OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

A 9-foot alligator was killed a few days ago in the harbor at Wilmington.

H. M. Smiley, a fireman on the Yadkin branch of the Southern railway, was killed in a wreck near Salisbury Saturday night.

After having the case twenty four hours, the jury decided that M. T. Norris, of Raleigh charged with burning a house to get the insurance, was not guilty.

A charter has been granted to the Rocky Mount and Wilson railway company, that proposes to build an electric road between the two towns.

While playing in a game of baseball at Durham, Saturday afternoon John Redmond, a young married man, was struck by lightning and killed. Several others were shocked.

The Thomasville Orphanage.

The annual report of the Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville, published in Charity and Children by General Manager M. L. Kesler, shows some interesting facts. During the year 356 fatherless ones were cared for; 55 received into the institution, 33 discharged. Although the orphanage community passed through epidemics of whooping-cough, diphtheria and pneumonia, only two children died.

The farm of the orphanage, like the farms or the world, is the "mudsill" of the institution. The orphanage farmers serve all the departments, look after their own business and help feed the hundreds of little ones.

The shoe shop pays most, we are told, in the training it gives the boys, and the wood-working department pays expenses, and saves the institution by pumping water. Boys receive valuable training here, also, but there is great need of an endowment to strengthen the "faculty" and make it a first-rate school wherein the hands of youth may be taught to do things.

The fiscal year began with a debt of $11,408, but the actual debt now is $6,819, and it would have been only about half as much had not several thousands been spent on needed improvements—Lexington Dispatch.

The Old Man is Sporty.

"Uncle" Lewis McGowan, the old colored man who has claimed that he was away about 117 years old, was out sporting a beaver today. He said "Ise got three uv 'em an' jes as well be wearin' 'em, but bein' as how dis ole one's good nuff for dis wedder I put it on fust." The old man says he is feeling younger now and may not be much over 100. Any way he is a remarkable man for his age and a better worker than most of the young darkies. He had his shovel along while sporting the beaver.

The new moon has not brought a cessation of rain yet.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Greenville, N.C., July 23rd, 1906.

We, the undersigned officers of Greenville, Lodge No. 284 A. F. & A. M., regret to learn that a report is becoming current in various sections of the county, that certain parties, who are charged with violating the criminal law of the State, will not be convicted because they are Masons. This is absolutely untrue and without foundation.

Masonry upholds no man in the violation of the law, but on the contrary enjoins and requires a strict obedience and humble submission to the law of the land.

Every man, when he becomes a Mason, receives the following charge to wit:—

"In the State, you are to be a quiet and peaceful citizen, true to your government and just to your country; you are not to countenance disloyalty, but patiently submit to legal authority and conform with cheerfulness to the government of the country in which you live. In your outward demeanor, be particularly careful to avoid censure and reproach."

We embrace this opportunity to discredit the idea that any good Mason will suborn himself to protect a guilty brother.

Bryan's Clothes a Misfit for Republicans.

Mr. Bryan's responses to the suggestions to a third presidential nomination have been in a vein of admirable good humor. The Times correspondent sends today from London an interview in which he puts very cleverly the situation as regards himself and Mr. Roosevelt's program. "He didn't get all my clothes," said Mr. Bryan, referring to the political joke of the day, "and I doubt whether what he did get fit him very well." The figure is happy. Under the President's coat of popular reform shows the waist-coat—we were tempted to say the strait-waist-coat—of the staunchest Republicanism. And to couple trousers of anti-monopoly and corporation-curbing pattern with big tariff suspenders, designed especially to hold up monopoly and special privileges, is nothing less than disastrous.

The Washington correspondent of a good Republican newspaper, the Chicago Evening Post, wrote in all seriousness the other day that not one Republican Congressman in five believed in the president's program, and that nearly every measure of importance this year was put through congress against the wishes of its members. The Democratic uniform does not fit Mr. Roosevelt any too well, but it hangs like a gunny sack over the shoulders of the rest of the party.—New York Evening Post

GETTING ACQUAINTED AT HOME.

A young fellow who had got into the habit of spending all his evenings away from home was brought to his sense in the following way:

One afternoon his father came to him and asked him if he had any engagement for the evening. The young man had not.

"Well, I'd like to have you go somewhere with me."

The young man himself tells what followed.

