On last Sunday evening at eight o'clock at the residence of Mr. Samuel Manning, the father of the bride, Mr. Alexander Harris and Miss Debbie Manning were happily married, Elder T. N. Manning performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. They will live in Winterville.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

On Monday morning between 2 and 3 o'clock, a mob of two hundred masked men, at Wadesboro, assaulted the sheriff, battered down the jail door and took John V. Johnson, a white man, out and carried him about a mile from town and lynched him, after which his body was riddled with bullets and terribly slashed and mutilated.

Charlotte, N. C. May 28.—One of the oldest negroes in the entire South, Aunt Jaze Porter, who lives in Mecklenburg county, is dead at the advanced age of one hundred and ten years. She was born a few years after the Revolutionary war and has the distinction of having reached a more advanced age than any person in all this section. Up to the age of one hundred years the old woman was in the best of health and went about with the ease of a young robust person.

Two bad fires occurred here this morning in one of which one fatality happened. The first alarm was sounded after midnight in a section of the city inhabited almost exclusively by negroes. Four houses were totally destroyed and another house was badly damaged. The loss is estimated at $2,500. After the fire had been extinguished the remains of a woman were found in one of the buildings. She has not yet been identified, as she had only been in the house a few days.—New Bern Journal.

GRIMESLAND ITEMS.

GRIMESLAND, N. C., May 29.

Rev. J. B. Respass, of Pantego, filled his regular appointment at the Christian church at their place Sunday morning.

Mrs. C. R. Elks and children, of Chocowinity, spent Friday night with Mrs. W. S. Elks.

Miss Cadie Holliday, of this place, is visiting Mrs. C. G. Morris, of Washington,

From what we can hear we are to have some new neighbors on Broad street.

We will not take space to tell you of the drummers that visit our town, for they are like the—we have them always with us.

Russia is to have parliamentary government, but the czar draws the line at hobnobbing with the representatives of the people.—New York Tribune.

A COW'S DOUBLE DUTY.

How a South Carolina Man Makes His Cow Do Double Work.

An old colored man down in Darlington county, S. C., is working a milk cow to the limit. He plows the cow until about noon then hitches her up to a wagon and carries a load of wood to town, goes back home and plows the old cow until nearly night and then drives her to town with another load of wood on which is a bucket of butter, the produce of yesterday's milking, from that same work cow. That darkey works his cow almost as hard as some North Carolina politicians are working the old prohibition cow.—Mourne Enquirer.

OAKLEY ITEMS.

OAKLEY, N. C., May 29, 1906.—This section is full of potato bugs and drummers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Roebuck spent Sunday here with their daughter, Mrs. H. A. Gray.

The rain has come, the next thing is grass.

L. B. Williams returned home Sunday after spending a few days in Martin county.

C. H. Ross returned to Charleston, S. C., last week after spending several days here on business.

E. Rodgers has been sick but is much better.

James Congleton, of Robersonville, was here Saturday.

The C. B. H. met here in their hall on the 26th with quite a good attendance.

Mrs. Nancy Williamson, of Bethel, visited Mrs. Sallie Williams here last week.

We are very glad to note that Mrs. Nash Hardy is very much improved.

Miss Daisy Parker has returned from Joldsboro where she has been visiting friends for some time.

There was no service at Oak Grove Sunday.

Miss Rosa Skinner, one of Ayden's charming young ladies, is spending a few days in this, old Pitt's garden spot.

J. J. Jones and T. F. Nelson went fishing last week in Grindle creek. They muddied the creek a distance of 10 miles, brought home as many as two horses could pull, to say nothing of the two or three wagon loads given away. They will muddy the Roanoke next week from Plymouth to Weldon.

We now have water works and soon will have lights, of course moonlight.

I am no farmer, but I know a few things. I have seen some nice corn and rye of late. It came in a jug, though.

To Church Members.

All members of the Baptist church are earnestly requested to be at the church tonight, that final arrangements may be made for welcoming the pastor and his bride who will return on Friday evening.

China claims to have coal enough to last the world 1,000 years. It's a shame for China to jar the coal trust in that way just at the time when the poor trust has no friends.—Atlanta Journal.

GRIMESLAND PUBLIC SCHOOL

Closes With Splendid Concert.

The public school at Grimesland taught by Miss Ada Ward closed Tuesday night with a splendid concert. An immense crowd was present and every feature of the exercises was greatly enjoyed.

