MISS LILLIAN CARR ENTERTAINS.

At a Porch Party in Honor of Her Guests, Miss Mabel Craft, of Wilmington and Miss Sue Corbett, of Wilson.

Reported for Reflector

One of the most delightful affairs of the season was the porch party given Friday evening by Miss Lillian Carr, complimentary to her guests, Misses Craft, of Wilmington and Corbett, of Wilson.

Norman Warren and Miss Lillian Carr received at the hall entrance, and ushered the guests to the parlor where they were received by Frank Wilson and Miss Jamie Bryan, and introduced to the guests of honor, Misses Craft and Corbett, then to the rear end of the porch where fruit punch was served by Miss Ethel Skinner and Alex. Blow. The porch was entirely covered with overhanging vines, lighted by electricity. The color scheme being pink and white, was beautifully carried out with many rolls of paper draped from the ceiling to the vines.

The yard which is very large was filled with rustic seats of all kinds, and lighted by electricity and it was a most beautiful sight to see the young ladies on the lawn telling jokes, playing games, singing and having a good time.

At ten o'clock the guests assembled in the parlor and were given papers consisting of 32 different questions about the Revolutionary war, with different objects in the room to represent the names. Several tied for the prize and it was finally won by Miss Sue Corbett and was given a very pretty Kodak book, the second prize was won by Alex. Blow and presented to Miss Mabel Craft. Then to the porch where a very large hoop was suspended from above, with forty stars hanging, containing the fortunes, telling your past and future, after which very dainty refreshments were served carrying out the colors of pink and white. Miss Lillian Carr was dressed representing the colors, and never looked prettier than on this occasion.

This entertainment was rather a novelty as it was the first one of its kind ever held here, about sixty guests present and it was much enjoyed by all.

NORTH CAROLINA TAKING LEAD.

Comparison Shown in Report of Department of Commerce and Labor.

That more money is being taken to the South for investment in factories than to the New England States is shown in the startling comparison just made by the Department of Commerce and Labor, which states that four times as much capital was invested in the Southern States since 1900 than in New England.

In North Carolina, where $68,000,000 was invested in 1900, there is now engaged in manufacturing industries over the State the sum of $131,000,000, showing an increase of 106 per cent. The total amount of wages paid out was increased $7,000,000, and where the cost of materials used in 1900 was $44,000,000, last year it amounted to $80,000,000. Same figures are given of Connecticut, and show that her increase in capital invested is only 24 per cent. New Hampshire shows only an 18 per cent. increase. Alabama, on the other hand, shows her capital to have increased in the five years by 75 per cent. Virginia is below her sister Southern States with an increase of only 60 per cent. South Carolina shows an increase of 80 per cent. These figures are significant in showing that the trend of capital is working its way South and at a rate which indicates that in a few years the Southern States will rank with New England in manufactures. Factories for common goods rank first in the South, with tobacco second; lumber and timber products third, with flour and grist mill products fourth.

They Got Skinned.

No, Postmaster Flanagan has not been in a scrap. He has just been to Ocracoke where he went fishing with the boys, and it was the sun that took the peeling off of him. Paul Metrick and Bob moye are about as badly skinned. And they say fish wouldn't bite either.

Baseball Monday.

The third teams of Kinston and Greenville will play a game here Monday morning. The game will start at 9 o'clock.

THE WEATHER.

Occasional showers tonight and probably Sunday.

The farmers have no kick coming over the prices obtained for any produce they bring in to sell.

The Edison phonographs at Evans Book Store are the best and most distinct ever heard here.

After so much bad weather the church should have a large attendance tomorrow, if it does not rain.

A called meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will be held at Mrs. O. T. Manford's Monday p. m. at 5 o'clock. Important business is to be attended to. It is earnestly requested that every member be present.

PITT COUNTY BOYS.

Make Their Mark Everywhere.

We print here the report of the ordination of one of North Carolina's choicest young men, recently entered upon pastorate in Kansas: "An interesting ordination service was held yesterday in the Baptist church in which R. R. Fleming, pastor of the church, was ordained to the full work of the Gospel ministry. Those sitting in the council were H. G. Bond, Florence: C. W. Safford, Marion; G. R. Drussel Peabody, Theodore Hansen, McPherson; G. Barth, Canton; J. W. Cassidy and C. H. Wareham, of Wichita; Dr. I. M. Winfield, and W. A. Elliott, of Newton. The deacons present were Messrs. Johnson, Dawson, Dexter, Holman, McGiffet and Grumbling. The council met at 2:30. Rev. G. W. Cassidy was election chairman and Rev. H. G. Bond clerk. After the roll-call of delegates and formal organization of the council, Don Kinney introduced the candidate, Robert R. Fleming, Jr., and the examination by the council was begun. The candidate was asked to relate his Christian experience, call to the ministry and doctrine of belief. The examination by the council was thorough and exhaustive. This finished, the council went into executive session where it expressed its unanimous approval of the candidate's fitness for ordination. The council was very favorably impressed with his keenness of mind and excellent preparation for his work. At 8 o'clock the ordination services were conducted by the Rev. G. W. Cassidy. Ordination sermon, "The Vision of Service," by A. J. Finch: prayer or ordination, C. W. Stafford hand of fellowship, G. Barth; charge to the candidate, Dr. I. M. Clark; charge to the church, Theodore Hansen. The choir sang an anthem and Miss Gertrude McGowan a solo, "Pilgrims of the Night." The services were very impressive throughout and the time spent there was very profitable. The members of the council were unusually pleased with the examination, and the church here is to be congratulated in having such an able young man as their pastor."—Biblical Recorder.

