GRADED SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

Splendid Exercises in the Opera House.

An immense audience assembled in Masonic temple opera house, Thursday night, to witness the first night's exercises of the commencement of Greenville graded school. Every seat in the hall in parquet and gallery, scores of extra chairs and all available standing room was occupied, showing the interest the people of the community felt in the school and in the children attending it.

The first night's exercises consisted of a concert given jointly by Miss Bessie Patrick's music class and the primary and grammar grades of the school. Every member on the program was exceptionally well rendered, showing the adaptability of the pupils and splendid training of the teachers. The following program was rendered, each member being generously applauded:

In Festal Array—Duet	Engelman
Maggie Savage and Ellie Brown
Nocture Romantique	Engelman
Jamie Brown:
Chorus—
Girard Gavotte—Trio	Today
Jamie Bryan Mae Schultz and Ethel Skinner.
Seven Times One	He on Laughinghouse.
Wild Roses	Biscoff
Ellie Brown.
The Boating Party
Witches' Patrol	Wadington
Allie Estelle Greene.
Postillion D'Amour	Behr
Myrtle and Susie Warren.
Pink Rose Drill.
Assyrian March	Wachs
Maggie Savage.
Topaz Turvey.
Charge of the Uhlans	Bohm
Mattie Moe King and Margaret Blow.
Home Sweet Home	Thalberg
Lee Moe Brown.
Little Red Riding Hood.

Whenever the little folks appeared they were the admiration of everybody, their songs and drills and the play Little Red Riding Hood being delightful. We cannot particularize without mentioning the names of all, which is impossible as there were 125 of them, for the part of every one was too well rendered to give one distinction above another. The exercises were delightful, and from beginning to ending the audience was well pleased.

Tonight will be the concert by the larger pupils, with theses by the graduating class, presentation of diplomas and the literary address.

Mathewmatics From Books.

The president of the Board of trustees of the Carnegie Library at Washington tells of an interesting communication received by the librarian from a gentleman in a near-by town.

"Sir and Friend," so the letter ran, "what I want to know does, the Carnegie liberrary lend Buks teetching mathewmattics to persons outside the City Washington? I desire Onlie Buks on Mathewmattics. I am alright on Spellin and prety Fare as a Grammarrian, if I do say it Myself, but as Mathewmattics is to much for me, I desire the above information as to whether it cau be learned from Buks."—Woman's Home Companion for April.

THE WEATHER.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

A new mining company has been started at Salisbury with a paid in capital of $3,000,000 and privilege to increase to $15,000,000.

John Lane, of Salisbury, committed suicide by drinking laudanum.

Six Durham boys, ranging in ages from 12 to 16 years, have been arrested and placed in jail to await trial for robbery.

Mrs. Mary M., wife of Mr. W. F. Morrill, died at her home in north Kinston last night at 9 o'clock, after an illness of three months of gastritis which went into colitis, the immediate cause of death.—Kinston Free Press, 24th.

Bishop Cheshire, of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina, in Durham confirmed a class of 17 deaf mutes, one of the most remarkable services ever performed in this State. He was assisted by the Rev. Oliver Wheden, who interpreted the service between the bishop and the class.

The Department of Commerce and Labor Bureau of Fisheries, through Mr. J. P. Snyder, acting superintendent, has sent a messenger to this place and planted in Pamlico river 750,000 shad fry. This makes the third shipment to this point during the season. The result of the fishery industry should be appreciable.—Washington Messenger.

WHY NOT WEAR SANDALS.

These sandals that the children are wearing ought to set grown people to thinking. The sandals are cool and comfortable and allow the foot to keep its natural shape. They bandish corn to siberia.

If the little fellows can wear sandals with such good effect, why cannot their elders adopt the fashion and escape from manifold tortures? A shoe manufactory (we hope he is right) is quoted by the New York Sun to this effect;

"We're going back to the days of Greece. In five years we won't be wearing anything but sandals, in Summe: time at least. Leathersandals for children were introduced by us several years ago. They sold like hot cakes last season, and they are going better now. We're turning them out as fast as our factory can be operated. And this year we've been making a quantity of larger sizes. They're mostly for women, but all will be wearing them in a year or two, and mark my words in about five more seasons, for summer, leather sandals will be the whole thing."

