RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY.

Adopted by Govanant Lodge No. 17, I. O. O. F. May 22nd 1907.

Whereas, The angel of death has visited the home of our brother, Sam White and taken away the spirit of his beloved child, and while we bow with humble submission to the will of God realizing that "all that is born must die," yet it seems the more sad that fond parents should be bereaved of so young a loved one.

Therefore be it resolved that we extend in friendship, love and truth our heartfelt sympathy to Brother White and his dear wife in this their hour of grief, and assure him that our heart as well as our hand is always open to a brother.

Resolved second that brother White be furnished with a copy of these resolutions and a copy be sent to our daily paper for publication.

ESTIMATES REACH $26,358,281

Detailed Estimates for all Expenses Incident to Construction of the Panama Canal.

Washington, May 21. —The detailed estimates for all expenses incident to the construction of the Panama canal for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, were sent to the House today by Secretary Taft, transmitted through the treasury department.

The estimates aggregate $26,348,281. They are contained under five heads and are given in such details as to occupy twenty printed pages. The subdivisions include:

Pay of officers and employees other than skilled and unskilled labor on the isthmus $9,315,498; for skilled labor on the isthmus, $5,593,020; for unskilled labor on the isthmus, $4,148,459; for purchase and delivery of material, supplies and equipment for the isthmus of Panama, $10,374,511; to authorize the loan to the Panama Railroad Company under the terms expressed in the act of Congress of February 27th, 1906, for the purchase and delivery of new equipment and improvements, $1,250,000; for miscellaneous expenditures, cable and telegraph service, stationery and printing and traveling and incidental expenses on the isthmus, $648,670.

DOWN IN PANAMA.

Greenville Boy President of I. A. M.

Mr. L. H. Pender has received a letter from his nephew, W. I. Pender, who is in the mechanical department of the Cristobal, Isthmus of Panama, in the canal zone. Walter says he has been there eight months, and while great preparation is being made towards digging the "little ditch," but very little digging has so far been done.

He also says his health has been good there and he has experienced no bad effects from the hot climate.

There are about 600 machinists at Cristobal and they have been granted a charter by the International Association of Mechanics to organize a lodge there. Walter was made president of the order.

Speaking of Confederate flags, it is noteworthy that the average Confederate veteran doesn't warm up much to the "Stars and Bars" — scarcely recognizes it, in fact. Display a bunch of the four different kinds of these emblems of Lost Cause and ask him which one is the Confederate flag. Instantly he designates the battle flag—a red field bearing a diagonal cross of blue set with white stars. "This is it! This is the one!" he exclaims. It is the flag he followed into so many bloody encounters and his eyes kindle at the sight of it. This flag was designed by General Beauregard, adopted after the first battle of Manassas, and was thereafter used in the army as the battleflag of the Confederacy.

Prayer meeting tonight, in the churches.

WINTERVILLE NOTES

Interesting Items from Our Hustling Neighbor.

WINTERVILLE, N. C. May 23 1906.

Miss Dora Cox returned home Saturday night from the Baptist University for Women at Raleigh, where she has been attending school this year.

Miss Georgia Joyner returned to Ayden Monday morning after spending Sunday night with Misses Minnie and Dora Cox.

Mrs. Blount and Miss Nannie Nichols were in town Monday evening shopping.

Miss Julia Taylor, from near Kinston, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Daughety, much to the delight of her host of friends here. Messrs. Bruton Bryan, Charlie McJye and Charlie McLawhorn, three of our most promising young men, returned to Norfolk Monday to resume their course in a business college in that city. We are glad to hear of their rapid progress there.

J. W. Sparks and mother left Sunday morning to visit relatives in Washington.

We were glad to see Rev. W. E. Cox, of Greenville, in our town yesterday. He came down to spend a few hours with his mother, Mrs. E. E. Cox.

Rev. B. E. Stauffield filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon. His sermon has been highly complimented by those who heard him.

Miss Fannie Rollins, of Bethel, is spending sometime at the home of our genial postmaster, M. G. Bryan, her uncle.

Work on the Free Will Baptist church was begun Monday morning by our clever contractor, Mr. Hurst. We heartily wish these generous and sturdy band of Christians much success in the speedy erection of their beautiful house of worship.

Chas. McLawhorn, one of our most up to date farmers, was in town Tuesday on business.

