FARMVILLE ITEMS.

Farmville, N. C., May, 16th. 1906

Bishop Strange preached to one of the largest congregations ever assembled in Emmanuell church Sunday night, and all enjoyed the good sermon. We only wish such a man could be with us every Sunday to awaken the town to a duty they are all so careless in. The bishop was entertained by Dr. Morrill while in town.

Miss Sophia Hart, of Tarboro, who has been visiting Mrs. J. Stanley Smith, returned home today.

Rev. A. F. Leighton filled Mr. Moore's appointment in the Christian church Sunday morning, and at night all went out to the Episcopal church.

Mrs. Lucy Moore left today for the Christian college commencement at Wilson to be present at the graduation of her daughter, Miss Rosa, one of Farmville's brightest and most lovable daughters.

Lawrence Morrill, of Snow Hill, came over and spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Sam Morrill.

The concert on Friday night by Mrs. Smith's music class was highly enjoyed by all. Every one taking part could not have done more credit to themselves and their excellent teacher than was done.

Lieutenant Governor Francis D. Winston will deliver the address for the graded school of this place on Friday night in the opera house. All are invited to attend.

A. J. Moye left today for Wilson to be present at the graduation of his daughter, Miss Mary, who has finished a vocal and literary course at A. C. College.

Mrs. John T. Thorne's music class gave a most enjoyable concert on Monday night to an appreciative audience. The recitations by Misses Martha and Lila Fields were especially enjoyed.

BANK OF GREENVILLE.

Annual Meeting of Stockholders and Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Greenville was held on the 15th in the office of the bank. The stockholders were well pleased with the statement of the cashier showing the condition of the business of the past year. After paying out the usual dividend, $5,000 was left in undivided profits from the earnings of the year. The surplus and undivided profits are now more than one and a half times as large as the capital stock.

The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year:

R. L. Davis, president.
J. A. Andrews, vice president.
James L. Little, cashier.
Walter G. Ward, assistant cashier and teller.
M. L. Turnage, bookkeeper.
Robert L. Howard, collection clerk.

Directors—J. A. Andrews, R. W. King, S. T. Hooker, J. G. Moye, R. L. Davis, O. Hooker, J. R. Moye, W. B. Wilson, J. L. Little.

The Bank of Greenville is the oldest here, is admirably managed, and stands high in the estimation of the people.

MARKETING POTATOES.

Valuable Suggestions How to Pack and Sell the Crop.

A gentleman well informed in the business of growing and selling potatoes, gives the following timely advice:

When a crop is matured and ready for market, just half the work is done. The remaining half is to house, grade, pack, sell and receive for them a fair sum of money, which is justly due every farmer that completes his part of the work, and give value received. While many men grow a crop successfully others make a failure in grading their stock, which is very important.

Herein lies the secret between success and failure, profit and loss, so grade your potatoes close, as it always pays to do so, put your number two's in a package to themselves and the number one in a package separate and apart from the culls and twos. If it pays to do a thing, it pays to do it well. If the market is firm grade them, if it is low and weak be sure and grade them, for without being packed as they should you have an elephant on your hands. You do not want any potatoes in your barrel of number ones that is smaller than a turkey egg, for if you put smaller ones in with the larger ones, they do not fill up very fast and damage the sale of the better goods. The inferior goods may be sold though it is not advisable to put them on the market as it has a tendency to lower the market on the better class. By all means do not allow them to sun-burn as they are very hard to sell at all and bring a very low price on the market.

In order to have your barrels well filled when the consumer receives them you must fill well at home, and be sure that they are well filled before letting them go. Fill your barrel half or two-thirds full and then shake well, fill up and shake again, and then fill up the third time and round it up on top so it will show up full and be full when the destination is reached. Now do not fill the barrel and give it one bounce from edge to edge and stop at that, but take hold of the top of the barrel and shake it thoroughly until the potatoes stop rattling which can be detected by a close observation while you are doing the work, for these potatoes are to be marketed in the far North and West, are thoroughly shaken before delivery, so you see it is very important that the package be well filled.

His Father Dead.

Mr. John W. Carper, aged 70 years, died Monday at his home in Wadesboro. He was father of Mr. J. L. Carper, of Greenville. The latter with his bride, went to Wadesboro after his marriage here three weeks ago, to visit his people, and was there when his father suffered a stroke of paralysis that ended in death.

leaux, and the large audience was delightfully entertained.

