AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

Ayden, N. C. July 17, 1906.

There seems to be an immense amount of traveling at this time. The trains are crowded every trip almost daily. Somebody has got money, and it ain't us.

Miss Ella Wayne left yesterday to visit in Grifton and Newbern.

We have got us a new set of false teeth. Jammin! Brickbats, flint rock and cold steel, but what a time. Its cross-legged, box-ankled and pair-toed in our mouth all the time. It is the best we can do, we do want to be pretty so bad.

Sunday evening Mrs. James S. Hines received a telegram announcing the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. P. E. Braswell, at her home in Hendersonville. Yesterday accompanied by her daughter, Miss Lizzie, Mrs. Hines left for Hendersonville. We sincerely hope upon her arrival she will find Mrs. Braswell very much improved. Mr. Braswell has a host of relatives in this section, among whom is Elder C. C. Blind, an old hero of the '60's a brother, all of whom feel very much interest in the welfare of this most estimable lady.

J. H. Manning and wife spent Friday in Greenville.

Miss Gene Morrison has gone on a visit of some length to her old home in Hyde county. Before her return she will visit the northern markets to purchase her new supply of millinery.

Mrs. Dr. Pitt, of Chattanooga, Tenn., is visiting relatives out in the country near here. She once lived in Greenville several years ago. Her husband, Dr. Pitt no doubt is well remembered there, among the number most vividly we presume by Capt. J. T. Smith, an old friend.

Mrs. Moon, of Washington, D. C., who has been spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Staacill Hodges, has returned to her home.

We were pleased to see A. R. Holton in town Saturday. Mr. Holton has very much improved and begins to resemble his old self.

Harry White, of Greenville, spent Friday night here.

Overseers of Contentnea township meet in Ayden first Saturday in August.

We wish to impress upon each and every member of Ayden lodge, A. F. & A. M., the importance of being present at the next meeting, Thursday, July 19th. It will be very much to their interest to attend.

Mrs. Marion Crawford, of Winterville, has been visiting in Ayden.

Lil Cannon went somewhere down the road Sunday and came back yesterday morning.

W. E. Hooks and W. J. Boyd are both in Grimesland, having been called there by phone on business strictly in their line. They are hustlers.

Rev. Mr. Vvhe, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Greenville preached a very interesting and highly appreciated sermon in the Missionary Baptist church here Sunday evening.

Britt, Thad. R. Manning, W. B. Thompson, W. C. Hammer, W. C. Dowd, J. D. Bivins, J. W. Bailey, C. H. Poe, R. F. Beasley, J. G. Boylin, J. P. Caldwell, Clyde R. Hoey, W. K. Johnson, H. A. London, W. F. Marshall, Norman H. Johnson, J. B. Sherrill.

ABOUT WORKING ROADS

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

A plan to work convicts labor, and to take some responsibility off of our county commissioners, and be less trouble to them, and get more benefit and put the work in the most appropriate place, viz, Let the commissioners make a calendar, sending the road gang from one township to another. Keep this in the county paper so everybody will know where they will go next. Then let the commissioners appoint a committee of 3 or 5 in each township to have control of them while in their respective township. Let the chairman of this township notify the chairman of the next as to when they will be in his township. Keep this in the county paper so everybody will know where they will go next. Then let the commissioners appoint a committee of 3 or 5 in each township to have control of them while in their respective township. Let the chairman of this township notify the chairman of the next as to when they will be in his township.

We think that our roads are being improved by the use of this labor. But we think that they can be improved still more with the same cost. We think we have some road men in each township who could place this work to a greater advantage than at the present. We hope some one will improve on this plan, and get it in operation. Let's hear from those interested for our roads need improving. Our overseers and J. P.'s do not seem to take much interest in public roads. This would seem to each set of committee to be a home enterprise, and they would take more interest than they do at present. J. McDixon.

Several colored laborers came in on one of the trains to work on the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound railroad in this section.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Alonzo Jones, a prominent citizen of Smithfield was murdered on the road at night while going to his home a short distance in the country. It is thought the murder was committed with the view of getting money he was supposed to have with him.

William Boylan, a 19-year-old son of W. M. Boylan, of Raleigh, fell from an upper window of the Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City, Sunday afternoon, and was instantly killed.