Winterville should be proud of her swift running young men but we would suggest that some of them procure a wheel in order to catch a passing train earlier.

Juo. R. Smith, one of Ayden's most prosperous merchants, was in town Tuesday on business.

Misses Carrie and Henrietta Wesson, matrons of the boys, dormitory, returned Monday afternoon from Ayden, where they spent Sunday and Monday visiting relatives and friends.

J. L. Jackson, cashier of the bank of Winterville, went to Greenville Tuesday evening on business.

Prof. G. E. Lineberry will travel for the American Book Co. during the summer. He left Monday morning for Raleigh to take up his work in that capacity.

Messrs. F. F. Cox and C. J. Jackson returned Tuesday evening from Wake Forest College. We wish them a most pleasant vacation.

Miss Myrtle Ange, who has been spending some time with her brother A. W. Ange, returned to Lerome near Jamesville Tuesday morning. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. W. Ange and little son Hugh.

HUNTING A WILD HORSE.

Novel Experience of North Carolina--A Wild Horse Hunted for Months.

As has been before stated in The Herald several months ago Mr. I. L. Smith, of Wilson's Mills township, bought of Mr. H. D. Ellington a black stallion that was raised as a wild horse. Mr. Smith carried him to a tobacco barn and haltered him there but in some way the horse got loose and got out and has been running at large in that section since.

He has been a source of trouble and expense and also of great amusement to the people of the neighborhood. His headquarters during the winter were on Mr. J. M. Beady's farm. He spent his nights under an old crooked tree, he drank water from Popular creek and ate fodder and pea vine hay from the stacks in the fields.

He has been run several times with other horses and dogs, some times as many as a hundred people being in pursuit of him. Pens and lots were made but nobody could get him into them. All efforts to catch him failed.

Recently he had started to eat the young crops, making fine headway on oats. The people of the neighborhood had decided that the only way to get rid of him would be to kill him.

Last Monday Mr. J. W. Flowers, who lives at the Watson Pineville place in Wilders township, came with a large number of dogs and took a contract to catch the horse for $25.00. He started running him at eleven o'clock Monday and caught him Tuesday afternoon. They took only three or four hours for rest Monday night. Rested help in men and dogs had to be called in Tuesday morning. The horse finally broke himself down running and had to give up. He was brought to Smithfield late in the day Tuesday.

Monday evening he ran into a barbed wire fence and tore a place on his right shoulder and leg as large as a man's face. It is feared that this will make him worthless for work if it does not kill him.—Smithfield Herald.

OAKLEY ITEMS.

OAKLEY, N. C., May 22, 1906.—Z. V. Whitehurst made a business call to Robersonville Saturday.

Mrs. Mahala Highsmith left for South Carolina Thursday to visit her son, Zeb.

Major Barnhill returned from New York Saturday.

T. F. Nelson spent two days in Tarboro last week.

The revenue men Lewis, Mood and House spent one day with us last week.

Farmers are up with their work and the merchants say they are also up.

Good many from here attended church at Hickory Grove Sunday.

John Barnhill, of Greenville, was here Sunday the guest of his brother, J. K. Barnhill.

Capt. G. S. Whitfield spent Monday at Tillery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cherry, of Stokes, were here Sunday.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

While a colored preacher was conducting a funeral in Wilmington he fell dead in the pulpit.

Mrs. Mary Greece, aged 85 years, died at her home in Warrenton Sunday. She had been postmaster of Warrenton for 40 years. Her father was clerk of the court in Warren county for 45 years.

Mrs. Cleve Dead.

Mrs. Lula Cleve, who last Thursday was taken to a hospital in Norfolk, died there Tuesday night. The remains will reach Greenville this evening and the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

More extended notice of her death will be made tomorrow.

If a man could wear the same kind of cloths he might like to go to church as much as fishing.

Burial of Child.

The funeral of Ella, the little two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. White, took place this morning. Service was held in the Episcopal church conducted by Rev. W. E. Cox.

The interment was in Cherry Hill cemetery. The active pall bearers were F. M. Wooten, W. T. Fleming, R. C. Flanagan and N. W. Jackson; honorary, J. L. Wooten, T. B. Moore, F. M. Hodges, D. L. James, H. L. Coward, W. H. Ragsdale, C. S. Carr and H. A. White.

Died.

