DEDICATION OF A MAGNIFICENT CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH.

Boston, Mass., June 10th.—The dedication today of a magnificent new addition to the Mother church of the Christian Science denomination, in Boston, is an event of the highest significance in the history of this religious body. The interest of all Christian Scientists is centered on Boston and thousands from all parts of the world are thronging the historic old city. The regular communion of the Christian Science church always brings a multitude of its adherents to Boston, but the dedication of the new structure this year has made the attendance unusually large.

Built as the result of a spontaneous recognition of Mrs. Eddy's life work and of the imperative demands of the marvelous growth of the movement, expressing the liberality of thousands of Chris-walls are Concord granite and Bedford stone, with beautiful decorative carvings. The inside finish is a soft gray to harmonize with the Bedford stone columns supporting the dome. The height of the building to the top of the lantern, is 224 feet, just one foot higher than Bunker Hill monument. The dome is 82 feet in diameter and is covered with terra cotta to match the Bedford stone. The building presents a stately, dignified and impressive appearance, and it is already recognized as one of the landmarks of Boston.

The first floor contains the various offices, a large foyer, Sunday school room, cloak rooms, etc. There are twelve exits and seven staircases. The cost of the building is something less than two million dollars. The new chimes consist of eleven bells made by the Meneely Bell Co., of Troy, N. Y. The largest bell, which is a sharp, weight 4000 lbs. The smallest bell weighs 490 lbs. The organ is necessarily one of the largest in utilizes the word Mind thus making it synonymous with deity and thus designating the divine Mind as the only cause or creator. It follows, in her philosophy, that the universe is in reality spiritual though it does not so appear to our present immature apprehension. Christian Science thus bases its entire modus operandi upon the proposition that God is the only real Mind. In Christian Science it is maintained that through the realization of the supremacy of the divine Mind healing is effected even as light dispels the darkness, on the basis that light is real while darkness is unreal and therefore cannot remain in its presence. Thus it is that in Christian Science healing there is no pretence of human force, but rather a yielding of human will to the divine.

History declares that from early childhood Mrs. Eddy had been spiritually inclined and that even in her youthful days she was interested in deep, religious subjects and philosophic study. One who knew her well in her girlhood has referred to her gift of expression as very marked, and that she often conversed with her pastor upon subjects which were too deep for him to follow. Her superior ability, her breadth and independence of thought, and her spiritual-mindedness, were all prophetic of that eminence as a teacher, an organizer and a leader to which she has attained, and to those who have followed the course of events in the advance of the Christian Science movement, Mrs. Eddy's far-seeing wisdom, initiative insight and executive ability have become more and more impressive.

REMARKABLE GROWTH.

The original "Mother Church" which adjoins the new building seats about 1200, and yet three Sunday services are required to accommodate the attendance. It is said that when this edifice was planned some of the members were disturbed on account of its size. They thought that the provision of so large an auditorium was entirely uncalled for, the attendance at that time being only about 550.

Mrs. Eddy organized first church of Christian Scientist in Boston in 1879 with twenty six members. So slow was the growth of the movement at first that in 1889, ten years later, there were only eleven churches. From that time, however, the growth was more rapid. In 1899, there were 301 churches. At the present time, 1906, there are 657 churches and 275 societies not yet organized, as churches, making 932 societies holding church services. In 1889 there were only 450 members in the entire connection. In 1894 the total membership was 2,536. Five years later it had reached 18,134. These figures show that the principal growth has taken place during the past seven years. The membership at the present time is about 72,000, but that there are multitudes interested in the movement outside of the actual church membership is evidenced by the large attendance at the Christian Science services and the fact that nearly 400,000 copies of the Christian Science text book are at present in circulation.

The dedicatory exercises today will be attended by visitors from all parts of the United States and Canada, from Great Britain, Australia, Sweden, Denmark, France, Germany, Switzerland, the Hawaiian Islands, South America and other foreign countries. It is said that they will not come simply to see the church edifice or for the exclusive purpose of being present at the dedicatory service, but largely to show their interest in the movement, their respect for its Leader and to further their understanding of Christian Science.

Today is the date of the annual communion service and in addition to the usual service and the dedicatory address there will be added the characteristic communion of the Christian Scientists, which consists of a silent service during which the entire congregation kneels in self-examination and communion with God. This part of the service closes with the repetition of the Lord's Prayer in unison.

THE ATTITUDE OF CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS TOWARD THEIR LEADER.