One of these days, maybe, men will be emancipated from barbarous hot wether fashions, and will wear in summer not merely sandals, but a collarless and short sleeved negligee shirt as a substitute for the intolerable coat and heavily starched linen now considered essential. Men's summer shoes, collars, cuffs and coats are as foolish as they can be.—Exchange.

SENATOR TILLMAN WILL NOT DEBATE WITH BOOKER.

Senator B. R. Tillman has refused to engage in a public debate with Booker T. Washington, or even appear on the same platform with him. The managers of a spiritualists camp meeting at Anderson, Ind., had arranged a nice little symposium on the race question, in which these two "distinguished Southerners" were to have participated. Now it will be Tillman alone or not at all. He has sent the following telegram to the managers:

"I am informed arrangements are being made for a debate between Booker T. Washington and myself at your place. So far as Washington following me is concerned I do not care, but I will not meet him on the platform. If it is a negro equality crowd that I am to talk to I prefer to cancel the engagement."

The management wired an answer to the effect that the plan to have Washington present was abandoned.—Washington Dispatch.

MRS. MUNFORD ENTERTAINS.

Reported for The Reflector.

Tuesday evening, 22nd, from nine to twelve Mrs. C. T. Munford delightfully entertained many lady friends at her home on Evans street.

The splendid residence was aglow with brilliant lights, the library decorated in green and pink, the parlor in white and red, the dining room in red with a profusion of cut flowers.

Mrs. Munford, assisted by Miss Ada Wooten received the guests at the front door and invited them to the back hall where they were served with delicious frappe by Mesdames Charles Laughinghouse and John L. Wooten.

The contest feature of the evening was a "musical romance." The prize had to be cut for, Miss Lena Harris drawing the first prize and Miss Lennie Fleming the consolation.

After the contest the guests were invited into the dining room where quite an elaborate menu was served by Misses Mary and Lizzie Higgs, Lizzie Jones and Lena Harris.

Those present at the entertainment were Mesdames C. S. Forbes, J. W. Ferrall, D. E. House, E. B. Ficklen, Harry Skinner, B. W. Moseley, A. L. Blow, G. S. Pritchard, A. B. Ellington, R. O. Jeffries, C. O'H. Laughinghouse, J. L. Wooten, J. L. Little, R. J. Cobb, F. C. Harding, W. H. Reicks, J. A. Ricks, Wiley Brown, B. E. Parham, A. E. Tucker, M. D. Higgs, J. K. Moe, J. W. Aycock, Misses Munford, O'Hagan, Fleming, Braeme, Cobb, Wooten, Jones, Harris, Mary and Lizzie Higgs.

Builds 1,500 Cars in 12 Days.

All records for car construction were broken yesterday, when the employes of the freight-car department of the Pullman shops completed for the Nickel Plate road a contract for 1,500 cars, which was begun 12 days ago. This is 300 more cars than were ever built before by one concern in the same time.

When the last car was finished the whistles on the shops were sounded and the machinery was shut down, and for more than an hour the men indulged in a celebration, which was participated in by the officers of the company. Cigars were distributed and the workmen were congratulated for their success in setting a new record.—Chicago Speed.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

Ayden, N. C., May 25, 1906.

Miss Ella Rasberry, a student in the graded school here, went to Grifton Tuesday on a visit and from there she will go to her home in Kinston for the summer.

Tom Dawson, Harvey Garden and Ben Hardison, three very clever young gentlemen, of Grifton, spent the afternoon here Tuesday.

J. F. Barwick and family have returned from a visit down the road.

The commencement exercises of the Free Will Baptist Seminary in this place will begin Tuesday May 29th, and continue for three days. The addresses before the two societies will be delivered by Rev. T. H. King, of LaGrange, and Rev. B. H. Booth, of Snow Hill. The literary address by Hon. L. I. Moore, of Greenville. There will be three graduates this session, the first in the history of the school.