"All right," I said. Where shall I meet you?"

"He suggested the Columbia Hotel at half-past seven; and I was there. When he appeared, he said he wanted me to call with him on a lady. One I knew quite well when I was a young man," he explained.

"We went out and started straight for home."

"She is staying at our home," he said.

"I thought it strange that he should have made the appointment for the Columbia under those circumstances. I said nothing."

"Well, we went in, and I was introduced with all due formality to my mother and sister."

"The situation struck me as funny, and I started to laugh, but the laugh died away. None of the three even smiled. My mother and sister shook hands with me and my mother said that she remembered me as a boy, but hadn't seen much of me lately. Then invited me to be seated."

"It wasn't a bit funny then, although I sat down, and she told me one or two anecdotes of my boyhood, at which we all laughed for a little. Then we four played games for a while. When I finally retired, I was invited to call again, I went up stairs feeling pretty small, and doing a good deal of thinking."

"And then?" asked his companion.

"Then I made up my mind that my mother was an entertaining woman, and my sister a bright girl."

"I'm going to call again. I enjoy their company and intend to cultivate their acquaintance."

Paper From Cotton Stalks.

The extraction of oil from cotton seed added greatly to the farm earnings and wealth of the South. It now looks as if cotton is to make another equally as profitable contribution in the shape of paper from cotton stalks, at present comparatively a worthless production.

On a small scale this has been done, but at Montgomery, Alabama, it is to be tried on a large one. A corporation has been formed with $200,000 capital to fully test the matter.

The Right Way.

The Chatham Record suggests that postmasters should be elected by the people. Such a method of choice would be vastly preferable to that now prevailing.—Greensboro Telegram.

THE WEATHER.

Showers tonight. Tuesday partly cloudy, showers in eastern portion.

GIRLS, SOUTH AND NORTH

All girls down South are "popular." All of them deserve it. Circumstances combine to make them ineffable. Guarded by a fine chivalry, stimulated by social freedom, generously endowed with the charms of blood and beauty, they are all born princesses. And the seventeen "most popular" of them, chosen by a sort of public plumbicute, ought to be the cream of the cream.

These seventeen are now in this city. A Chattanooga newspaper sent them here to have a good time, and if there is any chivalry left in the metropolis they ought to get it.

The Southern girl of the best type is the most delightful paradox in the world. In these days all the old cloister guard-ship of her has disappeared. She goes where she pleases, and does what she likes. She luxuriates as a "co-ed" at the State universities—not scorned, like her sister at Ann Arbor or Cornell, but petted and glorified. She appears at public receptions, and she rides and drives and dances. But always under the jealous protection of manly honor.

The average southern girl, educated and ambitious, chafes a little under the very protection and years for New York and its supposed equality of opportunity for women. Signs to be a Bohemian "bachelor girl" here. She does not know when she is well off. The metropolis has no such paradise into which she was born and in which she daily moves.

Caution compels us to tell the seventeen superlatively popular Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee girls this. After they have had the time of their life here, they will go back South, if they are wise. Ours is a hard, workaday world where even girls are under the lash of the taskmaster Efficiency. The happy South knows not the name of that restless tyrant.—New York Mail.

Resolutions of Sympathy.

Whereas, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to take Mabel Ruth, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Corey into His Kingdom above, be it therefore Resolved:

1st, That we bow in humble Submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved 2nd, That we sympathize with Brother Corey and his wife and family in their bereavement. We would commend them to Him who said "Suffer little children to come unto me," He hath borne our griefs and carried our sorrows" and is able to heel us in every time of trouble.

Resolved 3rd, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and sent to Brother Corey and family, and that they be published in the Daily Reflector.

NOTICE.

On account of disagreement between my partner, L. I. Moore, and myself concerning the accounting for fees, commissions, &c. belonging to the firm I declined to continue the partnership, and Mr. Moore assented to a separation, which actually took place on July the 17th, 1916.

We have been unable to agree upon a settlement of the affairs of the partnership, and therefore the dissolution and settlement will have to be hereafter perfected in some other way.

All civil business pending at the time of the separation in which the firm or either of us have been retained will receive my best efforts to its final determination.

I shall continue the practice of law at my same office and will be glad to have my clients and friends call to see me.

JAMES L. FLEMING.