Christian Scientists are particularly careful to deny the allegation that their attitude toward Mrs. Eddy is other than that of grateful and loving recognition of their debt to her and respect for her undoubted ability. In a recent letter to the directors of the Mother Church, Mrs. Eddy herself says "Now is the time to throttle the lie that students worship me, or that I claim their homage." In keeping with this thought Mrs. Eddy issued the following statement, which appeared in the Science Sentinel of April 28th, 1906.

"To the beloved members of my Church, The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston: Divine Love bids me say,—Assemble not at the residence of your Pastor Emeritus, at or about the time of our Annual Meeting and Communion service, for the divine and not the human should engage our attention at this sacred season of prayer and praise."

A casual observer cannot fail to recognize that to the skill of Mrs. Eddy as an organizer and to her genius as a religious leader is due the present impetus of the Christian Science movement, and the completion of the splendid edifice dedicated in Boston today, may be counted among her most brilliant achievements, for the funds which were thus expended have been given as an expression of appreciation and love for her no less than in recognition of the needs of this great movement, the credit for the initiation and successful guidance of which is due this remarkable woman.

WHOSE DOGS?

Killed His Own Instead of His Neighbor's.

There is a good joke going around on a certain gentleman in town. This particular gentleman is quite a poultry fancier and takes much pride in his nice broods of chickens. Lately upon arising in the morning he found several of his chickens dead, and had been telling friends how the neighbor's dogs were troubling him and how he was going to put a stop to it.

One morning he arose before day and armed with a shot gun got out in his poultry yard to watch for the dogs. As it grew lighter the chickens began to leave their roosts and it was not long before there was something doing. Over on one side of the yard a dog was seen to slip up and catch a chicken. Bang went the gun and over went the dog, the light of dawn being sufficient for accurate aim.

A little later another dog caught a chicken in another part of the yard when the gun again came into play and the second dog bit the dust. Imagine the gentleman's surprise when he went to investigate and found he had killed two of his own dogs, and he was more troubled over the loss of his dogs than of his chickens.

J. B. JOHNSTON,

CONDENSED STORIES.

The Duke of Wellington Was Consistent, if Wrong.

A characteristic story of the Iron Duke is told by Captain Philip Wynter, whose father was vice chancellor of Oxford university at the time, in his book of reminiscences just published by Pitman & Sons. As chancellor of the university the duke's duty was to read out at the commemoration the honors awarded to various scholars—and this list was necessarily in Latin. Thus the Christian name of those christened Charles was, of course, Carolus, with a short "o." The duke persisted in reading this name as Carolus, pronouncing the "o" long, until at last some official, shocked at his ignorance, broke in with, "I beg your grace's pardon, but at Oxford we always call this word Carolus."

"I BEG YOUR GRACE'S PARDON."

"Oh, very good," replied the duke. "I'll remember in future."

Presently the name Jacobus occurred, which the duke boldly read as Jacobus, pronouncing the "o" short.

Again the don interposed. "I beg your grace's humble pardon, but we prefer to call that Latin name Jacobus, with the 'o' long."

"No, hang it!" said the duke. "You can't have it always your own way! If your reading of Carolus is Carolus Jacobus must be Jacobus!"—Westminster Gazette.

The Playful Owl.

Not even an owl is as much of a hermit as it appears. The little fellow that all summer long sleeps by day in the hollow apple tree and noods by night from the adjacent tree tops has a taste for company, and when two meet their hooting gives way to a varied range of lowly rattle and chattering very different from the conventional cries of all owls. Keep a pet one (and they are easily tamed), and you will find them not only as wise as they look, but not averse to rough and tumble fun.

MONDAY, JUNE 11, 1906.

The insurance grafters feel quite vindicated, since the exposure of the greater grafting of the railroads.

What this Republican Congress proposed to do in the way of reform legislation would make a long story, but what it has done is a tale soon told.

President Roosevelt used to talk about good trusts and bad trusts, but he seems to have had poor luck in finding the good ones, and should soon begin to believe with the rest of us that there are no good trusts.

That old Hanna compact between the Republican machine and the Mormons is still making trouble, though the Republicans of the Senate are doing their best to allow Senator Smoot to hold on by postponing a vote for his expulsion.

The great object the Republican leaders in Congress wish to attain is to "throw overboard" all the legislation that would be useful to the people pass the appropriation bills — not forgetting the "pork bill" — and adjourn.

The Republican party is dying of dry rot, its leaders are discredited and to show its utter degeneracy it is only necessary to point to the fight "the machine" is making on honest leaders, such as Gov. Cummins, of Iowa, and La Follette, of Wisconsin.