Rev. R. R. Fleming is a Pitt county boy, and a young man of brains, culture and character. He is a son of Mr. R. R. Fleming of Pactolus.

FRIGHTENED BY MAD DOG.

Goes Under Shed Where Men Are Caring Tobacco.

S. M. Harris and R. H. Coggins, of Belvoir township, who were curing tobacco together, had a close call from a mad dog a few nights ago. It was Mr. Coggins, turn to watch the furnace and Mr. Harris asleep. The dog came under the barn shelter and fell in a fit in front of the furnace door and near to where Harris was asleep. Coggins lost no time in vacating and when at a safe distance he called Harris to wake him. When Harris' eyes fell on the mad dog, he was badly frightened and fled. They went after a gun and the dog was later killed.

WINERVILLE NOTES

Interesting Items from Our Hustling Neighbor.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., July 21—

Miss Mimie Cox, who had been visiting at the home of G. E. Jackson, her uncle, returned home Wednesday evening.

Misses Eva Langston and Myrtle McGibbon went to Grifton Thursday morning on a visit to relatives and friends.

The force of hands at work on the streets are putting the ditches and sidewalks in good shape.

The recent heavy rains have caused many people to put down deep pumps. Good water is not only essential to health but one of the greatest luxuries that a home can possess.

Mrs. Susan Jackson, mother of Mrs. A. G. Cox, spent several days visiting her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ludie Jackson, in the country.

Mrs. W. J. Wyatt, of Morehead, is visiting relatives and friends in the town and community.

Miss May Brooks, who had been visiting in the Renston section passed through on her way home the first of the week.

Rev. G. G. Wells, pastor of the Missionary Baptist church in Kinston, will fill Rev. T. H. King's appointment Sunday morning and evening. All are cordially invited.

The stockholders of the Pitt County Oil Co., held their annual meeting Friday July 20. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Chas. McL. Whorn, pres.; E. L. Kittrell, vice pres.; J. B. Little, Sec. and Treas.; Directors: Josephus Cox, E. E. Dail, C. H. Langston, A. G. Cox, J. J. May, R. L. Cox and R. J. Fritzel. The mill will begin operation about September 1st., and will be in position to fill all orders.

Mrs. Louisa Cox left this morning for Greenville, where she will spend some time with relatives and friends.

A rather peculiar thing happened at the home of Mr. Jao. H. Smith a few days ago. He had been missing his small chickens for some time but could not discover the cause. He found an old hen with her foot hung under a plank in the yard. He lifted the plank and the hen ran off. He lowered it without noticing anything. Next day he happened to remove the plank and found a large turtle in the mud underneath the plank. He could then easily account for the disappearance of his chickens. He quickly dispatched his turtleship.

Ernest Manning and Frank Edmundson went to Greenville today. Mr. Manning has accepted a position with Wiley Brown, of Greenville. We regret to lose Mr. Manning as he is one our very best young men.

It is hard for some people to see the value in advertising their business. Some of the merchants here who are advertising in this department tell us that people come and tell them that they saw the articles advertised in The Reflector and in this way the people know who has the article desired. Let the people know what you have for sale.

WARNINGS OF NATURE.

Signals of Safety and Danger That Men Should Heed.

For those who have eyes to see them kindly Nature hangs out signs of all kinds. She only asks that men will use their eyes, says Pearson's Weekly. If they can and do so, she will never betray them. She has both good and bad signs, which are as plain in their way as red or green lights to a railway engine driver.

For instance, what is called the low country of the northern Transvaal is partly healthy, partly feverish. In one spot you may camp in safety for a month; in another, not a mile away, the dreaded fever will seize you in a single night. To uneducated eyes there seems little or no difference in the outward aspect of the two places, but your old prospector is never caught camping on fever ground. He knows the fever tree too well. The fever tree is an odd and sinister looking piece of vegetation, with twisted, greenish trunk and branches, and grows only in those spots where fever mist hangs at nightfall.

So, too, in Florida when a hunter is traversing the immense swamps—"hammocks," as they are called—which cover huge tracts in the southern part of that state, he searches for a spot where pine trees rear their tall heads among the cypresses and gums. There he can camp and sleep in safety, though to spend a night but a few hundred yards away from the pines might mean a bone racking dose of ague.