The annual sermon will be preached tonight by Rev. C. W. Blanchard. Thursday morning the literary address will be delivered by Hon. E. E. Hilliard. Thursday afternoon the debate by the Vance Literary Society, and Thursday evening the concert under the direction of the Philo-Altean Literary Society.

Pulp And Paper Mill.

Richmond, Va, May 14. — Richmond capitalists are interested in a project for the establishment at Roanoke Rapids, about five miles from Weldon, N. C. on the Roanoke river and on the Raleigh and Gaston railroad, of a large plant for the manufacture of pulp and paper. They control property at the point mentioned which has facilities for enormous water power. The home offices of the company are to be in this city, where, it is understood, most of the capital has been subscribed.

The stock of the company is to be put at a maximum of $150,000 and a minimum of $100,000, and it is said that $125,000 has already been subscribed. A charter is soon to be applied for.

The Girls Returned.

Mr. W. C. Hines, who left here Monday with his blood hound to help search for the two colored girls who had been lost a week in Jones county, returned Tuesday evening. He did not reach the scene, but was met by a message at Newbern advising him that the lost girls had shown up at their home. They had reappeared as suddenly as they had disappeared, leading to the supposition that information had reached them that blood hounds were to be put on their trail and they decided to return rather than be run down.

To Be Completed By May 1, 1907

The contract for the Raleigh and Paulico Sound Railroad was let a few days ago to Northern parties who will at once begin building of same, and are under contract to finish same by May 1st of next year.

The eighteen miles already built were done by the railroad company but the work moved too slowly and so the contract was placed with men who make railroad building a business.—Wilson Times.

Lanier for Register of Deeds

FELLOW VOTERS OF PITT COUNTY:

We are about to select a man for the office of register of deeds for our county for the coming term, a man who can and will serve the people of the county intelligently, and for that very important office there is not in this county a better man than Mr. J. C. Lanier, of Greenville. He is a man, whose life we know. We know him to be an industrious, sober and courteous gentleman, honest and straight forward in all his transactions. Twenty-five years of his life he has been in close touch with all the people of the county. He has for three years been a most efficient alderman for the town of Greenville, and in that office he has proven that he has all the good qualities which a public servant have. At all times he has been willing and prompt in rendering service to the public to the best of his ability, when the opportunity presented itself. He has on every occasion given of his time, his talents and his means to the support of the Democratic party, working constantly for white supremacy and good government. For register of deeds Pitt county can elect no better man than J. C. Lanier.

BLACK JACK ITEMS.

Black Jack, N. C. May 15, 1906.

Quite a number of the people from here attended church at Red Banks Sunday.

Miss Mollie and Walter Mills went to Washington Friday.

Mrs. R. J. Dixon returned Sunday from Winterville where she has been visiting friends.

A good many of our people went to Greenville on the tenth. They report a pleasant time.

Many of the farmers are plowing up and planting their cotton over again. It looks like the cotton crop will be short this year.

Mrs. J. O. Proctor, of Grimesland and Miss Jeanie Forbes, of Greenville, were here a while Tuesday evening.

Miss Maud Mauker left Saturday to spend the week with Miss Annie Hardee, near Haddock X Roads.

POPULARIZING A COIN.

If M. Poincarre, the new French minister of finance, does nothing else he will at least go down in history with the reputation of having made the exceedingly unpopular twenty-five centime nickel coin the most sought after product from the French mint. The coin has long been boycotted by shopkeepers, and it has been as hard to get rid of in Paris as foreign coppers. The other day, however, a rumor emanated from the ministry of finance that on five coins of the unpopular issue might be found the word "Rothschild" in tiny letters and that the first person who took one of these five coins to Rothschild's bank in the Rue Laffitte would receive 25,000 francs ($5,000) for it. Ten thousand francs would be paid for the second nickel, 5,000 francs for the third and fourth and 2,000 francs for the last of the five.

Why Rothschild should offer this gratuitous lottery was explained on the ground that the banker had a large stock of nickels on hand which he was anxious to get rid of as quickly as possible. Now everybody in Paris grabs every twenty-five centime nickel coin within reach, carefully examines it under a magnifying glass and then passes it on to other eager hands.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Glance Into the Future.