Proclamation by the Governor. $100.00 REWARD

State of North Carolina
Executive Department

Whereas official information has been received at this department that W. H. Harrington Jr. late of the County of Pitt stands charged with conspiracy and assault upon W. J. Tell, and whereas, it appears that the said W. H. Harrington Jr. has fled the State or so conceals himself that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him.

Now, therefore, I, P. B. Glenn, Governor of the State of North Carolina, by virtue of authority in me vested by law, do issue this my proclamation, offering a reward of One Hundred Dollars for the apprehension and delivery of the said W. H. Harrington Jr. to the Sheriff of Pitt County at the Court house in Greenville N. C. and I do enjoin all officers of the State and all good citizens to assist in bringing said criminal to justice.

Done at our City of Raleigh the 16th day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six and in the one hundred and thirty-first year of our American Independence.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Treatment For Patients Suffering From Sunstroke.

In case of sunstroke immediate treatment must be given to remove excessive heat. Get the patient to a shaded spot, remove the clothing and bathe the body, face and head in ice water. Lay ice in towels on head and neck and over the wrists. Rub spine and surface with it. If able to drink give all the cold water the patient can take, but never stimulants. In case of sunstroke the face is red and the head and body hot and dry. In case of heat exhaustion the face is usually pale and the pulse rapid and feeble. In this case give the patient rest in a cool, well ventilated room and administer stimulants gradually. Persons addicted to alcoholic drinks are much more susceptible than others to sunstroke and exhaustion.

Vermin In the Head.

Tincture of larkspur seed is a sure and safe remedy for vermin in the head. Saturate the scalp, parting the hair often as you proceed, applying the solution with a small sponge. Then soak the hair near the head, and finish by immersing the remaining length in a small cup of the liquid and wring it out. Do this at night, allowing the hair to remain loose to dry. In the morning comb carefully. Three applications should be enough.

Mint Punch.

From one dozen sprigs of fresh mint carefully remove the bruised leaves, which give a rank flavor. In a quart jar shake one cup of crushed ice and one-half cup of sugar until the sugar is dissolved. Add the mint, pour over it one tablespoonful of pure cider vinegar or lemon juice. Add one cup of currant juice or one glass of currant jelly and water to make one quart. If currant jelly be used omit the sugar wholly or in part. — Good House-keeping.

Oversleeves For Children.

Children's white dress sleeves can be kept perfectly clean at the table if a small pair of extra sleeves of white are made with an elastic inserted at the top and at the wrist. They can be made of any lightweight material and are easily laundered. The oversleeves will also be found useful when the children are at play, as the cuffs of a dress soil quickly.

To Clean a Rusty Pot.

To remove rust from a kettle put into it as much hay as it will hold. fill it with water and boil it many hours. If the kettle is not entirely fit for use, repeat the process. It will be certainly effective. Rub the rusty spots on the stove with sandpaper, then with sweet oil.

Spiced Apple Jelly.

If a small bag of spice is placed in the kettle when making apple or crab apple jelly the flavor will be much improved, and it varies the jelly without effort. A few leaves of sweet geranium thrown into the jelly also gives a delicious flavor.

Ironing Colored Goods.

When ironing colored blouses, no matter of what materials, don't use a very hot iron. An overheated iron injures the colors, making them look dull and faded. All calicoes, ginghams and chintzes should be ironed on the wrong side.

Cleaning Vegetables.

After washing green vegetables two or three teaspoonfuls of vinegar should be put into the next water. This not only makes the vegetables nice and crisp, but also draws out any insects that may be hidden in the leaves.

Cuban Coffee.

To serve coffee in Cuban fashion put three pints of sweet rich milk into the brightest of new coffeepots and let it come to a boil. Put in teacupful of ground coffee and boil five minutes. Strain and serve.

Washing Glassware.

When washing glassware do not put it into hot water bottom first, as it will be liable to crack from sudden expansion. Even delicate glass can be washed in very hot water if slipped in edgewise.

Keeps Brass Bright.

After brass or copper articles have been cleaned if they are brushed over with the beaten white of an egg they will stay bright much longer than the ordinary.

CONDENSED STORIES.

Why the Prisoner at the Bar Had His Doubts.

"The late Judge J. I. Clark Hare," said a lawyer of Philadelphia, "was one day relating to me some of his odd experiences on the bench.