A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR.

Reported for Reflector

At an informal given last evening at their home in West End in honor of their guest, Miss Lillie Christian, of Durham, Misses Helen and Mamie Brinkley entertained most delightfully. The parlors and hall were tastefully decorated with ferns and flowers. The following were present; Misses Minnie and Katie Tunstall, Bertha Keel, Vernesa Smith, Lillie Christian, Helen and Mamie Brinkley and Louise Josey-Messrs. Walter and Frank Wilson, Frank Skinner, Preston Tyson, W. L. Hall, Alex Blow, John Shelburne, Ben Higgs, and Burney Warren. Miss Christian is a very charming young lady and is a highly accomplished musician, greatly pleasing those present with her artistic playing, after which delightful refreshments were served, the punch bowl being presided over by Mamie Ruth Tunstall and Jessie Brinkley.

Mad Dog in House.

Monday a dog supposed to be mad ran in the front door and on up stairs in the home of Mr. S. J. Parham, on Third street. When Mrs. Parham saw the dog ran in the house she was so badly frightened that she fainted. Harry White was passing. He followed the dog up stairs and knocked the canine in the head.

Sound Sleeper.

A young man slept so soundly in church, Sunday night, that the closing song did not wake him, and at close of the service the young lady whom he had accompanied walked out and left him to finish his nap.

Bo's Hands Burned

Sunday Miss Lillian Carr was about to pass through a door with a vessel of hot chocolate, when her sister, not seeing her, started through the door at the same time and caused Miss Lillian to spill the chocolate. Both her hands were painfully burned.

Strike Among Hands.

A strike took place this morning among a lot of negroes who are working on the grading of the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound railroad. It is reported that some forty or fifty of the hands quit work. They wanted more wages, but we expect a large majority of them were already getting more than they are worth.

BROWN FOR LEGISLATURE.

BETHEL, N. C., July 17th, '06.
EDITOR REFLECTOR:

As the time is drawing close to the Democratic convention of Pitt county, we the undersigned Democrats of Bethel township shall ask the convention to nominate Julius Brown for Representative to our next General Assembly.

Mr. Brown is a young man who was born and reared on the north side of Tar river, and we believe will get the hearty support of that part of Pitt county, and we ask the south side of the river to unite with us in the nomination of Mr. Brown.

Knowing Mr. Brown as we do we feel sure he would make us a good representative.

OLD CONTENTNEA.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

From the best information I can gather in the coming county Democratic convention there will be the names of many honorable gentlemen presented for nomination for the office of Register of Deeds of Pitt county. In times past when the old Democracy was trembling at its very foundation, when devastation and ruin presented to its gaze a most terrible aspect, when conditions were truly deplorable, old Contentnea township never wavered in her allegiance, nor was she ever lacking in her devotion not only to its principles but at each and every election as long as this writer can remember her majorities were and have been so magnanimous and spontaneous as to bring peace out of chaos and thrill the heart and stir the soul of the chivalrous yeomanry of this grand old party. Never at any time in her history has there been recorded to her credit a vote other than in the interest of the principles to which she has sworn allegiance and to which she has adhered with a loyalty truly beautiful and commendable.

And in all the time she has done only what she deemed her duty, asking no honors and expecting none. Every candidate presented for her suffrages has received a spontaneous support, without a scratch, without a blur, and even though no compliment of special consequences should be laid at her door, she will be found in all coming contests of yore, battling for that she believes to be right and striving for that she knows to be just.

In the coming convention she will present for this special position the name of one of her most honored citizens. A man of unimpeachable character, a man of honor, capability and fully competent to discharge the onerous duties of this high and important office.

Edible Birds' Nests.

Some authorities have contended that the edible birds' nests are constructed of a glutinous matter secreted in the mouths of the birds, and others think that these nests are composed of a kind of seaweed. The latter theory has now been practically abandoned, and it is generally conceded that the robbing of the nests before the hatching of the young is an act of great cruelty, since the birds immediately set to work to build new ones, and the excessive drain on their saliva exhausts their strength to such a degree that they are often found dead in numbers near the spot where they had meant to rear their broods.

"Drumming" in Mexico.

