MEETING OF ALDERMEN.

Business Transacted—Tax Levy Recommended But Deferred—Ficklen Wall Ordered Rebuilt.

The board of aldermen met in regular monthly session Thursday night seven members being present.

The finance committee made a report approximating the needs of the town for the current fiscal year and recommended the following tax law levy for the year:

For general purposes 54 cents on each $100 valuation of real and personal property and $1.63 cents on each poll.

Interest on improvement bonds 21 cents on each $100 valuation and 63 cents on each poll.

Maintenance of graded 40 cents on each $100 valuation and $1.20 on each poll.

This makes a total of $1.15 on each $100 valuation and $3.45 on each poll, and a reduction of 10 cents and 30 cents respectively from the levy of last year.

The returns to the list taker of taxes for the year shows real and personal property to the amount of $1,309,000 and 489 polls. The recommendation of the finance committee was not acted on at present but on motion was deferred for consideration at an adjourned meeting.

The several committees had nothing special to report.

The chairman of the water and light commission reported that the plant was running very satisfactorily and that the new dynamo for operating day current had arrived. He also made some statements relative to the contemplated sewerage system.

The several officers made their reports for the past month.

The dispensary report showed purchases during the past month to be $3,579.78 and cash sales $4,148.

The superintendent of the water and light plant reported seven new water customers and two new light customers during the month and income about $758.

The board at a special meeting to consider the matter of damage to E. B. Ficklen from the washing down of a brick wall on his premises, having referred the matter to a committee of arbitration, that committee decided that the town should have the wall rebuilt as it was before and so reported to the board. It was ordered that a contract be made with C. V. York to replace the wall for the sum of $135.

Licenses to conduct restaurants were granted to W. G. Watson and E. L. Weathington.

The bonds of the treasurer and manager of the dispensary were presented and accepted.

Accounts were allowed amounting to $809.34.

A recess was taken to Tuesday night, 7th, to consider deferred matters.

Day Current Soon.

The dynamo and equipment for supplying day electric current has arrived. As soon as it can be installed at the plant the day current will be ready for operation and motors and fans can get busy.

Preaching wouldn't be much of business if there were no weddings to perform.

A Clever Son Here Also.

One of our greatest pleasures on our trip to Whitakers this week was to meet and talk with Elder A. J. Moore, an old resident of that place, and one of the best loved and revered citizens of that community. He being the father of our young Mr. Moore, of the A. C. L. railroad company at Wilson, made him all the more interesting to a Wilson man. He is one of the finest and most congenial spirits we have met in a long time. He is well and favorably known in Wilson and in all the surrounding county.—Wilson Messenger.

The foregoing is by Rev. J. T. Jenkins, pastor of the Baptist church in Wilson and editor of The Messenger. Mr. Moore's many friends in this community will appreciate these good words, and we are glad to tell our neighbor, The Messenger, that clever Coast Line agent at Scotland Neck is also a son of Mr. Moore at Whitakers.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

The distinguished sons of this excellent man do not end with the two mentioned above. Greenville also has one in the person of Hon. L. I. Moore a leading lawyer, who has already served this district eight years as collector and has been nominated for four years more, is president of the National Bank of Greenville, and an active promoter of the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound railroad. He is also chairman of the Democratic executive committee of the county and a leader in politics and business matters of this section.

OVERWORKED EMPLOYEES.

The Corporation Commission in a sort of uncertain way made a report on the wreck near Hamlet Sunday, July 22, when more than twenty persons were killed and forty wounded. The report laid blame on railroad employes, fastening it on no one in particular, but the train dispatcher at Raleigh was thought to be in fault. By overwork and long strain on his nerves he forget to tell the Hamlet train to wait until the Rockingham train should pass. If the train dispatcher was rendered incapable of duty by reason of overwork, the blame should rest on the railroad authorities.—It looks like railroad employes are frequently overworked, and doubtless that causes some wrecks.

We believe that the legislature ought to pass a law that train dispatchers shall be kept on continuous duty for only so many hours. This would relieve the situation to some degree at least.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

A CARD FROM BELVOIR.

I take this method of recommending to the Democratic voters of Pitt county a man for Register of Leeds who in official career cannot be excelled, a man we all know to be honest and true to his county affairs. This man is James C. Lanier. Let him go to the front with a whoop.

A. Voter.

NOW I LAY ME.

There is a touching story told of a little girl who was undergoing an operation. The physician said to her as he was about to place her upon the operating table, "Before we can make you well, we must put you to sleep." The little girl looked up, and smiling, said, "Oh, if you are going to put me to sleep, I must say my prayers first." Then she knelt down beside the table and said:

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray thee, Lord, my soul to keep,
If I should die before I wake,
I pray thee, Lord, my soul to take."

The surgeon said afterwards that he prayed that night for the first time in thirty years. This little girl was only about her Father's business as Christ was when he was listening and asking questions. No one is so small but he can attend to the business of prayer. Thank God that there are little prayers, little burdens, little words, deeds and songs adapted to little children for shall they not lead us? (Isa. 6: 6)—Record of Christian Work.