"He said that a certain man was about to be tried in the common pleas and showed a great disposition to challenge the jurymen.

"Evidently the prisoner knew all about the right to challenge, and evidently he felt that the more challenging he and his lawyer did the better his case would go for him.

"Finally, though, his challenging came to an end. He announced that the jury now satisfied him.

"Your challenging is all over? We can now go on," said, with a smile, the attorney for the prosecution.

"The jury is all right," said the prisoner hurriedly and anxiously, "but I want to challenge the judge. I've been convicted under him several times before, and it's more than likely he's prejudiced against me."

A Story of John Allen.

Everybody regrets that Senator Blackburn of Kentucky failed of re-election, for he is one of the most popular men in public life. And of course he feels his defeat keenly, although he is a philosopher and faces the inevitable with a cheerful countenance at least. To a man condoling with him the other day he related an anecdote of John Allen and the late Speaker Reed. The latter had been defeated for the presidential nomination. Allen had been defeated for the United States senate, and they returned to Washington about the same time. They met in one of the corridors of the capitol and shook hands silently. Sympathy and consolation oozed from their grasp. Words were unnecessary, but Allen remarked in his quaint way:

"Tom, there's a dangerous indifference about the public welfare floating about," and, shaking his head mournfully, he added, "The people ain't picking their best men this year."

The Air Stealer.

Reginald DeKoven was talking about a composer whose work is reminiscent—whose compositions, that is to say, are largely plagiarisms, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

"He must be a man of genius," said Mr. DeKoven, smiling. "He resembles so remarkably his predecessors, the famous composers of the past."

"How does he resemble any famous composers?" a pianist asked.

"Well," said Mr. DeKoven, still smiling, "he resembles them in the matter of inspiration. Rossini got his inspiration from the society of beautiful women. Wagner got his best inspiration in the midst of magnificent art works. Our friend in like manner is best inspired when he is surrounded by the compositions of other musicians."

The Shiny Coat.

A little friction with emery paper will remove the shine from the shoulders and elbows of one's coat. Rub just enough to raise a little nap and then go over it with a waxy silk handkerchief.

Saved His Comrades Life.

"While returning from the Grand Army Encampment at Washington City, a comrade from Elgin, Ill. was taken with cholera morbus and was in a critical condition," says Mr. J. E. Houghland, of Eldon, Iowa. I gave him Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and believe saved his life. I have been engaged ten years in immigration work and conducted many parties to the south and west. I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions." Sold by J. L. Wooten.

A Tragic Finish

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Seadyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver, of Vancoubero Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was overdetermined by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold" but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life. Guaranteed best cough and cold cure at J. L. Wooten's drug store. 50 cent and 1.00 Trial bottle free.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by J. L. Wooten.

Only 82 Years Old.

"I am only 82 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Va. Surely there is nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, infamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by J. L. Wooten druggist. Price 50c.

Removes the microbes which impoverish the blood and circulation. Stops all trouble that interferes with nutrition. Dr. Wooten's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. Tea or Tablets. 35 cents. Wooten's Drug Store.

Fled down to his desk in the office while others are free and at play, Papa fancies he is having a vacation, while drinking Rocky Mountain Tea.

Does evil still, your whole life fill? Does woe bedevil? You, thoughts abide on suicide? You need a pill! Now for prose and facts, DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the most pleasant and reliable pills known today. They never gripe. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

Try a little Kodol for Dyspepsia after your meals. See the effect it will produce on your general feeling by digesting your food and helping your stomach by holding your stomach to get into shape. Many stomachs are overworked to the point where they refuse to go further. Kodol digests your food and gives your stomach the rest it needs, while its reconstructive properties get the stomach back into working order. Kodol relieves flatulence, sour stomach, palpitation of the heart, belching etc. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

A sweet breath adds to the joys of a kiss. You wouldn't want to kiss your wife, mother or sweet heart with a bad breath. You can't have a sweet breath without a healthy stomach. You can't have a healthy stomach without perfect digestion. There is only one remedy that digests what you eat and makes the breath as sweet as a rose—and that remedy is Kodol for dyspepsia. It is a relief for sour stomach, palpitation of the heart, and ailments arising from disorder of the stomach and digestion. Take a little Kodol after your meals and see what it will do for you. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

A prompt relief for croup, One Minute Cough Cure, cuts the phlegm, allays the inflammation—the cough syrup with a reputation. Sold by John L. Wooten.