Many an Australian explorer has been saved from a horrible death by thirst because he has known the water mallee. This tree, though it may stand in the midst of a burning desert, invariably tells of water below the surface. If the traveler be not too far gone to dig he will find the precious fluid below the mallee's roots.

The Mississippi storm of 1784, which is generally supposed to have been the worst gale that has ever been recorded and the result of which was to wipe out nearly twenty settlements, flooded 10,000 square miles of land and permanently changed the course of the great river, was preceded by a strange and at the same time inexplicable moaning sound, which went on for three days and seemed to come from the upper air, although below all was still. The Indians heard it and left for the high ground; the whites heard it, stayed where they were and were drowned.

Why He Rode to the Funeral.

At a funeral in Glasgow a stranger who had taken his seat in one of the mourning coaches excited the curiosity of the other three occupants, one of whom at last addressed him, "Ye'll be a brither o' the corp?" "No, I'm no brither o' the corp," was the prompt reply. "Weel, then ye'll be his cousin?" "No, I'm no that." "No? Then ye'll at least be a frien' o' the corp?" "No that either. To tell the truth, I've no been weel myself, and as ma doctor has ordered me some carriage exercise I thocht this wad be the cheapest way to tak' it."—London Army and Navy Life.

Diplomacy.

A Washington official said of diplomacy at a dinner: "That was a diplomatic young lady whom I heard about the other day."

"What do you do," some one said to her at a ball, "when a man persists in asking you for a dance and you don't want to dance with him?" "I tell him," she replied, "that my card is full."

"But supposing it isn't and he still persists?"

"Then," said the young lady, "I insist it is and at the same time let him see it isn't."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Ignorance.

A village doctor whose most troublesome patient was an elderly woman practically on the free list received a sound rating, according to Lippincott's Magazine, from her one day for not coming when summoned the night before.

"You can go to see your other patients at night," said she. "Why can't you come when I send for you? Ain't my money as good as other people's?"

"I do not know, madam," was the reply. "I never saw any of it."

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

When Making Window Curtains Allow For Shrinkage.

When making curtains at home it is best to make the hems from one and one-half inches to two inches wide. The corners must always be mitered, as this looks much more finished than extending the side hem to the bottom and then folding it up again. As curtains are apt to shrink or stretch after being washed, it is well to turn in two or three thicknesses in the top hem, and this should be sewed by hand, so that it can be adjusted each time it is laundered. If this is done, the curtains will not be several inches too short or two or three inches longer than the space they are intended to fill when they go up after they are first laundered.

About Moths.

It is a great mistake to think that camphor or other moth preventives are only required in the height of the summer, when the insects may be seen flying about. The chief danger to be feared is during the period in which the moth lays her eggs, these being so small that their discovery is almost impossible until the larvae are hatched, by which time the damage to wool or fur is done. Every garment should be thoroughly examined inch by inch before it is put away.

Blackberry Cordial.

Put the berries into a preserving kettle, let simmer until they break, then mash and strain. To each pint of juice add one pound of white sugar, half an ounce of cinnamon, half an ounce of mace and one-fourth of an ounce of cloves and let boil fifteen minutes. When cold a little brandy may be added, though it is not essential. Seal in bottles and keep in a cool, dark place.

Spots on Books.

Ink spots or writing may be removed from a book by applying spirits of salts diluted with five or six times their bulk of water, which may be washed off in two or three minutes with clear water. A solution of citric or tartaric acid will answer the same purpose, as neither of them will affect the printing.

Tea For Stiffening Black Lace.

Take a level tablespoonful of dry tea, a teaspoonful of gum arabic and a pint of boiling water. Put all these in a saucepan and simmer slowly over the fire until the gum arabic is dissolved and the tea a good black color. Stir occasionally to prevent the gum from sticking to the pan and strain through muslin.

Stains on Marble.

Take two parts of common soda, one part of pumice stone and one part of finely powdered salt. Sift the mixture through a fine sieve and mix it with water. Then rub it well all over the marble, and the stains will be removed. Rub the marble over with salt and water, wash off and wipe dry.

Incidentals.

"This bill for your new frock is really a bit high," observed the plutocrat to his daughter. "Six thousand dollars is considerable to pay just for an auto suit."

"But, papa, the suit itself really is quite inexpensive. The most of that bill is for the trimmings."

"Trimmings?"

"Yes; I spent $5,200 for an auto of the right tint to match the suit."—Puck.

Bobbie Wanted to Know.

"Say, papa, you was tellin' Mr. Crummage 'bout shootin' an eagle on th' wing. Which wing was it?"

"You don't understand, Bobbie. It was a soaring eagle I shot."

"Did it make him sore when you shot him, papa?"

"No, no, Bobbie. The eagle was up—in the air—enjoying a long fly."

"Do eagles eat long flies, papa?"

"Jane, why don't you put the child to bed?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Own Inventions.