Fair and Rain Too.

Maybe the weather man can claim that he hit it in the prediction sent out Thursday of "fair tonight and Friday." It was fair enough up to the middle of last night, the moon shining beautifully for several hours. But the latter part of the night was something else, giving one or two big rains that extended well into the morning. By 10 o'clock today it was fair again, but there is no telling how many more changes will come before this is printed.

Large Increase Shown.

The corporation commission announced its assessment of the various railways and other common carrier companies. The total amount is $76,050,548, which in an increase of $677,215 over last year. The railways aggregate $70,077,361 as follows:

Atlantic Coast Line, $24,454,013; Seaboard Air Line, $12,520,000; Southern, for owned lines, $14,735,250, and for leased lines, $11,739,688; miscellaneous railways, $6,648,408. The telegraph companies aggregate $1,016,025; telephone, $938,956; express, $408,109; Pullman, $176,906; electric light and gas, $808,081; street railways, $1,749,650; water works, $547,670; steamboats, $142,259; bridge and canal companies, $80,116; refrigerator companies, $111,427; the total of such companies being $5,973,187.

Condition Eighty Three.

The government report issued today on the condition of the cotton crop places it at 83 percent as compared with average crops. This report, of course, is for the entire cotton belt, but so far as this immediate section is concerned it is much above the situation. It is not believed over a half crop will be made in Pitt county

EX-CONFEDERATE REUNION.

General Order Giving Information About Reunion at Morehead on the 22d and 23d of August.

Headquarters N. C. Division United Confederate Veterans, Durham, N. C., July 30, 1906.

General Orders No. 31.

Paragraph 1. The Major General commanding hereby announces that the next annual reunion of the North Carolina Division of the United Confederate Veterans will be held at Morehead City on the 22nd and 23rd days of August 1906.

Paragraph 2. The railroad companies have given the low rate of one cent a mile, tickets to be on sale on the 20th, 21 and 22nd, with final limit August 27. Inquire of the local agent the price of a ticket from any station. The price of a round-trip ticket from Raleigh will be $3.15. The rate of $1.50 will be given by the Atlantic Hotel to those Veterans who wish to stay there. The Governor has offered the use of the tents and camp equipment of the National Guard to the Veterans who desire to camp out. Those who stay at the encampment must provide their own bedding and rations, but they can have the use of the cooking utensils at the camp. This is called to the special attention of the Veterans so that they may be certain to provide their own rations while in camp. For further information as to quarters, etc., at the camp apply to Lieutenant Colonel W. E. Cary, Morehead City, N. C., who is the assistant quarter-master General of the National Guard now encamped there. The camp will be ready for occupancy on Tuesday, the 21st day of August, and the Veterans can have the use of it all the week if they desire.

Paragraph 3. The annual election of division and brigade commanders will be held on the afternoon of Thursday, the 23d day of August. Only those camps who have paid their dues to Gen. W. E. Mickle at New Orleans will be entitled to vote in the said election. Commanders of camps are urged to carry as many as possible to this reunion and all Confederate Veterans in this State are invited to attend, whether or not they belong to any camp of the U. C. V. To many this will be the last opportunity to attend a reunion and meet their old comrades.

By order of Major-General.
H. A. LONDON, J. S. CARR.
Adj. Gen. and Chief of Staff.

Carolina Club Officers.

Carolina Club held its annual meeting Thursday night and elected the following officers.

D. C. Moore president.
R. C. Flanagan, vice president.
G. J. Woodward, secretary.
T. J. Moore, treasurer.
D. L. James, B. Williams, B. O. Jeffress, H. McClellan, W. H. Ragsdale and H. A. White, board of governors.

The club now has about 80 members and is in good financial condition.

Deserving of Sympathy.

The man will be hailed as a public benefactor who will solve the problem that exists in every kitchen here. Half of us have no cooks and the other half have cooks by named only—certainly some of them do not live up to the title. There are few negro women of this day who can, or will, cook a decent meal. They will traipse into one's kitchen anywhere after 7 o'clock, do their work in the most perfunctory manner and slip away for home about 2 o'clock—carrying with them what they can for the man who "has a gal in de white man's yard." Domestic service these days is a farce; and it is a fact that, for results attained, the negro help in the South is more expensive than the white servants of the North.—Rock Hill Record.

The Wrong Animal.
Ignorance of natural history—and some other things—played a part in a fight of which a well known actor tells a story.

A Welshman, he says, had taken boxing lessons until he thought he could whip anything of his weight. He thereupon challenged an Irishman to fight him to a finish, and the challenge was promptly accepted. The Welshman selected a fellow countryman named Davy for a second. The battle began, and after the first round the Welshman went to his corner and asked Davy how he looked.