In speaking of the trouble between the New York Metropolitan street railroad and the people over the matter of law breaking and graft, Mr. Elihu Root says: "All the trouble has been with the passengers." Certainly! All the trouble the public service pirates, coal barons, and tariff lords in this country have ever had, has been with the people they have been robbing. The nice little trust-stealers, like Mr. Root, have never given their employers any trouble at all. Root knows.

John Dalzell, the Pittsburg Congressman and one of the boss stand-patters, acknowledged in a speech in Congress that the trusts are selling cheaper abroad than here and seemed to be rather proud of it. But with the cost of living advanced 46 per cent. under this Republican system, his constituents must be getting tired of the discrimination in favor of foreigners.

The Republicans unanimously refuse to allow the bill introduced by Mr. Williams, the Democratic leader in Congress, to be reported to reduce the tariff rates that are over 100 per cent. Who will now say that the trusts that are thus protected by the tariff tax of over 100 per cent. on their products are not more powerful with these Republican congressmen than their tariff plundered constituents? That is what these stand-patters call letting well enough alone."

A VISIT TO BATH.

Reported for The Better Way.
The boat Mayona never carried a happier party of people than the small company that set out from Greenville last Thursday for a visit to the town of Bath. Mrs. Dunlap, Rev. and Mrs. Ayscough, the Misses Lawrence, Miss Heaninie Ragdale, Miss Emily Joyne, Miss Abbie Smith, and Z. P. Vanoyke, with the owner of the boat, Mr. Mayo, and the pilot, W. Cherry, comprised the party.

To one who had never been down the river before the scenery was especially interesting. The water, sparkling in the June sunshine, reflected the bright green of the trees and the vine, in full leaf at this season, and the breeze moved the surface just enough to give life and animation to the river. Now and then a water bird flew slowly past. A passing steamer looked kindly down at the small boat and its merry-makers. A tugboat, drawing a long raft of logs up the stream, and several drifting sail boats were left far behind.

After a stay of half an hour in the active and enterprising town of Washington, the boat entered the broader part of the river and it was not long before the little town of Bath was in sight.

Luncheon was served before landing, and the great abundance and variety of good things brought forth from numerous boxes, proved that culinary arts have not been neglected by those who prepared the substantial and dainty repast.

The stay in Bath, though short, was profitably spent in visiting the old church and some of the old residences, built so long ago by those first fathers of our Eastern section, whose presence seems almost felt even at this day along the quiet streets and in the quaint old buildings. A number of kodak pictures were taken of scenes in the town and along the shore.

The trip home was made without interruption, and it was hard to realize that the day was over when the bell sounded and the boat drew up at the landing. The entire day had been so greatly enjoyed that each member of the party felt indebted to every other member, and particularly to Miss Nell Lawrence, whose unselfish planning had made possible this delightful visit.

An African Tribe That Bases Precedence on Avoirpoua.
An African explorer tells of a tribe he met whose members determine worldly rank according to avoirpoua. The heaviest savage was chief of the tribe, the next fattest was his lieutenant and so on. As soon as a member gained in weight over the neighbor next above him in rank, he advanced one step in a hierarchy. Wealth, looks, personal popularity, capacity, were not taken into consideration when determining the standing of members of the tribe.

It is a pity our English cousins could not adopt some such simple method of determining rank, for their present scheme is so complicated that they themselves have difficulty in understanding it, while to the stranger within the gates its peculiarities are absolutely bewildering. For instance, we are told that at a recent public dinner in London one hour was spent in arranging the diners in antipractical precedence according to rank. The general rule prescribes that the army shall have first place, then the church, medicine, "gentlemen" not engaged in any profession, and, lastly, those in "trade." In the latter class, however, it appears that wholesalers are considered more "respectable" than retailers, unless a retailer happens to be a knight or a baronet, which sometimes occurs, when he takes precedence over his business associates who are mere commoners. But not even all lawyers, it seems, are "gentlemen." The question arose during a case at law, and it was decided that, while "barristers" are "gentlemen," "solicitors" are not entitled to that distinction. According to English custom, a young man who has just been called to the bar is many steps higher in the social scale than his father, who is a millionaire wholesale grocer.

In addition to the few instances cited there are a whole host of special exceptions founded on birth, education and other conditions that make the English scheme of social precedence a perplexing study for those who desire to be punctiliously correct.—Housekeeper.

How They Crossed.
A father and his two sons wish to cross a river, which it is impossible to do without a boat. They have a boat which will carry only sixteen stone (224 pounds), but the father weighs sixteen stone, and each of the sons weighs eight stone. Yet in less than half an hour they are all across the river. How do they manage it?