Mr. James Baker died of pneumonia, Tuesday morning, at his home near Ayden. He was about 38 years old and leaves a wife and five children. One of the children is seriously ill.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Simple Way of Filling Pillows Without Loss of Feathers.

Select the pillows that are to be opened and with a large needle and coarse linen thread baste about one inch from the end of a pillow, commencing at the edge. Gradually slant to the required distance. Then slant out again at the other end, so that when the seam is opened your feathers are all still in the pillow. After ripping as far as the bastings go sew the opening of the other in like manner. Rip the second one the same as the first. Now pull out the bastings of both pillows, which releases the feathers, then work the feathers from one end into the other by pushing them through from the outside.

When all are transferred replace the basting in the pillow containing the feathers. Then separate them. Now you have your pillow filled and no feathers lost. Turn the edges in and sew up by over and over hand stitch, or run the end across by machine, and there you are. Pull out the basting.

Blanching Nuts.

The blanching of nuts is a process often thought difficult because not understood. The nuts should be covered with boiling water and should be allowed to stand for ten minutes, where they will keep hot, but not cook. Then drain them, plunge them into cold water and chill them. A knife must be used with English walnuts because of their serrated surface. Pistachio nuts are hard to blanch, and the water in which they soak needs to actually boil while they are in it, although they must not cook.

A Toilet Vinegar.

When the first warm weather gives the skin that disagreeably oily look a milk vinegar diluted with a little water and applied night and morning is efficacious.

Take of alcohol fifteen grams, tincture of benzoin fifteen grams and strong white vinegar fifteen grams. Mix and let stand for a week, then press through filtering paper.

Care of Linen.

The preservation of linen depends largely on the care taken in washing as well as in the mending of each article in daily use as soon as a worn piece makes its appearance.

In warm, sunny weather the linen cupboard or drawers should be emptied and their contents exposed occasionally to the influence of the air and sun.

Soiled Photographs.

Photographs that have become soiled or that are mounted on cards the edges of which are broken may be soaked off by placing them in water. This cleans them, but does not injure them in the least, and after drying thoroughly between blotters they may be mounted again on new cards.

Hemming Tablecloths.

When hemming a new tablecloth if the edges are slightly dampened with warm water in which some soap has been dissolved they will be soft and much easier to work on when dry.

A WIDESPREAD ABUSE.

That statement is almost axiomatic that the enforcement of the law is never more rigid than is demanded by the public conscience which is really the chief foundation upon which the law rests. This is almost universally true, but it is especially applicable to the matter of public taxation. It is not a pleasant duty for the tax lister to question the truthfulness or justice of the return made by a citizen, and if the citizen intentionally forgets a certain part of his assets when giving in his property, even the most honest of listers is apt to accept without a question the return. Moreover, the public appears to have acquiesced in this state of affairs until it has become such a matter of routine that it has ceased to excite comment or protest. It is generally known—known beyond a doubt—that there is not a county in North Carolina that is receiving taxes upon all the property that under the law is subject to taxation. On the night of the thirty-first day of every May North Carolina property values are by some unseen force shriveled and shrunken until on the first day of June the property of the State is all pervading. Some of our wealthiest men are comparative beggars; many of our well to do citizens have scarcely enough to keep the wolf from the door; the rich are poor and the poor are poorer—at least such must be inferred from the property admittedly owned for the purpose of taxation.

And yet we see the school lampered and cramped by want of funds—we see the streets of our cities little more than country roads—our country highways are not macadamized, our bond issues are increasing and multiplying, while the tax rate mounts steadily upward.

Whom have we to blame? Ourselves—no one else. Year after year we allow some men to pay taxes, while other men give but a beggarly pittance of what they should give for the support of the city, county and State governments.

The problem of taxation is the bread and butter question of public life. It is the source from which the commonwealth and its various subdivisions must draw their living. It is, more than the tariff or the money standard, or the regulation of trusts, or any other of the questions upon which we divide ourselves into hostile political groups, the all important problem to be considered. And yet, how little attention is accorded it, despite the combined facts of importance, and the unanimity of opinion upon it.

The problem is not to convince men that it is right and just for every property owner to bear his just proportion of the burden of taxation. The only difficulty is in arousing such a degree of public interest in the matter as to force a reform.