Lord Kelvin paid a visit to a British school ship for navigating officers at Portsmouth, on which are several mechanical contrivances and appliances of his own invention. The practical working of these had to be demonstrated and explained to him. Lord Kelvin understood the theoretical principles of the mechanism, but had never seen them applied and at work before.

THE NEWLY RICH.

Efforts of the War-made Millionaires of 1870 and 1871.

From 1865 to 1875 the most striking figure in American life was that of the nouveau riche. He was to instructed minds a most pathetic sight—so grossly conscious of his wealth, so anxious to spend it in an impressive way, to do something princely, something really "big," and yet being so hopelessly ignorant of how to do it.

He purchased urban dwellings with "brownstone fronts" and plate glass windows. He procured horses and carriages and stocked his cellars with champagne. In the country he built for himself enormous wooden mansions painted in many colors, surmounted by wooden cupolas and towers and battlements and adorned with a maze of wooden pillars representing what some one cleverly styled "the jig saw renaissance," while his lawn was dotted with cast iron statuary painted to resemble bronze.

Many of these war made millionaires ultimately lost their money as quickly as they made it. Some of them left it to be squandered by their sons. The wealth of those days was seldom perpetuated, and this fact was crystallized in a popular proverb to the effect that "there are only three generations from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves."

The representatives of the still newer wealth bore slight resemblance to the shoddy millionaire. They lived in the age that had discovered Europe, where they had traveled and observed and learned, for at this time Europe became a mighty educator of the American people. It led to the appreciation and encouragement of art and architecture and landscape gardening and to knowledge of the true refinement of civilized existence.

There began to be laid in the United States the basis for something which resembled an aristocracy, founded in the first instance upon wealth, but in its higher phases deserving a better name than that of mere plutocracy. An aristocracy must always ultimately rest upon either power or service and more often upon a combination of these two.—H. T. Peck in Bookman.

White Eggs and Nests.

Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace once endeavored to show that the birds which lay white eggs deposit them in holes in order to conceal them, and he invented explanations for certain exceptions to this rule. But it is now believed that the interpretation is quite otherwise—that certain birds lay white eggs because they nest in holes and not that they nest in holes because they lay white eggs. Colored eggs would become practically invisible in these dark places and would be in jeopardy of being overrun by the bird when entering the nest and broken or would, when the space was large enough, be in danger of rolling away from the sitting bird and so fail to obtain incubation. By their whiteness such faint rays of light as gain admittance to the nest are reflected by the white shell, and consequently no eggs escape the attention of the sitting bird.

All Doubtful.

"Dat was a great wedding, Sam."

"Deed it was."

"Well, who was the lucky man?"

"Dat's hald to say. De groom thought he was de lucky man till he squinted et de bride and foun' out she had wrinkles lak a wedder nap."

"Luh!"

"Den de best man thought he was de lucky man till he foun' out de rabbit's foot de groom had giben him was er eat's foot."

"Lan's! Den de preacher mus' ha' been de lucky man?"

"Well, he kinder puffed up dat way till arter de ceremony, and den he disobeied dat de dollar de groom had passed him es a fee was lead."—Chicago News.

Not the Horse For Him.

Hans came in from his ranch, two miles this side of Olney, to buy a horse.

"I've got the very thing you want," said Ike Bergman. "It's a fine road horse, five years old, sound as a quail, $175 cash down, and he goes ten miles without stopping."

Hans threw his hand skyward.

"Not for me," he said; "not for me. I wouldn't gif you 5 cents for him. I live eight miles from Astoria, and I'd haf to walk back two miles."—Astoria Herald.

BIRDS AND WIRES.

Sportsmen in France are becoming furious advocates of wireless telegraphy. It appears that after carefully watching for three years a kilometer's length of telegraph wire in a district not overpopulated with birds an interested observer has proved that one and a half head of game, such as partridges, pheasants, quail, and so on, are impaled yearly on every wire of this length in France, which means a total all over the country of 40,000 annually. Many of the victims, especially of the migratory kind, lose their lives through nocturnal flights, so unless these can be induced to travel by day wireless telegraphy seems the only French game law in future worth supporting. It would be interesting to find out if in England also bird intelligence is still of the pretelegraphic period.—London Chronicle.

Moral Tied to a Calf's Tail.

One day last week we saw a cloud of dust sweeping past our office. Mixed with the dust was a good sized calf running at splendid speed, and on horseback Colonel Duling was coming a rattling good second. The calf had broken away from a herd of cattle and wanted to go home. Mr. Duling wanted to head it off, and in time he did. The incident furnished us with the thought that the man who does the most complaining about the harness of this old world is usually the one who sits in idleness when he should be up and doing things. If success does not come your way don't complain, but go around and head it off, like Duling did the calf.—Garfield (Ore.) Enterprise.

Mail Boxes as Nests.