"Gentlemen," said the brilliant young statesman as he arose to address the senate, "a solemn duty confronts us. Thirty years ago our fathers were battling to save Niagara. We all know how futile their efforts were. Some of us can even remember when the last few drops of water trickled over that mighty precipice. I do not propose, however, to tire you with ancient history. The mill will never grind with the water that is past, and there are no heels on last year's shoes. What I desire to ask you, gentlemen, is this: Shall we permit a private corporation to blast away and use for building purposes the rock which marks the site of what was once the world's most awful cataract? Shall we?"

But noticing that several of the statesmen before him had fallen asleep, while others were beginning to be busy with their manicuring sets, he carefully pulled apart the tails of his neatly fitting frock coat and sat down. — Chicago Record-Herald.

Julia Marlowe's Throat.

Not long ago while Julia Marlowe was playing in Chicago she received a note containing a plea so startling as to be almost incredible and which was so amusing as to send her into peals of laughter. It was from a feminine vocal teacher of the Windy City, who stated that she laid great stress in her work upon the formation of the throat in both the speaking and the singing voice, holding that certain positions of the vocal cords are requisite for producing full, mellow tones. She went on to say that she had long been an ardent admirer of Miss Marlowe's voice and requested that as a special privilege she be allowed to bring her class of young lady pupils to visit the actress and let them look down her throat!—Success.

What good does it do you to eat if your stomach fails to digest the food? None. It does you harm—causes belching, sour stomach, flatulence, etc. when the stomach fails a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after each meal will digest what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by John L. Wooten.

A man would have to know an awfully lot about constitutional history to make up for not understanding baseball rules.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digester. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, and allows the stomach to rest—recooperate—grow strong again. A few doses of Kodol after meals will soon restore the stomach and digestive organs to a full performance of their functions naturally. Sold by John L. Wooten.

The Wanamaker family in Philadelphia carries a total of $3,835,000 in life insurance, probably more than any other in the world.

The original DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve fails to give satisfaction for sore sores, boils, tetter, cracked hands, etc. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles it affords almost immediate relief. It stops the pain. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Don't tie a cough or a cold up in your system by taking a remedy that binds the bowels. Take Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. It is different from all other cough syrups. It is better. It opens the bowels—expels all cold from the system, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. An ideal remedy for young and old, Children like it. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Living indoors so much during the winter creates a sort of stuffy, want-of-ozone condition in the blood and system generally. Clean up and get ready for spring. Take a few Early Risers. THE SHAPE OF THE SUN.

Professor C. L. Poor as the result of careful study of heliometer measurements confirmed by that of solar photographs makes the remarkable suggestion that the sun periodically changes its figure, being sometimes an oblate spheroid, like the earth, with its equatorial diameter exceeding the polar and sometimes a prolate spheroid, having a greater polar than equatorial diameter. His idea is that the solar globe is to be regarded as a vibrating body, having an equatorial diameter on the average slightly in excess of the polar, but changing at certain times so that the ratio of the two diameters is temporarily reversed. The period of variability, he thinks, is the same as the sun spot period. The changes of figure, if they really occur, are so small that only the most delicate observations can make them manifest, but, affecting a body of such supreme importance as the sun, they must possess much scientific interest.

Too Busy to Work.

The way to command a good price is to never cheapen one's stock in trade. At least that is the principle adopted by an Ohio justice of the peace. This gentleman, says a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger, has missed his calling. Given his opportunity, he would soon make a name among the humorists.

An attorney in a neighboring city wrote him to inquire about a judgment that had been entered against a client. He inclosed a stamp for reply. Several days later he received a postal card bearing this message:

"Your inquiry received. I beg to inform you that my time is mighty valuable just now. Corn cutting is most high here, politics is sizzling and the bass fishing is fine. If you would inclose a dollar bill it might stimulate me some. I paid $2.00 to a lawyer for answering a question, and all he said was 'No.'"

He Had Remembered.

Hiram Bobbs was absentminded. He admitted that himself. Still, even he was occasionally surprised by his own failings. One morning he reached his office unaccountably late. "Dear me!" he thought. "Where can I have been?"

The answer was not forthcoming. Hiram sat down at his desk and took out his pocket handkerchief. It was tied tightly in a knot.

"Now," he exclaimed, "what was that for? Oh, yes! Marthy told me to get my shoes soled."