Mrs. Burroughs, of Scotland Neck, is visiting the family of her father, D. G. Berry.

A class of orphans from the Odd Fellows' orphanage at Goldsboro were here Wednesday night and gave an entertainment which was very much enjoyed by our citizens. They charged no admission and solicited no assistance. Their visit was in response to a special invitation by the lodge here and was entirely of a friendly and social nature. The children are bright, nicely dressed, well behaved and their every general appearance shows they are well taken care of and properly trained.

R. F. Jonnson, of Kinston, has been here on business and other matters.

Miss Fannie Hardy left for her home in Greenville after a pleasant visit to Miss Ida G. Edwards.

Mrs. W. M. Edwards and children are visiting in Greenville.

Misses Georgia Joyner and Annie Joyner and Julia Taylor, who have been the guest of Miss Ida W. Edwards for the past few days, have returned to their respective homes.

A telegram was received here yesterday announcing the death of Mount Hope, near Baltimore, of Mr. Claude Quinerly, of Ayden. Mr. Watt Quinerly left at once and will return with the corpse on this evening's train. Mr. Quinerly was a prominent business man and Mason. No arrangements so far as we know have yet been made for the funeral.

Mrs. J. T. Smith is on a visit in Beaver Dam to her brother G. T. Tyson, who we learn is very sick with fever.

This windy dry weather is playing havoc with corn and cotton and the fate of tobacco is almost a foregone conclusion. Rain, more rain and a plenty is the piteous cry of the farmers, and unless the cry is answered and that soon, "bread, more bread, a little bread" will be the wail of the world a little later.

The infant child of Mr. J. H. Manning died yesterday afternoon. The little one had been sick for PERSONAL MENTION.

Of Those Going and Coming

Miss Clyde Cox returned from Ayden this morning.

G. B. W. Hadley, of LaGrange, came in Thursday evening to visit relatives.

Rev. J. E. Ayscue went back to Henderson this morning to complete his visit.

Mrs. F. W. Clare and children left this morning for Florence, S. C. to visit relatives.

Miss Alice Sutton, of LaGrange, came in Thursday evening to visit Mrs. Alice Harper.

Miss Helen Forbes who had been attending school at Raleigh returned Thursday evening.

Norris White, of Greensboro, came in Thursday evening to take a position with his brother H. A. White.

A speaker in a public meeting here recently made the point that "there was a difference in good men;" and the same has recurred to us over and over again. It is a truth that our people may well ponder in this campaign year. Friends of a candidate often assert, "but he is a good man," which is doubtless true, "but there is a difference in good men." What is he good for? There are various standards of "good" in everyday use, however few there may be in fact. Mere goodness in an official is not enough. "Pale and cloistered virtue" may be virtue, but it doesn't bring much on the market. Vigorous goodness may not carry it with other qualifications necessary, and finally there is a sort of goodness that comes off, changes under the stress of circumstances like chemicals when mixed together. To be a good man is no special recommendation—there are stacks of good men. In selecting candidates for office, it is necessary that they be good, but that isn't enough. Go further and find out that they are able, strong and efficient, that the difference in good men is in their favor and that they are the sort of men with whom you would trust your own private business.—Lexington Dispatch.

sometime and its death was not altogether unexpected. It was near one year of age and at the time of life when perhaps it was of more pleasure than any other. The parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

We are informed an effort is being made to organize a building and loan association in Ayden. A meeting was held Wednesday but no decided steps were taken. The prospects, however, seem to be good.

More than half the brick work on the five new stores is complete and the carpenters have begun their part of the work. Things are humming in and all around Ayden.

Frank Lilly has been elected cotton weigher for the town of Ayden by the town commissioners for the next year and has taken charge of the yards.

Misses Nannie Taylor and Lida Roberson, after visiting Miss Nina Cannon have returned to their homes.

J. B. JOHNSTON,

THE AGILE TIGER.

A Great Stalker That Seems to Be
"Shod With Silence."

