skull and several bones, supposed to be the remains of British soldiers who were interred during the Revolutionary war. The court house stands on the side of the old Queen's Museum, one of the first colleges in the colonies, which General Lord Cornwallis made his headquarters during his short sojourn in the Hornet's Nest, as he termed this section.

Several human bones were dug up in excavating for the court house. The probable explanation for the discovery of the skeletons is that a number of British soldiers who were killed in the Battle of Charlotte, on Independence Square, and in skirmishes in this section, were buried in the rear of the Museum—Charlotte Observer.

Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, is critically ill at his home in Washington. He has not been in his seat in the Senate chamber for many months. Within the last few days he had a severe sinking spell and his life was despaired of. His sickness began several months ago with an attack of the grip, with every indication that it would culminate in pneumonia, but this was averted and now, it is learned, he is suffering from a complication of ailments which give no promise of his recovery.

When men get on the railroad tracks to walk, it is very probable that some of them will be killed sooner or later. Yet a good many people will use the tracks as a walkway and then if one of them should happen to get hurt the first thing that is thought about is a suit against the company. In cases of this kind we think the jury should not allow the injured party a cent of damages.—Durham Sun.

REAL SEA SERPENTS.

Giant Ribbon Fish With Red Plumes and Heavy Manes.

An interesting form of the sea serpent is the so called ribbon fish, several specimens of which the writer has seen on the shores of Santa Catalina island. This creature is one of the most beautiful of all fishes. It resembles a white or silver ribbon slashed with black. A long fin extends its entire length, and over the head form a number of plumes or pompons of a vivid red that in long specimens might easily be taken for a mane waving to and fro.

That this delicate ribbon fish attains a very large size is generally believed, as good sized specimens have been captured. Some years ago a fisherman was hauling a net on the coast of Scotland when it was found that some heavy weight was holding the net back. Additional help was obtained, and a dozen men finally hauled in a monster fish, which was estimated to weigh 800 pounds. It was a gigantic ribbon fish, thirty feet or more in length, so long and heavy that it required the efforts of half a dozen men to carry it along the deck.

It was a veritable sea serpent, and extending from its head were tall, deep red or scarlet plumes, like fins, which formed a sort of mane, frequently described as being seen on the typical sea serpent. If these fishes attain a length of thirty feet there is no reason why they may not exceed this, and it is very possible that some of the "sea serpents" which have been observed at various times were gigantic ribbon fishes, which came up from the deep sea and moved along with undulating motion at the surface. One of the most remarkable as well as gigantic animals of the deep sea is the giant squid, a favorite tidbit of the sperm whale.

The size to which these animals grow, their strength and their hideous appearance place them on a par with many of the weird and grotesque creatures of a past age. The squid undoubtedly attains a length of nearly if not over 100 feet.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

To Make Paper Pads.

Very many persons would like to know how to pad sheets of paper so as to make tablets, but do not understand the proper composition for putting on the edges. The following recipe is vouched for by competent authority: Glue, four pounds; glycerin, two pounds; linseed oil, one-half pound; sugar, one-quarter pound; aniline dyes in sufficient quantity to color. The glue is softened by soaking it in a little cold water, then dissolved, together with the sugar, in the glycerin by aid of heat over a water bath. To this the dyes are added, after which the oil is well stirred. It is used hot. Another composition of a somewhat similar nature is prepared as follows: Glue, a pound; glycerin, four ounces; glucose sirup, about two table-spoonfuls; tannin, one-tenth of an ounce. Give the compositions an hour or more in which to dry or set before cutting or handling the pads.

The New York Journal of commerce states that the fire loss in the United States and Canada during April was $237,505,150 against $11,901,350 in 1905 and $23,623,000 in 1904. The conflagration in San Francisco, causing a loss estimated at $225,000,000 or more, makes a startling record for April, and the Journal of Commerce says it will result in the bankruptcy of from 20 to 30 insurance companies.—Wil mington Star.