Since freedelivery of mail in rural districts has been established, I have been pleased to discover two or three pairs of bluebirds nesting undisturbed in mail boxes by the roadside. It is gratifying to know that the birds allowed themselves to be disturbed two or three times a day and yet not abandon their nests. But the thing that gives the bird lover the greatest delight is the fact that no one robbed the nests. I am sure the bluebird will in time learn to appreciate this kindness, and the day is not far distant when it will be a common occurrence to find some kind of bird's nest in every homemade box that holds a letter.—St. Nicholas.

Antityphoid Serum.

A strong case in favor of the antityphoid serum is made out by Professor Chantemesse in the Paris Medical Journal. In 3,595 cases of typhoid fever treated in fourteen of the Paris hospitals there was a mortality of 17.3 per cent. In the hospital Bastion 29, under the same treatment, with the exception of the use of antityphoid serum, there were only twenty-seven deaths in 712 cases, a mortality of 3.7 per cent. The serum caused a rapid disappearance of the diarrhoea, headache and other toxic symptoms.

The Lindsborg Mail.

Here is one of the little things that make trouble for the postmaster at Lindsborg: There are 246 Johnsons, 134 Andersons, 87 Swensons and 99 Petersons who get mail at his office. Think of a line of school children rushing in there sixteen feet deep and all yelling at once: "Any mail for Johnsons?" "Any mail for Andersons?" "Any mail for Petersons?" "Any mail for Swensons?"—Kansas City Journal.

Medical English.

The following sentence, printed in the current number of a prominent medical journal, explains why there is no great demand for professional periodicals by the laity: "The virulent spirillum possesses a greater number of bacteriolytic and agglutinable haptophore groups or these groups are endowed with a greater binding power for uniceptors and amboceptors than the avirulent."

The Ashes From Vesuvius.

The ashes cast out by Vesuvius in the recent outbreak will prove a blessing in the long run. Professor Zinno has examined them and found them free from ingredients injurious to plant life, while containing others that will promote the growth of grapevines, grass and vegetables. The peasants have lost no time in plowing in this valuable fertilizer to prevent its being washed away by rains.

Saved His Comrades Life.

While returning from the Grand Army Encampment at Washington the comrade, Frank Elgin, Ill., was taken with cholera morbus and was in a critical condition," says Mr. J. E. H. Wooten of Eldon, Iowa. "I gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he has saved his life. I have been engaged ten years in immigration work and conducted many parties to the south and west. I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions." Sold by J. L. Wooten.

A Tragic Fate.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North-sadyke, which a cholera mager could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In the market Kenneth Melver, of Vaneborro Me, permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was unduly invited by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold" but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life. Guaranteed best cough and cold cure at J. L. Wooten's drug store, 50 cent and 1.00 Trial bottle free.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by J. L. Wooten.

Only 82 Years Old.

"I am only 82 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. Surely there is nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, infamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by J. L. Wooten druggist. Price 50c.

Removes the microbes which impoverish the blood and circulation. Stops all trouble that interferes with nutrition. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. Tea or Tablets. 35 cents. Wooten's Drug Store.

Tied down to his desk in the office while others ore free and at play, Papa figures he is having a vacation, while drinking Rocky Mountain Tea.

Does evil stir, your whole life fill? Does woe betide? You, thoughts abide on suicide? You need a pill!

Now for prose and facts, DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the most pleasant and reliable pills known today. They never gripe. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

Try a little Kodol for Dyspepsia after your meals. See the effect it will produce on your general feeling by digesting your food and helping your stomach by holding your stomach to get into shape. Many stomachs are overworked to the point where they refuse to go further. Kodol digests your food and gives your stomach the rest it needs, while its reconstructive properties get the stomach back into working order. Kodol relieves flatulence, sour stomach, palpitation of the heart, belching, etc. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

A sweet breath adds to the joys of a kiss. You wouldn't kiss your wife, mother or sweet heart with a bad breath. You can't have a sweet breath without a healthy stomach. You can't have a healthy stomach without perfect digestion. There is only one remedy that digests what you eat and makes the breath as sweet as a rose—and that remedy is Kodol for dyspepsia. It is a relief for sour stomach, palpitation of the heart, and ailments arising from disorder of the stomach and digestion. Take a little Kodol after your meals and see what it will do for you. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

A prompt relief for croup, One Minute Cough Cure, cuts the phlegm, allays the inflammation—the cough syrup with a reputation. Sold by John L. Wooten.

It is always well to have a box of salve in the house. Sunburn, cuts, bruises, piles and boils yield to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Should keep a box on hand at all times to provide for emergencies. For years the standard, but followed by many imitators. Be sure you get the genuine Dewitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

Bedsole may get damages out of the railroad. It depends on the kind of jury the case goes before.

Anson county has been put to no small expense in the bluff at prosecuting the lynchings, and it seems all to no purpose.

The date for the county convention having been named, the numerous candidates now know when the test will show who has the most votes.

The Republicans may boast all they please of what they are going to do in the coming election, but the facts will be developed when the votes are counted.

The Boston freak who made a nail keg of his stomach wished he hadn't before the doctors got through cutting him open to remove them.