The riddle is an old one, but a new answer, offered by an English paper, is more ingenious than the trick solutions that the reader probably remembers. Here it is: The two sons cross in the boat. One goes back to the father. The father then crosses. The other son goes back again with the boat, and then the two sons cross together.

Tobacco Injures Boys.
General Baden-Powell, writing to a Bolton schoolboy, says he believes that smoking by fellows who are still growing does them an infinite amount of harm, and those who are sensible don't take up smoking until after they are twenty years of age or so. Fellows who smoke before that age generally turn out rotters afterward. They only do it because they think it looks swagger and manly to smoke, but any man who has done any scouting or big game hunting knows that they are fools.

Beware of Ointment for Catarrh that Contains Mercury.
As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle. The Curious Nervous Affliction Which is Known as "Tic."
"A curious nervous affliction which members of my profession are sometimes asked to prescribe for," said a family physician, "is that of the unconscious movement, or, as the French call it, the 'tic.' It is, of course, only when the 'tic' takes some very pronounced or objectionable form that medical aid is summoned. As for the less pronounced cases, you meet them everywhere in everyday existence. Unconscious gnawing of finger nails and biting of lips are examples of the malady in lesser form.

"Almost all 'tic' subjects are sufferers at the same time from some form of nervousness. Sometimes the movement arises in a natural cause, the contortions of a woman's features caused by a tight face veil, for example, which sometimes become chronic and continue after the cause is removed. Again, they are imitations consciously or unconsciously indulged in until a habit is formed.

"We have all seen the woman whose hand passes every few moments over her coiffure and the man who regularly strokes his chin or manipulates his beard while talking. How amazed these people would be to know that theirs was merely a lesser form of the distressing grimaces which attract attention in public places and cause us to regard the subject with pitying horror!

"As to the more pronounced forms, these have many variations. A recognized variety is that of 'cursing' poured forth in great volume, the subject being either unaware of his delinquency or unable to control it, even when unprovoked by any annoyance.

"Any one who is subject to 'nerves' or who has been a victim of nervous prostration will do well to guard against the insidious encroachment of an individual 'tic.'"
—New York Press.

Rheumatism.
"There is nothing so good for rheumatism as cotton batting," a lady declared the other day to a friend who was a victim of it. "I have tried every other remedy under the sun and cotton batting has helped me when everything else has failed. For sciatica it hasn't an equal. I had suffered from it for weeks, could not turn myself in bed and had about concluded that I had either got to wait and let it wear off or wear me out. I sent for several sheets of cotton batting and swathed my leg in it from hip to toes, leaving not a loophole through which a particle of air could enter. In less than a week I was up and about the house. The pain had left me entirely, and I never have felt a twinge of it since." Care should be taken, however, especially in the winter, not to leave off the wrappings too suddenly.

Cocoanuts.
The word coconut is derived from the Portuguese "coco," meaning monkey, because the base resembles a monkey's face. The tree was known to the people of Ceylon as early as 100 B. C., the milk being used by them for making cement. The coconut is one of the most useful of plants—root, trunk, leaf, sac and nut are made to yield tribute to man. The fiber of the husk furnishes excellent yarn and is preferred to horsehair for stuffing beds, cushions, chairs and saddles. It is stronger and more elastic than hemp. The Polynesians twist small cords of this fiber, which serve in the construction of houses and canoes where Europeans would employ nails. The green nuts are grated for medicinal use. Grated coconut forms an ingredient of the East Indian condiment curry.

An Unhappy Comparison.
Sir Charles Russell when he was practicing at the bar was a noted cross examiner, and it was a shrewd witness that could circumvent him. On one occasion at least, however, the laugh was turned on him by an innocently intended answer. He was cross examining a witness in regard to certain hoof prints left by a horse in sandy soil. "How large were the prints?" asked the learned counsel. "Were they as large as my hand?" holding up his hand for the witness to see. "Oh, no," said the witness honestly, "it was just an ordinary hoof." The examination was temporarily suspended till order could be secured in the courtroom.

UTTERMOST

The Munford Building Taxed to its Uttermost. Every sales person within the great walls held right at their post, each carrying out the instruction given.

Don't LOSE A SINGLE Sale! To any ordinary man or woman in our city the above sentence is not hard to conceive and the fact that crowds that gather there daily and depart with their arms laden with the good things advertised is sufficient proof to convince every one that MUNFORD'S BIG STORE IS THE PRIDE OF GREENVILLE.