It is always well to have a box of salve in the house. Sunburn, cuts, bruises, piles and boils yield to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Should keep a box on hand at all times to provide for emergencies. For years the standard, but followed by many imitators. Be sure you get the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, sold by J. L. Wooten.

As the county convention draws nearer the candidates get more shaky and active.

When lightning goes to striking in base ball games the players had better look out.

The neighboring towns that are having lot auction sales might give the impetus to Greenville. Such sales advertise a town and start buildings a going.

You Greenville business folks. Why don't you wake up and organize a chamber of commerce, and all get to working together to make more business for the town?

In the Wake county primary held Saturday John C. Drewery won the nomination for State Senator. It will be like eating crow for the News and Observer to support him.

The Ohio sheriff who holds a warrant to John D. Rockefeller, says it will be served immediately on that gentleman's return to this country. But when he is going to return is another question.

The announcement published elsewhere in this paper over the signature of the three principal officers of Greenville Masonic Lodge is commendable and timely. It is well known to the public that certain members of this lodge are under indictment charged with a grave crime, and certain persons who knew no better have circulated the silly rumor that because these men are Masons they will be defended and shielded by other Masons. Well informed persons know that this is contrary to the teachings of Masonry, as one of the great principles of the order is obedience to law. As to the matter in question every true Mason is ready to aid the law in bringing any guilty parties to justice, and the announcement above referred to shows the position of the lodge and that it will not countenance perjury on the part of any member to shield one who is guilty.

That French newspaper who tried to bribe Mr. Rockefeller to give an interview with a check for $1,000 is a back number. An American reporter would have tried to get a thousand dollars away from him and there would have been a lively interview sure enough.

Be prepared for a big trust busting stunt when the campaign for Secretary Taft said the President does not like to be at the mercy of a Democratic congress.

TARIFF ON TIMBER.

The wanton destruction of timber in this country in the past, is now being exemplified by the importation of 1,500,000 railroad ties from Japan. The price to be paid on this contract is 56 cents each, including the tariff tax of 1 cent a cubic foot, or 8 to 15 cents on each railroad tie. The price asked for American grown ties on the Pacific coast is said to be 70 cents each, so the tariff tax will have to be increased at least 19 cents more per tie to protect our lumbermen from the pauper labor of Japan. Here is something for the protectionists to act upon instead of supinely standing pat and letting the pauper foreigner undersell the American product. Then too, if the tariff duty on timber was increased it would hasten the denudation of our forests, which the protection system evidently desires, by placing obstacles on the importation of foreign lumber. It is hardly necessary to say that the more costly ties and rails can be made, the higher our freight rates are bound to be.

WORTH MORE THAN IT COSTS.

A local newspaper is absolutely necessary to any community. It is the home paper that keeps the people of the community in touch with each other by giving them all the news of their own neighborhood and county. For that alone they are of value and worth far more than the small subscription price. They keep the local pride and progressive spirit aroused and in various ways are worth far more to a community than a community ever spends on them.—Clinton Democrat.

Under the Elkins law a railroad can be punished for charging less than its published rates and the shipper for paying less, as much as for giving rebates. This was technically proven in the conviction of the three packing companies and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad cases at Kansas City. Of course the crime committed was in discriminating in favor of favored shippers against the general public.

The meat consumer catches it going and coming. He has to pay for the meat inspection, thanks to a Republican congress, and has to pay the Beef trust what it sees fit to charge to make up for loss of business by the packers in consequence of the meat investigation.

Another Pitt Boy.

The Mt. Olive Supply Co., with an authorized capital of $100,000, and a paid in capital of $25,000, has been organized in Mt. Olive and chartered by the State. The incorporators are X. T. Keel, B. Jordan, E. J. O'Berry and L. C. McCullen. The new company will do a general wholesale and retail supply business. Mr. Keel is another of those substantial Pitt county boys who is making his mark in the business world.

The Edison Phonograph.

THE EDISON PHONOGRAPH solves the problem of home entertainment. Its clearness and richness of tone wins the immediate admiration of every audience.