"Look like a lion," said Davy.
In the second round the Welshman had one eye closed, but Davy still declared his champion looked like a lion. At the end of the third round the Welshman was out. When he came to he looked through his swollen eyes at his second and said: "Ow do I look now, Davy?"
"Like a lion," said Davy.
"I don't feel like 'un. Did you ever see a lion?"
"Yes, hindeed. Bill Jones 'as 'un."
"Hit hain't a lion, man. Hit's a Jackass!"
"Well, that's 'ow you look!"

The Jury Soon Agreed.
Judge Amasa J. Parker of Albany was as waggish as he was learned. Having had a five days' trial of a breach of promise case, the jury disagreed and averred that a verdict was impossible. Said Judge Parker: "This is unfortunate, and I am sorry for the uncomfortable night you have passed, but I have a circuit term to hold in New York which cannot take longer than a fortnight, when I shall return to receive your verdict, if by that time you have reached one. Meanwhile I shall direct the sheriff to make you as comfortable as circumstances will permit." The foreman glared at his fellows, and they glared at him, but the foreman, recovering his presence of mind, scurried up and down the row of double sixes and in a few minutes announced a verdict for the defendant. But the fair plaintiff obtained from the appellate court a new trial on the novel ground that the judge had coerced the jury.

Only a Hint.
The old colored "mammy" who had ruled the Greenough household for more than twenty years was known to the tradesmen and the world in general as "Mrs. Washington," although she allowed the Greenoughs and their friends to address her as "Aunt Ephrasia."

She had a flow of language which has seldom been equaled, and delighted in it more even than in her skill in cooking. On one occasion Mrs. Greenough overheard Aunt Ephrasia berating a tardy grocer's boy.

"Whar yo' been, yo' triflin' lazy, destructful, owdacious, aggervatin', presumptuous boy, while I's been a-waitin' and a-yarmin' for dese yer condimental 'spices?" demanded Aunt Ephrasia, her turbaned head threatening the delinquent, who covered before her. "Ef I hadn't got ter put dese yer right into my cake dat's been kept unfinished for yo' to go dawdlin', philanderin', sojerin' round, I'd stop a minute and gib yo' some idee ob my opinions regadin' yo'!"—Youth's Companion.

Got Himself Recorded.
If a member of the house wants to be recorded on a roll call that he did not hear either by reason of inattention or absence from the house it is the duty of the speaker to interrogate him to ascertain if he was present and giving attention. The theory is that if a man is inattentive he is not entitled to a record.

J. Adam Bede wanted to be recorded.

"Was the gentleman in the house?" asked the speaker. "Without waiting for an answer Mr. Cannon asked, "Was the gentleman giving attention?"
"He was giving attention," said Bede. Then as a sort of after thought he added, "But he was not in the house." But he got himself recorded nevertheless.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Politeness Pays.
A dog one day discovered an organ grinder's monkey seated upon a bank within his master's grounds and at once made a rush for it. The monkey, which was attired in jacket and hat, awaited the onset in tranquillity so undisturbed that the dog halted within a few feet of a rock onnoiter. The animals took a long stare at each other, but the dog was evidently recovering from his surprise and was about to make a spring for the intruder when the monkey raised his paw and saluted by lifting his hat. The effect was magical. The dog's head and tail dropped, and he sneaked off to the house, refusing to leave it until his polite but mysterious visitor had departed.

Ignorance.
"Adam," said Eve after the rabbit had been named, "why does I wobble his nose?"
"How do you suppose I know?" answered Adam, with some irritation. "The New York papers have been tryin' for years to find out and not one of them has evolved a satisfactory theory even yet."

He condescended, however, to explain that the reason why the animal's tail was so short was that all the spare material had been used in making its ears.—Chicago Tribune

His Own Inventions.
Lord Kelvin paid a visit to a British school ship for navigating officers at Portsmouth, on which several mechanical contrivances and appliances of his own invention were demonstrated and explained to him. Lord Kelvin undertook the theoretical principles of the mechanism, but he never saw them applied and set work before.

Sizing For Painted Walls.
The best sizing for use on walls as a base for paint is one pound of common glue to a gallon of water. Apply hot with a large brush. The flake or powdered glue is suitable.

Bobbie Wanted to Know.
"Say, papa, you was tellin' Mr. Crummage 'bout shootin' a eagle on th' wing. Which wing was it?"
"You don't understand, Bobbie. It was a soaring eagle I shot."
"Did it make him sore when you shot him, papa?"
"No, no, Bobbie. The eagle was up—up in the air—enjoying a long fly."
"Do eagles eat long flies, papa?"
"Jane, why don't you put the child to bed?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Tragic.
The man lay prone upon the pavement. Blood trickled from a ragged gash in his throat and formed in a little pool near his head.
There were no marks of violence—nothing to show how the man had come by the accident. For a minute the great detective was baffled. Suddenly a strange light shone in his keen gray eyes, while a smile of satisfaction played about his lips.
"Have you discovered how the man's throat was cut?" they asked.
"Yes; he's wearing a collar that's been to the laundry twice."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

John Sharp.
In the neighborhood of his Mississippi home John Sharp Williams is always called "John Sharp." That is because the family of the congressman's mother were the Sharps—the great people of that section. According to his own confession Williams' notion of earthly happiness is to sit on his veranda at Yazoo in the company of good books and watch the cotton grow. Only one vote was cast against him at the last election—that of one of his seven children as a joke. One of his close friends said recently: "John writes poetry for recreation. At least, he says it's poetry, and that he finds recreation in committing it to paper."