After all had been comfortably seated in the beautifully decorated hall, Fred Jones, one of the pupils delivered a brief address of welcome. Following this Mr. W. M. Moore, one of the school committee men, introduced Prof. W. H. Ragsdale who spoke for half an hour. As usual he gave his hearers much to think about. He congratulated the community upon the large enrollment of the school and the good work done, but impressed the fact that to keep pace with the educational movement and the progress of the times in which we live, Grimesland must go forward by erecting a large school building that will accommodate all the children of the community and the number of teachers increased proportionately.

Following the address the concert was given by the pupils with this program:

Song, The school.
Recitation, "When Pa Begins to Shave," Hassell Gibson.
Dialogue, "Taking the Census," Helen Boyd and Elijah Proctor.
Recitation, "I Heard Them Counted," Maggie Moore.
Song, Miss Louise Ward.
Play, Godmother's Story Book Characters
Dorothy, Mary Proctor.
Godmother, Dollie Hodges.
Red Riding Hood, Blanch Proctor.

Babes in the Woods, Henry Whichard and Ethel Godley.
Aladdin, Knott Proctor.
Jack the giant killer, Herman Sawyer.
Cinderella, Moley Boyd.
Sleeping Beauty, Susie Proctor.
Golden Hair, Emma Carson.
Tom Thumb, Ed Sawyer.

Recitation, "The Deacon's Courtship," Elijah Proctor.
Song, Miss Myrtie Proctor.
Pantomime, Several girls.
Recitation, "The Man at the Plough," Holt Faucette.
Cradle Song, Several girls.
Dialogue, "Mind Your Own Business," Class.
Recitation, "The Inventor's Wife," Lucy Anderson.
Recitation, "What shall I do?" Ed Sawyer.

Drill, Eighteen boys and girls.
Recitation, Several boys.
Recitation, Mary Proctor.
Tableau, Several Girls.
Song, "Good Night" Several boys.

Vocal and instrumental music, Misses Proctor, Moore and Ward. Just before the conclusion of the program Miss Ward in a few words thanked the committee of the school for the manner they had supported her work, to all who had helped her in making the closing exercises a success, to the people and to Superintendent Ragsdale for their interest.

Miss Ward has had a remarkable school that tested her efficiency as a teacher. The enrollment was above 60, and the excellence of the

PERSONAL MENTION

Of Those Coming and Going.

Walter Johnson returned from Dover Tuesday evening.

E. G. Flaagan returned from Wilson this morning.

A. J. Moore returned from Charlotte Tuesday evening.

Mr. J. Z. Gardner and children left this morning for Oak City to visit relatives.

Ex-Gov. and Mrs. T. J. Jarvis returned from Birmingham, Ala, this morning.

Miss Jenkins, of Conetoe, who had been visiting Misses Bertha and Fessie Patrick left Tuesday evening.

RUNAWAY MARRIAGE.

Virginia and Carolina Wed at Ayden.

At Hotel Bertha Tuesday night there were a bride and groom who run away from Kinston to get married. The groom was Mr. E. I. Jones, a travelling man with headquarters at Richmond, and the bride Miss Eunice Chadwick, of Kinston.

It is the same old story. The couple were in love, there was objection to the marriage by relatives of the young lady, an elopement was planned and carried out. Mr. Jones came to Greenville from up the road on Monday evening's train and spent the night here. Next day he procured a marriage license, obtained a carriage and horses and started toward Grifton. In the meantime Miss Chadwick left Kinston in a buggy with a friend and came in this direction. The two teams met in the road somewhere between Grifton and Ayden when Miss Chadwick left the buggy and took a seat in the carriage with Mr. Jones. They turned about and drove back to Ayden and were married on arrival there by Rev. B. E. Stanfield. They continued their journey to Greenville and spent the night here.

Garfish Chases Muskrat.

Mr. J. Frank Webb is responsible for the following remarkable story, which he vouches for;

He was going up the river Saturday, in a gasoline launch, and noticed a muskrat apparently greatly excited coming down the river at a rapid rate, diving and swimming. Close behind the muskrat was a large garfish bent on its capture and the chase continued until the muskrat shot into his hole in a hollow log on the edge of the water. The garfish started into the hole after the rat and got his head hung and could go neither way. Mr. Webb took a boat hook and struck the large fish and tried to fasten him but he got away.—Kinston Free Press.

Too many so-called progressive people are always looking for an opportunity to butt in.

closing concert showed the thoroughness of the work she had done. Grimesland is a prosperous town and making fine advance both educationally and commercially.