By means of this wonderful instrument your home can be brought in direct touch with the musical world, and you can hear as many times as you like, for the small cost of a Edison Record, what people in the large cities pay one or two dollars a night to hear. The Edison Phonograph reproduces so perfectly that you miss nothing but the sight of the orchestra and the faces of the singers.

EVERY family circle is incomplete without an Edison Phonograph. Every one of them bears the signature of Thomas A. Edison, the greatest inventive genius of the age.

To those interested we will take great delight in showing it at our store. Come and hear it for yourself. Ask about our easy payment plan at the cash price. To prospective purchasers we will exhibit the Phonograph at their homes.

Lightning Destroys Depot of the A. C. L. at Speed.

The oil mills at Speed were recently destroyed by lightning. About 4 o'clock this morning another bolt struck the Coast Line warehouse and ignited the contents. As soon as the citizens were apprised of the building being on fire they rushed to the scene and did all they could to stay and save. They could do little of either and barring a bale of cotton and scales nothing was saved. Goods and merchandise of various descriptions amounting to probably $1,000 were consumed.—Tarboro Southerner. 19th.

Notice

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination for Register of Deeds of Pitt county, subject to the action of the Democratic county convention, and will appreciate the support any friends may give me.

FRENCH PRISON FOR BOYS.

Where Unmanageable Sons of the Rich are confined.

The Maison Penitentielle at Metz, near Tours, France, where the sons of rich people between the ages of twelve and twenty-one are incarcerated because they are unmanageable at home, is a curious institution.

We were greeted at the entrance with a frigate of iron bars. No bell was rung. Our guide noiselessly inserted a gigantic key, and we entered a large hall. A long row of locked doors greeted us on each side, and a gallery running around the top of the hall repeated the same thing. "These are their rooms," said our guide in an awful whisper. "They are shut up in there now—they must not hear us."

This gruesome hall oppressed one with a sense of doom and despair quite indescribable—no windows, no air from the sky light overhead.

"They are permitted to go out only in charge of a keeper for one hour in the day. But I will show you how things have been arranged for them," he added. "There is, I believe, one room vacant at the moment."

It was a bare cell, just big enough to contain the narrow bed, small writing table, two chairs and a minute chest of drawers and washstand. Iron bars inclosed the window. A padlock and chain enabled the door to be opened about four inches when required.

"You see," our guide remarked, "by this means they hear the messe in the chapel without quitting their rooms."

In these cells, he told us, the boys lived day and night for two, three, sometimes for six or seven years. Professors come from Tours and give them instruction at the small writing table. Once a month they take a bath, more often if the relatives are willing to pay extra for it. They are escorted to the bath by a guardian. The isolation of each boy is so thorough that two brothers were once there together for two years without ever knowing it. The price for the privilege of placing your son under this parental roof is $60 a month, all instruction being extra.

The boys are known only by the numbers on their cell doors, so that their sojourn at the parental home may not tell against them in after life. "Their friends suppose them to be on voyage or in an English or German family, learning the language. One invents a little romance, you see," said our guide.—Fortnightly Review.

Raised Husband's Rent.

Harlem proudly boasts the progressive and enterprising woman's rights advocate in a housewife who introduces business methods into the domestic circle. Milady is a trained nurse, preferring to practice this profession to remaining at home like the conventional spouse. The husband is engaged in clerical occupation downtown.

Through their combined savings the couple purchased a modest three floor apartment house in the neighborhood of East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, the title being recorded in the wife's name. A short time ago she increased the rentals of two floors, and then her spirit of independence asserted itself to the extent of raising hubby's rent, notwithstanding the fact that she and her life partner dwell in harmony in the same quarters. Every month he has to fork over a stated sum in re tenant account to his household fiduciary agent.—New York Press.

Ashamed to Take the Money.

For awhile after little Clayton was sent to the kindergarten he received frequent merit cards. Every time he brought home a reward token his mother and father and aunt and his grandfather and uncle gave him a penny. Soon the virtuous life palled upon him, and he brought home no more cards indicating that he was a good boy. One day his grandfather remarked:

"Why is it, Willie, that you no longer get merit cards? Don't you remember we always gave you penny when buying meat or pork or any food that is apt to spatter a few newspapers spread around the stove will prevent the tiny but unsightly grease spots that sink into the wood and are so very difficult to remove. Newspapers tacked to the wall at the back of the range and spread around on the floor before commencing to blacken the stove will catch all the dust and black lead.