Most wild animals are specialists—that is to say, they are highly developed in one particular direction. The tiger is great as a stalker. His feet seem to be "shod with silence." R. H. Elliot, for many years a resident of India, cited an experience of one of his neighbors illustrative of this point. He had been much annoyed by tigers and at last tied a bullock out in a clearing and took up his own position in a tree to wait till the tiger should come after the bait. The ground was covered with dried leaves, which in hot weather are so brittle that even the walking of a bird over them can be heard for a good distance. In no very long time a large tiger slipped out of the forest and slowly edged toward the bullock. His method was so elaborate and careful that the man who saw it used to declare that it would have been worth 1,000 rupees to any young sportsman to have witnessed it. So carefully did he put down each paw and so gradually did he crush the leaves under it that not a sound was to be heard.

Between him and the bullock was a stump about four feet high, with long projecting surface roots. This plainly the tiger looked upon as a godsend. He got upon one of the roots, balanced himself carefully, and so was able to walk quickly and silently as far as the stump. He approached so gradually and noiselessly and his color against the brown leaves was so invisible that he was close upon the bullock before he was perceived. Then instantly the bullock charged. The tiger eluded him and in a moment more had his paws on the bullock's neck, ready to drag him down. Then like a flash he caught sight of the rope by which the bullock was tied and turned and sprang into the forest, all so quickly that the man in the tree had no opportunity to fire.

Fame.

Two Americans who were traveling in England made a devout pilgrimage to Stratford-on-Avon and spent several days wandering about the neighborhood. One day they met a countryman, and, pausing, one of the pilgrims said:

"My friend, I envy you your life here amid the fields that knew the great poet's youth. What sublime thoughts must come to you as you tread the paths his feet trod!"

The rustic simply stared, and the American demanded if he knew of whom he was speaking, receiving a prompt negative.

"Why, of Shakespeare, man. You must know of him!" the pilgrim explained, stricken with horror.

After some coaxing the man finally admitted that he had heard of Shakespeare and believed that he had "wrote for summat."

"And have you any idea for what he wrote—was it the Times?" the American inquired, with infinite sarcasm.

"Oh, it warn't the Lunnon paper," the man said. "I know it was summat solemnlike. I think it was the Bible, belike."—Harper's Weekly.

Greenville has cause to be proud of other graded schools.

The celebration is over at Charlotte, and the city did herself proud in the magnitude of the affair and the excellent manner in which everything was carried out.

We will all have to take up for the skating rink craze now. An Asheville girl lost her power of speech and for three months her condition baffled the skill of the physicians. She went to a skating rink and while whirling around on the rollers took a fall. She hit the floor so hard that it must have jarred her vocal chords back in place, for she instantly cried out and has been talking ever since. So skating is good for something besides exercise.

TELEPHONES AND RURAL LIFE.

The wide extension of the use of the telephone in city and country is one of the most remarkable phenomena of our day. The report published in Monday's Sun shows that in 1902 there were in the United States 3,000,000 telephones and some six billions of messages were sent. There are three classes of systems—the commercial, the mutual and the "independent farmer, or rural," the last mentioned having a mileage of 49,955 miles. The general use and advantages of the phone in cities are well known, but few city people are aware of the extent of its use in rural districts or of the many ways in which it has modified the conditions of country life. Like to locomotive, the phone "annihilates distance." It economizes time and locomotion by facilitating the exchange of ideas, dispensing thus with many obstacles to business and social intercourse. One of the advantages of great moment is the effect of the telephone in improving the conditions of farm life, making the country attractive to persons who could not endure the isolation and dullness of rural existence as it was formerly. Brutal crime is more easily kept under, now that the country is cobwebbed with telephone wires. The report notes for example, the assistance given by the phone to constables and sheriffs in suppressing the tramp nuisance. Baltimore Sun.

Robbery at Depot.

A night train was some one broken into the sleeping room of ticket agent J. H. Keel, above the waiting rooms at the passenger depot, and stole some of his personal effects. The robbery was committed at an early hour in the night between the arrival of the last passenger train and the time Mr. Keel went to his room. Entrance was made by breaking the lock to the door. There are seats on the door of the depot office showing that an effort was made to break in that also.