We do not accuse the tax listers of dishonesty, for they are generally honest men. But we do say that the degree of looseness that is allowed—the latitude given to the would-be tax dodger to shirk his just and legal taxes—at once cripples the public treasury and imposes an unjust burden on the man who lists his property fairly and honestly and pays his taxes with the same degree of fairness and justice that he pays his debts to his fellow man.

The time is now short before tax listing will begin and now is the appointed time to discuss the matter and to see that justice is done.—Greensboro Industrial News.

KEEP YOUR TROUBLE TO YOURSELF

In no position in life is the man with whims more out of place, and more of a bugbear and stumbling block than in the business world. Do we not all know people who allow their whims and moods to govern them? They never stay "put." One day they are the flower of politeness, they work like Trojans, they are approachable and it is a pleasure to come into contact with them. The next day one is liable to find them in a positively ugly temper, sullen, or cranky, or so hateful and irritable that one is glad indeed to depart from their presence. And why this hideous transformation? Simply because they have given away to that feeling of "I don't care whether school keeps or not." They have a headache, or the blues, or they "got up on the wrong side of the bed," or they were "up too late last night," or they may have any one of a thousand different excuses. Whatever the reason for a change in feelings or disposition, no person has any right to make others the victims of his moods. It is as much of a sin to be "cranky today," and to make others very cognizant of the fact, as it is to steal a man's purse. The results are vastly more far-reaching. Cultivate stability, learn to control your moods. If you must have an off day occasionally, lock yourself up and vent your ill temper on yourself, or wait till after business hours and make the furniture and other inanimate objects the confidantes of your woes. But the best way to overcome moods is not to have them—and keep smiling.—Spare Moments.

Sometimes a man calls a woman an angle—but what man ever saw an angle,

It is much easier to tell what ought to be done than it is to get busy and do it.

Happenings of Interest Over the Country.

Franklin, Neb., May 21.—It hailed today for forty-five minutes hailstones as large as baseballs, crashing through roofs killing stock smashing windows and destroying crops. This was followed by a rainstorm lasting more than an hour during which nearly five inches of water fell. Railroad tracts were washed out in many places. Telephone and telegraph systems are prostrated.

The American minister to Chile, Mr. Hicks, has notified the State Department that the Chilean government has accepted the invitation of the President to participate in the naval and marine exposition in Hampton Roads next year commemorative of the ter-centennial of the settlement of Jamestown. Minister Hicks writes that the Chilean navy will be represented by the cruiser Baquedano.

A National Bank

Is under the supervision of the United States government,

They are required to submit to the government a sworn detailed statement five times a year. The stockholders are held responsible for double the amount of their stock, which has to be paid in, in CASH, and held in tact for the protection of the depositors. Further, the Bank has to add to its dividend account each year before declaring a dividend. This adds more to the depositors security.

THE SECURITY BOND SUIT.

Our now popular Mrs. Jane Hopkins "Security" Bond Suit originated last season in an attempt to furnish progressive dealers with a really meritorious boy's suit that can be sold at $5.00 with an unconditional guarantee of satisfaction or money back should the suit prove defective. After considerable experimenting as to fabrics, tailoring, improved features, such as Double seats, double double knees, extra strong thread, linings waist band, etc.

We succeeded in producing a guaranteed boy's suit that is proving a tremendous success with dealers now selling it. The "security" bond suit is good because it is so thoroughly reinforced throughout. Our success of last season has encouraged us to still greater efforts, and we are determined that the future of the Mrs. Jane Hopkins "Security Bond Suit" shall be a bright one from your standpoint and ours.

Willing to Be Sacrificed.

At the recent annual meeting of the voters of Cape Elizabeth two names were presented for moderator, Harry S. Jordan and Clement E. Staples, Republican and Citizen respectively, says the Boston Herald. The orator who nominated Mr. Staples made a mighty effort. "Who is Clement E. Staples?" he cried, as he waved his arms like pump handles and strode back and forth on the platform. A deep and impressive silence followed. Again waving his arms, he called in a voice of thunder, "Who is Clement E. Staples?" The silence was more pronounced and the effect greater. The audience was visibly impressed. Before attempting to dwell upon the good qualities of his candidate the speaker again proclaimed, "I say, who is Clement E. Staples?" A small man in the rear of the hall stood up on a chair and broke the silence by saying: "Waal, I'll bite. Who is he?"