J. B. JOHNSTON,

Not Even Standing Room.

A traveler on an electric car had a seat next an old negro couple, whose earnest voices attracted his attention. "I tell yo', Sam, dat's one ob yo' mod'n notions. I ain't got no patience wif dese yere mod'n notions," said the old "mammy."

"And I say again, just like I done say'd befo'," replied Sam, "dat I seen it in de newspaper."

"Yo' mean foh t' tell me dat yo' seen in de paper how folks was a-livin' on de moon?"

"Yas'm, dese yere wise folks say people am a-livin' on de moon. An' what's mo', dey say de moon is crowded wif 'em."

The old lady's eyes gleamed suddenly in triumph.

"Den ef dat's de case, Sam, whah do all dem people go when de moon dwindles down t' a little streak?"—Youth's Companion.

Honey Dew on Leaves.

The peculiar deposit often noticed on the upper surfaces of leaves, especially upon those of the basswood and the hickory, has been accounted for in two ways—by the excretion of a species of a minute insect called aphides and also as an exudation of the leaves themselves. It may be truthfully said that the cause of this exudation, which is a saccharine liquid of wonderful sweetness, is still an unsolved botanical mystery. Gray says, "It seems to be caused by something peculiar in the atmosphere that occurs most frequently on trees growing upon islands in temperate latitudes."

A Good Reason.

A boaster related to an admiring crowd some of his marvelous deeds. Afterward a smaller man who knew him well remarked to a friend that the boaster, to his certain knowledge, had never done the things he had claimed to have done. "And why," said the friend, "didn't you call him a liar then and there and let the crowd know just what sort of a man he is?" "For the simple reason," answered the small man, "that my nose is of a blamed sight more importance to me than his reputation is to him!"

Polishing Windows.

Wash the glass with plenty of strong soapsuds and rinse with clean water. Soap enough should be used in the first place to dissolve all the grease and dirt that may be on the glass, and the rinsing will be an easy matter. The polishing requires more exertion and should be done with soft paper, not newspaper, or clean old cotton that is free from lint. When newspapers are used the ink is very apt to smooch more or less and leave the glass as bad as it was in the first place.

Skin Food.

For skin food melt half an ounce each of white wax and spermaceti, an ounce of coconut oil and one of lanolin over hot water. Take from the fire and while warm add half an ounce each of elder flower water and alcohol, with, lastly, four drops tincture benzoin. Beat with wire egg beater until smooth and creamy, perfuming with violet or rose extract. It should be used at night after a thorough cleaning of the skin.

SINS OF THE BIG RICH.

The Episcopalians of Indiana, in their diocesan convention, are passing resolutions that show that this body, among others, realizes the danger that confronts Christian churches in the fact that so large a per cent. of its membership is made up of men whose business methods are at best questionable, and, in many instances, absolutely indefensible. We heard the statement the other day from a reliable source that investigation shows that most of the shameful instances of graft and betrayal of financial interests committed to their keeping are furnished by men prominent in a church which is known far and wide for the strict orthodoxy of its creed. And if this be true of such a church, certainly it would seem to indicate that the church universal needs to utter its notes of warning and not merely to anathematize in general and to fulminate against the sins of its big rich, but to proceed to action of a more definite kind and to particularize in a way that will show that acts and business methods of certain kinds are not only inconsistent with a Christian profession, but a continuance in or the pursuit of the same will lead to ecclesiastical discipline or exclusion from membership in the Christian church.—Charlotte Chronicle.

ACCOMPANIMENTS OF EARTHQUAKES.

There undoubtedly is some connection between earthquakes and volcanic disturbances, for when there are great explosions with large extrusions of lava and other matter there is often great disturbance in the vicinity, and very severe earthquakes result. In fact, the most frequent earthquakes today are in volcanic regions. As to the relations between volcanic disturbances in one part of the world and earthquakes in another, the evidence is somewhat conflicting. Yet it is a notable fact that the earthquake in the Mississippi valley, in 1811-12, ceased when the volcano of St. Vincent, in the West Indies, broke out, and there is perhaps a suggestive coincidence between the eruption of Vesuvius and the earthquake in San Francisco.