IN SAVINGS BANKS.

Romances That Come to Light in Their Everyday Business.

A ragged little newsboy entered a Pittsburg bank one day and boldly invaded the private office of the president.

"Say, mister," he said, "can I put some money in this bank?"

"Certainly you can," the president answered. "How much do you want to deposit?"

"A quarter!" exclaimed the youngster, pulling a handful of pennies and nickels out of his pocket. The banker took him over to the receiving teller and introduced him with all the deference that he would have shown to a millionaire.

The boy left the city soon after opening the account, but he kept adding to his deposit from time to time, and as he was naturally bright and shrewd everything he undertook prospered. He is back in Pittsburg now, the head of a successful manufacturing concern and one of the bank's most valued customers.

A year ago a proud young father out in Michigan sent $25 to open an account for his first born son, then less than a week old. "The boy'll need it some of these days," he wrote, "and we may as well begin to save for him right off." Six months later a tear dimmed letter came asking to withdraw the money to pay the little fellow's funeral expenses.

A working woman in a little town in New York sent a dollar bill in the name of her daughter, six years of age. "She'll be marrying by and by," she said, "and ought to have something to start life on." That was nearly two years ago, and almost every week since a dollar bill has been added to the account. There'll be a snug little marriage portion for the young lady some day if nothing happens.

Not long ago a woman living in Illinois sent $5, with explicit instructions not to let her "old man" know about it, as "he'd be after spending every cent of it for drink."—William S. Power in Success Magazine.

Bound in Glasgow.

This is the way books appealed to the father of Abingdon Baird, a once well known supporter of the institution known as "the turf." "I must have some books," he said when he found an empty library in the house which he had purchased in Roxburghshire. His only condition was that the volumes should be handsome and should cover in bulk so many feet of space. The bookseller suggested that half should be bound in Russia and half in Morocco. "What on earth's to hinder you from having the lot bound in Glasgow?" was Baird's response.—London Graphic.

He Struck It Wrong.

When Tommy was about ten years old he was taken to see his grandfather, who was very rich, but extremely parsimonious. One day the old gentleman asked Tommy if he had a pocketbook. Receiving a negative answer, he said: "That's too bad. If you had a pocketbook I would give you a quarter to put in it." The next time Tommy went to see his grandfather he took care to have the pocketbook. As before, he was asked if he possessed the article mentioned, and he hastily answered affirmatively, at the same time producing it. Much to his chagrin the old miser said: "Well, now, and so you have a pocketbook, have you? I was just going to give you a quarter to buy one."

FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1906

How funny the world is. It turned cold enough for fire just as soon as the coal miner's strike was declared off

The Wilmington Star shows a good bit of wit in saying "Uncle Joe" always speaks from the Canon's mouth.

The echos from Thursday's reunion express nothing but satisfaction. It was a great day and every one present had a good time.

The advance in cotton the last day or two is attributed to the occurrence of frost in much of the cotton belt which injured the prospects of the new crop.

Among other things Greenville wants is better streets and the people should get to turning that subject over in their mind. Progress should be the constant aim of the town.

We cannot see why the North should keep on hating and abusing the South about it, when it was the Northern slave trader who imported the African and sold him to the Southern planter.

Tom Dixon makes his announcement of non-church affiliation with a flourish that indicates he thinks somebody cares. We doubt if they do, for the church is not much the loser.

It has been said that in Washington City a white man is regarded almost as good as a negro. Perhaps after they get the "jim crow" law in operation on the street cars the former will feel that he is equally as good.

Commander Harding showed that he had not forgotten how to use strategy and flank the enemy when he slipped the drummer's drum out of reach. It brought a smile to the audience when Drummer Tuten was about to climb the stage after his music piece when he discovered it was being spirited away.