What Mr. Hoar Was Doing.

When Sherman Hoar was running for congress he more than once had to answer questions propounded at public meetings by an aged veteran of the civil war who dated everything from that historic struggle. Mr. Hoar replied with consideration several times, but one evening the old gentleman asked in a more than usually querulous tone: "What I want to know is: What were you doing during the war? Did you fight for your country or didn't you? That's what I want you to tell me and the rest of the folks here. What were you doing along in '61 and '62 and up to Appomattox?" "Well," said Mr. Hoar, with a kindly smile and a boyish twinkle in his eyes, "I guess I was suffering about as much as you were, for along in '61 and '62 I was teething."

Kindling the Fire.

If one insists on using kerosene as a fire kindler, better pour a pint or so into an old tin pail and stand as many corn cobs in it as the pail will hold overnight. The cobs will be thoroughly saturated by morning and are not so dangerous to use.

Scratched Varnish.

When the varnished furniture becomes scratched the spots should be gone over with a camel's hair brush and shellac varnish until they disappear. Nothing should be allowed to touch the places until the application is thoroughly dry.

Lamp Wicks.

To insure a good light wicks must be changed often, as they soon become clogged and do not permit the free passage of the oil.

Soaking wicks in vinegar twenty-four hours before placing in lamp insures a clear flame.

TATTOOING.

It Seems to Have Originated in Early Religious Customs.

What is the origin of tattooing? Religion, which has so much power over peoples and which proves so obstinate in preserving ancient customs, has certainly contributed to maintain it among the more barbarous part of our population. We see a quasi official proof of it at Lorette. Those who cultivate a devotion for a saint believe that by engraving his image on their flesh they will give him a proof, a clear testimony, of their love. We know that the Phoenicians marked the sign of their divinity on their foreheads (Ewald, Judaischen Altherthum, iii). In the Marshall islands they have to ask the permission of the gods to tattoo themselves, and the priests alone in New Zealand perform the office of tattooing (Scherzer). Lubbock adds to this that a woman who does not wear a tattoo mark cannot enjoy eternal felicity. The women of Britain tattooed themselves in obedience to religion (Pliny, 33).

The second cause is the spirit of imitation. A Lombard soldier answered me laughingly one day when I rallied him on his having spent a small sum to spoil his arm. "See, monsieur, we are like sheep, and when one of us does anything we all imitate him at once, even if we risk doing ourselves harm." Love of distinction also has its influence. A thief of the most incorrigible sort who had six brothers tattooed like himself implored me, although he was half covered with the oddest tattoo marks, to find him a professional tattooer to complete what might well be styled the embroidery of his skin. "When the tattooing is very curious and spreads all over the body," he told me, "it is to us other thieves like the black coat of society with decorations—the more we are tattooed the more we esteem one another; the more a person is tattooed the more influence he has over his companions. On the contrary, one who is not tattooed has no influence. He is regarded simply as a good fellow and is not esteemed by his company."—London Chronicle.

Intensive Farming.

Hilda possessed a hot temper and an aching tooth, and when she had endured the pain of the one as long as she cared she took both to the nearest dentist. "I can't tell until I look at it," said he, "whether to pull or to fill it."

The dentist was at no time renowned for gentleness, and on this occasion he handled his instruments with what seemed to Hilda very much like unnecessary roughness. With her blue eyes blazing with wrath, she bore the torture as long as she could, but a badly aimed turn of the drill finished her. Leaping from the dental chair, she tore the rubber dam from her swollen countenance, hurled it at the dentist and exclaimed as she made for the door: "Farmer! Plowman! Mys mout' is no garden! Mys toot' is no trees! You can't pull heem, nor you skan't full heem! Go buy vone beeg farm if you vill dig potatoes!"

Makes a Difference.

Mrs. De Pink (reading)—"Never show your temper, no matter what the provocation. Never resent a slight. Never lose your self poise under trying circumstances. Do your best to make others happy. Forget that you have any wishes except when consulted. Watch every opportunity to be useful to those about you. There are thousands of little ways in which this can be done without appearing obtrusively polite."

Miss De Pink—Are those rules for wives?
Mrs. De Pink (contemptuously)—Certainly not. I am reading the latest rules for society debutantes.—New York Weekly.

Bargain Instinct.