Advice on Buying Beef.

Fine, well fed beef is distinguished by the bright red color of the lean, which should be marbled with fat; by the pinkish whiteness of the fat, and the meat being firm and white.

When beef is lean, the flesh dark colored and the fat yellow it is not good. Old meat has a streak of horn running between the fat and lean of the sirloin and ribs.

THE BOW AND ARROW.

Archery is a Recreation of Great Physical Value.

In the choice of a man's recreation one should choose that which not only gives him sufficient muscular exercise and full respiration, but which will give him also as large an amount of pleasure as possible, for the pleasurable of an exercise is one test of its value. During his period of recreation a man's care and worry should be completely submerged by the gush of youthful enthusiasm. Only under these conditions does physical exercise yield even its full physical value. But there should be more than the physical consideration entering into the matter of recreation. One's recreation should possess something of an artistic and aesthetic value. It should be of such a nature that through participating in it and through love for it one will become a more cultured gentleman.

All of these requirements are ideally met in the most historic of games, archery. As to muscular exercise and respiration archery is fully adequate, and especially so because it can be followed to old age. As the muscles strengthen the bow can be adjusted to the increasing strength. As old age approaches and the muscles begin to tire under the arduous work of the younger man the bow can again be fitted to the man, while the muscles themselves and the eye need not lose their cunning. Indeed, it is a noteworthy fact that many of the leading archers of all times have been men of advanced years. In fact, the fascination of the long bow seems to grow stronger in the faithful archer as his years advance, even as Robin Hood, through the lattice of his chamber, shot his last arrow to mark the spot of his grave.

But to illustrate the nature of the physical exercise which is involved in the pursuit of archery it might be said that in shooting a single York round, which is seventy-two arrows at 160 yards, forty-eight arrows at eighty yards and twenty-four arrows at sixty yards, the archer must walk 2,080 yards if he uses two targets and twice that if he has only one target. If he uses a bow which pulls forty-five pounds, which is the ordinary weight for men, he has drawn in all 6,480 pounds. This work has been done by a direct pull across the chest, an exercise which puts all the muscles of the back and shoulders in most perfect tonus and forces the most perfect respiration. In fact, no form of exercise could surpass archery for the purpose of straightening up stooped shoulders and expanding the collapsed chest and lungs. Nothing can take the place of archery for the man who is confined over a desk in his daily work.

But there are other important features of archery from the purely physical point of view. To make a successful shot with the bow one must bring every muscle of the body under most perfect control and into most perfect co-ordination with the eye. This factor itself is of important educational significance—the factor of self control at a trying moment. When the bow is full drawn every muscle must be in the highest tension, the body in absolute equilibrium, the bow held as if in a vise and the point of the arrow on the mark. Then the string must bound from the fingers without a waver or jerk. These are only some of the elements of archery, and there is a lifetime of study in

Affected the Verdict.

"You see, gentlemen," said the counsel for the defendant complacently—it was a compensation case—"I have got the plaintiff into a very nice dilemma. If he went there seeing that the place was dangerous, there was contributory negligence, and, as his lordship will tell you, he can't recover. If he did not see it was dangerous, neither could my client have seen it, and there was no negligence on his part. In either case I am entitled to your verdict." The jury retired. "Well, gentlemen," said the foreman, "I think we must give him £300." All agreed except a stout, ruddy gentleman in the corner, who cried hoarsely, "Give him another £50, gentlemen, for getting into the dilemma!" Verdict accordingly.—London Graphic.

The First Pins.

Thorns were originally used in fastening garments together. Pins did not immediately succeed thorns as fasteners, but different appliances were used, such as hooks, buckles and laces. It was the latter half of the fifteenth century before pins were used in Great Britain. When first manufactured in England the iron wire, of the proper length, was filed to a point and the other extremity twisted into a head. This was a slow process, and 400 or 500 pins was a good day's work for an expert hand.

We Is Fired.

I beg to announce the disappearance from these columns of the editorial "we." Why should it remain? The essayist says "I," the orator says "I," the editor says "I." He should and he shall—except when he has passed within his own door—then he will say, "My dear, what had 'we' better do in that matter?" But here in the quiet of this sanctum, barred and double barred against the public, I am a free man, and I boldly declare in the face of my dog and sundry time stained portraits that I (who have often said "we") will not make one "we" that will not be "we."