The Merchants Journal, of Raleigh, which has rapidly grown to prominence and success under the editorship of Norman H. Johnson, has purchased Commerce, of Atlanta, and will be known hereafter as The Merchants Journal and Commerce. The publication office will continue at Raleigh, and the same good work heretofore done for the merchants and business men may be expected.

No, Mrmie; the girl who was born in May needn't expect life to be a continual picnic.

The president greeted Congressman Blackburn very cordially and it is said even "gave him the grip" when they met, but all the same the congressman's candidates for postmaster at Greensboro and Goldsboro have not laced.

The News and Observer predicts that William Jennings Bryan will be elected president in 1908. Seems that with ourselves our Raleigh contemporary was making the same sort of prophecy in 1896.—Salisbury Post.

But you know even the weather man sometimes hits it right in his guessing, so why not wait and see if the News and Observer can make good on its prediction.

A United Democracy.

The chairman of the Democratic convention of Kansas in his address to the delegates sounded a key note that will have interest in Massachusetts and shows that a united Democracy from the East to the West and North and South is again to be an accomplished fact. "The people of Kansas," said he, "send this slogan across the Mississippi valley and over the Appalachian mountains to New England. We are for free raw material, and we are willing to give to the laborer of the east free hides in competition with our hides, because the beef trust robs us even of our hair, and then sells the balance to the eastern manufacturer at a higher and fixed price, so that the poor are shoeless. Our Republican congressmen have misrepresented us long enough. We are in favor of the old fashioned doctrine as enunciated by Samuel J. Tilden and re-enunciated by Grover Cleveland of a tariff for revenue only. The time is past when we should protect trusts and capitalistic combinations. Protection, as declared by the republican party, is now used as an aid to the rich to become richer and for the poor to become poorer." Hurrah! for the unterrified Democracy of Kansas.

Republican senators seem to dread to vote on the Smoot case, and many of them intend to repudiate the bargain made with the Mormon church by Perry Heath in 1900 which gave the Republicans the electoral vote of Utah.

What the Republicans Stand For.

The platform adopted at the late Indiana Republican state convention stands pat for "the time-honored republican doctrine of protection" and further declares that the Republican party is "the friend of the protective policy through good and evil report" and adds that it "can be trusted to make changes in tariff schedules whenever more good than evil will result." As the convention was dominated by Fairbanks and Beveridge who are ardently for the ship-subsidy steal, of course they and their henchmen stand for the plundering tariff, which allows the trusts to sell cheaper to foreigners than to our own people. They doubtless stand for the Republican a "time-honored custom" of bleeding the tariff fostered trusts and protected combines of campaign funds so as to have the chance to continue the plundering of the many for the benefit of the few. It is well known they stand for this "through good and evil report" and "can be trusted" to fool the people as long as the voters allow them to do so.

Comfortable SHIRTS

The man with a comfortable Shirt is pretty sure to be comfortable all over.

It doesn't take an expert to tell when a Shirt is comfortable, but it takes an expert to make one comfortable. It has to be roomy, well-shaped, well sewed; the sleeves aren't be too long, the collar must not be cut too low or too high.

When a man once finds a comfortable shirt, he comes back for the same brand year after year.

Some even get to know the kind of box they are packed in and won't look at the Shirts at all if they don't see the right box.

SELLING THE BEST SHIRTS

Brings us more business every season, lets us buy more Shirts and, consequently, we sell better Shirts than we did the year before.

Don't think you can duplicate anywhere the Shirts we are selling.

Charging for Announcements.
 The Greenville Reflector states that it will make charge for every announcement for political office and for all communications in the interest of individuals for any particular office. This is reasonable and correct and The Commonwealth quite agrees with The Reflector.
 As our neighbor well remarks it takes a good deal of time and work to keep up with such things during campaign seasons, and publishers of papers are entitled to remuneration for such work to the extent of the cost, at least.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Where Extremes Met.
 Veterans whose locks were whitened by the frosts of scores of winters, were much in evidence at the reunion Thursday, their faces turned to the sunset of life. The rising sun of life was also represented in the large number of babes in arms who were conspicuous by their presence. The stranger could easily infer from this company of infantry that the future of Pitt county is all right.