An Asheville negro is in jail for trying to kill himself with a pistol and failing in the job. If he is so anxious to shake the city better let him go out and try again.

Two 16-year old white boys at Monroe were convicted of burglary in the second degree and sentenced three years each on the roads. That is starting them in early. A reformatory would be better for that kind.

TOBACCO GROWERS

Big Meeting Expected in Raleigh on July 26th.

There are evidences that the counties in this section of the State will be well represented at the special State meeting of the North Carolina Farmers Protective Association, called by President John S. Cunningham for July 26th in this city. The work of organization in Wake and several neighboring counties is being rapidly prosecuted by the energetic sub-branch organizer, Mr. E. J. Reggiate. Delegates will attend the meeting from all the newly formed county associations. It is also probable that there will be delegates from nearly all the tobacco growing counties.

The farmers realize that their only effective weapon against the oppression of the tobacco trust is organization, and that the present time affords them the only opportunity for placing themselves in a position to put a price on their products and not take what the trust is pleased to offer them. They control a monopoly on the bright tobacco, and their best friends advise that through organization they can obtain for this year's crop profitable prices, but unless they organize, the crop, which will be on the market in about two months, will be at the mercy of the American Tobacco Company

The farmers seem to be anxious to organize, and only await a properly authorized organizer, and the object of the called meeting for July 26th is to put efficient organizers in the field actively to work, so that there will be effected before the tobacco is on the crop. This meeting will also consider plans for a warehouse system, similar to the tremendously successful system operated by the tobacco farmers of Pitt county. —Raleigh News and Observer.

Will Pay His Expenses

It has gone out through at least some of the Republican press that President Roosevelt has said he will pay his own traveling expenses, notwithstanding Congress has made an appropriation of $25,000 for that purpose. If Mr. Roosevelt sticks to his proposition and refuses to accept the appropriation which Congress made for his traveling expenses he will call forth appreciation of many a taxpayer in this country. Whether it is right or wrong for Congress to pay the President's traveling expenses the people will applaud him when he refuses to accept it. Many of the plain people think that out of a $50,000 salary a man can afford his own traveling expenses, and so he can.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Hands Up!

How many women can answer these questions without feeling guilty?

Do you wear any articles of clothing which makes you feel uncomfortable?

Do you eat food you know disagrees with you?

Do you give yourself so little time to dress that you have to rush through life to keep your appointments.

Is your bath a pleasure and a recreation?

Do you keep your feet dry and warm?

Do you drink plenty of pure water?

Do you take plenty of exercise in the open air?

Do you do today's work only, leaving tomorrow's burden until tomorrow is today?

Do you plan your work and try to save yourself time and steps, or do you dip in a first one thing and then another blindly?

Do you always try to be cheerful, or do you fuss and fret and worry about everything and everybody?—Savannah (Ga.) Press

It would be nothing amiss for the men likewise to ask themselves most of these questions and see how honest answers can be given.

NOTICE.

On account of disagreement between my partner, L. I. Moore, and myself concerning the accounting for fees, commissions, &c. belonging to the firm I declined to continue the partnership, and Mr. Moore assented to a separation, which actually took place on July the 17th, 1906.

We have been unable to agree upon a settlement of the affairs of the partnership, and therefore the dissolution and settlement will have to be hereafter perfected in some other way.

All civil business pending at the time of the separation in which the firm or either of us have been retained will receive my best efforts to its final determination.

I shall continue the practice of law at my same office and will be glad to have my clients and friends call to see me.

A Proclamation by the Governor. $100.00 REWARD

State of North Carolina
Executive Department

Whereas official information has been received at this department that W. H. Harrington Jr. late of the County of Pittsands charged with conspiracy and assault upon W. J. Tell, and whereas, it appears that the said W. H. Harrington Jr. has fled the State or so conceals himself that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him.

Now, therefore, I, R. B. Glenn, Governor of the State of North Carolina, by virtue of authority in me vested by law, do issue this my proclamation, offering a reward of One hundred Dollars for the apprehension and delivery of the said W. H. Harrington Jr. to the Sheriff of Pitt County at the Courthouse in Greenville N. C. and I do enjoin all officers of the State and all good citizens to assist in bringing said criminal to justice.

Done at our City of Raleigh the 16th day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six and in the one hundred and thirty-first year of our American Independence.

The Edison Phonograph.

THE EDISON PHONOGRAPH solves the problem of home entertainment. Its clearness and richness of tone wins the immediate admiration of every audience.

BY means of this wonderful instrument your home can be brought in direct touch with the musical world, and you can hear as many times as you like, for the small cost of a Edison Record, what people in the large cities pay one or two dollars a night to hear. The Edison Phonograph reproduces so perfectly that you miss nothing but the sight of the orchestra and the faces of the singers.

EVERY family circle is incomplete without an Edison Phonograph. Every one of them bears the signature of Thomas A. Edison, the greatest inventive genius of the age.