The tidal disturbances that frequently accompany earthquakes may be due to distinct seismic outbreaks on the floor of the ocean, but often are simply the reaction against vibrations received from the shore. This rebounding energy frequently brings to the shore a tidal wave half a hundred feet high, which washes over the coast and adds to the damage of the shock. Such a catastrophe was popularly feared in connection with San Francisco, but with little reason, as the Golden Gate and the heights of Golden Gate Park would have diminished or repelled a large sized tidal wave.—From "Our Unstable Terra Firma," by N. H. Darton, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for June.

About three miles from Mobile, Ala., Sunday afternoon during the progress of a ball game in an open field, a thunderstorm came up accompanied by vivid lightning which struck in the midst of the crowd of spectators, instantly killing five and injuring some 25 more or less seriously. The field was strewn with bits of shoes and clothing from those who were killed or seriously injured and the bodies of the dead presented a terrible spectacle, being burned in numerous places. A silver dollar taken from the pocket of one of the victims was melted on both sides. Three of those killed were white, two being brothers, and two were negroes.

A Card.

At the request of a few friends, I take this method of announcing myself as a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds for Pitt county, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries and the county convention. If nominated, I will be elected, and will faithfully perform the duties of said office. Being busy with farm work, I shall make no active canvass for the nomination, but trust that some friend in each township will see that I have a showing.

If he has two or more he ought to have a Serge Suit among them

It might seem as though we were trying to make the Serge Suit out a paragon of all the virtues. It is really—at least

THE SECURITY BOND SUIT.

Our now popular Mrs. Jane Hopkins "Security" Bond Suit originated last season in an attempt to furnish progressive dealers with a really meritorious boy's suit that can be sold at $5.00 with an unconditional guarantee of satisfaction or money back should the suit prove defective. After considerable experimenting as to fabrics, tailoring, improved features, such as

Double seats, double knees extra strong thread, linings waist band, etc.

We succeeded in producing a guaranteed boy's suit that is proving a tremendous success with dealers now selling it. The "security" bond suit is good because it is so thoroughly reinforced throughout. Our success of last season has encouraged us to still greater efforts, and we are determined that the future of the Mrs. Jane Hopkins "Security Bond Suit" shall be a bright one from your standpoint and ours.

That All Night Bank.

That all night bank in New York continues to call for a good deal of comment. Here's hoping the thing won't work. Nights are like Sunday in this country, too little observed. Give us more people resting and sleeping at night and more people observing Sunday as it ought to be observed and this country will be to that extent better off. If New York must lead in every innovation, let it start the pendulum back the other way from the direction in which it has been propelling it so long—Greensboro Telegram.

Two Sunsets in One Day.

The town of Leek, in Staffordshire, England, has the rare privilege at a certain season of the year of witnessing two sunsets in one day. Between the town and the western horizon there is a high mountain, and when the sun dips behind the crest night begins to fall and the lamps are lighted. An hour or two later the sun shines in all its glory through an opening in the hills and out go the lamps until the second sunset brings night in reality.

Might Have Been in the Senate.

Mrs. William Alden Smith, wife of Representative William Alden Smith of Michigan, frightened a burglar out of her home at 3 o'clock this morning, says the Washington correspondence of the New York World. She heard suspicious noise in the house, and upon going to investigate scared the burglar. Because of this, members of the House are repeating a story told them by Mr. Smith.

She thought she heard burglars in the house and awakened her husband;

"Get up William Alden!" she said; "get up! There are robbers in the house"

"No, no, my dear," Representative Smith said sleepily. "There may be in the Senate, but certainly there are none in the House"

HUMAN HAPPINESS.

Is It Coupled With Love or Wealth or Ambition?

What is happiness? It all depends upon what you consider happiness. The peasantry of the continent place money possession far above all other sources of happiness. Woman, art, music, power, ambition, are absolutely nothing to the peasant of France or Hungary compared with possession of money. Balsac, in "Eugenie Grandet," has drawn this terrible passion in the character of old Grandet, who lived and died for one thing—money.

The Greeks despised people who liked to live alone, the Cyclops, arguing that they could not be happy. Yet Diogenes of Corinth, according to Dionysius, was perfectly happy, for he had learned a recipe for happiness—"Despise the world, despise self, despise being despised." Why the Greeks were the happiest people the world saw was because they lived a life of only one dimension, while people today live in three or more—the state, society and the church.

To use a musical simile, the ancient Greek life was a legato; ours is a staccato. The Greek life was like an andante of Mozart; ours is like a furious, agitating scherzo. In some countries life is not only staccato, but ten times worse.

The middle ages invented women. In ancient Greece women had no standing at all. Plato knew nothing of the notion that women might make man happy.