Yorick In Tin.
 Edwin Booth was once playing in a little country town and was billed for "Hamlet." In the grave scene instead of throwing out a skull the gravedigger threw out an old tomato can. This staggered Booth, but he determined to go ahead with his lines, and when about halfway through a shooting cracker, which had been placed in the can, exploded. This broke Booth up completely, and the curtain had to be rung down and the money refunded. It is needless to say that the gravedigger never acted in that capacity again.

How It Impressed Her.
 An old lady who, with her husband, had spent the winter in Japan was asked by one of her friends if she had heard an earthquake while there.
 "Yes, I heard one," she answered, "and rather enjoyed it, for it was the first thing that happened since John and I were married that he did not think I was to blame for."—Exchange.

THE SECURITY BOND SUIT.

Our now popular Mrs. Jane Hopkins "Security" Bond Suit originated last season in an attempt to furnish progressive dealers with a really meritorious boy's suit that can be sold at $5.00 with an unconditional guarantee of satisfaction or money back should the suit prove defective. After considerable experimenting as to fabrics, tailoring, improved features, such as

Double seats, double double knees, extra strong thread, linings waist band, etc.

We succeeded in producing a guaranteed boy's suit that is proving a tremendous success with dealers now selling it. The "security" bond suit is good because it is so thoroughly reinforced throughout. Our success of last season has encouraged us to still greater efforts, and we are determined that the future of the Mrs. Jane Hopkins "Security Bond Suit" shall be a bright one from your standpoint and ours.

A Democratic convention of Pitt county will be held at the court house in Greenville at 11 o'clock A. M. Thursday, June 14th, 1906, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the various State, Judicial and Congressional conventions.

The Democratic primaries for the purpose of selecting delegates to the county convention will be held at the various voting precincts of the respective townships of Pitt county on Saturday, the 9th day of June, 1906, at 3 o'clock P. M. At these primaries the Democratic voters of the respective townships will select delegates to the county convention to be held at Greenville on the 14th of June. Each township will be entitled to the following number of delegates, to the county convention based upon its vote for Governor for 1904, to wit:

Mr. Newhall, the bridegroom, was humbly trying to learn some of the simpler technical terms applying to feminine garb and a few of the lesser intricacies of dress-making language, but Mrs. Newman declared that he was very slow.

"I think it's a shame for Mrs. Fitz to make Elsie Gray's gown exactly like mine, when we're both brides, and she knew we'd be invited to the same places," said Mrs. Newhall on her return from a dinner party.

"Why, it looked entirely different," said the husband in his most soothing tone. "It was yellow, and yours is pink, and?"

"That's just the point," said Mrs. Newhall indignantly. "That's one of Mrs. Fitz's mean little tricks. It was exactly the same gown, only it was yellow instead of pink and chiffon instead of silk, and where mine has tucks hers has folds, and in place of my rosettes Elsie's has those loops, and where mine has the material hers has the lace, and the top of my sleeves is the bottom of hers, and?"

"Help! Help!" cried Mr. Newhall.—Youth's Companion.

A Shower of Wheat.

In the year 1696 or thereabouts it was a report in Bristol and thereabouts that it rained wheat about this Town and six or seven Miles round, and many believed it. One Mr. Cole being curious to find out the Truth of the odd Phenomenon procured several Parcels of it, and upon diligent Examination of them with magnifying Glasses, judged from the Taste, Figure, Size and Smell that they were seeds of Ivy berries, driven by a strong Wind from the Holes and Chinks of Houses, Churches and other Buildings, where Starlings and other Birds had laid or dropped them, but it is so strange that they should fall in so great Quantities in so many Places.—Cox's "Magna Britannia."