Cheap traveling men who can pick up orders in a brisk and breezy fashion in the west and southwest of our own country are not the men who may be expected to do business in Mexico. The professional "hustler" is quite apt to be of no use down here. Men of education and culture, with gentlemanly manners and a knowledge of the language, its people and their customs, are the sort of traveling men American firms need not only for this country, but for all Spanish America.—Consul J. A. Le Roy of Panama.

TUESDAY, JULY 17 1906.

There is idle money around Greenville, but it seems afraid to turn loose and do something to help the business of the town.

The losing of $160 by a citizen Saturday night is further evidence that people ought to keep their money in the banks. A wad of bills stuck in the pocket is not much safer than hid somewhere about the house.

The first half of 1906 inaugurated a $50,000 national bank and a $100,000 building and loan association in Greenville. That shows what can be done when the people come together to establish an enterprise. It remains to be seen what the last half of the year is going to bring.

Mr. Loeb, who is secretary to President Roosevelt, says "The president meant exactly what he said on the night of his election, that he would not be a candidate again for the office. That statement is irrevocable." Looks like that ought to settle it, but you can't always tell.

For more than a century Greenville has nestled right here on the banks of Tar river without appreciating it or realizing the pleasure and comfort that might be had from that might be had from this beautiful stream. Little by little this is changing. In the last year or two a few pleasure launches have appeared, and we expect yet to see the pavilion and bath houses. The Reflector has been trying to talk up. Some of these days Greenville will wake up to her possibilities but just think how much we are missing while going through the Rip Van Winkle stage.

All the talk on the subject recently has not yet induced the business men of Greenville to come together and organize a chamber of commerce or business men's association. As good individual business men as the town has, it does seem a little strange that they should be content to let the town jog along with the every man for himself spirit. As long as that spirit prevails, other towns by co-operative efforts will secure enterprises that Greenville ought to get, and the trade area of this town will continue small. A chamber of commerce like one ought to be would be constantly on the lookout to secure anything that would help build up the town and increase business. You can hear two or three men get together and talk about the town needing more business, but they do nothing to get it.

The Raleigh and Pamlico Sound railway that is rapidly building from the capitol of the State to the coast, is going to want its railroad shops located at some point along the line. Such shops will mean considerable in population and the paying out of large sums of money for wages. Greenville might stand as good chance of getting the railroad shops as any other town, but if those who would like to see them here make no effort to secure them, they are going to see some other town draw this handsome prize.

Tariff Grafters.

President Roosevelt in one of his speeches made during his famous trip across the country in 1905 at the expense of President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railway said; "We have in our scheme of government no room for the man who does not wish to pay his way through life by what he does."

Yes, the most prominent feature of our present scheme of government, as administered by the Republican party, is "protection," so called. Under this scheme of plunder and favoritism, something like $1,000,000 a year is stealthily transferred from the pockets of the masses to the pockets of the protected classes. Nothing is given in return for this billion dollars, except some transparent sophistry and the opportunity to observe the display of wealth on the part of the protected barons, who remain in this country or who leave philanthropic institutions behind them. The protected barons do nothing to pay their way, except that they assume control of the government whose edicts fill their pockets with unearned and undeserved tariff profits.

Yes, our scheme of government by protection is one of, for and by "grafters." Fifth avenue is lined with these protection drones. Their mansions line all the finest streets of our great cities. The world never before saw such wealth as this privileged class claims title to. It is rather strange that President Roosevelt, being a historian and student, has not observed this most patent fact. "Pay their way through life?" They no more pay their way than did that poor tramp who was scaped off the underside of Cassatt's Presidential train with a club, just before Roosevelt made that speech. Come to think of it were all those on the inside of that gorgeous train paying their way? Not one, Cassatt was paying their way in return for millions stolen from the people through extortionate railroad rates, rebating to the trusts and favored shippers and grafting by the railroad officials.

Bookkeeping Necessary.

The roomer in a London lodging house does not yet need to number the hairs of his head as a precaution against theft, but he needs to keep careful account of everything else, says a writer in Public Opinion. An actor who had discovered his landlady's propensity for taking a portion of everything he bought numbered and listed his things. One night he roused the household by shouting down from his attic a demand for "No. 8."