With an air of resignation to the whims of womanhood he put on his hat, closed his desk, and went out to the "soled-while-you-wait" cobbler's. He went in and sat down, took off his shoes, and settled back in a chair to read his newspaper.

"What is it, Mr. Bobbs?" inquired the cobbler.

"What? Oh, er—er—er—why—oh, yes! I want my shoes soled."

"Pardon me, sir," said the cobbler, "but I finished soiling them only half an hour ago. They can't be worn out yet, sir."

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Power of the Sun Glass—Can Melt Metals.

A sun glass, you know, is a convex lens, which has the power of collecting the sun's rays into one point, called a focus. Many boys have one, using it as a toy to "set fire to things." Perhaps they do not know how great a power a large lens has. It is said that metals may be melted with one that is three feet in diameter. A similar effect may be produced with concave mirrors, so arranged as to reflect the rays that strike them to the same focus. You may have read the old story of Archimedes, who, in the year 213 B. C., set fire to the Roman fleet that was besieging Syracuse, and thereby saved the city. Buffon in modern times set fire to tarred planks at a distance of 150 feet by the use of such mirrors and melted silver at a distance of sixty feet.

Rollins has spoken after a while and called for a meeting of the Republican State executive committee at Greensboro on the 26th.

Charlotte is ready in great shape for the three day celebration of the Mecklenburg Declaration next week. It is going to be the most interesting 20th of May celebration on record.

The saloon men lining up with the prohibitionists in the night against the dispensary in Raleigh is pretty good evidence that they hope by defeating the dispensary to get their saloons open again.

Better streets, a sewerage system and electric current are three things Greenville must have to make the town grow like it ought to. In this respect we are behind other towns.

The old man's name continues to be mentioned in connection with it now and then, but former President Cleveland says that not under any circumstances will he again be a candidate.

The defeat in Rockingham county of the proposition to issue bonds for the construction of good roads throughout the county, shows how people will sometime vote directly against their best interest.

BOND ISSUE DEFEATED.

The bond issue election in Rockingham county Saturday for $300,000 for macadamizing roads was defeated by a very small majority. The good roads advocates express determination to push the measure again as soon as the law will permit. The change in favor of the bond issue the past few weeks was wonderful and its friends had hoped to give Rockingham the distinction of being the first county in the South to vote bonds for this purpose on its first trial.—Winston Sentinel.

Foreign Contributions to San Francisco Sufferers.

In declining to accept aid for San Francisco from foreign countries President Roosevelt seems to have got the worst of it. The empress of China sent her $100,000 indirectly to her representatives in the coast city, Canada sent $100,000 to the mayor and the Red Cross found its way to taking in the $50,000 offered by Japan. This goes to show that President Roosevelt does not in the least in the way, and that all foreign countries desiring to send money to San Francisco can do so.—Charlotte Chronicle.

LAWYERS' FEES

It is doubtful if the average annual income of lawyers, including all members of the profession—good, bad, and indifferent—exceeds $2,000. While a few are able to command large fees and pile up comfortable fortunes, the majority are far less fortunate. And the lower strata of the profession contain an immense number who live from hand to mouth, and many of whom are undeserving of any sort of a living in that profession, although they might be worthy of respect if engaged in occupation for which they were fitted by nature and attainments. In all professions "there is always room on top," and by the same token there is always a crowd at or near the bottom. Among the many thousands of lawyers, doctors, and clergymen whom the schools grind out every year there are not a few who have mistaken their calling. As mechanics or laborers they might have lived useful lives, and all lives that are useful, in that they contribute to the welfare of communities, are honorable. There is no way of rendering any direct service to the Creator. The only way to serve Him is to serve His creatures. Therefore, the truest and most acceptable manner of showing one's love to the Father of All is to live the kind of life and, in right spirit, to do that kind of work for which one is best fitted. It is infinitely more creditable to assist in feeding, clothing, or housing one's fellowcreatures by honest toil on the farm, in the factory, or in the store than to pocket unearned millions in stock operations.

But let us go back to our text, lawyers' fees. The New York World in its evening edition of the 11th instant states that it is understood that Mr. Hughes' fees as counsel for the Armstrong committee in the insurance investigation will be $15,000. And the World submits that "for six months' arduous legal work of incalculable benefit to the public this is certainly not excessive." The World further submits that this fee "is decidedly modest by contract with the charges of the eminent counsel arrayed against Mr. Hughes." and our contemporary adds these interesting items.