Love is full of the most amazing contrasts and contradictions—the dark man passionately admires the blond woman, the short man the amazon, the man of the north the beauty of the south. The young man whose youth has been solitary is shocked when he meets a young girl full of life and briskness. He should have danced and amused himself with the society of women. Men always love the same type. No matter how many different women they love, the type never varies.

The opposite of love is ambition. Men after forty or forty-five and women after twenty-five or thirty lose love and acquire ambition.—Lecture of Dr. Emil Reich in London.

He Did It Well.

During the civil war a Mr. Wertenberger kept a restaurant in a central Indiana town. As all commodities were high at that period, in consequence of an inflated currency, his pie crust had no more shortening in it than was absolutely necessary, lard costing 25 cents a pound and more. One day a transient customer came in and called for pie, which was served to him, and he set out to devour it forthwith. But the crust was so short of shortening that he could not get his fork through it. He struggled with it manfully for a few minutes and then laid down his knife and fork in despair.

"Mr. Landlord," he declared at length, "I'd like to know who in thunder tans your pies!"—Everybody's Magazine.

Fools Tempered in Sealing Wax.

Engravers in Germany harden their tools in sealing wax. The tool is heated to whiteness and plunged into the wax, withdrawn in an instant and plunged in again, the process being repeated until the steel is too cold to enter the wax. The steel is said to become after this process almost as hard as the diamond, and when touched with a little oil or turpentine the tools are excellent for engraving purposes, and they are able to pierce the hardest metals.

CONDENSED STORIES.

Congressman Champ Clark Is Moved to Tell a Story.

"The recent outbursts from the orators of the Republican party against tariff revision remind me of the story of the old Irish woman who thought her dying husband insane," Representative Champ Clark of Missouri said.

"The old woman, a covetous old soul, was in the room listening to her husband making his last will and testament.

"LUKE BROWN OWES ME $80."

"Now, tell me exactly what is owing you," the lawyer said.

"Timothy Brown owes me $300," answered the old man. "Casey owes me $175, and—"

"Good, good," interrupted the prospective widow. "Rational to the last!"

"Luke Brown owes me $80," continued the old man.

"Rational, rational!" again interrupted the old woman.

"To Mike Lafferty I owe $375"—

"Ah," interrupted the old woman, "hear him rave, hear him rave!"—New York World.

Played a Neat Game.

Congressman Ruppert of New York in one of the cloakrooms the other day told a yarn about J. L. Robbins of the Robbins shipyard, in Brooklyn. He was in the Adirondacks and developed into the worst golf player ever seen in those parts, and that is saying a great deal. They had a match for a silver cup and the championship of the Lake Placid links. Robbins entered, and the committee gave him a handicap of 85 for a joke.

Robbins went away for a couple of weeks before the match. Then he came back, played in the match and won the cup with a card that showed 82—that is, his net score after the handicap had been subtracted was three less than nothing, which, said Congressman Ruppert, "is going some."

"You see," Ruppert continued, "Robbins went to New York, put himself in the hands of a professional and did nothing but play golf for the two weeks he was away. Then he went back and cleaned up the smart Alecks who handicapped him at 85."

Everybody Ready to Dicker.

Many years ago in central Maine a man started out to sell oilcloth table covers throughout the country at 50 cents a cover. After traveling all day without selling one a happy thought struck him. He would charge a dollar and take half the pay in castoff shoes. The result was that people imagined they were getting some return from their old shoes and there was a general ransacking of attics, and table covers went like hot cakes. But the old shoes? Well, wherever he found a convenient hole beside the road, out of sight, he pulled up his cart and dumped the lot.

An Appropos Suggestion.

He was undoubtedly a very wicked little boy, and although his mother had plentifully besprinkled his bedroom with texts he still kept on his boyish escapades, necessitating a frequent use of the cane. "Ma," he inquired thoughtfully one day after a rather more severe thrashing than usual, "don't you think you might move the cane from behind 'Love One Another' and put it at the back of 'We Need Shoes Every Hour'?"

Alexandrite.

A popular but rare stone is the alexandrite, which owes its name to quite a peculiar series of coincidences. On the day of the coming of age of the Emperor Alexander of Russia the discovery of a new variety of mineral was made in the emerald mines of the Catherine mountains. This stone varied in color from emerald to the darkest green, having often a reddish tint. Its especial peculiarity is that when exposed to artificial light its color changes entirely to a beautiful red. As green and red are the national colors of Russia and in commemorative honor of the day on which the stone was discovered, the name alexandrite was given the mineral and the custom inaugurated of submitting all the finer specimens to the emperor for his selection before dealers are allowed to purchase.