Couldn't Smell in the Dark.

An old gentleman too impatient for his hot water and a light to be brought rushed into the kitchen, seized hold of the first pan on the stove and dashed away with it to his dark room. On plunging his hands into the wash hand basin he was amazed to find that it contained something thicker and stickier than water—that he had, in fact, spoiled the first course of his dinner by trying to wash in the soup.

Boiling over with passion, he began to upbraid his wife, and on her suggesting that he might have smelled it was soup he thundered, "How in the name of fortune could I smell in the dark?"—London Answers.

How Others Got Fame and Wealth From Gutenberg's Invention.

In Gutenberg's time the city of Prague was famous for its manufactures and mechanical inventions. In the books of the university several Gutenbergs are entered, and among them is John, who may reasonably be supposed to be our inventor. After the failure of his first printing press he seems to have returned to Prague for the purpose of improving himself in mechanical invention. But the history of his first printing press is interesting. He hired a room in Strassburg and proceeded to carry out his idea of multiplying block books by means of movable wooden type. These books were very numerous and in great demand, and Gutenberg's intention was to manufacture them in considerable quantity for sale at the approaching septennial fair at Aix-la-Chapelle. In order to conceal his purpose when his employment was inquired into he took advantage of a double meaning and said that he was manufacturing mirrors or looking glasses for sale at the fair, some of the block books being known as specula, such as the "Speculum Salvationis." Gutenberg borrowed money of a family named Dritzehn, and one of them entered into partnership with him.

At first Gutenberg taught the art of cutting and polishing gems, but Dritzehn and a friend of his, one Helmann, noticed that he worked in secret at some other art, but before Gutenberg would reveal it he required fresh terms, which were granted. The affairs of the partnership did not proceed well. Dritzehn died, and his relations in 1439 brought an action against Gutenberg for the recovery of the money advanced by them.

Gutenberg attempted to form his type by casting, but the casts were not sharp enough for printing. He consulted a worker in metals (Faust of Mayence), who at once saw the value of the invention and advanced money to Gutenberg on the strength of it. Faust's apprentice, Peter Schoeffer, overcame the difficulty, and his master made him his partner and son-in-law, and the two men, ignoring Gutenberg, appropriated his invention and thus obtained fame and wealth.—Notes and Queries.

Bad For His Business.

Mick O'Fannigan of Liverpool is an Irish gentleman who pursues the humble but useful occupation of ragman, though at one time he served her majesty in foreign parts as a soldier of the line. Mick is a great orator in his way, frequently addressing local meetings, at which he generally draws upon his military experience for appropriate illustrations.

On one occasion he was endeavoring to prove that even a savage state is better than the condition of Ireland.

"Gentlemen," he exclaimed, "I saw little children out in Africa there. They had no clothes, it is true. They were naked, but they were free!"

"Bad place for a ragman, Mick!" shouted a small boy at the rear, and the orator collapsed amid the laughter of the audience.—London Telegraph.

Simple Pat.

A poor Irishman one day went to the office of an Irish bank and asked for change in gold for fourteen one pound Bank of Ireland notes. The cashier at once replied that the Cavan bank only cashed its own notes.

"Then would ye gie me Cavan notes for these?" asked the countryman in his simple way.

"Certainly," said the cashier handing the fourteen notes as desired.

The Irishman took the Cavan notes, but immediately returned them to the official, saying:

"Would ye gie me gold for these, sir?" And the cashier, caught in his own trap, was obliged to part with the money.—London Answers.

Of More Importance.

The shade of our great George Washington was again on earth. Naturally he was interviewed by the leading newspaper men.

"And if you were on earth now would you be cutting down cherry trees?" asked one.

"No," responded the great man. "If I were on earth in flesh I would be cutting down the salaries of politicians and appropriation bills."—St. Louis Republic.

Victor Hugo's Modesty.