TO those interested we will take great delight in showing it at our store. Come and hear it for yourself. Ask about our easy payment plan at the cash price. To prospective purchasers we will exhibit the Phonograph at their homes.

He was a little, fat, sawed off German, and he called at the corner grocery for the purpose of paying a bill of a few weeks' standing. After taking his money the grocer handed him a cigar and said:

"Now you are square, Fritz."
"Guess dot I vos?" queried the German.

"You are square, I said," replied
the grocer.

"I vos schvare, vos I?" exclaimed
the puzzled Fritz.

"Yes, you are all square now,"
said the grocer.

Fritz was silent for a moment;
then his face flushed, and, bringing his fist down on the counter, he ex claimed:

"He claims that it was accepted by the first publisher to whom it was offered."—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Insinuation.

"You look as though my cigar dis tressed you," said the smoker. "Are you opposed to tobacco?"

"Your cigar does distress me. I am not opposed to tobacco."
It was at this point the conversa tion lagged.—Pick-Me-Up.

A Bad Boy.

"An Indian is but a child of na ture," said the sympathetic man.

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne,
"but the trouble is that he insists on being an enfant terrible."— Washington Star.

SHE LEARNED THE TRUTH.

The queen of Roumania, better known as Carmen Sylva, has many gifts. In addition to being a writer, she is a musician and in her youth was something of a singer. Of this last gift an amusing story is told.
Praised by flattering courtiers, her majesty almost thought herself a second Patti. But she is nothing if not practical, and she therefore vis ited in strict incognito a celebrated French singing master. He listened gravely to his visitor's rendering of a test song and then said: "You have, madame, no voice at all, though much musical feeling. I could train you for the operetta, but, to be candid, you haven't a face worth anything." Her majesty is said to have been naturally disap pointed, but too kind hearted to dis close her identity, and it was only after some little while that the over frank maestro learned that he had been unwittingly guilty of leze maj esty.

King Charles' Modest Crown.

King Charles of Roumania, who has just been celebrating his king ship of a quarter of a century, wears a remarkable crown. It was fash ioned, in accordance with his wish,
of steel from a Turkish gun cap tured at Plevna as a remembrance to all time of the achievements on the battlefields of Bulgaria and of the fact that the new kingdom was not hampered by traditions. At his coronation when he took the crown in his hands King Charles said: "I assume with pride this crown, wrought from a cannon sprinkled with the blood of our heroes and consecrated by the church. I ac cept it as a symbol of the independ ence and power of Roumania." The queen's golden crown is also with out jewels or ornaments.—London Chronicle.

Wash Day at Panama.

The washerwomen of the canal zone use the waters of the Chagres and its tributaries, wading far out into the stream and beating the life out of the clothing on the rocks.
They do not use any of the washing compounds which, according to the advertisements, lighten the house keeper's burden and make a wash day a kind of festival. The cleans ing process consists of a vigorous rubbing between the calloused hands of the dusky laundresses. The price paid for the mangling is $3 silver per dozen pieces, a handker chief counting the same as a fancy waistcoat and a pair of socks count ing for two pieces.—Engineering Magazine.

Horse Physic For Van Bulow.

Prince von Bulow's fainting fit in the reichstag attracted wide sym pathy. One suggestion in particu lar impressed him. It was from an old veterinary surgeon: "I have been very much grieved to read in the papers that you have had a fiture of weakness. If you are subject to them, I can give you a remedy of my own discovering which is composed of quite harm less herbs. I have used it often for horses, and it never failed. You should try it." The imperial chan celler was profoundly touched by the thought that he needed horse physic.

A Plague of Rabbits.

A writer describes a plague of rabbits in Australia: "A farmer bar ricaded himself in with miles upon miles of wire fencing solely to keep out the rabbits. They eat their way up to the barriers and in the figs for the green land within the wire they die in myriads. All round the inclosed land they lie in heaps of incredible size. Swarm after swarm follows on, and at last the heads of dead are so high that the late comers make their way over the fence, and the farm is ruined."

Pocket Wireless Telegraph.

A pocket wireless telegraph, cap able of operation over an area of thirty miles, is being considered by the navy bureau of equipment. An expandible balloon will carry 200 feet of fine copper wire, and at the ground end there will be a receiv ing instrument. The device is about as large as the bowl of an ordinary pipe. A sending instrument will be no larger, and the battery sys tem will not weigh over 10 pounds.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

How the Weeping Willow Came to America.

The weeping willow tree came to America through the medium of Alexander Pope, the poet, who planted a willow on the banks of the Thames at his Twickenham vil la. The twig came to him in a box of figs sent from Smyrna by a friend who had lost all in the south sea bubble and had gone to that distant land to recoup his fortune. Har per's "Encyclopedia of United States History" tells the story of the willow's arrival in America.