"Mr. Hornblower's bill for services in the Alexander-Hyde controversy was $45,000. Mr. Cohen charged $50,000 for similar service covering a period of five months. Mr. Joline's little bill was for $25,000. Mr. Root's was of like amount. Mr. Depeew's yearly retainer was $20,000.

"Self-depreciation cannot be truthfully alleged against any of these able attorneys. The Manhattan Fire Insurance Company receivership developed another interesting instance of large legal fees. After the $60,000 lawyers' bill was paid only $6,000 was left to the creditors. The estate of William Rice paid out $37,623 in fees, of which $125,000 was alleged to have been received by Mr. Hornblower's firm."

Everything considered, Mr. Hughes' service would have been cheap at $100,000. The State is still in his debt. It is under a new obligation to him for his example of moderation and honesty in legal charges.

There are thousands of men yet living and in the enjoyment of adequate fortunes who can remember when great lawyers worked for less than a tenth of the average fee of lawyers of equal ability in the twentieth century. Has the upward trend of fees been accompanied by a corresponding increase of capacity for useful services?—Washington Post.

We do not believe in the "I am holier than thou" attitude on the part of an individual or section. However, it must be a source of gratification to the southern men to know that, in spite of the fact that graft in high public positions seems rampant in some localities and some men high up in public life in those sections have been convicted and disgraced, yet southern men, in almost every instance, have kept their hands clean and unstained from corruption in public office. Very little of the graft we hear of can be traced to southern men and the south stands higher than ever before in the regard of the nation because of this as well as of other things.—Winston Sentinel.

THE SECURITY BOND SUIT.

Our now popular Mrs. Jane Hopkins "Security" Bond Suit originated last season in an attempt to furnish progressive dealers with a really meritorious boy's suit that can be sold at $5.00 with an unconditional guarantee of satisfaction or money back should the suit prove defective. After considerable experimenting as to fabrics, tailoring, improved features, such as Double seats, double double knees, extra strong thread, linings waist band, etc.

We succeeded in producing a guaranteed boy's suit that is proving a tremendous success with dealers now selling it. The "security" bond suit is good because it is so thoroughly reinforced throughout. Our success of last season has encouraged us to still greater efforts, and we are determined that the future of the Mrs. Jane Hopkins "Security Bond Suit" shall be a bright one from your standpoint and ours.

A Democratic convention of Pitt county will be held at the court house in Greenville at 11 o'clock A. M. Thursday, June 14th, 1906, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the various State, Judicial and Congressional conventions. The Democratic primaries for the purpose of selecting delegates to the county convention will be held at the various voting precincts of the respective townships of Pitt county on Saturday, the 9th day of June, 1906, at 3 o'clock P. M. At these primaries the Democratic voters of the respective townships will select delegates to the county convention to be held at Greenville on the 14th of June. Each township will be entitled to the following number of delegates, to the county convention based upon its vote for Governor for 1904, to wit:

By order of the committee.

Former Quack Medicines.

Johnson bestows ironical commendation upon the modest candor of the vender of a beautifying fluid which "repels pimples, drives away freckles, smooths the skin and plumps the flesh, but does not profess to restore the roses of fifteen to a lady of fifty," while he also admires the zeal for the ease and safety of teething infants shown by the inventor of the anodyne necklace, and the affecting terms in which he warned every mother that she would never forgive herself if her infant should perish without a necklace. It would be interesting to know what the great doctor thought of a certain advertisement in the Spectator of a "grateful electuary for the cure of loss of memory or forgetfulness, enabling those whose memory was before almost totally lost to remember the minutest circumstances of their affairs to a wonder. Price, two and sixpence a pot." — Cornhill Magazine.

Birds' Toilets.

Birds are very particular in the making of their toilets. Some use water only, others dust and water and others dust alone. Wild ducks, feeding by salt water, will only bathe in fresh water and fly inland twenty or thirty miles in order to get a fresh water bath. Sparrows take two kinds of baths—water and dust. They are not particular about the former, but for the latter only the cleanest and driest dust will serve. The partridge takes a loam bath. Scratching off the turf, he loosens a square foot of rich, chocolate colored loam and bathes therein his sleek plumage. All birds love a bath of ashes. He who walks through a field that has recently been burnt off will note every little while a disturbance in the charred ash heaps, and up, shaking off a fine cloud of ash dust, many birds will fly.