Victor Hugo liked to be praised. Robert Harborough Sherard, author of "Twenty Years in Paris," tells how when young women from England or America came to gaze upon the master, as occasionally it was permitted them to do, the interpreter of their simple praises did not boggle matters in the least. The young ladies would say in English or American something like this: "Oh, tell Mr. Hugo that we have read his works and like them so much and that we are so pleased to see him." These seemingly encomiums would be rendered thus: "Illustrious master, these young daughters of the young republic (or of an antique monarchy, as the case might be) feel it impossible to leave Paris without laying at the feet of that genius which is the imperishable glory of France and the wonder and honor of the universe the laurel wreath of their profoundest admiration and homage."

Her Reason.

A little girl attended a distribution of prizes given by the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. She had won a book as a reward for writing the best essay on the subject given and, with the other successful children, was undergoing a viva voce examination.

"Well, my dear," said the gentleman who had given away the prizes, "can you tell me why it is cruel to dock horses' tails and trim dogs' ears?"

"Because," answered the little girl, "what God had joined together let no man put asunder."

Both of One Mind.

"Please be very careful," said the nervous lady at the hairdresser's to the attendant, who was twirling a smoking hot curling iron in her fingers preparatory to plunging it into the victim's hanging locks. "I hate to have my hair scorched."

"Oh, yes, indeed; I'm always careful," chirped the highly perfumed and pompadoured girl who was presiding over the tongs. "There's nothing worse to me than the smell of burning hair."

Ancient Grist Mills.

The city of Rome was supplied with no fewer than fourteen aqueducts, not necessarily for drinking purposes, because it always had the river, which afforded a copious flood of fresh water, but for the sake of convenience and especially to supply the baths and drive the water mills, most of which were located under Mount Janiculum. It was these water mills which made Rome a great manufacturing city. They were employed in innumerable arts, and gave rise to endless mechanical inventions and improvements. When, in the sixth century, the Goths laid siege to Rome and cut off the aqueduct water, Belisarius established a series of floating boat mills on the Tiber, which, being driven by the current, enabled the accustomed industries to be resumed. Grist mills driven by streams or the wind were common in the rural districts, the more ancient ones pounding the corn in gigantic mortars, the improved ones grinding it between revolving stones.

A Substitute For Teeth.

"I think the funniest experience I ever had," said a photographer, "was with an old lady of seventy years. She wanted a good looking picture because she'd got it into her head she wasn't going to live long and she wanted all her relatives unto her third and fourth cousin to have something by which to remember her. She couldn't bring herself to buy a set of false teeth, however, and her mouth fell in woefully without them. I was despairing of making an attractive picture of her when she suddenly produced some crusts of bread from her handbag and stuffed them into her mouth. When she'd put in enough to make her lips and cheeks fill out she explained to me rather thickly that the crusts would do just as well as false teeth. And the strangest thing was that they did do very well, and I got a good picture."

Nothing to GOOD

FOR

OUR CUSTOMERS

we are always looking for something better; always working to secure values and styles superior to other stores. when

began to sell paper patterns we began to investigate. we said to ourselves,

 THE LADIES HOME JOURNAL

Is the leading Womans Magazine. It is first class and has never done anything in a second class way. We knew that its reputation was at stake. Our investigation convinced us that the patterns are as high grade as the Magazine

Furthermore the Ladies Home Journal added a new feature which makes these patterns much more desirable than any other pattern. They furnish a Guide Chart free with each pattern. This Chart shows exactly how the pattern is to be put together. It is so comprehensive that a child can understand it. It is a boon to ladies who are inexperienced in garment cutting and garment making. Mothers advise us that by the aid of the Guard Chart furnished with each

they train their daughters to do their own sewing

But there is still another point to consider. The patterns are all new, no old styles, no ancient creations; all new, all up-to-date and perfect in fit and style, and so much more easily understood than other patterns that one trial will convince you and make you a regular customer