"No. 8?" shouted the landlady back. "What No. 8?"

"I want cube No. 8 of my lump sugar," he replied.

Thenceforth the provisions in his cupboard were unmolested.

HURRY CALL FOR A BRIDE.

Extremity of a Labrador "King" When the Dish Came.

Every summer when the coast of Labrador is fairly free and vessels can approach that foggy and forbidding country the bishop of Newfoundland makes a trip as far north as the ice permits. He finds much to do in giving ecclesiastical counsel, christening the infants that have been born during the winter, preaching funeral sermons and uniting the betrothed, who wait him at the fishing stations.

Landing at the Seal islands once, he found an assemblage of men in level best at the house of the "king," or leading factor, for the king, having married four wives, had resolved to take a fifth, and he had gathered the neighbors to witness his joy in the acquisition.

There are not many neighbors in Labrador, but there were enough in this instance to fill both rooms of his house. When the bishop had been warmed and welcomed and was prepared to speak the words that would fill the Seal islands with rejoicing he discovered that the union was impossible because the bride and bridegroom were too nearly related.

"The church forbids this match," he declared, and great was the sensation. The bride sank down in tears of mortification and temper, and the bridegroom scratched his head in bewilderment. Something had to be done, and quickly, for it might be a year before a clergyman appeared on that coast again.

"Oh, well, there's plenty of others," said the king, brightening as he surveyed his guests. He turned to a woman in the company and asked, "Will you have me, Lizzie?"
"Not for a gift!" exclaimed the guest indignantly.

"Will you have me, Jane?"
"Not if you were the last man on Labrador."

"How for you, Moggart?"

"Never!"

The king looked ruefully over the wedding party and, spying the cook at the far side of the room, marched over to her resolutely, seized her by the arm, saying, "Come along, Sue; you'll do!" dragged her, none too willing, before the bishop, and they were married.—Youth's Companion.

Brief and to the Point.

A postmaster general or some one in his office in Washington once wrote to the postmaster of some little station on the Tombigbee river:
"You will please inform this department how far the Tombigbee river runs up," to which the postmaster answered: "I have the honor to inform the department that the Tombigbee river don't run up at all; it runs down." In due course of mail came another communication: "On receipt of this letter your appointment as postmaster will cease. Mr.
— has been appointed your successor," to which went the following reply: "The receipts of this office during the last year have been $437 and the office rent more than double that sum. Please to kindly instruct my successor to pay me the balance and oblige."

Drinking With Meals.

A fact that thin persons who wish to become fat should bear in mind is that much more food may be eaten and it will be more thoroughly digested if one drinks than if one does not drink while eating. No doubt many have noticed the relief experienced when, replete with food, they have sipped water. Frequently I have seen children writhing with the pain of colic instantly relieved by a few swallows of water. Dr. Jacobi has said that the colic of infants is due to a too concentrated milk or other food and that the free drinking of water will often cure it.
—G. E. Flint in New York World.

Origin of the Word "Calico."

The word "calico" has a peculiar origin. Many centuries since the first monarch of the province of Malabar, Hindustan, gave to one of his chiefs, as a reward for services, the land within the limits of which a cock crows at a certain temple could be heard. From this circumstance the little town which sprang up in the center of this territory was called "Calico" or "The Crowing Cock." Afterward it was called Calicut, and from this place the first cotton goods were imported into England under the name of calico.

Too Busy.

She was ponderous and walking briskly, quite the sort of woman who never wastes a moment. He was dapper and just fluttering over the pavement. They came face to face on a crossing, and both stepped to the same side, then both side stepped again and were still face to face. Once more they balanced corners, and at the fourth move she stopped and said sternly: "Young man, I can't stay here to watch you dance! I've got engagements!"
New York Sun.

John Sharp.

In the neighborhood of his Mississippi home John Sharp Williams is always called "John Sharp." That is because the family of the congressman's mother were the Sharps —the great people of that section.
According to his own confession Williams' notion of earthly happiness is to sit on his veranda at Yazoo in the company of good books and watch the cotton grow. Only one vote was cast against him at the last election—that of one of his seven children as a joke. One of his close friends said recently: "John writes poetry for recreation. At least, he says it's poetry, and that he finds recreation in committing it to paper."