Fluid Lenses.
"Fluid lenses" are the invention of a Hungarian chemist. Each lens consists of a fluid substance inclosed between two unusual hard glass surfaces, similar to watch crystals. The lenses are achromatic. The fluid does not evaporate. The new lenses are said to be as good as those all of glass and can be made much more quickly and for a fraction of the price of the all glass lenses. It is expected that the new lenses will be especially useful for great telescopes.

STOVES IN JAPAN.
The fuel in Japan is charcoal, wood, coal, coke and kerosene oil. The Japanese cooking apparatus is of two kinds—one of the "shichirin," a small portable construction of metal or earthenware, costing from 25 cents to $1.25 and heated by means of charcoal; the other the "kamado," a kind of stationary furnace, built of brick and mortar, the price varying from $1.25 to $10, and burning wood as fuel. The houses are usually heated by charcoal braziers, costing from 50 cents to $15. Foreigners there use cooking stoves, of which some are imported from America, England and France, but the greater number are of Japanese make, while their residences and offices are heated by grates and stoves, most of which are of Japanese manufacture, though those houses built by foreigners are usually fitted out with American or English grates. Only a few furnaces and steam heating plants are in use.

Adjustable.
Jenkins—That's the way the thing was told to me; but, of course, there's always more than one side to a story.
Wiseman—Of course, there are always as many sides to a story as there are people to blame.—Houston Post.

Starting the Bore.
"Don't you know that when you ask your little girl to recite it makes everybody feel like going home?"
"Yes."
"Then why do you do it?"
"That's why."—Washington Star.

An Exploded Theory.
"Do you believe all men are created equal, Mr. Newpop?"
"Not by a long shot. Why, that baby of mine knows more now, although he is only three days old, than some people ever learn."—Houston Post.

Sweet Charity.
Mrs. Goodhart—Why don't you give that poor woman a dime?
Mrs. Tiptop—Mercy me! I can't afford to spare a cent. As it is, I don't see how we're ever going to pay for that $300 dress I had to order for the charity ball.—New York Weekly.

He Didn't Go Shopping.
Wife—My dear, I need a little more of this stuff and some trimming to match. I wish you would drop into Bigg, Sale & Co.'s and get it.
Husband (a smart fellow)—Let me see. Oh, I know. That's the shop where they have so many pretty girls, isn't it?
"Y-e-s."
"Yes, I remember. That blond girl at the trimming counter knows your tastes and will doubtless select just the sort of trimming you want—I mean the girl with the golden hair, alabaster skin, blue eyes and sweet little"—
"There are a number of things I want downtown. Never mind, dear. I'll go and get them myself."

Behind Him.
"Do you know your orders, sentry?" a not over bright Irish soldier on guard duty was asked.
"Yes, sor," was the reply.
"Know the points of the compass?" continued the officer.
"Yes, sor."
"If you face the rising sun your left hand would be on the north of you and your right hand to the south of you. What would be behind you?"
"Me knapsack, sor."—London Telegraph.

Egg in a Bottle.
If an egg be kept in strong vinegar for a short while the shell will become more or less plastic, and the egg can then be rolled out sausage-like until it be of small enough diameter to go with ease in at the mouth of a beer bottle. If cold water be then poured in the bottle, the shell, the life of which has been softened by the vinegar, will harden and return to its original shape.

The Story of a Novel.
The story of Lord Brougham's full novel, "Albert Lunel," is a curious one. Its author was so disgusted with the review which the London Times gave to an early copy that he suppressed the whole edition of 500. After his death an enterprising man bought the edition, which, mostly in sheets, was discovered in Brougham's library. It was issued in three volume form with the author's name, and one copy, it is recorded, was sold for $300 to a library in this country. Another went to Paris at a cost of $250, while a Berlin library paid $200 for a copy. The rest of the edition went to the London lending libraries on the usual terms. The publisher paid only $100 for the entire stock and copyright.

Saved His Comrades Life.
"While returning from the Gran Army Encampment at Washington City, a comrade from Elgin, Ill., was taken with cholera morbus and was in a critical condition," says Mr. J. E. Houghland, of Eldon, Iowa. I gave him Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and believe saved his life. I have been engaged ten years in immigration work and conducted many parties to the south and west. I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions." Sold by J. L. Wooten.

Tragic Finish
A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Seadyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver, of Vanceboro Me., permitted a little cold to go unattended until a tragic finish was ordered by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes "My doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold" but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life. Guaranteed best cough and cold cure at J. L. Wooten's drug store. 50 cent and 1.00 Trial bottle free.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.
When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by J. L. Wooten.