Well may it be said, and so it may be deserved, what other store would ever even dare to reach down in their pockets and hand out, actually give away pure money, free as the water you drink, and what else can you call it. Scant over the prices and just compare, the idea.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE

Helpful Reminders as to the Laundering of Linen.

To prepare linen for washing soak the articles overnight in water. Never use hot water for soaking purposes, as it tends to make dirt adhere to linen, while cold or tepid water loosens it and so simplifies the process of washing. Use borax in the proportion of one tablespoonful to one gallon of water. It is perfectly harmless and has a marvelous power of softening water and of drawing out dirt. The object to be aimed at in washing is to get rid of the dirt with as little wear and tear as possible.

Do not put the clothes in the boiler if the water is at all hot. This method discolors linen and should at all times be carefully avoided. Allow the clothes to boil for ten minutes, remove from the boiler to a tub and add cold water. Do not allow the clothes to boil too long or they will become a yellow color, and they must on no account be boiled before washing.

Fireplace Mottoes.

"Welcome ye coming, speed ye parting guest."
 "My home is your home."
 "Peace be unto this house and all who dwell herein."
 "As I sat musing ye fire burned."
 "My fire is my friend."
 "Let no man take beyond this threshold hence words spoken here in friendship's confidence."
 "We strive to serve you, friends. In entering this house you do possess it. Peace and heart's greetings."
 "As we journey through life let us live by the way."

To Get Rid of Cockroaches.

A housekeeper who was recommended to try cucumber peeling as a remedy for cockroaches strewed the floor with pieces of the peel, cut not very thin, and watched the sequel. The pests covered the peel within a short time so that it could not be seen, so voraciously were they engaged in sucking the poisonous moisture from it. The second night that this was tried the number of cockroaches was reduced to a quarter, and none was left alive on the third night.

To Launder Chiffon.

It is quite easy to wash and iron the better kinds of chiffon and make it look like new. Make a lather with soap powder in warm water. Float the chiffon in this for about ten minutes. Do not rub, but fold carefully between the hands and squeeze gently two or three times. Then place it between the folds of a clean, soft towel and press it until most of the moisture is absorbed. Iron on the wrong side while still damp, and the chiffon will be quite fresh and glossy.

Filling For Sofa Pillows.

New fillings for pillows constantly are being thought of, one of the latest being tea leaves. This is a prettier use for the waste from the teapot than the old fashioned plan of saving them for sweeping, and if the dried leaves have a few fresh ones added this pillow will make a pretty mixture of flavors when lying next those stuffed with dried lavender, rose leaves and cedar.

To Clean Paint.

Kitchen paints will soon acquire a shabby, dull look from the frequent cleaning that is necessary in this room. The use of soap only increases the difficulty, especially if the paints are varnished. The best plan is to boil one pound of bran in a gallon of water for an hour, then wash the paint with this bran water, and it will not only be kept clean, but bright and glossy.

To Remove Onion Odor.

The odor of onions will entirely disappear from your hands if after peeling them you hold your hands for a moment or two in the smoke that arises from brown paper when it is burning. After eating onions brush the teeth with common salt, using plenty of it.

HOW WE GROW.

Friends taking Interest in their County Paper.

The Reflector has some good friends in various parts of the county, and during the recent agitation about increasing mail on the rural free delivery routes several of them have interested themselves in their county paper and in their routes and have sent us good lists of subscribers. As a result of this The Daily Reflector has splendid lists on many of these routes and the number of subscribers to the twice a week Reflector has also grown considerably.

But the largest single list that has come in was received Saturday evening from a friend on one of the rural routes supplied from Grifton, who sent us 53 subscribers to The Daily Reflector. This is the kind of interest that helps your county paper, and we shall endeavor to show our appreciation by making improvements in the paper as fast as possible.

The Ladies Home Journal

began to sell paper patterns we began to investigate. We said to ourselves,

 THE LADIES HOME JOURNAL

is the leading Womens Magazine. It is first class and has never done anything in a second class way. We knew that its reputation was at stake. Our investigation convinced us that the patterns are as high grade as a Magazine

Furthermore the Ladies Home Journal added a new feature which makes these patterns much more desirable than any other pattern. They furnish a Guide Chart free with each pattern. This Chart shows exactly how the pattern is to be put together. It is so comprehensive that a child can understand it. It is a boon to ladies who are inexperienced in garment cutting and garment making. Mothers advise us that by the aid of the Guide Chart furnished with each

But there is still another point to consider. The patterns are all new, no old styles, no ancient creations; all new, all up-to-date and perfect in fit and style, and so much more easily understood than other patterns that one trial will convince you and make you a regular customer