Fluid Lenses.

"Fluid lenses" are the invention of a Hungarian chemist. Each lens consists of a fluid substance inclosed between two unusually hard glass surfaces, similar to watch crystals.
The lenses are achromatic. The fluid does not evaporate. The new lenses are said to be as good as those all of glass and can be made much more quickly and for a fraction of the price of the old glass lenses. It is expected that the new lenses will be especially useful for great tele-

ECCENTRIC TRAVELERS.

A European Tour That Was Confined to a Canal Boat.

An Englishman once went abroad with the design of taking an extensive tour on the continent, but was diverted from his purpose by finding himself so comfortable on board a canal boat in Holland or Belgium that he went no farther, preferring to be a daily passenger in the boat, which went and returned between certain limits on alternate days.

It seems to be agreed that this man started on his intended tour in 1815, the year of the battle of Waterloo, that he landed at Ostend with the design of pushing on to Brussels and that the canal boat which arrested his progress was one that plied between Bruges and Ghent, starting one day at Ghent and the other at Bruges.

According to one account which we have heard, the individual in question went abroad not merely to see foreign lands, but in the hope of meeting with illustrious personages and distinguished characters, which will account for his making Brussels in 1815. Finding, however, that on board the canal boat he not only fell in with many persons worth meeting, but had the opportunity of sitting down with them at a table d'hote, he thought he could not do better, and went backward and forward, never getting farther than Ghent, until the railroads were invented, when he drowned himself on the last trip of the passage boat.

Another Englishman is said to have made a bet that Van An-barah, the lion tamer, would be eaten by his ferocious pupils within a given time and followed him about the continents of Europe and America in the hope of seeing him at last devoured and so winning his stake. Eugene Sue introduces this mythical Englishman among the dramatis personae of "The Wandering Jew."

The Russians also have a story of an eccentric traveler, likewise an Englishman, who posted overland and in the depth of winter to St.
Petersburg merely to see the famous wrought iron gates of the summer garden. He is said to have died of grief at finding the gates superior to those at the entrance to his own park at home.

Add to this the lying traveler, who boasted that he had been everywhere, and who on being asked how he liked Persia replied that he scarcely knew, as he had stayed there only a day.

Note also, among eccentricities, the nobleman of whom it was inquired at dinner what he thought of Athens. He turned to his body servant, waiting behind his chair, and said, "John, what did I think of Athens?"—Sunday Magazine.

Priceless Knowledge.

"Are you the celebrated Mme.
Bombaston?" he asked, after he had climbed four flights of stairs and was admitted into a mysterious apartment.

"Yes," replied the bizarre looking personage who had received him.

"The great clairvoyant?"

"Yes."

"And you foretell the future?"

"Yes."

"And read the mind?"

"Yes."

"And unfold the past?"

"Yes, yes."

"Then," said the visitor as he took a roll of bank notes from his pocket eagerly, "tell me what it was my wife asked me to bring home for her tonight!"—Pearson's Weekly.

An Important Message.

A well dressed young man approached the operator in a telegraph office and wrote a message. Laying the pen down, he handed the message to the girl and said, "You can rush this for me, can't you?"

"Yes, indeed," replied the girl.

"It's very important," he went on.

"I must have it rushed."

"It shall go right through."

"All right," he said, turning away. "Be sure and rush it now."

When he had gone the girl showed the message to another operator standing near. "Look what it is to be rushed," she said.

The message read, "Henry still loves his little wife and wishes she could be with him."—Denver Post.

THIS IS FOR YOU

I take this method to thank every one who has sold a load of Tobacco with me for the past nine years. Since on the Greenville market I have always, as auctioneer, at all times, looked after your best interest in the sale of your tobacco and if you will continue to sell with me I will see in the future, as I have in the past, that every pile of your tobacco is well looked after. This season you can find me at the "Liberty Warehouse" to welcome you at all times and with M. S. T. Hooker, one of Greenville's best judges of tobacco, and as we all know the strongest bidding warehousemen in the State, I feel safe in saying that I am in a better position this season to look after your interest than ever before. You will also find Mr. H. S. Hardy to see that nothing is left undone that is to your best interest.

Yours to serve,
THE LIBERTY WAREHOUSE, Co.