Only 82 Years Old.
"I am only 82 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin Ga. Surely there is nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, inflamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by J. L. Wooten druggist. Price 50c

Mrs. Thaw handles the lie just like a man.

Just as soon as you can spare a dollar let the newspaper man have it. The last few months have been hard ones about the print shop and early collections would help relieve the situation.

As long as Russia's troubles are all confined to herself there need be no great concern about the outcome, as anything that may result will be better than present conditions in that country.

The Durham Corbett reported to have fallen heir to a fortune of several millions left by a rich relative in San Francisco, is not said to be a relative to pugilist Jim. But when he gets those millions he will be a much bigger man than Jim.

A Dispatch man met Mr. W. H. Walker, secretary and treasurer of the Dixie Furniture Company, on his way to the factory last Saturday afternoon, with a grip full of money to pay off the Dixie's hands. "Aren't you afraid somebody will hold you up," shouted the reporter. "Naw!" said Mr. Walker, "but I've got enough here to be held up for," showing his grip, which appeared to be heavy. And those grips on Saturday afternoons, enroute to the various factories, hold the secret of Lexington's rousing business and prosperity. Manufactories make towns. Lexington owes a great deal to the manufacturers of the place.—Lexington Dispatch.

Every time we see an item like this in an exchange it puts us to wondering when Greenville will wake up to the need of factories and start to work to secure them. Such enterprises with large weekly pay rolls are what this town needs to make business for the merchants and everybody else. If the business men would come together in a chamber of commerce or some similar organization they could set plans on foot to secure the location of factories here.

As an exchange says, no merchant ever feared a competitor who didn't advertise. It is the one who advertises a little more aggressively than you do who gives you insomnia.

An English physician says a long period of silence will cure women of nervousness. The trouble is there are few of them willing to take the medicine.—Charlotte News.

STANDS ITS GROUND.

From one point of view it is not strange that the revised version of the Scriptures have not replaced the authorized version, the old King James text. There are the associations of not simply a life time, but of generations and even centuries connected with the older form. Its rich, sonorous sentences and phrases are imbedded in the profane and the religious literature of the English speaking people. They live in the hymns, in the prayers, in the sermons, in the books and in the thoughts and memories of millions of Christian people; ministers and laymen alike are devoted to the old. Sentiment plays an important part in the life and habits of all mankind and it looks as if it will be a long, long time before men will prefer the new, for they say "the old is better." And this, too, in the face of the fact that the authorized version is full of inaccuracies, abounds in words which have become obsolete and whose meaning only the well educated know. Scholars and critics and teachers and leaders in religious thought continue to point out the unwisdom of not discarding the old Bible and accepting the new, but their words are unheeded, and their exhortation disregarded. It is true that increasing numbers use the revised versions for references and study and comparison, but the old somehow stands its ground and remains conqueror over all comers and apparently will continue such for a long while yet.—Charlotte Chronicle

SHE LEARNED THE TRUTH.

The queen of Roumania, better known as Carmen Sylva, has many gifts. In addition to being a writer, she is a musician and in her youth was something of a singer. Of this last gift an amusing story is told. Praised by flattering courtiers, her majesty almost thought herself a second Patti. But she is nothing if not practical, and she therefore visited in strict incognito a celebrated French singing master. He listened gravely to his visitor's rendering of a test song and then said: "You have, madame, no voice at all, though much musical feeling. I could train you for the operetta, but, to be candid, you haven't a face worth anything." Her majesty is said to have been naturally disappointed, but too kind hearted to disclose her identity, and it was only after some little while that the over-frank maestro learned that he had been unwittingly guilty of lese majesty.

King Charles' Modest Crown.

King Charles of Roumania, who has just been celebrating his kingship of a quarter of a century, wears a remarkable crown. It was fashioned, in accordance with his wish, of steel from a Turkish gun captured at Plevna as a remembrance to all time of the achievements on the battlefields of Bulgaria and of the fact that the new kingdom was not hampered by traditions. At his coronation when he took the crown in his hands King Charles said: "I assume with pride this crown, wrought from a cannon sprinkled with the blood of our heroes and consecrated by the church. I accept it as a symbol of the independence and power of Roumania." The queen's golden crown is also without jewels or ornaments.—London Chronicle.

THE SWEET VOICES OF THE SINGERS

And the entrancing Melodies of the Music, that flow from the Edison Phonograph, should be placed within the reach of your wives and children.

MUSIC breaks the discords of a busy day, tranquilizes the fretful mind, soothes the pain of the sick and afflicted, and is the delight of all.

THE EDISON PHONOGRAPH makes it possible to get the best, whether it be from the Orchestra, the Military Band, the Solo, duet or the Quartette. It places in your home that for which the multitudes in the cities pay large sums to hear, and for which you pay the cost of a record.

Do you envy your city friend who is always able to sing the latest music, and who can tell off hand the name of every popular air? why should not keep up with the musical world as well as the social political affairs of the nations? It costs no more.