She would have declared strenuously that she did not have the feminine bargain mania, but—"George," she asked in the sweet way a woman always opens an argument, "how much did you have to pay for the marriage license?" "Two dollars," he replied. "Two dollars!" she repeated thoughtfully. "Couldn't you get them three for five?" Then when he asserted that he was no Mormon she woke up and blushed and tried to explain and only made things a little worse.—Judge.

Letters were a luxury beyond the reach of many people in the old days before the time of cheap postage. Coleridge as a young poet was roaming the Lake district. He came to a village inn in time to see the post messenger hand a letter over the counter to the girl behind the bar. She gazed at it earnestly, reluctantly handed it back and sighed deeply as she said she was too poor to pay the necessary shilling. The tender hearted poet, in spite of the girl's eager remonstrance, paid the money. When the postman had gone the barmaid confessed that she had arranged a system of hieroglyphics with her brother—signs on the envelope which she could understand, and that told her all she wanted to know.

Preferred Papa.

Mother (at a reception)—Why didn't you accompany Mr. Nicefello out to supper?

Sweet Girl—I preferred to go with papa.

Mother—Mr. Nicefello is devoted to you and seemed much dejected by your refusal. I thought you—er—rather liked him?

Sweet Girl (blushingly)—I do.

Mother—Then why didn't you go out to supper with him?

Sweet Girl—Well, if you must know, it's because I was ravenously hungry.

How It Happens.

"What do you mean by saying that our company causes grief to little children?" asked the street railway official.

"Well," answered the irresponsible logician, "it's this way. Your company bullies the conductor, the conductor bullies the passenger, the passenger feels indignant and when he gets home bullies his wife, and there's nothing left for her to do but to spank the baby."—Washington Star.

Their First Quarrel.

She—Strange how married people can quarrel, isn't it, dear? Here we've been married two whole weeks, and not an unkind word has passed between us.

He—We shall never quarrel, darling, until you begin it. I never shall.

She—That's just like a man. I know you'll be the first to quarrel.

He—Now don't be unreasonable, dear. You—

She—You never used to think me unreasonable. Why didn't you find that out before you married me? Etc. Tears and door slam.

A Plea For Pork.

Pork, including ham and bacon, is easily our second most valuable meat food and has laid the literal foundation of our western civilization. What would an army, an exploring party, a railroad gang, a lumber camp or a harvest field be without bacon? Most of the restricted "hygienic" diets on which our patients put themselves are chiefly notable for the fact that they are deficient in proper food value, and whoever lives on them will be dyspeptic just as long as he does so.—McClure's Magazine.

Uncertain.

"Nobody seems to want our territory," said ex-Delegate B. S. Rodey of New Mexico, "and there is no telling where we will have landed by the time the statehood fight is settled. Our status is as uncertain as that of an old negro slave I once heard of. Somebody asked him whom he belonged to. 'Ah don't know, suh,' he replied. 'Ole marse, he upstairs playin' pokah.'"

A Conundrum For Cannon.

Speaker Cannon has received hundreds of telegrams from Oklahoma expressing the opinion of hundreds of people about him. This one, however, which he declares is the most remarkable inquiry ever propounded to an American statesman, he proposes to frame, "Shall Oklahoma, the gem of hope, be sacrificed on the Shylock of Despair?"—New York Times.

Nothing too GOOD

FOR

OUR CUSTOMERS

we are always looking for something better; always working to secure values and styles superior to other stores. when

The Ladies Home Journal

began to sell paper patterns we began to investigate. we said to ourselves,

 THE LADIES HOME JOURNAL

Is the leading Womens Magazine. It is first class and has never done anything in a second class way. We knew that its reputation was at stake. Our investigation convinced us that the patterns are as high grade as the Magazine

Furthermore the Ladies Home Journal added a new feature which makes these patterns much more desirable than any other pattern. They furnish a Guide Chart free with each pattern. This Chart shows exactly how the pattern is to be put together. It is so comprehensive that a child can understand it. It is a boon to ladies who are inexperienced in garment cutting and garment making. Mothers advise us that by the aid of the Guard Chart furnished with each

LADIES HOME JOURNAL

They train their daughters to do their own sewing

But there is still another point to consider. The patterns are all new, no old styles, no ancient creations; all new, all up-to-date and perfect in fit and style, and so much more easily understood than other patterns that one trial will convince you and make you a regular customer