Bees as Embalmers.

Bees can embalm as well as any undertaker. All intruders on their hives are slain and embalmed carefully. If a worm or a roach or any insect blunders into a hive, the bees fall upon it and slay it with their stings. To get the corpse out would be a difficulty; therefore, embalming it, they let it remain. The embalming process consists in covering the corpse with a hermetic coat of pure wax. Within this air tight envelope the body remains fresh. It cannot in any way contaminate the hive. When a snail blunders in among the bees, they cannot kill it on account of the protection of its shell. So they embalm it alive. They cover it, shell and all, with snowy wax. It is a prisoner which only death releases.

BIG GUNS A BURDEN.

Expensive to Build and Test and Soon Get Out of Gear.

"When a big gun is made it becomes a perpetual charge on the expense account of the government," remarked the inspector of naval ordnance. "It costs a lot to make it, too, to try it when it is mounted, and its extreme limit of life is 100 shots. The largest guns we make now are twelve inch. They are from forty to fifty feet long, and the weight of the gun will cause it to droop and in a few years render it useless. It has to be sent back to the ordnance yard at intervals to have its rifling 'trued up.' Even the toughest steel, with the highest elastic limit and greatest tensile strength, will bend under its own weight. If you support a bar of steel even a few inches long at both ends for a long time it will curve down in the center to a degree that cannot indeed be detected without the aid of precise instruments, but it will take a permanent set, and a gun does the same thing in a greater measure. When we try a gun the armor makers furnish the plate, the gunmaker the gun, the shellmakers the projectile and the government the powder. The total cost of a shot is approximately $1,000, and we usually fire three shots at different distances.

"The shell is casehardened at its point and now carries a charge of oleaginous graphite in its nose, which breaks at the moment of impact and oils the hole in the armor. The patent on that graphite scheme cost the government $50,000. The shell simply bores its way through the armor, and its progress is aided very materially by the graphite. The navy exacts armor that can't be pierced and shells that will go through anything, so we have about arrived at the paradox of an irresistible force meeting an impenetrable body. As a result the few makers of this high quality of steel are now able to furnish from the plants constructed under the fostering care of the government a much higher grade of steel to the trade than ever before. The tensile strength and the elastic limit of steel have been raised in the general market from 50,000 pounds a square inch to 275,000 for one and from 45,000 to 185,000 pounds a square inch for the other within a few years, and this as an indirect result of the government's exactions.

"It's very seldom a gun is fired after it is mounted. Gun pointers are used for drill, and once or twice a year the gun is used for actual target practice and fired once or possibly twice. But it is too expensive a machine to use for practice when there are exact ways of testing the range and accuracy by triangulation and the known qualities of the powder and other factors that apply to it and which are preserved from its first test."

A Personal Sermon.

A minister of the kirk of Scotland once discovered his wife asleep in the midst of his homily on the Sabbath. So, pausing in the steady and possibly somewhat monotonous flow of his oratory, he broke forth with this personal address, sharp and clear, but very deliberate:

"Susan!" Susan woke up with a start and rubbed her eyes, as did all the other dreamers in the edifice, whether asleep or awake.

"Susan," continued her clerical spouse, "I didna marry ye for yer wealth, sin' ye had none. And I didna marry ye for yer beauty. That the hail congregation can see. And if ye hae not grace I hae made but a sair bargain wi' ye!"

Brides In Spain.

In Spain a bride has no girl attendants to stand at the altar with her, but instead a "madrina," or godmother. Neither does she have a wedding cake or any festive departure after the ceremony. The wedded pair go quietly to their new home, where they remain until the following day, when they start on their honeymoon. Before leaving they pay a formal visit to their respective relatives.

A Parisian Paradox.

A judgment has recently established the fact that to kiss a woman in the street without her consent, a crime qualified as an offense of "slight violence," is atoned for by a fine of 3 francs. That is not enormous. And if she consents to it. Oh, if she consents it is much dearer.—Le Figaro of Paris.

DO NOT IMITATE.

Make an Effort in Your Work in Life to Be Original.