TO prospective purchasers, we would light in exhibiting the Edison Phonograph at your homes. Ask us about prices and terms.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

A Pig Which Was Honored With a Monument.

The English have erected a monument to the brave horses who died at Port Elizabeth in the colony of Natal during their late war with the Boers.

The strangest of all statues seems the one in Lunenburg, a little town of Hanover. The pig who was the original of the statue was the discoverer of a salt mine which greatly enriched the town. While rooting in the earth Mr. Pig accidentally made his important discovery. Not knowing if pigs like salt as much as they do dirt, it is difficult to say whether this pig was pleased or not, but the citizens of Lunenburg thought his achievement great enough to deserve a monument. It consists of a block of granite on which rests a coffin of crystal. In this reposes the body of the pig. The inscription on the monument is as follows:

"The passerby here looks upon the remains of a pig who acquired imperishable glory by discovering the salt mines of Lunenburg."

Ins and Outs.

The two young men reached the door at the same time. "Is Miss Swellington in?" they asked. The maid, Norah, looked at them and shook her head disconsolately.

"She's in to wan av ye an' out to th' other," she said at last, "but th' two av ye comin' together has got me so tangled Oi'm blest if Oi know which is which. But come roight in, both av ye, an' Oi'll ax her to come down an' pick ye out." —Judge.

Incidentals.

"This bill for your new frock is really a bit high," observed the plutocrat to his daughter. "Six thousand dollars is considerable to pay just for an auto suit."

"But, papa, the suit itself really is quite inexpensive. The most of that bill is for the trimmings."

"Trimmings?"

"Yes; I spent $5,200 for an auto of the right tint to match the suit."

The Harm of It.

"Here," shouted the depot official, "what do you mean by throwing those trunks around like that?" The baggageman gasped in astonishment, and several travelers pinched themselves to make sure that it was real. Then the official spoke again to the baggageman, "Don't you see that you're making big dents in this concrete platform?"

Unconscious Greatness.

"The ancestors of whom you boast," remarked the reproving friend, "displayed no such pride as yours."

"Certainly not," answered the haughty person, "why should they? They had no means of knowing they were to be my ancestors." —Washington Star.

Happy Thoughts
A well-known Boston writer tells with good effect a neat sally on the part of his nine-year-old son, who is a pupil in a private school at the Hub. Propos of something or other the teacher had quoted the line
"In the bright lexicon of youth there's no such word as 'fail.'" At this point the lad mentioned arose and politely made known his desire to offer an observation with reference to the maxim. "It occurs to me, sir," said he, "that if such be the case it might be advisable to bring the omission to the attention of the publishers of the lexicon."— Harpur's Weekly.

Mixed Theology.
A group of small girls turned their attention from their dolls for a few minutes to comment upon the religious beliefs of their respective parents. Several denominations were represented, according to the census, and the count narrowed down to the seven-year-old daughter of an active member of the leading Presbyterian church in the district.
"What church does your papa and mamma go to, Ethel?" asked the most inquisitive of the members of the company. Ethel answered:
"Papa don't go to any church.
He ain't got any 'ligion. Mamma's a preposition."

Origin of Doily.
The word "doily" is used constantly, and yet few know the quaint story of its origin. In the time of William the Norman, Robert d'Oy-ley was one of his followers, and valuable lands at Hook Norton, in Oxfordshire, were granted him upon a curious condition. Each year at the feast of St. Michael he was to "make tender of a linen tablecloth worth 3 English shillings." As they went to royalty, the ladies of the D'Oyley family took great pride in embroidering the "quintrent cloths,"
as they were termed, and in consequence an art needlework collection of great beauty was accumulated by these annual tributes. They did service for state occasions in William the Norman's household and, very naturally, were called the "D'Oyley linen."

Origin of "Grass" Widow.
"She is a grass widow," said the professor, nodding in the direction of a woman with yellow hair.
"A 'grass' widow? Oh, professor,
I didn't think you would use slang."
"Grass' widow is not slang," said the professor stoutly. "It is, on the contrary, a very ancient and correct expression. It comes from the French 'grace.' It was originally written 'grace' widow. Its meaning is 'widow by courtesy.'
"There is nothing slangy or disrespectful in the term 'grace widow.' A widow may call herself that with propriety."—New York Press.

Taking No Chances.
"Here's a good scheme," she said,
looking up from the paper she had been reading.
He seemed a trifle suspicious, but it was so evident that he was expected to answer that he made the inquiry.
"Why, it says that some wives shave their husbands and in that way save what they would ordinarily pay for a barber," she explained.
"Mary," he said after a moment's thought, "you may get that gown you spoke about this morning. It won't be necessary for you to get at my throat with a razor."

CONDENSED STORIES.

Lawyer Beats the Judge in a Contest of Wits.