THE JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Too much of the time of our courts is taken up by trivial cases that should have been settled in the magistrate's court. This important fact has again been emphasized by cases that have come up in our Superior Court now in session.

The court of the justice of the peace should be recognized as one of the most important in our scheme of government. We regret to say that it is not regarded as highly as it should be. The Legislature might with profit enlarge its powers in such a way as to give it jurisdiction over trivial cases that are now sent up to the Superior Court. A restriction of power and responsibility will inevitably lower the standard of any person or institution, both in the eyes of the public and in his own eyes.

Make the position of justice of the peace still more responsible than it is at present, and then see to it that none but the best men are called to the office. This would save the public a great deal of expense, and would indeed promote the cause of peace and justice in each neighborhood. The justice of the peace comes in close contact with the people. He should be recognized as an important officer and his office treated accordingly. Just now when these officers are being nominated for another term is the time to be careful in the selection of men to fill the positions.

People are apt to overlook this as unimportant; but it is not unimportant, and strict attention to the requirement of the case would show the wisdom of that course.—Kinston Free Press.

T-A'N TRAVEL AND INFECTION.

Washington, May 22.—The dangers of infection incident to travel on railroads and the proper methods of sanitation occupied the attention of the National Conference of State and Provincial Boards of Health at today's meeting. Dr. Milton J. Rousenau, of the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, declared that the dangers of contact with the sleeping car or coach and their furnishings were not quite as great as they once were, although he said such danger did at all times exist. He particularly inveighed against the wash basins in sleeping cars, as well as drinking glasses. He thought that some system of running water should be adopted and that the traveling public should carry their own drinking utensils.

He regarded as vital the question of the likelihood of spreading disease along the line of travel through the train laboratories, and believed that the subject was one demanding prompt and serious consideration.

Dr. T. R. Crowder, superintendent of sanitation of the Pullman Company, explained the system of disinfection and sanitation of that company.

The conference appointed a committee of three to confer with a committee of railroad sanitary officers with a view to formulating a plan to sanitize railroad coaches and sleepers. The committee was instructed to report at the next conference.

Mean Trick of the Wind.

Besides filling ear, nose and throat with dust, playfully tossing straw hats here and there and hurrying papers skyward and gutterward the wind of today is inclined in some instances to play meaner pranks. One of this kind happened shortly after noon. A collector of the C. W. Polvogt Company was standing in front of Plummer's confectionery establishment, on Princess street, and held in his hand a five spot. The stiff breeze, either with malice aforethought, or with desire to be real devilish suddenly swooped down upon the unsuspecting collector, seized the bill from his hand, hurled it in the air and then set it down the street and around the corner. Across the street it is supposed it went and among the fast accumulating debris there as the result of the tearing down of the Carrell building. At any rate it was lost to sight and so far, in spite of diligent search by many, is lost to its owner.

SECURITY TO DEPOSITORS

A National Bank

Is under the supervision of the United States government,

They are required to submit to the government a sworn detailed statement five times a year. The Stockholders are held responsible for double the amount of their stock, which has to be paid in, in CASH, and held in tact for the protection of the depositors. Further, the Bank has to add to its surplus account each year before declaring a dividend. This adds more to the depositors security.

SUIT.

Our now popular Mrs. Jane Hopkins "Security" Bond Suit originated last season in an attempt to furnish progressive dealers with a really meritorious boy's suit that can be sold at $5.00 with an unconditional guarantee of satisfaction or money back should the suit prove defective. After considerable experimenting as to fabrics, tailoring, improved features, such as

Double seats, double knees

We succeeded in producing a guaranteed boy's suit that is proving a tremendous success with dealers now selling it. The "security" bond suit is good because it is so thoroughly reinforced throughout. Our success of last season has encouraged us to still greater efforts, and we are determined that the future of the Mrs Jane Hopkins "Security Bond Suit" shall be a bright one from your standpoint and ours.

BIG GUNS A BURDEN.

Expensive to Build and Test and Soon Get Out of Gear.