A young British officer, who came to Boston with the army to crush the rebellion of the American colo nies, brought with him a twig from Pope's now beautiful willow tree, intending to plant it in America when he should comfortably settle down on lands confiscated from the conquered Americans. The young officer, disappointed in these expec tations, gave his willow twig, wrap ped in oil silk, to John Parke Cust is, Mrs. Washington's son, who planted it on his Abington estate, in Virginia. It thrived and became the progenitor of all our willow trees.

Game of Press Gang.

For this jolly game you want about a dozen boys, one to repre sent an officer, half a dozen to rep resent his marines and the rest to represent victims of the press gang.

The officer and his marines catch one of their companions and call out:

"High ship or low ship, King's ship or no ship?"

If he says "high ship" or "low ship" or "king's ship" he is led off a prisoner in charge of two of the gang. But if he says "no ship" he is seized bodily by the entire gang and hustled off to the place reserved for pressed men. He means to kick and struggle for freedom, thus making a lot of excitement.

After all the victims have either been pressed or have been taken off to the press gang, the officer will not weigh over 10 pounds.

THE FELLOWSHIP OF DOGS.

Always Hope For a Man Who is Frenzied of an Ordinary Cur

I have seen a few wretches in my day, but I never saw one so utterly lost to decency that he could not be flattered by the friendly attentions of a strange dog. There is a great lesson in that. No matter how superior we try to seem to ourselves and others, a small voice within us will not let us wholly forget what humbugs we are. In the presence of our kind we are brazen. The calm gaze of a child sometimes shakes our self confidence. The knowing look of a dog shatters it. There is something in brute psychology that perplexes the intellect of man and disorganizes his intuition. Man is so made that what he cannot understand exercises greater influence over him than that which he can. In the presence of many phenomena he reveals himself openly and quite unconsciously. He is then no longer master of the fortifications of his soul. He drops his mask—his grotesque outer garb—his brazen shield falls to the ground, and he either cowardly retreats or succumbs without resistance.

There is some hope for the man who is capable of feeling ashamed in the presence of an honorable dog. That man has avenues open to him for advancement. His soul is still fit for expansion. His brain is something more than a dried nut. His heart has not turned entirely into a thing of rubber and valves. When a strange dog greets him he thinks better of himself. Unconsciously he reasons: "Villain that I am, I am not so bad after all as I might be. You can't fool a dog, and a dog is no hypocrite. Therefore I have good in me which he recognizes." The fellow is a little surprised at himself and not a little flattered. If a noble dog shows him marked favor he becomes "stuck up" almost immediately. If several dogs should display great preference and affection for his person he would soon become unendurable to society—quite too vain for association with men. Contrariwise, should dogs bark at him generally or perchance should one bite him he would not feel himself good enough to associate with snakes, but would forthwith get himself locked up as a victim of hysterical rabies, and if he had any pathetic kinfolk at large they would at once insist upon having the dog put to death.

For my own part I have learned a great deal from dogs. If I am natural, they set me the example in early childhood. If I am faithful to a friend through his disgrace and disaster I cannot deny that a dog revealed this nobility of character to me for the first time in my life. If I have gratitude, I saw it first in a dog. If I have enterprise, he did not neglect my early lessons. If I have initiative, so had my first dog friend. If I am affectionate, so was he. If I am patient in adversity and without arrogance in affluence I could not have acquired this poise of mind better from men than from dogs. If I am watchful over weakness entrusted to my care, if I am forgetful of self in guarding my beloved, if I have the courage of my convictions, if I have any heroic instincts I could have had no better teacher than a dog. Indeed the love of dogs, their association and example have filled my life with joy. —Culturist Magazine.

"I Trust You."

"I owe my salvation to three words you spoke," he wrote. "When all the world was against me you said, 'I trust you.'"

If every boy or girl who has made mistakes and gone astray could have such a friend a great many of them would return to a normal life. The feeling that somebody believes in us, trusts us—no matter what others believe or say—touches the heart. Criminals are sometimes totally reformed through the consciousness that somebody still believes in them, no matter how low they may have fallen. Could we realize how much this trust and confidence would do for a man when everything else has failed we should be more generous of our confidence in our fellows.

No Wonder.

"I don't like the Teedlums for neighbors. Their little boy is so noisy."

"Does he cry?"

"No, but he works their automobile squawker every time my husband practices on his cornet." —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THIS IS FOR YOU

I take this method to thank every one who has sold a load of Tobacco with me for the past nine years. Since on the Greenville market I have always, as auctioneer, at all times, looked after your best interest in the sale of your tobacco and if you will continue to sell with me I will see in the future, as I have in the past, that every pile of your tobacco is well looked after. This season you can find me at the "Liberty Warehouse" to welcome you at all times and with Mr. S. T. Hooker, one of Greenville's best judges of tobacco, and as we all know the strongest bidding warehousemen in the State, I feel safe in saying that I am in a better position this season to look after your interest than ever before. You will also find Mr. H. S. Hardy to see that nothing is left undone that is to your best interest.

Yours to serve,
THE LIBERTY WAREHOUSE, Co.