Supreme Court Justice Dickey of Newburg enlivens the proceedings of his court terms with more jocular remarks to witnesses and lawyers than most other judges in this vicinity, says the New York Sun.
Usually the laugh is on the witness or the lawyer, but a young law-

"I DON'T LIKE CRABS EITHER," RETORTED THE LAWYER.

yer plodding eumbrosously through an opening address to the jury turned the tables the other day.
"Why don't you tell us what this suit is about?" said Judge Dickey sharply. "You're beginning at the end and going backward like a crab.
I don't like crabs."
"I don't like crabs either," retorted the lawyer, not a bit disconcerted at the tittering that ensued. "As a matter of fact, I don't like any crus-tacean, and since your honor has opened the subject permit me to say that especially I don't like lobsters, and more especially I dislike them a la Newburg."
The trial proceeded to a conclusion without further reference to matters outside of the law and the evidence.

A Little Vague.
A Boston lady seeking summer
board on a farm saw an advertisement giving a description of about such a place as she wanted and sent a letter of inquiry. She received the following information a-
to terms:
"We charge $5 a week for men,
$4.50 for ladies and $4 for children old enough to eat. All ages and sexes to pay more if difficult."— Lippincott's.

The Meddlesome Public.
"This canned beef is not what it might be," began the citizen timidly.
"Well, now, what do you expect for 15 cents?" demanded the irate packer. "Ain't the label bright and clean?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

It Might Have Been Worse.
Lydia—I'm just as mad as I can be with Charlie. He kissed me right before all the girls.
Georgette—Well, isn't that better than if he had kissed all the girls
before you?—Translated For Tale
From Fliegende Blatter.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Importance of Teaching Children Table Manners.

Parents even in a humble cottage home should pay attention to the conduct and manners of their children at mealtime. They cannot tell what position they will fill in after life, and a man or woman who is ignorant of the most simple laws of table etiquette is terribly handicapped. Were the parents to reprove the child who conveys its food to its mouth with a knife, who drinks its tea from the saucer or who sticks its elbows out at right angles the lesson
so taught would never be forgotten.
There is a certain amount of freedom at the family table, where one scarcely expects to find the ceremonious deportment of a set dinner party, but even in the home there are minor rules and observances which should always be followed,
says Woman's Life.

Almond Macaroons.
Half a pound of sweet almonds, a coffee cup full of white sugar and the whites of two eggs; blanch the almonds and pound them to a paste, add to them the sugar and the beaten whites of the eggs, work the whole together with the back of a spoon, then roll the mixture in your hands in balls about the size of a nutmeg; dust sugar over the top and lay them on a sheet of paper at least an inch apart; bake in a cool oven a light brown.

To Darken Floors.
Put into a bottle two tablespoonfuls each of linseed oil and good vinegar and one teaspoonful of spirits of turpentine (naturally the quantities may be increased, though the proportions must be kept), cork
this up and shake it well to mix.
Wash the floor thoroughly with hot soap and water, then while the boards are still warm, though fairly dry, apply the polish, shaking the bottle well before each application, rubbing it well in.

Water With Meals.

Water taken with meals should be sipped as well as taken sparingly.
Ice water should be taken as seldom as possible—never would be a better rule—and the habit of putting chipped ice in the drinking water is to be avoided, as one never knows what may be taken into the stomach through this medium. The better way is to fill bottles with water and allow them to stand beside ice to chill.

The Mosaic Law and Marriage.

More than two centuries ago a man living in Cumme was admonished by the kirk to stop courting his first wife's half brother's daughter. Instead of yielding obedience he fled to England with the woman and there married her, according to the Dundee Advertiser. A jury unanimously found him guilty, and the court ordered him to be beheaded. The reporter suggests that on the death of a wife her sister is no longer within the degree forbidden by the Mosaic law, and his brother's wife on the death of that brother. In fact, to marry a brother's widow was an express injunction of that law, and if the surviving brother declined the match the widow was entitled by that elegant and dignified system of jurisprudence to —spit in his face.

Time For Rejoicing.

The editor of the Bacon Ridge Beacon came out on Main street and tossed his hat twenty feet in the air. "Praise to Providence!" he whooped, dancing around like an Indian.
"Are you crazy?" demanded the only policeman in town. "What do you mean by cheering when the cyclone has carried away your office?"
"That's just it, friend. I have been complaining twenty years because the circulation of my sheet was so limited, and now there's a chance of its being circulated in four states and twenty counties.
Wouldn't be surprised if one copy doesn't blow clean to Europe."—Columbus Dispatch.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

The Vanishing Ball Trick and How It Is Performed.

With a sharp penknife whittle a large cork in the form of a ball about an inch in diameter. Take a human hair and form a loop in it about 1 1/2 inches long, affixing the ends to the ball with a little wax,
or, better still, by forcing the ends into the cork. Now pass the forefinger of your right hand through the hair loop, letting the ball lie on the palm when you show it. Place your left hand over the right, and at the same time separate the forefinger from the second of your right.
Quickly push the ball with the thumb of the right hand between the open fingers. The ball falls at the back of the hand, which you keep in such position that the company cannot see the ball hanging behind. Remove the left hand closed as if it contained the ball. Then open the hand and show it empty.
With a little dexterity you may with a quick jerk throw the ball over your hand from the back into the palm and show that it has returned.
For this you must make a movement as if catching it in the air. Now break off the hair and give the ball to the company for examination.