A Snub For Royalty.

Once during Heine's stay at Munich the poet and his writings came up for discussion at the dinner table of the Bavarian royal family. On the conclusion of dinner most of those present expressed a wish to make the acquaintance of the poet. One of the princesses who was rather fond of having notabilities about her at once offered to send for him. A royal servant was immediately dispatched to invite Heine to come to the castle and partake of coffee with the royal family. On receiving the invitation the poet coolly answered, "My dear friend, please present my humble respects to her highness and say that it is my custom to take coffee where I have also dined."

The Other Obstacle.

A handsome young shopman was recently made love to by a buxom widow, when he politely informed her that there were two impediments to their union.

"Name them," said the widow.

"The want of means to set up in business is the first," he said.

They parted, and the widow sent him a check for a good sum.

When they met again the young man had taken a house and stocked his shop, and the smiling fair one then ventured to inquire as to the other impediment.

"My wife!" was the rascal's reply.

—Spare Moments.

To Relieve Thirst.

It is noticed that pure cold water, even when iced, does not relieve thirst as well as when something is added. Lemonade, toast water, barley water or apple tea is often better for relieving feverish thirst and sometimes are valuable because they have a slight amount of nourishment. Do not drink a drop of water that has stood in a bedroom overnight, because it has absorbed the poison exhaled by the body.

Care of the Eyes.

When the eyes ache close them for five minutes. When they burn bathe them in hot water, as hot as can be borne, with a dash of witch hazel in it. After weeping bathe them in rose water and lay a towel wet in rose water over them for five minutes. When they are bloodshot sleep more. When the whites are yellow and the pupils dull look to your diet.

Removing Freckles.

Freckles require constant attention. You drive them away and some sunny morning they find you and come back again. A lotion that is easily made and one that is very effective is: One dram of borax, one-half fluid ounce of diluted acetic acid, one-half fluid ounce of rose water. Put on the face several times a day with a soft little velvet sponge.

To Remove Lime From Glass.

To remove lime whitewash from glass make a thin paste of flour and water and then add a generous quantity of alum dissolved in water. Stir well together, apply this with a large brush and allow it to remain until the lime is softened and scrub with a brush. Another way is to rub the lime with powdered pumice and water.

A "Cusser" Wanted.

J. W. B. Battle is doing such a thinking that this paper cannot put into words his thoughts. He purchased a car load of farm supplies, and Thursday, had his teams to take off half of it.

This morning the teams returned, but when they went to find the car, it was not to be found.

Mr. Battle ascertained later that by mistake the car had been taken to Norfolk supposing it to be empty. We rejoice that we were not near when this intelligence was communicated to our friend—Tarboro Southerner.

A Snake in Church.

At one of our colored places of worship a few Sundays since considerable commotion was excited when attention was drawn to the door, where a good sized snake was making its entrance, regardless of all surroundings. Before the reptile was dispatched some were inclined to a remembrance of the Garden of Eden and were of the opinion that the devil was paying the congregation a visit. It was in truth a peculiar occurrence, and but for the valor of a few, there would have been mere service at that church that day, and likely, for many days to come.—Winston Republican.

Nothing too GOOD

FOR

OUR CUSTOMERS

we are always looking for something better; always working to secure values and styles superior to other stores. when

The Ladies Home Journal

began to sell paper patterns we began to investigate. we said to ourselves,

 THE LADIES HOME JOURNAL

is the leading Womens Magazine. It is first class and has never done anything in a second class way. We knew that its reputation was at stake. Our investigation convinced us that the patterns are as high grade as a Magazine

Furthermore the Ladies Home Journal added a new feature which makes these patterns much more desirable than any other pattern. They furnish a Guide Chart free with each pattern. This Chart shows exactly how the pattern is to be put together. It is so comprehensive that a child can understand it. It is a boon to ladies who are inexperienced in garment cutting and garment making. Mothers advise us that by the aid of the Guide Chart furnished with each

LADIES HOME JOURNAL

They train their daughters to do their own sewing

But there is still another point to consider. The patterns are all new, no old styles, no ancient creations; all new, all up-to-date and perfect in fit and style, and so much more easily understood than other patterns that one trial will convince you and make you a regular customer