"When a big gun is made it becomes a perpetual charge on the expense account of the government," remarked the inspector of naval ordnance. "It costs a lot to make it, too, to try it when it is mounted, and its extreme limit of life is 100 shots. The largest guns we make now are twelve inch. They are from forty to fifty feet long, and the weight of the gun will cause it to droop and in a few years render it useless. It has to be sent back to the ordnance yard at intervals to have its rifling 'trued up.' Even the toughest steel, with the highest elastic limit and greatest tensile strength, will bend under its own weight. If you support a bar of steel even a few inches long at both ends for a long time it will curve down in the center to a degree that cannot indeed be detected without the aid of precise instruments, but it will take a permanent set, and a gun does the same thing in a greater measure. When we try a gun the armor makers furnish the plate, the gunmaker the gun, the shellmakers the projectile and the government the powder. The total cost of a shot is approximately $1,000, and we usually fire three shots at different distances.

"The shell is casehardened at its point and now carries a charge of oleaginous graphite in its nose, which breaks at the moment of impact and oils the hole in the armor. The patent on that graphite scheme cost the government $50,000. The shell simply bores its way through the armor, and its progress is aided very materially by the graphite. The navy exacts armor that can't be pierced and shells that will go through anything, so we have about arrived at the paradox of an irresistible force meeting an impenetrable body. As a result the few makers of this high quality of steel are now able to furnish from the plants constructed under the fostering care of the government a much higher grade of steel to the trade than ever before. The tensile strength and the elastic limit of steel have been raised in the general market from 50,000 pounds a square inch to 275,000 for one and from 45,000 to 185,000 pounds a square inch for the other within a few years, and this as an indirect result of the government's exactions.

"It's very seldom a gun is fired after it is mounted. Gun pointers are used for drill, and once or twice a year the gun is used for actual target practice and fired once or possibly twice. But it is too expensive a machine to use for practice when there are exact ways of testing the range and accuracy by triangulation and the known qualities of the powder and other factors that apply to it and which are preserved from its first test."

THE PLATO FAD.

A new phenomenon is about to be witnessed in English life, says the London Express. Having tried palmistry, crystal gazing, Christian Science, bridge and party politics, society is about to study Plato. A dozen or so of the leading women of the aristocracy, including the Duchess of Sutherland and the Duchess of Marlborough, have formed a committee to organize the philosophic movement, and Dr. Emil Reich, the well known historian, who lectures in the London university, is to give a series of addresses at Claridge's hotel, to be followed by discussion, in which the peeresses will take part. It is expected that this will be merely the prelude to the formation of philosophic circles in other grades of society and that the study of Plato will before long become an established feature of London life.

Too Thin.

There is a representative in congress from the west who is exceedingly thin. Being a very good natured man, this representative always takes in good part any joking reference to his slenderness. Indeed he is not averse to a jest himself in the connection, as is illustrated by an incident that occurred in a street car in Washington.

It appears that just as the car was rounding a curve a burly citizen lurched forward and sat in the congressman's lap. He recovered himself quickly and began a profuse apology, when he was interrupted by the statesman's cheery "That's all right."

"But," added the congressman plaintively, "I wish, my friend, that you'd tell me whether you thought I was painted on the seat."—Harper's Weekly.

Biggest Mill In the World.

On the banks of the Merrimack river at South Lawrence, Mass., the American Woolen company is building a mill which makes most other American buildings seem small in comparison. This one mill is 1,900 feet—considerably over a third of a mile—in length. It has a width of 150 feet, is six stories in height and will cost $3,500,000.

This mill will give employment to 6,000 persons, and to save the time and strength of the thousands who will be employed on the upper floors escalators will be provided which will lift 4,000 of them to the fourth, fifth and sixth stories in five minutes. Engines of 10,000 horsepower will actuate the machinery, all transmission of power being by electricity.—Hartford Times.

A THRILLING RIDE.

Swept Down a Mountain Side on a Colorado Snowslide.