How Seaweeds Grow.

Those of you that are fortunate enough to get to the seashore this summer no doubt will gather some specimens of seaweeds. Do you know that they grow without roots?
In this respect they are altogether different from plants that grow on land, obtaining their sustenance entirely from the water. Many of them float about in the water, but some are fastened to rocks and other things at the bottom of the sea
by means of a stem with a sticky surface. Deep sea explorers tell us that some of the weeds found at the bottom are larger than any of the trees that grow on land. They form great groves and woods, with their branches interlaced, making arches
and grottoes of wonderful beauty, and of many colors—yellow, different shades of brown, olive, pink,
green and carmine.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

Not Always Punishment to Some School Children.

"I had a boy recently," said a shop work teacher in the New York city schools, "who was so persistently out of order that it became necessary to adopt strong measures to reform him.

"Report to me at 3 o'clock," I commanded him, "and I will convey some knowledge to him of what he was wanted for.

"At the appointed hour the boy came and was promptly set to polishing bench tops. The benches are large, and the job of making them smooth is not one which boys seek if left to themselves.

"At 3:30, the time limit allowed for punishment, I called him to my desk and supplemented what I had considered a fair penalty with a heart to heart talk on order. I concluded with a promise to repeat the punishment should the disorder continue and then told him to go home.

"But he lingered as if he, too, wished to say a word and, finally raising his hand for permission to speak, said:

"May I come tomorrow to finish those bench tops?" — New York Globe.

Advice From the Conductor.

A Buffalo woman accepted from a street car conductor a Mexican half dollar in change. It looks as if it ought to buy as much as an American fifty cent piece, but its actual purchasing power is little more than 20 cents. The young woman made a point of getting it back into the coffers of the street car company. She tendered it to the conductor of the next car she entered. He looked it over and declined it. "But I got it from one of your conductors this morning," the woman protested. "Madam," said the conductor, without a sign of levity, "you must be more careful what you take from those conductors."

It Stops the Crying.

To keep babies from crying a ingenious device is resorted to in India. The moment a child begins to cry the mother places her hand over its mouth and nips its nose so that it cannot breathe. Then it is allowed to breathe freely again, but should it make use of the opportunity to again set up a howl it is at once suppressed in the same way. This is repeated till the baby imagines that the painful stoppage of the breath is caused by its own effort to scream and so is careful to keep quiet.

White Eggs and Nests.

Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace once endeavored to show that the birds which lay white eggs deposit them in holes in order to conceal them, and he invented explanations for certain exceptions to this rule. But it is now believed that the interpretation is quite otherwise—that certain birds lay white eggs because they nest in holes and not that they nest in holes because they lay white eggs. Colored eggs would become practically invisible in these dark places and would be in jeopardy of being overrun by the bird when entering the nest and broken or would, when the space was large enough, be in danger of rolling away from the sitting bird and so fail to obtain incubation. By their whiteness such faint rays of light as gain admittance to the nest are reflected by the white shell, and consequently no eggs escape the attention of the sitting bird.

The Wit of Fox.

Charles James Fox, the famous English advocate of a century ago, and his secretary, Mr. Hare, who lived with him, were both noted for their impetuosity, and their creditors spent much time in dunning them. One morning before daylight there was a violent ringing at the door, and Mr. Fox, going to the window, found a group of creditors below.

"Are you fox hunting or hare hunting this morning, gentlemen?" he asked.

"Come, now, Mr. Fox," one of them called up, "tell us when you are going to pay that bill. Just set a date, and we will leave you in peace."

"All right," was the reply. "How will the day of judgment suit you?"

"Not at all," said the creditor. "We'll all be too busy on that day."

"Well," said Mr. Fox, "rather than put you to any inconvenience, we'll make it the day after."

Popular Girls.

Everybody likes girls who do their best to be pleasant and courteous at all times; who do not repeat unpleasant remarks made about you by other girls; who although they cannot boast of a spare penny, always look neat and nice; who are lavish with their smiles, and are sorry when they are obliged to frown; who look out every day for the happy things of life; who try to jump over all the little ridges that break up the smoothness of their path; who are happy because they make people about them see the sunshine; who always have a good word for everybody; and who appreciate the fact that the world was not made for them alone, and who do not always expect the best it has to offer.

Office in Goldsboro.

Some months ago Dr. H. O. Hyatt, who formerly lived in Kinston and from that point traveled several of the Eastern towns treating diseases of eye, ear, and other specialties, opened a permanent office in Goldsboro and stopped traveling. This was with the view of being centrally located so that his patients in the different localities could readily reach him. He writes us that such a change has been advantageous both to him and his patients and he has a large patronage at his permanent office in Goldsboro.