FORMOSA HEAD HUNTERS.

The mountainous interior of Formosa is inhabited by a race of blood-thirsty savages, whose chief delight is to sally forth on head hunting raids. Few strangers (the exceptions being some intrepid Japanese explorers) have ever penetrated far into the wild mountain country which is the home of these savages.

They appear to be akin to the Dyaks of Borneo, but no definite study of their language or habits has yet been made, though interesting details will be found in Consul Davidson's voluminous book on Formosa. For hundreds of years the tribes, eight in number, have withstood their enemies, who have never been able to penetrate to their fastnesses. It remains to be seen what success the more systematic Japanese will achieve.

It seems almost incredible that the station of a military force should not be safe from the raids of these head hunters, but it was the case a few years ago. At that time one of the tribes crept in the night upon a post of the Japanese and made off with a score of heads.

Their most usual method is to stalk the Chinese of either sex when they are engaged in tea picking. The savage creeps up unobserved to his victim, transfixes him with his spear, secures his head and is lost in a moment in the neighboring jungle.—Macmillan's.

Wireless Across the Pacific.

Mr. Marconi used a ten inch induction coil, giving a spark three-quarters of an inch long, in his early attempts to communicate across the English channel by wireless telegraphy. His masts were 150 feet high. To provide for commercial communication across the Pacific ocean between San Francisco and Honolulu a gigantic induction coil fifteen feet long is being built, which will give a spark fifteen feet long and as thick as a man's body. Two thousand miles of fine silk insulated copper wire are used in the coil, with more than a ton of beeswax and paper for additional insulating. Its potential will be about 5,000,000 volts. The masts from which the impulses will be sent out are twin towers, each 300 feet high, on the very apex of Mount Tamalpais, across the Golden Gate from San Francisco. The antennae—3,000 pounds of heavy copper wire—will thus be nearly 3,000 feet above the waves which wash the foot of the mountain.

London's Infant Slaughter.

John Burns, the English Labor member and cabinet minister, the sixteenth member of a family of eighteen children, nine of whom survived, said to the national conference on infantile mortality in London:

"I believe I am well within the mark when I say that there are roughly 100,000 lives sacrificed in some form or another every year, not to men's inhumanity, but to neglect, carelessness, thoughtlessness and ignorance. It is pathetic to know that in some districts from 30 to 60 per cent of the total children born die under five years. Wealth has increased, but the infant has not shared it. Physical comforts have increased, and yet the weakest and the smallest bear an undue share of the burden of death. It seems as though material progress is hitting the child too hard."

Tragedy of a Lost Shell.

The Natal Mercury (South Africa) tells the story of a Boer farmer named Moolman, who found a 4.7 naval shell lying on the veldt unexploded and took it home to his sister. She wanted the shell for decoration purposes and began to dig out the lyddite, and to soften it poured cold water upon it. The lyddite and water began to effervesce, and the girl went indoors and from the end of the passage watched the shell, which lay upon the doorstep. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion, and Miss Moolman fell dead, struck in the breast by a piece of shell. The whole house was wrecked, every pane of glass, every window frame and every door being cast to the ground and most of the furniture being upset and smashed.

To Remove Indelible Ink.

Make a stiff paste of talcum powder and buttermilk; cover the indelible ink spots with it and leave thus for two days. Rinse with pure water and renew the process until the spot disappears.

THIS IS FOR YOU

I take this method to thank every one who has sold a load of Tobacco with me for the past nine years. Since on the Greenville market I have always, as auctioneer, at all times, looked after your best interest in the sale of your tobacco and if you will continue to sell with me I will see in the future, as I have in the past, that every pile of your tobacco is well looked after. This season you can find me at the "Liberty Warehouse" to welcome you at all times and with Mr. S. T. Hooker, one of Greenville's best judges of tobacco, and as we all know the strongest bidding warehousemen in the state, I feel safe in saying that I am in a better position this season to look after your interest than ever before. You will also find Mr. H. S. Hudy to see that nothing is left undone that is to your best interest.

Yours to serve,
THE LIBERTY WAREHOUSE, Co.