"My first experience with a snowslide was at Creede, Colo.," writes Dr. J. Q. Allen of Telluride, in that state. "I, with three other men, was on the side of a mountain looking at some mining property. We were above timber line and about halfway from the bottom of the gulch to the top of the mountain. I did not think at the time of danger, as the snow where we were was only about eighteen inches deep. The field suddenly cracked, and the snow below us moved down a foot or two. This took away the support of an immense mass of snow above us, where it had blown over the top of the ridge to a depth of fifteen or twenty feet. It broke at the crest of the ridge, and all the snow on our side of the mountain curved around us in a circular manner, and the width of the slide was more than 1,000 feet, we being in the center.

"I glanced up on hearing the snow break and, acting upon my first impulse, turned my back to the avalanche. It struck me first on the legs, and I sprang into the air as high as I could. The mass passed under me, and by the terrific rush of the snow I was kept on the top all the way down into the gulch, about 500 feet. I was the only one free and proceeded to dig the others out. As the snow frequently packs after running almost to the consistency of ice, this was no easy matter.

"It happened that the man next to me was buried in a perpendicular position with only his hair visible. I had to free his body down to the ankles before I could pull him out. The last man reached was dead when extricated. The rest of us escaped with slight bruises. It was the next July before articles we lost were found."—Chicago News.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

Office of Comptroller of the Currency.

Washington, D. C., April 5th, 1906.—Whereas, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the National Bank of Greenville in the town of Greenville, in the county of Pitt and State of North Carolina, has complied with all the provisions of the statutes of the United States, required to be complied with before an association shall be authorized to commence the business of banking; Now therefore I, Thomas P. Kane, Deputy and Acting Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that The National Bank of Greenville, in the town of Greenville, in the county of Pitt and State of North Carolina, is authorized to commence the business of banking as provided in section fifty-one hundred and sixty-nine of the Revised Statutes of the United States. In testimony whereof witness my hand and seal of office this 5th day of April, 1906. T. P. KANE, Deputy and Acting Comptroller of the Currency.

Embarrassing.

A funny story is going the rounds in which the chief actors were one of the judges of the high court and a well known barrister. During the hearing of a case the judge left his seat to look for a law book and for a few minutes was hidden by the screen. Just as he disappeared from view the barrister hurried into court and, seeing the vacant chair, remarked in a loud tone, with characteristic testiness:

"What! Is the old fool gone to luncheon?"

To his chagrin the judge popped his head around the screen and, with a smile that was childlike and bland, replied:

"No—he has not gone yet."—London Tit-Bits.

BLACKBURN'S HIT AT PRICHARD.

When shown the article which appeared in The Salisbury Post, in which Judge Pritchard is quoted as confirming the story of his declination to speak to the congressman, Mr. Blackburn observed with a decided trait of bitterness in his words, "I do not care to discuss the matter. If the judge finds comfort in making the incident an object for comment, it is a matter of indifference to me. I am not a judge upon the bench, but I am content to know that I have not violated the laws of the land, nor have I plead ignorance of the law, or taken shelter behind the statute of limitations."—Washington Special to Charlotte Observer.

Nothing too GOOD

FOR

OUR CUSTOMERS

we are always looking for something better; always working to secure values and styles superior to other stores. when

The Ladies Home Journal

began to sell paper patterns we began to investigate. we said to ourselves,

 THE LADIES HOME JOURNAL

is the leading Womens Magazine. It is first class and has never done anything in a second class way. We knew that its reputation was at stake. Our investigation convinced us that the patterns are as high grade as the Magazine

Furthermore the Ladies Home Journal added a new feature which makes these patterns much more desirable than any other pattern. They furnish a Guide Chart free with each pattern. This Chart shows exactly how the pattern is to be put together. It is so comprehensive that a child can understand it. It is a boon to ladies who are inexperienced in garment cutting and garment making. Mothers advise us that by the aid of the Guide Chart furnished with each

LADIES HOME JOURNAL

They train their daughters to do their own sewing

But there is still another point to consider. The patterns are all new, no old styles, no ancient creations; all new, all up-to-date and perfect in fit and style, and so much more easily understood than other patterns that one trial will convince you and make you a regular customer