There are a thousand people who will do faithfully what they are told to do who can lay out a programme or execute it—a thousand who can only follow to one who can lead. It is a rare thing to find a young man who has the power of accomplishment, the ability to put a thing through with the force of originality.

Whatever your work in life, do not follow others. Do not imitate. Do not do things just as everybody else has done them before, but in new, ingenious ways. Show the people in your specialty that precedents do not cut much of a figure with you and that you will make your own programme. Resolve that, whether you accomplish much or little in the world, it shall be original—your own. Do not be afraid to assert yourself in an original way. Originality is power, life; imitation is death. Do not be afraid to let yourself out. You grow by being original, never by copying; by leading, never by following. Resolve that you will be a man of ideas, always on the lookout for improvement. Think to some purpose. There is always a place for an original man.

There is nothing else which will kill the creative faculty and paralyze growth more quickly than following precedents in everything and doing everything in the same old way. I have known progressive young men to stop growing, become hopelessly ruddy and lose all their progressive-ness by going into their fathers' stores, factories or places of business, where everything was done in the same old fashioned way and precedents were followed in everything. They lost all expansiveness. There was no motive for reaching out for the new and the original, because their fathers would not change, and I have seen these splendid fellows, who might have become great and grand men, shrivel to pygmies in their fathers' ruts.

How many of our business houses are weighted down with machinery, old, antiquated methods, ponderous bookkeeping and out of date appliances when new devices or new methods, with short cut ways of doing things, would enable them to economize greatly on room and get along with much less help! But they cling to the old with a fatal tenacity.

This is why so many old concerns which have been strong and powerful for generations gradually shrink, shrivel, get into ruts and fail, while their newer competitors, the bright young men who have gone out from these houses, do things in a new way, adopt up to date methods, keep up with the times and go on to greater success.—Success.

Her Last Words.

She was a small and vivacious person of ten and had been allowed to sit up for the late dinner only on condition that she would not speak except when one of the guests spoke to her.

The preparations for the feast had been carried on during her absence at school. When she entered the dining room on tiptoe with excitement her gaze lighted on some candied fruits ordered from the city and arranged in the best china dish in the center of the table.

Her eyes fairly bulged; but, remembering her promise, she asked no questions until the dinner was well under way. She had been wriggling in her chair for some moments and at last could bear no more.

"Mother," she cried, pointing toward a particularly alluring pear, "if you'll just tell me where you go, it'll never speak another word as long as I live!"—Youth's Companion.

The Care of Linen.

No linen will become yellow when packed away if it is rough dried beforehand. It must have no starch in it and should be folded without ironing. In this condition it may be kept for years without showing the least sign of decrepitude. Use pure soap, fresh clean water and an abundance of it, much air and sunshine and carefully avoid starch.

OFF ON VACATION.

Pastor Will Bring Bride Back With Him.

Rev. J. E. Ayscue, pastor of the Memorial Baptist church, left this morning to be absent until June 1st. He will spend the remainder of this week with his people near Henderson. On Monday, 21st, he will deliver the alumni address at the closing exercises of Whitsett Institute. Next week he will also attend the commencement at Wake Forest College and from there will again go to Henderson to spend a few days more at his old home. Wednesday evening, 30th, he will wed Miss Anna Belle Hoyle, of Wakefield, and will return to Greenville with his bride on Friday, June 1st.

Nothing too GOOD

FOR

we are always looking for something better; always working to secure values and styles superior to other stores. when began to sell paper patterns we began to investigate. we said to ourselves,

 THE LADIES HOME JOURNAL

is the leading Womans Magazine. It is first class and has never done anything in a second class way. We knew that its reputation was at stake. Our investigation convinced us that the patterns are as high grade as the Magazine

Furthermore the Ladies Home Journal added a new feature which makes these patterns much more desirable than any other pattern. They furnish a Guide Chart free with each pattern. This Chart shows exactly how the pattern is to be put together. It is so comprehensive that a child can understand it. It is a boon to ladies who are inexperienced in garment cutting and garment making. Mothers advise us that by the aid of the Guide Chart furnished with each

they train their daughters to do their own sewing

But there is still another point to consider. The patterns are all new, no old styles, no ancient creations; all new, all up-to-date and perfect in fit and style, and so much more easily understood than other patterns that one trial will convince you and make you a regular customer
